 MR. BUSINESS MAN?

THE MAIN OBJECT

OF the NORTH SHORE BREEZE is the dissemination of reliable and timely information that most materially concerns the strictly self-respecting class of permanent North Shore readers and many others who have property or kindred interests in this section, but reside elsewhere during six or seven months of the year.

The worthiness and topical importance of its news service and relative editorial comments, is accompanied by a consistent representation of advertisements and reading notices.

The North Shore Breeze feels honored and proud to be welcomed into the homes of hundreds of the richest and best known people of the country,—not only in the summer, but every week in the year. The paper will be eleven years old next month, and its growth in this eleven years has been consistent and healthy.

Bullock Bros., Manchester's enterprising grocers doing business all along the North Shore from Pride's Crossing to Magnolia, see the "hand-writing on the wall." Their full-page advertisement will be read this week by thousands of people all over the country, hundreds of whom will come to the North Shore this summer for the first time.

DOES THIS SUGGEST ANYTHING TO YOU, MR. BUSINESS MAN?

The Charm of the North Shore

By HELENE SHERMAN

FROM woodsy, windswept Nahant to the northeastern tip of Cape Ann is the most varied and most beautiful bit of coast on the footstool. The North Shore of Massachusetts Bay is far-famed for its wonderful comingling of ocean, woods and country, which give it an irresistible appeal all its own. The whole world has heard of the charm of this shore, has come to see and has stayed to worship.

Undoubtedly the scenery is the foremost of the North Shore's attraction, and this was the inspiration, not so many years ago, for the pioneer summer resorts, which sprang up and grew with amazing swiftness. Almost over night, scrubby truck farms, which had doled out meager livings to their hardworking owners, became summer homes of great beauty and value. Land which sold at Manchester, Beverly Farms or Swampscott for three dollars an acre, is now worth that amount a foot. Yes, it was without doubt the scenery which lured the Westerner and the Southerner, east and north, and the New Yorker and the Bostonian from their well-beloved homes. They were one in their appreciation of and admiration for a new playground, where the rest and peace of the woods could be exchanged at will for the ever-impressive surf-bound rocks, and they in turn for the inviting white beaches or for superb drives along sheltered roads.

The great Atlantic, which pounded at their very doors, was then, as now, the most appealing of the wonders of the Shore. There is something about the sea, its bigness, its grandeur, that enters every heart, compelling worship, if not understanding. This is because we can never smile at the sea, never pity it. We smile at the meadow brook playing at life, we look with pity upon the gnarled, twisted limbs of some half-dead, remorseful old tree, but—the ocean, never! We fear it or glory in it, according to our natures, when the wind lashing it into fury, drives it against the cold, unpitying stones; we hate it for its menacing, leaden sullenness when the storm approaches; we rejoice in it when the morning sun sets it agleam with a million points of light, calling to us; we love it when the evening sun turns the great white combers pink and makes the sea a miracle of tender beauty; but smile at it or pity it? Impossible! That is the secret of the sea, which philosophers and poets have sought adown the ages.

The ocean and its beaches furnish North Shore sojourners with one of the foremost sports of this section: surf bathing. The water along the Shore is recreative and health giving, with the temperature seldom above 70 degrees, and there are no finer beaches anywhere along the Atlantic seaboard, and few as good as those at Swampscott, Marblehead, Manchester, Magnolia or Gloucester. The bathing hour at nearly all of these is a scene of life and color, which is not surpassed at Newport and hardly so at the famous Biarritz. There are other sports which play an important part in the gaiety of the North Shore, such as sailing at Eastern Point, Marblehead and Swampscott, polo at Myopia, river-boating at Ipswich, golf and tennis at Manchester, and so on until it seems that each colony has its sports, brought together and intermingled by motoring, "which sets the miles at naught."

Last, but not least, of the attractions of this pleasant section is the gathering of so many delightful people, who flock from all parts of the globe to the hotels and cottages along the Shore from June to October. Much has been said and much remains to be said about the delightfully cosmopolitan character of these colonies, and surely no season has ever brought more interesting people to these resorts than the present one, when there are so many reasons to seek these shores. Young college men and debutantes from

ALONG THE MANCHESTER SHORE, AS VIEWED FROM COOLIDGE'S POINT.

A CLOSE HAUL IN MARBLEHEAD HARBOUR.

New York, Washington, St. Louis, Detroit and Boston motor, swim, dance and ride in happy, healthy, sun-burned freedom; artists sketch and paint in an abandon of work, happy in the midst of so much material; great magnates bring the busy world with them to their picturesque homes, where they plan more astonishing coups in the fields of finance, while the rest of the family forget Pittsburg or Baltimore or New York in the fresh, new joys of the seashore; diplomats and ambassadors find peace in the mingled quiet and gaiety of such places as Beverly, Manchester or Magnolia; writers find characters and settings for their work in the unhackneyed scenes along the Shore; on the beach at Magnolia a Turk at sunset performs his evening worship, while not far away a professor and his gently-bred family picnic in the quiet of the early evening.

Volumes could be written and yet, perforce, omit some of the charms of the North Shore, yet even in this short article we must take a peep at a few of these pretty villages, which are replete with legend and beauty. Just above Boston is Nahant, always a spot desired by men. It comprises two delightful promontories—Great and Little Nahant—joined to the mainland and to each other by pretty beaches. Impressive and of rare interest are the great rocks at Nahant, and the tourist never passes by Pulpit Rock, Eagle Rock, Spouting Horn and Swallows' Cave.

Marblehead was a pioneer colony town in the old settlement days, as well as one of the pioneer summer resorts in the later period. How many hearts have gone out to queer, fascinating old Marblehead! Somehow, the skies seem a little bluer and the sun a little brighter above the harbor at Marblehead than anywhere else along the Shore. The bay is one of the finest in the country, as is evidenced by the location there of the Corinthian and Eastern Yacht clubs. The yacht races at Marblehead are a delight to the sportsman and to the beauty lover alike, and are always foremost in the social events during the season. Five minutes' walk from these most modern of clubs and from the newest and gayest of summer hotels, and one is hopelessly lost in a labyrinth of tangled streets. It is said that in the old days, when Marblehead was the home of prosperous fisherfolk, each man built his house where he pleased; when he came back from a successful trip he added to it as he wished and made a whole village of Janus-like houses, to which the streets have accommodated themselves. There is about the village, where it has not become submerged in the summer resort, an air of Yankee sturdiness, whimsical, but lovable to a degree.

Beverly is of quite a different character, but equally charming in its way. Its landscape gardening, its architecture and its natural beauties have won for it the name of the Garden City. There are some very pretty streets here, and of them none more delightful and refreshing than those avenues leading from the town to the water. They present a harmonious vista of straight roads, lined with beautiful old trees, framing the ocean beyond. They seem to have no ending, but to drop abruptly into the sea. Parts of Beverly, Beverly Cove, Pride's Crossing and Beverly Farms are among the most famous summer colonies in the country. Tucked away on the hillsides, or bravely facing the broad Atlantic are lovely homes; and the beautiful estates at Pride's Crossing have won for it the title of the "show place of the North Shore." The home of Henry Clay Frick at Pride's Crossing is one of the most beautiful country estates in the world.

Manchester, more lately called Manchester-by-the-Sea, hid her charms for years from the beauty seeking world, but once discovered, she was never to know retirement again. If the beautiful old town had no other attraction than the incomparable Singing Beach, which is so called because its sands give out a peculiar, singing noise when they are disturbed by people passing over their surface or by the waves, it would still draw its faithful lovers to its shores. The beach is a clean, white, sandy stretch about a mile in length and about fifty yards in width; at either end are rocky leadlands, and the superb view includes a number of grotesque little islands near the shore. Besides the beach, however, Manchester has beautiful hills and picturesque drives through the woods and along the shore, which are unsurpassed anywhere, and it is, too, the home of the far-famed Essex County club.

The town of Manchester owns another splendid beach, that at Magnolia, which, during the season, is a rendezvous for wealth and fashion. Magnolia is a tiny scrap of a village, but when summer comes, its population is increased many times. Nature has been kind to Magnolia, granting to her a surpassing beauty, so varied in its character as to be unequalled at any other place so tiny. The beach, the rocks, from which a wonderful ocean view may be obtained, the little farms and the wooded hills insure for Magnolia an enduring attractiveness, which the changes of time can never affect. Magnolia has been called the village of hotels, a fitting title, for, as the years have taken to people of other sections and of other countries, reports of her wonders, an increasing number of tourists and visitors have demanded an opportunity to spend some time here. To come once is to come again, and so it goes—more and more of her lovers drawn to Magnolia each year. The Oceanside hotel and its score of cottages attract some of the best known people of the country during June, July and August.

Two species of flowers have helped to place Magnolia above the other North Shore towns—the mountain laurel by its profusion, the magnolia by its rarity, and both by their beauty. To the initiated, the hillsides in laurel time, glowing with masses of the pink blossoms, are a source of never ending delight. The magnolias come later in the season, but few, save bare-foot urchins, seem to know much about the hiding places of these rarely beautiful flowers. It is, however, worth more than half a day's tramp through damp valleys to find the ivory-tinted blossoms growing among their glossy green leaves on trees, sometimes as high as ten feet. The heavy, sensuous perfume of the magnolia is a thing to bring back those dear, forgotten dreams of love and youth.

Beyond Magnolia is the beginning of Cape Ann and the end of the North Shore. Cape Ann, renowned in song and story, includes quaint, old Gloucester, formerly called The Harbor; Rockport, with its idle wharves now dozing in the sunlight; pleasant Bass Rocks with its pretty cottages and magnificent water view; that artists' haven, Eastern Point, and on the northerly side of the Cape, the picturesque locality known as Annisquam.

Here we must leave the Shore, although the tale of its charm is but half told, after a glance at Gloucester Harbor, as seen from the rocks at Fresh Water Cove. There is no more picturesque harbor along the North Shore, and the view of it from the vantage point we have chosen is superb. Just across stretches Eastern Point with its lighthouse and its breakwater. It is a sunshiny morning in June, and the water of the harbor is alive with a joy, to which we cannot help responding. We pause to immerse ourselves in the beauty of the scene and lo! a mirage appears before our astonished eyes. A ship appears to be riding on the tops of the trees of Eastern Point; we rub our eyes and discover that the ship is sailing out past the point on an ocean, which is literally "sky-blue water." Again, it is a moonlight evening, and from our chosen spot, we look across the same harbor once more. Eastern Point is silhouetted against the pale sky, its lighthouse brought into bold relief. We catch again that weird glimpse of the water, sky-like above the land, and now a broad path of moonlight streams from the rocks at our feet, across the harbor, across the Point and the far-off ocean beyond to "where the heart might be." Music is heard, perhaps from the brilliantly lighted Dolphin riding at anchor in the harbor, and a little sail boat steals across the moonlight space; it is like a scene from some old Italian opera.

Always scenes like this will endear the North Shore to all of us, and as long as the sea and the sky and the hills remain we will come back to know it better, which is to say, to love it better.

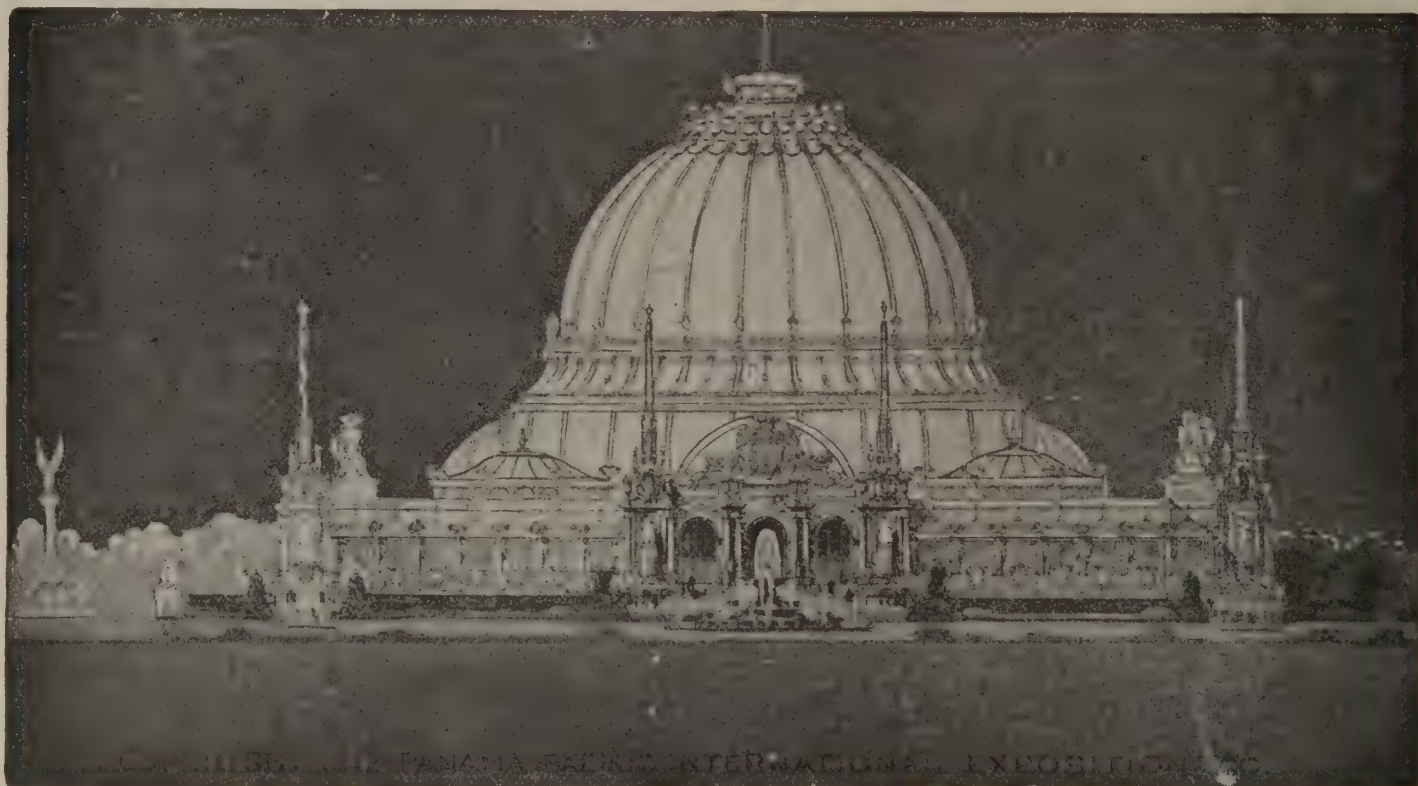

Ipswich, Essex, Hamilton, Wenham, Topsfield, Newbury, Rowley and scores of other towns and hamlets extend along the coast toward the New Hampshire and Maine resorts, all having their own individual charm to draw people from all sections of the country.

THE COURT OF SUN AND STARS

Section of the great central court, designed by Messrs. McKim, Mead and White. The court, approximately 600x900 feet, divides the main rectangle of exposition buildings from north to south. Upon the east of the court figures symbolical of the Orient surmounts a huge arch, the Arch of the Rising Sun, larger than the Arc de Triomphe; upon the west of the court the story of the setting sun is depicted; surmounting the arch upon the west, prairie schooners are shown.

HORTICULTURAL BUILDING

The building is 630x295 feet and is one of the most notable structures of the kind ever built, being composed almost entirely of glass. Set in the west end of the south garden, opposite the Palace of Education, its glittering dome is seen as one of the striking features by those who enter the Exposition from the south garden.

GREETINGS TO CALIFORNIA and to her Magnificent Expositions, Now Celebrating the Opening of the Panama Canal.

By Francis M. Chase.

WHAT William McKinley said in his last speech, one week before his assassination in The Temple of Music at the Pan-American Exposition in 1901, at Buffalo, that International Expositions are the milestones in the march of human progress, is as true today as it was at the time of that eventful speech fourteen years ago. Today we might say that Expositions of all kinds have a more beneficial and lasting effect on humanity than international peace conferences.

Expositions bring together the most progressive and best natured people on earth, with their marvelous arrays of the best products that human thought and energy have created, for the purpose of revealing to the world's best people how the result of invention and modern skill can be applied to each observer's pecuniary or moral interest. Such gigantic undertakings for the betterment of the human family at large, have never been opposed by our national government; on the contrary each time that a logical appeal has been made for governmental co-operation, congress has responded with an appropriation commensurate with the motive and magnitude of the enterprise.

Philadelphia, in 1876, which celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of our national independence, received from the national treasury $3,000,000; Chicago, celebrating the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of the Western Hemisphere, received from the government, $5,000,000; Buffalo, in 1901, which was an all-American exposition, received $3,500,000; Saint Louis, in 1903-4, in celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of the Louisiana Purchase, received $6,500,000 of Uncle Sam's money, also $10,000,000 from the states within the boundaries of the old Louisiana Territory, $5,000,000 from the outside states and territories, $5,000,000 from the state of Missouri and $10,000,000 from the city of Saint Louis, and enough from over 400 different concessions, to bring the entire investment up to fully $50,000,000.

The Saint Louis World's Fair grounds covered 1240 acres and was the largest exposition ever held, or probably ever will be held during the present generation, unless Boston comes to the front with a new record-breaker in 1920, to celebrate the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims, in which event the people of New England would invite the people of California, with the same cordiality that the people of California are now inviting the people of New England, and the remainder of the world's people.

The Universal Exposition at San Francisco that opened so auspiciously on the twentieth of February, is a distinctly national undertaking, determined upon by the Congress of United States, and designated by the President of the United States, for the purpose of celebrating the opening of the Panama Canal—a national accomplishment that affects the entire world. In assuming the expenses of this mammoth celebration, in response to the President and Congress the people of California are discharging an important public duty and executing a national trust, the accruing benefits of which will be shared in by every state in the Union, and by the entire citizenship of the nation. While this great inter-hemisphere water way is a national project, it is nevertheless a world's asset, and the celebration of its opening is being participated in by all countries and all peoples. The exposition is constituting an international concourse of unparalleled significance in its effect upon the national productivity and commercial activity of all countries and our own United States in particular.

The Exposition enclosure covers 635 acres, within which there is the "Frolic Zone" of 45 acres, and it is said to be some "Zone." Saint Louis had 50 acres in her "Pike," "The Pan" at Buffalo had 25 acres in her "Dream-Land," and Chicago had 60 acres in her "Midway Plaisance." The writer handled conventions and advertising for the last three Expositions, and if the "Zone" can wax either of its predecessors in human interest and "sporty stunts," it is "going some." The entire investment of the San Francisco Exposition (popularly so-called) is close to $50,000,000. It is compact, the variety of attractions are easy of access, and the color effects, are undoubtedly the most beautiful and wonderful ever witnessed at a world's fair. These artificial splendors combined with the national magnificence of San Francisco Bay must impart an irresistible fascination, energizing the resolutions of the beholder toward the achievement of nobler deeds, the pursuit of a purer life, and a desire to live forever.

TOWER OF JEWELS

A dominating architectural feature is the imposing Tower of the Administration Building, at the south end of the Court of Sun and Stars. It is 430 feet high. On the summit is a grouping of statuary supporting the world. Elsewhere mural paintings, statuary and mosaics.

The San Diego Panama-California Exposition, 720 miles south of San Francisco, is a lively rival for honors. It is espoused by twenty-one young multimillionaires, and a railroad that has never been known to make a failure of anything it has ever undertaken to do.

Concerning this Exposition, that is endearingly referred to out west as the "Little Boy," I hope to tell the readers of the North Shore Breeze what I have learned a little later on.

There is time and space to make but one more statement: In my careful observance of the patronage or attendance at the three World's Fairs, the average individual visitation does not exceed ten days, and it is therefore inconceivable to me how one however, whenever or wherever locally interested, could consistently depreciate an event of international commercial importance or envy one, who expected to participate in its felicitations.

Cordiality versus Austerity

Time brings many changes in manners, customs, sayings and doings. The statement that William H. Vanderbilt is said to have made over thirty years ago, at which time he was endeavoring, as president of the Michigan Central railroad, to boost its stock, would not serve his purpose today.

Arrogance and independence have ceased to be popular with the public in general, especially so with the travelling public, and instead of transportation companies continuing the policy of "the public be damned," they have learned the significance of Abraham Lincoln's advice, that it pays to be humble. Hence the popularity of the slogan, "The Public Be Pleased." An incidental example of this was quite recently demonstrated when the Colonial Line, plying between Providence and New York, entered into competition with a much older and larger line for handling a good sized party from Providence. The larger line pretended to the manager of the party about to make the trip that there was no other line of steamers operating on Narragansett Bay and Long Island Sound that was worthy of consideration. The management of the Colonial Line got next to the dope and went after it in an able-seaman-like manner." Mr. Party Manager listened to the representative's description of the Colonial Line service and changed his mind, and he also "signed articles" then and there. The party trip was made in good order and a testimonial to that effect has been endorsed by that said party manager.

There are many other similar instances on record proving that the fast and elegant twin screw steamers, "Concord" and "Lexington," are officered and manned by men that call to one's musical mind the lines in the good old song from the opera, "Pinafore," to wit:

"O, we sail the ocean blue,
And our saucy ship's a beauty;
We are sober men and true,
And attentive to our duty."

The Boston office of the Colonial Line is at 232 Washington st., a locality that is popularly called Newspaper Row. "The Public Be Pleased."

INDICATIONS point to an early season on the North Shore. Weeks in advance of usual, people are opening their houses and are preparing to establish their households by the seashore for the summer. Many are in the habit of going to Europe this time of year for a brief holiday, or for a several months' tour; not so this year. The expositions in California will attract many, and in some such cases the servants and household will be established at the seashore so as to have everything in readiness when the heads of the families return in May or June. Everything points to an early and a long season at the North Shore this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander S. Porter, Jr., of 185 Marlborough st., Boston, opened their house at Manchester Wednesday for the season. Later this month they will go to the Virginia Hot Springs to remain until the first of May.

Mrs. S. V. R. Crosby was down from Boston to her West Manchester house over the week-end, with a house party of eight young people, in honor of her son Henry Grew Crosby. Among others in the party were Katherine Crosby, Elizabeth Beal, Nathaniel Thayer, 2d, and Edward Bangs. Mr. and Mrs. Crosby and their son and daughter are spending Easter over in Washington with Mr. Crosby's family. They will be down to Manchester again over the week-end of the 17th to 19th of April.

Mr. and Mrs. Boylston A. Beal, with a party of young people, are shortly leaving Boston for California to visit the Panama Exposition. They expect to arrive home on May 3.

Congratulations are being showered upon Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wigglesworth (nee Sarah Rackemann) on the birth of their first-born, a son, last Saturday, March 27th, at their home in Boston. He will be named Edward Wigglesworth, the eighth to bear this distinguished family name.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans Dick, Jr., are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a daughter, at their home in South Dartmouth, Wednesday of last week. Mrs. Dick is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman of New York, who are making a stay of a few weeks at the Copley-Plaza, Boston, before going to their summer home at Ipswich.

The engagement has been announced of Miss Isabella Coolidge Councilman, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Councilman, and Francis Wigglesworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wigglesworth of Milton and Manchester. Mr. Wigglesworth is a senior at Harvard. Miss Councilman was one of this season's debutantes.

THE first social event of importance on the North Shore this season will be the wedding of Miss Katharine Lawrence Putnam and Harvey Hollister Bundy, at the picturesque little Unitarian church, at Manchester-by-the-Sea, two weeks from tomorrow—Saturday, April 17, at noon. The Rev. James Ropes of the Harvard divinity school will officiate. Miss Mary Parkman will be the only attendant, and Nathan H. Bundy of Norfolk, Va., the best man. There will be no ushers. Mr. Bundy is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bundy of Norfolk, who will come up for the wedding, Mrs. Bundy having recently returned home after a visit with the Putnams. The guests at the ceremony are to be confined to the relatives and a few of the most intimate friends, but the reception which follows at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Putnam at Manchester, will be large. The young people are to make their home in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sheafe, who have been in California for the past few months, returned home this week. They will stay at the Hotel Lenox, Boston, until they come to their summer place at Gloucester.

The marriage in the Episcopal church, Webster, on Wednesday morning, April 14, at 10 o'clock, of Miss Esther Slater, daughter of Mrs. Horatio N. Slater, and B. Sumner Welles of Islip, N. Y., will attract many Bostonians and members of the North Shore colony.

The corner stone of the National Headquarters of the American Red Cross, dedicated to "The Memory of the Women of the Civil War," was laid at Washington by President Wilson, last Saturday, March 27, in the presence of a distinguished audience, including former President Taft, and members of the Cabinet, the Supreme Court, the Diplomatic Corps, the Senate and the House of Representatives. A feature of the exercises was a historical address by Miss Mabel Boardman, of Manchester, who is one of the leading spirits in the Red Cross movement.

Joseph Clark Grew of Boston and Manchester, first secretary to the American embassy at Berlin, will probably be chairman of the American commission to be appointed to inspect German camps for war prisoners. Mr. Grew is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sturgis Grew of 185 Marlboro st., Boston, whose summer estate is at West Manchester. He was graduated from Harvard in 1902; in 1905 he married Miss Alice de Vermandois Perry of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. André William Reggio of 40 Fairfield st., Boston, will spend the summer at Nahant with Mrs. Reggio's mother, Mrs. Charles T. Lovering of Commonwealth ave., Boston.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Harcourt Amory of Boston and Pride's Crossing, for the marriage of their daughter, Gertrude Livingston, to Constantine Hutchins at Trinity Church, Boston, Saturday, April 17, at 12 o'clock. The ceremony will be followed by a wedding breakfast at the Amory residence on Beacon st.

Mrs. Gardiner Martin Lane and her young daughter, Miss Katherine Lane, who are spending several weeks at Summerville, S. C., have recently been joined there by Mrs. Lane's parents, Prof. and Mrs. Basil Gildersleeve of Baltimore, for a fortnight's visit. Mrs. Lane and daughter plan to pass the summer at their Manchester estate.

Mrs. Wm. F. Draper and daughter, Miss Margaret Preston Draper of Washington, are to spend the summer in Newport, instead of coming to the North Shore. They have leased at Newport, George R. Fearing's villa in Narragansett ave., known as the "Orchards." The villa has five acres of land with park terraces and is modelled after a French chateau. It has not been rented in several seasons.

MARBLEHEAD'S prospects as a resort this year look more favorable than for several seasons, if the rentals made so far form any criterion. With April just making its bow Gardner R. Hathaway, the Marblehead real estate agent, has effected 25 rentals and has several other transactions on summer property pending. A list of those whom he has located on the shore of Marblehead Neck and Marblehead proper so far is as follows: Miss Julia T. Sherman of Buffalo, N. Y., McQuestion cottage, Manley st., Neck; Miss L. B. Hood of Brookline, Ripley cottage, Ocean ave., Neck; Augustus H. Ellis of Boston, Ripley cottage, Ocean ave., Neck; Henry A. Hildreth of Boston, Palmer cottage, Nashua ave., Neck; Mrs. G. D. Kingman of Boston, Andrews bungalow, off Pond st., Marblehead; William B. Cowen, Salem Bowers cottage, off Harbor ave., Neck; Chas. A. Curtis, of Boston, Dunlap cottage, Ferry lane, Neck; Miss Harriet E. Clarke, Worcester, James house, Ocean ave., Neck; S. D. Stevens of North Andover, Palmer cottage, Flint st., Neck; William J. Hammond of New Orleans, La., Lindsay cottage, Chestnut st., Marblehead; William P. McMullan of Salem, Palmer cottage, Ocean ave., Neck; James P. Munroe of Boston, Walker cottage on Follett st., Neck; Arthur Meeker of Chicago, Ill., Kerr bungalow, Harbor ave., Neck; Dr. Holland Stevenson of Baltimore, Md., Bowers cottage, Ocean ave., Neck; Mrs. Albert P. Goodhue of Salem, Percival house, Ocean ave., Neck; Theodore Jones of Boston, Parker house, Nanepashmet st., Neck; Mrs. Howell Hinds of Cleveland, Ohio, Wadleigh house, Ocean ave., Neck; Charles E. Hodges of Brookline, Kerr bungalow, Harbor st., Neck; Charles W. Wilkins of Boston, Connolly house, Brown st., Neck; Mrs. L. V. Wood of Dorchester, Dunlap cottage, Harbor ave., Neck; Clement B. Newbold of Philadelphia, Evans house at Peach's point; Frank H. Richards of Boston, Claflin house, Harbor ave., Neck; Dr. George E. Percy of Salem, Tyner cottage, Nahant st., Neck; Alfred M. Walter of Chicago, Ill., Palmer cottage, Ocean ave., Neck; George E. Stephenson of Boston, Russell cottage, Highland ave., Neck.

A new summer residence completed since the close of last season on the inner shore of Marblehead Neck is the new stucco-finished home of Henry A. Morss of Brookline. It is the most charming residence on the upper shore and situated as it is between the Corinthian and Eastern Yacht clubs is well set off with its surroundings. It is two stories in height, with an Italian tile roof and stucco sides. A terrace sets off the grounds admirably, sloping down to the water's edge. The new Morss residence is a trifle more decorative in appearance than many of those on the Neck shore and for this reason stands out prominently from the mainland. There is also a commodious garage to accommodate three motors.

SWAMPSCOTT'S summer colony will this summer be more accessible to tourists because of the widening and straightening of Humphrey street from Monument square, near the Lynn Shore drive, to Fishermen's beach and Puritan road. The shore drive has always been kept in excellent condition owing to it being a section of state highway, but up to this spring the stretch of road to Puritan road has been an abomination to travel because of its narrowness and lack of upkeep. This season will see a broad, well macadamized street, making an excellent boulevard to the Swampscott and Beach Bluff hotels and summer residences. The street has been straightened and made into a 70-foot width. Land damages amounting to more than $83,000 have been paid out of the county treasury to abutters on the newly laid out highway. It is a welcome improvement to the Swampscott summer resort territory.

HUNGARY CRIES OUT for peace at any price. It may not be improbable that that nation will declare its independence of Austria. Peace? There is no peace! Hungary is not the only nation that would welcome an armistice.

CAPE ANN and the Gloucester-Rockport shore is experiencing the same activity in preparation for the summer season as other sections of the shore. The "Build Now" campaign has found two adherents among the summer hotel keepers at East Gloucester and as a result, these two landlords will be better than ever before able to meet with the increased demand which is expected the coming season. Beside this, the Back Shore will be the site of several more sightly summer residences which have been in the course of erection at the hands of local builders all winter and are now fast approaching completion.

Extensive improvements at Hotel Thorwald, Bass Rocks, are progressing. An additional story is being added to the big annex to the hostelry. The addition includes ten new sleeping rooms and six bath rooms. The annex will include fifty-four rooms when the improvements will have been completed. Although there are five stories, on account of the slope of the ground and the raise of the hotel veranda, the new rooms will be only three flights up from the hotel office. The new rooms will be in natural finish and walls will be attractively papered. A much appreciated feature will be the single room with bath, and all the sleeping rooms will have attractive lattice doors with locks, so that guests may have the advantage of the circulation of air.

Merrill Hall on Eastern Point road, one of the earliest hotels in this section, being formerly known as Craig cottage when conducted by the late Mrs. Mary Merrill, has been almost entirely made over by extensive additions and improvements. The office and parlor on the first floor has been thrown into one, a long, comfortable foyer being the result, with a fine open fireplace, which guests so much enjoy during the season, especially in September and October. The dining room has been enlarged many feet and the piazza has been extensively broadened. New sleeping rooms and private baths have been added to the hostelry.

The new summer residence for the Farmers of Brookline, summer residents of Bass Rocks, which has been in process of construction this winter on Page st., Bass Rocks, is about completed. This thirteen-room house with bath rooms and modern conveniences is now receiving the interior touches, in beautifying it for the owners' occupancy early in the season. There are the living room, dining room, kitchen and pantry and maids' room on the first floor and nine rooms, including sleeping and baths on the second floor. There is a splendid wide veranda taking up the entire front side of the house, commanding a fine view of the golf links, the hills and the sea beyond. The house is nearly square in proportion, of dignified lines and attractive.

The large new summer home for S. K. Ames of Melrose, the well known owner of butter and egg stores, is very nearly completed, the interior work now being taken in hand. Mr. and Mrs. Ames will probably take occupancy in a few weeks. The house is situated on a picturesque site near the "Sunset Rock," so-called, at Eastern Point, facing the Niles beach and harbor. The first story of the structure is of field stone and the upper part of stucco. It has a long overhanging roof of slate. A broad piazza, fourteen feet wide and seventy feet long, is a feature, and at one end of the house the piazza is built out to an angle which affords a much more extensive view of surrounding scenery. The house contains sixteen or more rooms. On the first floor are the large living room, dining room, den, kitchen, pantries, maids' bedrooms and two baths. A laundry is in the basement. On the second floor are six chambers, two baths and a large open sleeping porch. A big garage of stone and stucco of design kindred to the general architecture of the residence is built a short distance toward the golf links road, and it will accommodate three cars.

The new tile house which has been in the process of construction this past winter on Grapevine road, East Gloucester, in the vicinity of the Delphine hotel, is nearing completion, and Mr. and Mrs. William T. Gamage will probably take occupancy the middle of May. There will be fifteen or more rooms. On the first floor is a large living room, sixteen by thirty-six feet, and a very large hall is between this room and the dining room. The staircase in the hall will be an attractive feature. The dining room will have an alcove, then there are the pantry, kitchen and a fine laundry in the basement. A big enclosed porch is located off the living room. On the second floor are five chambers and three baths, and a balcony, while on the third floor are three chambers and bath for the servants. A garage also of tile accommodates two cars. The house is erected on a solid ledge, being built of tile and fireproof. The roof is especially attractive, being of purple and green mottled slate. The house is a very attractive residence and the surroundings with its shrubs and flowers will add to the beauty.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. Chas. A. Munn has arrived in Washington for a few weeks' stay, after a winter in Florida. She will visit her son, Chas. A. Munn, Jr., and family at Radnor, Pa., before coming on to Manchester in early May.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Graham are established at their summer home on Smith's Point, Manchester, for a long season, as usual.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Warren have been at Manchester this week, though they have not moved down permanently for the season. They will open their house, on the edge of Singing Beach, during April.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Gannett of Boston are looking forward to the completion of the new home at Manchester in the early summer. They are frequent visitors to the Shore to follow the progress on their estate, and plan to move down permanently very soon—to the Clark cottage across the avenue from their new place. They have been spending a few days at the Essex County club this week.

It is with regret we report the death of Mrs. Elzo E. (Carpenter) Wood, wife of Edward L. Wood, on Sunday, March 28, at her late home 44 Cypress st., Brookline. The family have an attractive summer place, on the edge of Singing Beach, at Manchester, and have been coming here for many years. Besides a husband Mrs. Wood is survived by an only daughter, Miss Elizabeth C. Wood.

Wadsworth, Howland & Co., Inc., the well known paint concern, will move to their new quarters at 139-141 Federal st., Boston, in the very near future, where they will have remarkable facilities for handling their very large trade. The new location will also be found very convenient by their customers, being very close to the heart of the wholesale hardware and shopping district. They will also retain their present store at 84 Washington st., for the convenience of their established trade in that vicinity.

EASTER GIFTS.

"This is an era of giving and receiving and Easter ranks next to Christmas as a special season for tokens of remembrance and love. While in Europe they are exchanging bombs, bullets, blows and thrusts of racial and political hatred, we of America are swapping fragrant floral offerings in a spirit of brotherly love and sisterly affection. The presence of even one small flower conveys and creates at least a friendly inspiration."

These remarks were recently made in a pleasant, unassuming manner by Mrs. Thomas J. Clark, who with her husband, son and daughter conduct a small but beautifully appointed flower store at the corner of

We Should Smile

The thing that goes the farthest toward making life worth while, that costs the least and does the most, is just a pleasant smile—the smile that bubbles from the heart that loves its fellow men will drive away the cloud of gloom and coax the sun again. It's full of worth and goodness, too, with manly kindness blent; it's worth a million dollars and it doesn't cost a cent. There is no room for sadness when we see a cheery smile. It always has the same good look—it's never out of style; it nerves us on to try again when failure makes us blue—such dimples of encouragement are good for me and you. So smile away; folks understand what by a smile is meant—it's worth a million dollars and it doesn't cost a cent.—Exchange.

HARMONIOUS DISCIPLINE

The Oliver Ditson Company stores in Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Chicago, with their special correspondents in all the principle capitals of Europe, comprise as a whole what is unquestionably the best organized and most scientific system of business in the world. It has been keeping in perfect harmony and rhythm with the march of progress and prosperity for the past eighty years, and its present youthful vigor indicates that, like Tennyson's Brook, the success of the Ditson Company would go on and on forever.

There are nine departments, each of which is distinctly indicated by a letter of the alphabet as follows: A—sheet music and books, B—musical instruments, C—printing, D—editorial, E—bookkeeping, F—the musician, G—advertising, H—Victor-Victrola, K—band and orchestra music. Each department has its competent time-tested manager, with a first, second and third deputy, each one of whom is practically qualified to take leadership in case of the other's absence, thus eliminating the possibility of delays and discord in prompt efficient service. For a business involving such infinite detail, the system and discipline of the Ditson Company is marvelously effective and satisfactory. Mail orders to any part of the world are frequently filled, and in transit within half an hour from the time the order is received. The ten decks of Ditson's, at 150 Tremont st., are clear for action from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m., on any business day of the year, and the characteristic Ditson greeting is a noteworthy event in one's visit.

A Tale of the Sea

The wreck of the "Charlie Cobb" of Rockland, Me., on the sands of Singing Beach, Manchester, on the night of Nov. 28, 1878.

Written for the Breeze.

Eaglehead, Manchester, in a storm.

'T WAS a cold night in gray November—
The North Shore was lashed with spray
When the Charlie Cobb under double reets
Ploughed the surf through Ipswich Bay.
Everything was new from keel to rails:
Her anchors, cables, lifeboat and sails;
No man-o'-war was more slick and span
On the night when she rounded the treacherous
Cape Ann.
Then they looked for Thatcher's and Eastern Point,
While the good ship trembled in every joint,
As the storm wind whistled shrill and loud
With the freezing spray covering every shroud;
But the blinding snow on that dreadful night
Hid from view the mariners' light.
Every moment the storm increased,
Blowing a gale from east-northeast.
Still onward she flew like a bird of the air,
Out of her course she knew not where,
When out of the storm came that mournful blow
From the whistling buoy of Norman's Woe.
Then she changed her course—they could do no more
When they heard the surf on the rocky shore—
Hoping to reach the open bay
And wait the dawn of another day.
But changing the course was of no avail,
The wind was too strong to carry sail;
The weary sailors could get no sleep.
The Charlie Cobb was "Lost on the Deep."
Then she ran before it—her only hope

Was the breeches-buoy and the mortar's rope,
When suddenly came a terrible shock—
She had ran her bow square onto Egg Rock.
Then the dark green pirates rushed in from the Bay
Their white plumes waving in battle array,
Pounding the helpless wreck as she lay,
Foaming and hissing as they passed,
Threatening to sweep from the deck her masts;
And the mate at the wheel strong and brave
Was washed from her deck by a cruel wave.
Then their gurgling voices seemed to say
Down with your flag your the Ocean's prey.
But Thanksgiving morn as the sun arose
The stalwart mate in his oiled clothes
With kelps for his pillow and rocks for his bed
Lay silent in death near Eagle Head.
With the incoming tide she slid from the ledge
Struck the beach, then burnt to the water's edge.
The green pirates had entered her cabin in time
To fire her hull with its cargo of lime.
And the hazy moon shed a silent gloom
As the flames lit the sea and shone.
But her cracking timbers were heard above
The sound of the Ocean's roar.
Still the same waves roll and lovers stroll
On the Beach in the same old way,
And the moonlight waves wash the lonely grave
And the sands sing the same today.

Washington, Mar. 2, 1915.

NAVY DESERTIONS DECREASING

Too many rules and regulations are apt to cause human beings to rebel and since the modification in Navy regulations and the creation of better educational facilities, fewer desertions occur in the Navy. A statement by Secretary of the Navy Daniels tends to show that desertions from the service continue to diminish and that an increasing number of recruits are applying for enlistment every day. Mr. Daniels attributes this to modifications in the regulations dealing with deserters and the facilities provided for education in the navy. The statement shows that in December only three men deserted from the Asiatic fleet, seventy-four from the Atlantic fleet, and that desertions from the Pacific coast in January numbered only thirteen. The average number of monthly desertions in the fiscal year ended June 1913, was 210 and during the past fiscal year 104.

PREFERS THE POLITICAL MORGUE

Many active politicians have tired of the game before, so A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, is no exception to the rule since he has been appointed and has accepted the position of judge on the United States Court of Claims. In his new role he is entitled to wear a robe like that of a clergyman, eschew politics, and live a peaceful, judicial life. Palmer was one of the "original Wilson men" of the "sure enough kind." In appreciation of his activities President Wilson offered him the post of Secretary of War, but while Palmer was eager for political honors, he could not accept, explaining that he was born a Quaker, and was therefore a man of peace. So Palmer was shoved into the Senatorial race in Pennsylvania, and buried out of sight by the famous Boies Penrose, who was "coming back" at the time. Now Palmer is extinct, or almost so, since he will hereafter be a Judge, and no one will dare to talk back to him.

Mount Vernon

THE HOME OF WASHINGTON.

By J. E. Jones

A pretty little story of visits to Mount Vernon on the Potomac—"impressions and sentiments like yours and mine," explains the author to those who have seen our country's greatest shrine.

Bound in colonial blue and buff, with hand illumined cover design, and colonial ribbon book mark; profusely illustrated with handsome half-tones and pen drawings, it is a dainty and invaluable reminder that will instantly appeal to every person who has been to Mount Vernon, while to those who have not had that good fortune this clever, happy little story of our beloved George and Martha gives a clearer view and understanding of their colonial home, which is today the pride of Virginia and the Nation.

As a souvenir or gift book, for young or old, there is nothing to approach the elegance of this little volume, and it will make one feel more like a patriotic American to possess it.

men, with their families, will visit Hawaai this summer, and listen to the plaintive love songs of the Hawaaii singers. While the Filipinos have been making a loud claim for independence the Hawaaiian's have been "sawing wood," and they are bearing the expense of taking a big part of the Congress on a free junket to Hawaai, ostensibly to "see the country." Europe is taboo, and Panama has played out, so fondly our Americans are turning to the Pacific, and the poetic land where live the peaceful Hawaaiian people, who look after their own affairs, and gather in the sugar crops, and are happy.

A CURE FOR SPRING FEVER

Doctor Wiley is supposed to know everything about human health, and whether the supposition is warranted or not, is of little moment. He has, however, furnished a remedy for spring fever, and here it is, with comment:

"Spring fever is the result of carrying over into the spring of winter's diet," declared the pure food and hygiene expert. "Throw off the diet as you throw off the winter's clothing.

"Eat less heat-producing food, such as sugars, starches and oils.

"Eat mere tissue building foods, such as lean meat, whole grains, and drink milk.

"But don't eat as much as you did during the winter.

"A good spring diet for breakfast is two soft boiled, poached or fried eggs, whole-wheat mush, whole-corn cakes with sugar-cane syrup, and a glass of milk. Don't eat at noon. For dinner, have soup, a roast, potatoes, a second vegetable, salad, dessert and fruit. Don't drink coffee, tea, cocoa or chocolate.

"Sleep seven hours a day and walk two miles."

RESULTS OF "SWATTING" CAMPAIGNS

The French thought that there were so many mosquitoes at Panama that it would be impossible to build the canal. The Americans thought differently, and after killing off all the insects and skeeters they had the satisfaction of knowing that the death rate instead of being nearly two-thirds among the workmen, had been reduced until the Panama Canal Zone was more healthful than the most favored portions of the United States. And yet there are people who claim that it is useless to "swat the fly," simply from the general belief that there are so many of them that it is a waste of energy. But the proof of the benefits to a community are shown very well at the National Capital. For several years Washington has been "swatting" the fly and correcting various unsanitary conditions, during which time the general health of the city has constantly improved. Last year there were 100 less cases of typhoid fever than in any previous season, while other diseases were less in evidence.

"The time has just about arrived for the biggest results to be achieved

A Third Message

To the Business Men of Manchester By the Sea

Prosperity and local pride are twins. They are born at the same time and grow up together. Enthusiasm for the home town is a great thing for local business men. Once developed, this feeling shows direct returns in more sales and bigger profits.

Have you ever seen a shabby town proud, or prosperous? Good paint is a powerful factor in keeping prosperity after a community has won it.

WELL KNOWN MANCHESTER BUSINESS MAN PASSES AWAY

Horace Standley a native of Beverly Farms, and for a quarter of a century in business in Manchester, died at his home on Norwood ave., Manchester, Saturday morning after a long illness with Bright's disease, at the age of 52 years. Mr. Standley was born in Beverly Farms, the son of the late Andrew Standley and was a brother of the late Elmer Standley of that place. He attended the Farms and Beverly schools and when a young man went to Manchester where he established a blacksmith and general carriage repairing business near the railroad station. The business developed into one of the largest on the North Shore. He took a prominent part in the affairs of the town, served on the board of selectmen, the park commission and was active in Republican affairs, serving on the town committee for many years. He was a member of Liberty lodge of Masons of Beverly, Magnolia lodge of Odd Fellows and North Shore lodge of Workmen of Manchester, and the Business Men's association of Beverly, Wenham, Hamilton and Manchester. He leaves a widow and three children, two sons, Chester L. Standley and Wesley B. Standley and one daughter, Mrs. Ethel Flemming and one sister, Mrs. Marshall T. Larcom of Beverly Farms.

The funeral services were held from the Memorial chapel Monday afternoon, the chapel being crowded to the doors. Rev. A. G. Warner of Manchester and Rev. C. S. Pond of Beverly Farms officiated. The services of the various orders were, by request, omitted. The floral offerings were profuse and beautiful. Burial was at Rosedale.

FREDERICK A. HILL

Frederick Ashley Hill died at the Massachusetts General hospital, Wednesday, March 31st. Mr. Hill was a Manchester boy and was known by many Manchester people. Of late years he had resided in Boston where he was employed in several of the large shoe stores as salesman. He was for many years connected with the old Henry H. Tuttle store located, corner Winter and Washington streets. He was a brother of Mrs. John R. Cheever. He also leaves a brother Joseph E. Hill of Flushing, Long Island, and a sister Mrs. Carrie Thaxter of Stratham, N. H. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m., at Crowell Memorial Chapel, Manchester. The Rev. Chas. A. Hatch will officiate.

MISS LOTTIE C. KEYES

Miss Lottie C. Keyes, who has been doing dressmaking off Pleasant st. extension, Manchester, since last summer, died yesterday morning, of pleuro-pneumonia, at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. J. Parsons, at 116 Glen st., Somerville, whence she was taken in the Manchester ambulance Monday. Miss Keyes was a native of Oshawa, Ontario. She was a member of Tremont Temple church for the last 25 years. She leaves many friends in Manchester who will be shocked to learn of her sudden demise. Her age was 61 years.

MANCHESTER

C. C. Dodge observed his 61st birthday last Saturday evening at his home on School street, when a houseful of friends gathered to extend congratulations.

The honors for graduation were announced at the High school this week. Miss Esther Carrol will be the valedictorian; William Angus, the salutatorian, and Miss Thesbe Galanie, essayist. The class will number 14.

At their meeting Tuesday evening the selectmen made the following appointments: James P. Reed, caretaker of town clock, and of clock in Memorial Library building; Alhanan Babcock, undertaker; T. W. Long, sealer of weights and measures; Wilbur B. Paige, master, and Mrs. Page, matron of the almshouse; L. O. Lations, harbor master; T. C. Rowe, caretaker Central Pond. Bids were opened for repairs and improvements at the almshouse, as follows: C. L. Crafts, $1398; Edward Height, $1625; Albert Haraden, $1298. The contract was awarded to the lowest bidder. It is expected the electric light company will give a demonstration of the various power lights in the street in front of the station either tonight or tomorrow night.

EDITORIAL

A QUESTION OF EXTREME INTEREST to summer visitors to the North Shore and especially to motorists who like to frequent the unsurpassed roads of this section, is the proposed widening of Elm street in Salem. Situated directly in the heart of the North Shore, Salem presents a most difficult means of access to the shore resorts. This is principally because of the narrow streets in Salem between the state boulevard coming from Swampscott, and the city of Beverly. After the former summer capital is reached an excellent stretch of macadam roads, well oiled, is found, but the motorist has always experienced extreme discomfort and positive danger in traversing through the streets of Salem. When the Elm street widening bill is pushed through the state senate,—and it seems almost certain that it will—this will be almost a complete solution to the present problem of getting through Salem safely and quickly. The present narrow thoroughfares comprising Elm and Walnut streets, just above Salem Common will be merged into one wide boulevard and the section between that new street and Lafayette street will be continued by a 70-foot thoroughfare. This will give an excellent approach to the North Shore and one which will be long awaited.

THE DISASTROUS FIRES on the Shore during the last week due to negligence and spring-cleaning shows that there is still an opportunity for a campaign of education on the subject of spring fires and their dangers. Care should be taken with every fire built in the open air. Every boy should be taught the community rules and compelled to obey them. The forest warden's rules against fires in the woods are meant for everyone, and there are reasons for such rules. There was an exceptional light rainfall in March and everything is now dry and in an excellent condition to feed a disastrous fire. Watch every fire made in the open air and be prepared for a change in the wind. A small fire can spread with such rapidity that the fire fighters of any of our Shore towns would have a hard task to stop it.

THE SEASON HAS BEGUN! It is a safe prophecy now that the season is a month to six weeks earlier than usual. Many householders, who in the past have closed their town houses and sent their servants ahead to open up their country estates, now plan to come themselves soon as the season opens instead of going to Europe. This is good news to such resorts as Magnolia, Manchester and Beverly Farms. The season will be longer than usual this year.

THE SINKING OF THE F-4 shows the dangers of deep-sea maneuvering. There is some consolation in the fact that our government is seeking to locate a craft sunk while making maneuvers in times of peace.

EX-GOVERNOR FOSS has registered himself as favoring nation-wide prohibition. The up-to-date democratic politician is just a little behind the times! Secretary Bryan has the laurels for that plank.

THE RESIDENTS of Beverly Farms are now beginning to feel that they are really going to have the new library building. An appropriation has been made to cover the purchase of the lot and the Commission has organized and has begun its work. In December the residents of that section will probably be using their new building. The Commission has thirty thousand dollars to expend. Four thousand five hundred dollars of it will be spent for the purchase of the lots which are to be given in exchange for the site upon which the library will be built. This leaves the Commission twenty-five thousand five hundred dollars to be expended upon the building and the planting of the grounds. For this amount a building can be built that will be a credit to the city.

THE RECENT DECISION by the court in favor of the United Shoe Machinery will mean much to the company and to the City of Beverly. The decision is the most important made in years and is a triumph for the Shoe Company. Accused and arraigned for breaking the laws, their activities have been proven to be legitimate and honorable. There is no restraint of trade in the business operations of the company and the decision removes another fear from the business world. The promoters of business during these last years have been having a stormy time of it, but the recent court decision begins a new era for organized business.

SPRING HAS REALLY BEGUN as far as the days of the months are concerned, but the spring birds have been delayed. Robins have been rare during the winter, but they are now to be seen feeding and in flight. The bluebirds are not numerous, although the school children report having seen them. The gardens are being planted. Enterprising professional gardeners have taken chances with hardy peas and these are now in the ground. The amateurs have been content to plant sweet peas and to be grateful for the coming of an early spring.

THE NEW RAILROAD rates while not altogether agreeable to everyone, are just. If a railroad cannot do business and make money to pay the interest on their investment they have just reasons for increasing the price of the commodity they have to sell. This is transportation. For some years now, the railroads have been having hard times, and the new rates ought to help the management of the roads in rehabilitating their properties. A decadent and poorly maintained railroad is destructive of all values in trade. No territory can prosper with a run-down railroad to serve it.

PERHAPS THIS GOVERNMENT could buy the Prinz Eitel Friedrich quite reasonable if an offer were made. The craft seems to be willing to remain within the quiet haven at Newport News. There is a reason; the British lions of the sea are awaiting their prey.

EASTER BONNETS and the milliner's harvest.

AN ITALIAN HAS WRITTEN these words to a professor in one of our leading institutions of learning and seems to reveal the attitude of the Italian people who desire peace, but fear the consequences of cowardice and inertia: "I fear that we all in Europe are paying or going to pay, a heavy but not undeserved penalty for a duty too long postponed, for the striving towards right and freedom, once generously taken in hand, was too soon deserted, long before the end was attained. Nobody in Europe was entitled to enjoy fifty years of peace. We are, perhaps, less guilty than any other, for we have no record of alien people oppressed, but we have brethren who must be freed if any hope of it appear." Italy was not prepared when the war broke out. But since the opening of the fray the nation has set its forces at work to equip the army and it is now in a position to take the field at a day's notice. One cannot view the impending possibility with alarm. There is nothing than can be added to the horrors of the already too long protracted war. It seems inevitable that if the peace of Europe is to be maintained during the next century, this war should settle once and for a long while the European problem. In the settlement of that problem Italy must be considered. If the war ends with Italy a neutral nation, will her interests be cared for by the belligerents? If the boundaries of Europe be readjusted without a consideration of Italy's claims one mighty force will be smothered for awhile and it will mean a conflict that Italy must precipitate to gain or maintain its own. With Italy in the fray when the terms of peace are being prepared her interests will become one with her allies, whoever they will be. Italy is weighing the future in balances. To maintain peace at this time may mean the purchase of peace for a decade, only to bring about a conflict that would destroy peace of Europe for many years. America hates war, but how can America have any deep feelings over the question whether Italy makes war or remains out at this time? Such a thought is shallow; for Italy's decision to make war at this time may be the last straw that will break the camel's back and end the trouble. If Italy's entrance into the fight will bring about peace it will be a welcome relief.

THEODORE A. HOLMES, of Beverly Farms, after years of faithful service has been granted, at his own request, leave to retire from the board of assessors of the City of Beverly. Mr. Holmes is a veteran of the Civil War. He has been awarded a pension by the board of aldermen. William R. Brooks, who succeeds him, is a life long resident of Beverly Farms. He has served the district as representative to the General Court and succeeded Elmer Standley as the postmaster of that district. He brings to the board an accurate knowledge of the district which he represents and will prove himself a worthy and efficient member.

THE WAR SEEMS to have accomplished more for temperance and prohibition than all the oratory in three generations. Lloyd George is right when he asserts that the use of liquor by the workmen of England is a greater foe to English liberties than the German and Austrian armies.

BEFORE MANY YEARS are past the amendment to the constitution forbidding sectarian appropriations will become law. The religious organizations in Massachusetts seem to agree that appropriations should not be made to religious organizations. If these organizations thus protest, the bill should be made law.

THE DEATH OF MR. HORACE STANDLEY removes from among us a man who was respected and beloved by all. Although a native of Beverly Farms he has been a life long resident of Manchester. He will be missed. He had a capacity for friendship that was remarkable. His business affairs were handled with discrimination and honesty. A lover of his home, the domestic side of his life was ideal. His business integrity and judgment was marked not alone in the management of his own affairs, but in the genial and helpful spirit with which he has encouraged and helped others. Many sought him for advice and counsel and were not disappointed in their trust. The new Trust Company was honored by his membership on their board of directors and in its affairs he took a keen interest. His business skill and judgment was a valuable asset to the bank. The number who gathered to pay their tribute of respect to him at the funeral services in Memorial Chapel was a marked testimony of the honor and esteem of the town to his integrity and standing among us.

THE DEDICATION of the Dalles-Celilo Canal of the Columbia River, Oregon, the date for which is set for Wednesday, May 5, 1915, will mark the opening of a continuous free waterway from the Pacific Ocean inland a distance of 479 miles to Lewiston, Idaho, on the Snake River, a tributary of the Columbia, and to Priest Rapids, on the Columbia, a distance of 450 miles. The completion of the canal is deemed of such importance that citizens of the Pacific Northwest States have prepared a series of celebrations running through the entire week of May 3-8, including special programs at Lewiston, Idaho; Pasco, Kennewick, Walla Walla and Wallula, Washington; Pendleton and Umatilla, Oregon; Maryhill and Goldendale, Washington; The Dalles and Big Eddy, Oregon; Kalama and Vancouver, Washington; and Portland and Astoria, Oregon. At each of these celebrations distinctive programs will be given setting forth the development of the country tributary to the Columbia.

THE GOVERNMENT should raise the sunken submarine F-4 at all costs. It is imperative for future progress that the causes of the disaster be ascertained and provided against in all future submarine construction if the accident be due to faulty construction.

WHATEVER ONE'S SYMPATHIES may be concerning the merits of the German or the Allies cause, one cannot but take notice of the marvelous way in which Germany has been able to stand off her foes.

THE STATE OF WISCONSIN knows that the State University is not an unmixed evil. Massachusetts may well wait before embarking upon such a venture.

In Wartime

In war's alarms I do not dare
Plead victory for either side;
"Thy kingdom come," be all my prayer,
And only God be glorified.

Nay, rather, this shall be my prayer:
That wars may cease and peace abide;
"Father, forgive," in mercy spare
Whom ignorant passion doth misguide:
The prayer of Christ the crucified!

—JOSEPH A. TORREY.

MANCHESTER SECTION

Friday, April 2, 1915.

We are sorry to report that Robert Baker is quite ill at his home on School street. He was threatened with pneumonia but is now recovering.

Henry Mitchell and family have moved to Bridgewater, having bought a 10-acre poultry farm. They will continue their pattern business there, besides carrying on an extensive poultry business.

Swett's Fish Market, 163-W. adv.

Miss Gladys Semons is ill at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Semons, Pine street, with an attack of grip, and has been obliged to give up her studies at Jackson college for a few days.

Miss Gwendolen Glendenning, who was home from Smith college to spend the Easter holidays, entertained several of her college mates the first of the week. She has since accompanied one of them to South Norwalk, Conn., to remain until college opens.

A number of Manchester young women are leaving this afternoon for Washington on a tour conducted by Mr. Wales. Among them are Misses Chapman, Skinner and Green of the local corps of school teachers, and Miss Elizabeth Lethbridge. Miss Maud Russell of Newton, Miss Lethbridge's cousin, will also be a member of the party.

Two fire alarms in quick succession were rung in early Saturday evening. The first was for a fire in the rear of the Louis White property on Central street. It had gained some headway, but the quick response of the auto-truck and the effective work of the firemen soon had the blaze under control. The damage to the adjoining property of Edward S. Bradley is estimated at about $200. The second alarm was sent in for a brush fire in the woods on what is known as "Spy Rock,"—the Winthrop Wetherbee estate. Forest fires were burning all day Saturday in the Beverly Farms direction, and many Manchester boys and young men gave efficient aid in putting them out. Forest Warden Peter A. Sheahan and his men have had some stubborn fires to fight this year, but they have proved able to cope with the situation.

Miss Dorothy Blaisdell has been entertaining some of her college mates from Wheaton the past week.

A daughter was born Saturday, Mar. 27, to Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Mulvey of the Dexter estate, Forest st.

Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Knight and young child were down from Brookline over the week-end. Edward C. Knight is on from New York for the Easter holidays, part of which he will probably spend in Manchester.

Arthur Erickson, who has been home since his thrilling experience in Germany, where he was arrested as a spy, sailed Saturday as wireless operator on a steamer for Porto Rico.

Miss Mary Princie Dodge, who has been chaperoning the Senior class of the York high school, where she is a teacher, to Washington, will arrive home this afternoon to spend a day or two with her mother, Mrs. Jennie Dodge, School street. She will return to York Sunday.

A number of Wellesley girls have been spending the Easter holidays at Manchester since last Saturday, with headquarters at Mrs. George Dean's, "The Sign of the Crane," Tea Rooms, Summer street. It is a typical crowd of jolly college girls and they have had a most delightful time, at Singing Beach, and all along the shore, to Gloucester, Beverly Farms, where they visited Oliver Wendell Holmes' home, and today they plan to visit historic Salem. In the party are: Misses Carey and Cecil Butler, Lexington, Mo.; Misses Margaret and Mary Liza Clark, Punxsutawney, Pa.; Misses Dorothy Roberts, Dorothy Walton, Linda McCain, Valeria Ladd, Grace Walton and Muriel Thayer, Minneapolis, Minn.; Blanche Henderson, Montgomery, Pa.; Dorothy Jones, Conshohocken, Pa.; Tamaki Uemura, Tokio, Japan; Elizabeth Roop, Up-land, Pa.; Helen McGlade, Princeton, Ill.; Dorothy Greene, Margaret Maxwell, Indiana; Mona Matthews, Dubuque, Ia.; Louise Cross, Minneapolis. The last four are Freshman, and they have been at Mrs. John Campbell's, School street. Two of the Wellesley professors are here as chaperons for the girls.

Edison Baker has a position in Boston with Warren Bros.

The public schools of Manchester will close today for a week's vacation.

M. C. Horton, of 7 Brook st. represents S. A. Gentlee & Son of Beverly, undertakers, as their agent.

The Brotherhood will meet Monday evening, April 5, at 8 p. m. Rev. Robert Walker, Chaplain of Massachusetts Reformatory, speaks on "The Modern Treatment of the Criminal."

Miss Pauline Semons was hostess to the Happy club at its weekly meeting Wednesday evening of this week. Music and cards formed the evening's entertainment and the hostess served delicious refreshments.

The Misses Ruth and Alma Baker entertained about 20 young people at their home on Summer st. yesterday afternoon in honor of little Miss Vera Salter, who is leaving town this week to live in Danvers.

Men's Elite and Ladies' Queen Quality Shoes at W. R. Bell's, adv.

Miss Annabelle Lodge has been taking an enforced vacation from her duties at Daniel Low & Co.'s in Salem the last two weeks, owing to an accident at the store in which she injured her back.

The Study class of the Manchester Anti-Suffrage Branch met with Mrs. J. C. Mackin, at her home on North st., yesterday for discussion and tea. The afternoon was one of the most enjoyable, which the class has had this season. The next meeting will be held in two weeks at Mrs. Mackin's residence.

Postmaster Frank A. Foster took over the duties of the office yesterday, April 1, from the then Postmaster Samuel L. Wheaton, who retired after 16 years of continuous service. When Mr. Wheaton took the office, there was one assistant (in summer only), besides the assistant postmaster, Miss Lu Johnson. Today there are three clerks beside the Postmaster and his assistant, and four carriers. The salary was about $1400 then, out of which the clerk was paid; today it is $2200 clear. The office has a city delivery, and stands one of the highest for towns of the size of Manchester in the country.

RODERICK-FOLEY

Saturday evening, March 27, the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Burchstead at West Manchester, was the scene of a pretty home wedding when their daughter, Miss Dorothy Foley became the bride of Mr. Perley Roderick of Lynn, the single ring service being used. Mrs. Wade A. Brooks, an aunt of the bride played the wedding march. The bride looked lovely in pale pink satin and silk chiffon trimmed with silver and marabout. She carried an arm bouquet of pink carnations and fine ferns. She was attended by Miss Josephine Brooks, who was pretty in lemon silk and lace. Harold Brooks acted as best man. After the ceremony a reception was held and refreshments were served by the Misses Ruth Brooks and Mildred Burchstead. The couple will make their home for the present with the bride's parents.

ASSESSORS'
NOTICE.

Pursuant to the provisions of Sec. 41, of Part I of Chapter 490 of the Acts of 1909, as amended by Sec. 5, Chap. 198, Acts of 1914, all persons, firms and corporations, domestic or foreign, subject to taxation in the town of Manchester are hereby notified and required to bring in to the Assessors of said town on or before the

15th. Day of May Next

in case of residents, true lists of all their polls and estates, both real and personal (not exempt by law from taxation), of which they were possessed on the first day of April in the current year, and in case of non-residents and foreign corporations, true lists of all their estate both real and personal in said town of Manchester (not exempt from taxation) which lists must be verified by oath, as required by Sec. 43 of said Part I.

Under the provisions of Section 42 of said Part I, as amended by Chapter 515, Acts of 1909, the above-mentioned lists must be in form prescribed by the Tax Commissioner of the Commonwealth. These blank forms may be had at the Assessors' Office, or will be mailed to any address upon application.

SECTION 45 OF PART I OF CHAPTER 490, ACTS OF 1909.

A mortgagor or mortgagee of real estate may bring in to the assessors of the city or town in which it lies, within the time prescribed by the notice under Sect. 41, a statement under oath of the amount secured thereon or on each separate parcel thereof, with the name and residence of every holder of an interest therein as mortgagor or mortgagee. If such property is situated in two or more places, or if a recorded mortgage includes two or more estates or parts of an estate as security for one sum, such statement shall include an estimate of the interest of the mortgagee in each estate or part of an estate. The assessors shall, from such statement or otherwise, ascertain the proportionate interests of the mortgagor or mortgagee respectively in said estates, and shall assess the same accordingly. If, in any year, such statement is not brought in, the tax for that year on such real estate shall not be invalid merely for the reason that the interest of the mortgagee therein has not been assessed to him.

In accordance with Section 41 aforesaid, all persons and corporations are hereby required to bring in to the assessors, on or before the fifteenth day of May next, true lists of all real and personal estate held by them, respectively, for literary, temperance, benevolent, charitable or scientific purposes on the first day of April, in the current year, together with statements of the amounts of all receipts and expenditures for said purposes during the year next preceding said first day of April; such lists and statements to be in accordance with blanks furnished by the Tax Commissioner.

Benediction.FARWELL PARTY FOR JAMES SALTER.

James Salter, who has been gardener for Mr. Philip Dexter for the past fourteen years, left Manchester, March 31, having been appointed instructor in vegetable growing at the Essex County Agricultural school at Danvers. About thirty-five of Mr. Salter's friends gave him a very pleasant surprise party at his home on Forest st. last Monday evening, presenting him with a handsome clock as a mark of their esteem. William Till in making the presentation stated that as actions speak louder than words, so the fact that so many had gathered to bid their friend God speed was more of a tribute to the respect in which Mr. Salter was held than any sentiment which he could express; he hoped that Mr. Salter would have as good success and as many friends in his new home as he was leaving behind in Manchester; and that in behalf of these gentlemen he took great pleasure in presenting Mr. Salter with a clock as a memento of their friendship. "When you look at its face and read the time of the day," said Mr. Till, "May it remind you of the happy times we have spent together in Manchester and may its chief virtues be constancy and truthfulness emblematic of true friendship. I have also to express to you the good wishes of several of your friends who are unable to be present this evening, but who are just as sincere although not here."

Vice-Pres. Wetterlow spoke briefly for the N. S. H. S. and hoped the cordial relations of Mr. Salter and that body would continue; he also mentioned the great help that Mr. Salter had been to the society and on behalf of all he wished the gentleman every success.

Mr. Salter expressed his surprise that he had so many friends and thanked each and all for their kindness, both past and present, and assured all that he should continue as a member of the N. S. H. society, even though he was living in Danvers.

The party then adjourned to the large plant shed where Herbert Shaw and Owen Hansbury had provided refreshments. A pleasant evening was brought to a close by everyone singing "Auld Lang Syne" and "He's a Jolly Good Fellow," Mr. Judd being pianist for the evening.

The Kings Daughters will meet on Monday evening with Mrs. Bertie Harvie, Lincoln st.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Baptist church participated in the Pageant given at the Dane St. church, Beverly, on Monday evening under auspices of the Salem Union C. E. "The Voices of the Women" was the part arranged by the Missionary Committee of the local society and it was especially well presented by the participants.

A meeting of the First Parish is called for next Wednesday evening, Apr. 7. One of the articles in the warrant calls for action looking toward merging the Parish and the Church. This step has been taken by most of the churches, though there are still a few of the older churches that continue the old-time form of two bodies instead of one.

There will be a Good Friday service in the chapel this evening. The Pastor's Bible class will not meet tonight, but will meet one week hence.

The Missionary Society of the Baptist church held its annual supper at the vestry Tuesday evening. The evening was made the more pleasant by the presence of one or two exceptionally good speakers.

The Missionary societies of the Congl. church held their semi-annual meeting yesterday afternoon at the Chapel. One of their customary appetizing suppers was served at six o'clock for members and their families.

MANCHESTER

The pupils of the Story High school will present "Sally Lunn" in a two-act comedy in the Town hall, Friday, April 23.

Miss Katherine Walsh of Pine st. has been appointed superintendent of nurses of the new Everett Contagious Hospital which is to be dedicated next month. Miss Walsh is a graduate of the Boston City Training School, class of 1914.

F. Clifford Rand has petitioned the town authorities to extend sewer and water pipes to the lot on Lincoln ave., which he recently purchased. The town must take special action on this before the right can be given, and it may come up at the town meeting on Tuesday, Apr. 13. Mr. Rand proposes to build in the near future.

Saturday afternoon, Apr. 3, at 3.30 in the Chapel the Manchester Woman's club will have their Children's Day, when Miss Ethel Wood will entertain with her stories and dolls. Mrs. Wm. Hooper will be the hostess. Each member is entitled to bring all her own children between the ages of five and sixteen, using her own calling cards; those having none between these ages may bring one child free, and as many more as they wish on the payment of the usual fee,—25 cents for each.

GERTRUDE HOFFMANN AT KEITH'S

Gertrude Hoffmann, the most versatile artiste on the American stage, comes to B. F. Keith's Theatre the week of April 5th for a positively limited engagement of one week only, in her new, 1915 edition of Gertrude Hoffmann's New Revue. Miss Hoffmann is surrounded by a great company of fifty singers, dancers, pantomimists, comedians, acrobats, and the famous Hoffmann Bouquet of Beauties, as well as her great troupe of Arab acrobats. The New 1915 edition of the Revue is in twelve scenes, with many new features, as well as "Zobedie's Dream," "The Blue Danube," and "Pierrot at the Moulin Rouge." Miss Hoffmann will present her great galaxy of imitations and caricatures of theatrical celebrities, including Anna Held, Ethel Barrymore, George M. Cohan, Isadora Duncan, Harry Lauder, and other equally famous artists. Miss Hoffmann and her New Revue are the greatest attraction in vaudeville today. The Revue runs over an hour, and is a veritable vaudeville show, musical comedy, pantomime, spectacle and dance carnival all rolled into one.

Miss Edith Brayton Briggs gave a delightful rendering of Maeterlinck's "Mary Magdalene" at last Sunday evening's service at the Village church. Miss Briggs is a graduate of the Leland Powers School, Boston, and is in great demand as a reader, never failing to hold her audience, whether she reads comedy or tragedy. In "Mary Magdalene" she was at her best, and her portrayal of the character of Mary, one of the foremost women in the Bible was excellent.

The annual Easter concert will be held at the church under the auspices of the Sunday school. Members of the school will give an interesting concert and instrumental music will be supplied by Joseph Carey of Manchester and Mr. MacDonald of Gloucester.

Miss Elizabeth Abbott has returned from a visit with friends in Boston.

Harold Richardson has been spending the week of the Easter vacation with friends in Peterboro.

The town is interested in the comedy, which the Foster club is preparing for presentation sometime in April at the Women's clubhouse. "Breezy Point," an amusing and refreshing little play, with a point, has been selected, and rehearsals are already under way. Mrs. H. C. Foster is superintending the rehearsals. To the guidance of Mrs. Foster is largely due the success of the club, which is beginning to take such a prominent part in the life of the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Carr were at Lanesville over Sunday. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Dion.

Frederick Eaton of Worcester was at home for the week-end with his parents, Rev. Dr. Walter S. Eaton, at the Parsonage. Irving Eaton of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology also came home from Boston for Sunday.

Axel Nelson is to be employed this summer by John E. May as chauffeur on the latter's bus line. Lyman Butler, who has been employed by the American Express company at Manchester for a number of years, has obtained a leave of absence, and will also drive for Mr. May this season. He has the Manchester route.

A party of about a dozen young women chaperoned by Mrs. Theresa Knowles, were guests of the Magnolia young men, who are spending the week in camp at Conomo Point, Essex, yesterday. A chicken dinner was an enjoyable feature of the day.

AS TO USE OF ESSEX COUNTY BEACHES.

From a Boston paper we reprint the following concerning the Manchester-Gloucester representative to the General Court:

The agitation begun by former Mayor Harry C. Foster of Gloucester to conserve the rights of "all the people" in the use of Essex County beaches assumed a definite course of procedure Saturday when the legislative committee on harbors and public lands reported to the Legislature a resolve directing an investigation into the matter by the harbor and land commission.

According to former Mayor Foster, who is now a member of the Legislature, the exclusive society that patronizes Magnolia, Manchester-by-the-Sea, Rockport and Beverly have usurped the beaches and have denied the use of them to the people who are less fortunate in worldly possessions.

"The monarchs of society have purchased property adjoining beaches and have built up costly estates," Representative Foster says, "and they have gradually encroached upon the public beaches. The poor people who go down to the North Shore for a Sunday's outing are denied the right to bathe. It is my contention that the beaches are public property and that society, therefore, has no lawful right to usurp the beaches for their exclusive use."

Under the terms of the resolve the harbor and land commission will conduct an investigation to determine if public property has been usurped and if the people are being denied their legal right to use the beaches.

SALEM MERCHANTS WEEK — APRIL 13TH TO 17TH.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE NOTES

The Manchester Equal Suffrage League held an important but quiet business meeting at Mrs. Leach's Tea-room, on Thursday, April 1st, at three o'clock. Miss Florence Leach gave an interesting report of the Essex Co. conference at Lynn, and Miss Stanwood brought the news from the state headquarters in Boston, and many plans were discussed. Because of Holy Week and Easter, the larger meeting and tea were deferred until about the middle of April. (Full notice later).

At Easter, this year, the golden daffodils are seen in many of the decorations and greetings; and we rejoice that this typical spring flower in the Suffrage flower. The great Spring Festival is the season of hope and of new life triumphant over the dead past; and the golden flowers are symbols of the Woman Movement, which is bringing new hope to the world. It is not inappropriate to remember, with all reverence, that it was the Women who, on the first Easter Day, "very early in the morning," came first to the tomb and discovered the Resurrection. And at the same time we remember that, at the Lenten season and other seasons, it is the women who come to church in greatest numbers and carry on the Church's work of mercy. And thus the women will bring with them into public life the faith and love that now make them the real strength of the Church. Holy Week is a good time to think of the more serious, even solemn, side of the Woman Movement, and to ask that all the old cheap jokes about women may be for the moment laid aside,—the day will come when they will be laid away forever! The Suffragists send cheerful, hopeful Easter greetings to all.

I will close this Easter letter with a part of the Prayer which the Suffragists have been using since the campaign began,—(and which expresses so much better than I can do the real meaning of the Woman Movement):

"Great Jehovah, Ancient of Days, they women beseech thee to help them to their inheritance so long denied. Strike off the bonds that have weighed upon us through the ages. Give us the faith to believe that we can serve thy great design side by side with our men. Give us the courage at this time to win our freedom for the good of the coming generations. Instill into the minds of women and men alike the knowledge that women cannot serve thee in perfectness while they serve men in imperfectness. We know that now at last has come our time in the slow centuries and we ask thee to stretch forth thy hand and aid us to be free—that we may be able from this year onwards to work untrammelled against war, injustice and evil."

Some people will never be popular—and there's no reason why they should be.

BEVERLY FARMS

Preston Post, 188, G. A. R., Preston W. R. C., 93, and the Andrew Standley camp, S. of V., will jointly observe the 50th anniversary of Lee's surrender by meeting on next Friday evening, April 9th, in G. A. R. hall. After a supper, served in the banquet hall, an entertainment will be given in the assembly hall. A committee from the three organizations in charge of the arrangements have planned a pleasing program.

E. Fred Day has been made chairman of the Beverly Farms Library Commission and Miss Katherine P. Loring, secretary. Arthur Forness is the other member. The commission has met a number of times and has looked over several near-by public libraries. Next week it is probable that the commission will have several preliminary plans from well-known architects to consider.

Improvements are being made in the store of the Thissell Co. in Neighbor's hall block, which include the removing of a partition, thereby making the floor space into one big room, giving the concern better facilities to handle their increasing business.

Commander George F. Wood, J. Sewall Day and John S. Curtis have been selected by Andrew Standley camp, S. of V., to attend as delegates the convention to be held in Boston next week.

Beverly assessors started out yesterday on the rounds for the 1915 assessment. The work has been divided as follows: Assessor John M. Murney will look after Wards 3 and 6, Assessor Chas. E. Riva, Wards 4 and 5, and William R. Brooks, the new member from Beverly Farms, takes Wards 1 and 2.

Charles Belfry, the telephone inspector, who was severely injured in an auto and motorcycle accident late last summer and who has spent most of the time since in several hospitals, returned to his home in Beverly Farms this week and is now able, with the aid of a cane, to get out of doors.

Miss Louise Hannable has spent the past two weeks visiting relatives in Dorchester.

Miss Catharine Murray of Pride's Crossing, daughter of Dennis Murray, has gone to Baltimore, Md., and will enter the convent of the Sisters of Charity in that city. She was a recent graduate as a trained nurse.

Miss Caroline F. Thomas of Bangor, Me., has been visiting friends at Beverly Farms the past week.

The death of Horace Standley, a native of Beverly Farms, who passed away at his home in Manchester last Saturday morning, caused sincere sorrow among his host of friends here. Deepest sympathy is being extended to his sister, Mrs. Marshall T. Larcom of West street, who within the past six years has lost father, mother and two brothers. He was a member of Andrew Standley camp, S. of V., which was named after his father.

MORTGAGEE SALE OF REAL ESTATE by EDWIN P. STANLEY, auctioneer.

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Harriett F. Younger of Beverly in the County of Essex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to Martha L. Kimball of Salem in the County of Essex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, dated April 16, 1910, and recorded with Essex South District Registry of Deeds, Book 2016, Folio 107, for breach of conditions contained in said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing, the same will be sold at public auction upon the premises hereinafter described on Monday, the twenty-sixth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen, at two o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular, the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, namely:—A certain lot and parcel of land situated at Beverly Farms in said Beverly near what is called "Malt Hill" on Hale Street leading to Manchester and contains (33,169 feet) thirty three thousand one hundred and sixty-nine feet, be the same more or less, bounded and described as follows, viz.: Beginning at the south corner of said lot at a point on said Hale Street one hundred and thirty five feet easterly of the eastern corner of land owned by Dr. R. W. Hooper on the west side of the bar-way entering the way to North Village and thence running north-westerly by land deeded to Adaline A. Day on the first day of November, 1879, about three hundred and thirty-five feet, to a stake, and thence running by land formerly owned by Joseph Morse one hundred and two feet to land deeded to Judith A. Younger on the first day of November, 1879, and thence running southeasterly by said land of Judith A. Younger about three hundred and fifteen feet to said Hale Street, and thence running by said Hale Street as the wall runs, one hundred and five feet to the point of beginning, with all the privileges and appurtenances to the same premises belonging, subject, however, to all the rights and interest the widow of Ariel Osborn holds in the above described premises agreeably with the will of her husband deceased.

These premises will be sold subject to a mortgage of five hundred dollars with interest thereon held by the said Martha L. Kimball, and to all unpaid taxes. The purchaser will be required to pay to the auctioneer at the time and place of the sale the sum of one hundred dollars balance in ten days upon the delivery of the deed.

William R. Brooks, at a special meeting of the aldermen held last Friday evening, was elected to fill a vacancy for the unexpired term in the Board of Assessors caused by the resignation of Theodore A. Holmes. Mr. Brooks was born in Beverly Farms and is one of its best known residents. For a number of years he was engaged in the fish business. He served the city as a representative to the General Court and has also been postmaster here. Always interested in municipal affairs, he has been for years a member of the Republican city committee. On Saturday morning he was qualified and entered at once upon his new duties.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Beverly Farms firemen will be held at the local fire station next Monday evening.

Willard B. Publicover will represent the John West colony, Pilgrim Fathers, as a delegate at the convention to be held in Boston next week. The colony will hold its regular business meeting in Marshall's hall this evening.

John Trowt arrived home last Friday from California, where he has been the past seven years. He will spend the summer with his mother, Mrs. Charles H. Trowt, and brother, C. Frank Trowt, at Pride's Crossing.

Angus Gillis and Ira E. Davis have gone to Springfield to take charge of work there which is being done by Connolly Bros.

Numerous brush fires at Beverly Farms these days are keeping the firemen pretty busy. The most important one was last Saturday afternoon when an alarm from box 54 was rung in for a lively blaze at the Preston place. The high wind soon fanned the flames into a fire which spread quickly and for a time seemed almost uncontrollable. It was finally put out after it had burnt to the ground an old barn owned by Addison Davis, and had burnt over about ten acres of grass and brush ground.

Forester H. Pierce has rented the vacant store in his block on West st. to Greek parties of Boston, who are to conduct there a sort of "Palace of Sweets." The new proprietors have already started to move in their store equipment.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin F. Holden of Willimantic, Conn., have spent the past week at Beverly Farms visiting friends.

A Sunday evening service, at 7.30, has been added to the program of services at St. John's Episcopal church.

Augustus P. Loring has bought the land and bungalow-cottage of Joseph F. Fogg, located off Thissel st. Mr. Fogg sometime ago moved his family to Gloucester where he expects to make his future permanent home.

John A. Morrison arrived at Beverly Farms Monday after spending the winter at Tampa, Fla. Mr. Morrison will go to Kennebunkport, Me., for the coming summer, where he conducts a summer hotel.

A public whist party will be held in G. A. R. hall next Thursday evening.

Andrew Standley camp, S. of V., held its annual inspection Tuesday evening at a special meeting held for that purpose in G. A. R. hall. John L. Prest of the Manchester camp was the inspecting official.

Jeremiah J. Toomey, a popular Beverly Farms' young man, is being congratulated over his coming marriage to Miss Nellie Neville, a young lady of Newton, which affair is to take place on April 21st. Mr. Toomey is a trainman on the B. & M. They plan to make their home in Amesbury. Miss Neville has been a frequent visitor to Beverly Farms and is a sister of Mrs. Fisher, who recently lived at Pride's.

Mrs. Mary A. Bartlett a long time resident of Beverly Farms, died at her home on Hale street, last Friday, at the age of 77 years. She was the widow of the late Gordon Bartlett, and was born in Clinton, Louisiana, the daughter of Judge Lathrop Andrews. She came with her parents to Lynn when a child, and later moved to Salem, where she resided for some time. She had made her home at Beverly Farms for the past twenty-eight years and had become identified with the place, was most generally beloved and respected, and made a large circle of friends, who will mourn her passing. A member of St. John's Episcopal church since its institution, she was always one of the most faithful and zealous workers in its behalf. Mrs. Bartlett was a member of the Hospital Aid association and the Beverly Improvement society and was always interested in philanthropic work. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Louise Wyatt and Miss Jane Bartlett, one granddaughter, Miss Pearl Wyatt of Beverly Farms, and two sisters, Miss Elizabeth Andrews of Salem and Mrs. Andrew Walker of Oakland, California. Funeral services were held at St. John's Episcopal church last Sunday afternoon, the church being filled with neighbors and friends. The services were conducted by Rev. Neilson Poe Carey, who read the Episcopal service. The choir sung several selections including, "Abide with Me" and "Oh! Paradise." Interment was made at Mt. Auburn cemetery.

George Wiseman, a well known and most respected resident of Beverly Farms, died at his home, 31 Haskell st., last Sunday evening after an illness of considerable length. Several years ago he retired from active work as a gardener, then in charge of the Henry P. McKean estate. Previously he had been in charge of the Schlessinger estate, afterwards sold to H. C. Pierce. The deceased was a man well liked and had a host of friends. He was much interested in Beverly Farms' welfare and was always glad to lend his aid to better the community. He was a member of St. Margaret's Court of Foresters. Four children survive him, Mrs. Michael O'Connor, with whom he lived; Mrs. Augustine Callahan, James R. Wiseman, all of this city, and George E. Wiseman of Somerville. Funeral services were held Wednesday morning at St. Margaret's church and burial was at Salem.

Charles Elliott, one of the best known residents of Centerville, died at his home on Standley st. last Saturday morning at the age of eighty-seven years. He was born in Beverly Farms, but for many years had lived at Centerville. He was identified with the interests in that section of Ward 6. He was a shoemaker by trade and followed that for a livelihood for many years. He was a good citizen and much interested in city affairs and always on election days came to Beverly Farms to vote. He leaves two sons, Harvey and Horace E. Elliott. Funeral services were held on Monday from his late residence.

At last week's meeting of the city government, Alderman Loring offered an order that a piece of land, approximately 100 ft. square, on Hale st. be purchased at a price not to exceed $4500, by the Beverly Farms Public Library Commission, the money to be taken from the appropriation for Public Library. The order was unanimously adopted. The above refers to the Marshall lots on Hale st., and is much desired to add to the land already given by the Misses Loring for the park to be made around the new library building.

Oliver W. Low has a position in the office at the U. S. Machinery Co. plant in Beverly.

The coming marriage of two of Beverly Farms' most popular young people, Miss Helen Callahan and Charles I. McCarthy, is bringing to them many congratulations and best wishes from their host of friends. The wedding will take place in about two weeks.

WENHAM

Easter services will be held at the village church Sunday morning with special music and floral decorations, and an appropriate sermon by the minister, Rev. F. M. Cutler. Sunday school at noon. Junior C. E. at 5. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6. An Easter concert will be given by the Sunday school at 7.

Monday evening at 7.30 o'clock there will be a special town meeting, to consider matters pertaining to the welfare of the fire department.

Tuesday at 7.30 p. m. is the time of the annual meeting of the village parish; for the election of officers and action upon reports. In the warrant are several articles bringing up questions of genuine interest.

The annual supper, roll-call and meeting of the village church will take place Thursday evening. Advance reports indicate a generally prosperous state of affairs. Fortunately one customary feature bids fair to be omitted this year—the "necrology," as no member of the church died during the year. Mrs. Charles W. Patch, Mrs. C. F. Elliott and William Keith are the nominating committee for this meeting.

Tuesday evening the committee on recreation and health of the department of social service held its monthly meeting. Besides transacting important routine business, the committee examined and passed the following boy scouts: Second class—Fred Stanton and Roscoe Brooks; tenderfoot—Francis Sweeney. Nine boy scouts attended and enjoyed an interesting demonstration of first aid at the Beverly Y. M. C. A. Monday evening, the demonstration being given by the surgeon and hospital corps of the Salem Cadets.

Helen Trott has been chosen secretary and Aurelia Glavin, treasurer, of the new group of camp-fire girls.

Rev. F. M. Cutler preached in the Congregational church, Marblehead, Wednesday night.

Sunday opened the contest between reds and blues in the Junior C. E. society, with the reds winners of the first "heat." The most obvious fact was the large increase of attendance.

Miss Marjorie Hill and Miss Helen Patch have completed the prescribed course and qualified as Christian Endeavor Experts. Miss Grace E. Glavin, Wenham's third Expert, preceded them in achieving the honor by several months.

CREAM FOR CATARRH OPENS UP NOSTRILS

Tells How To Get Quick Relief from Head-Colds. It's Splendid!

In one minute your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh will be gone.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh—Relief comes so quickly.

OUR WASH FABRIC SECTION

Looks like an old-fashioned New England garden—everything so spic-and-span,—rows of colors from the fleeciest sky blue to the deep, darker tones of lavender and brown. Nature must have been the inspiration for these daintily embroidered, colored flowers on sheer white grounds, for all the pretty designs seem to suggest summery breezes and the great open out-doors.

THE NEW RIBBONS

Ribbons are as exquisite and varied as are the colors with which Spring adorns the earth. Their fresh beauty is attracting hosts of eager buyers for this is a ribbon season.

Ribbons are used in all sorts of fascinating ways; on hats, in bands, loops, spreading bows and twisted lover's knots; on gowns, as girdles, collar and cuff sets and trimming; to tie the hair of little girls, and for all phases of fancy work.

OF the NORTH SHORE BREEZE is the dissemination of reliable and timely information that most materially concerns the strictly self-respecting class of permanent North Shore readers and many others who have property or kindred interests in this section, but reside elsewhere during six or seven months of the year.

The worthiness and topical importance of its news service and relative editorial comments, is accompanied by a consistent representation of advertisements and reading notices.

The North Shore Breeze feels honored and proud to be welcomed into the homes of hundreds of the richest and best known people of the country,—not only in the summer, but every week in the year. The paper will be eleven years old next month, and its growth in this eleven years has been consistent and healthy.

W. H. Lerner & Sons, the well-known dealers in Butter, Cheese and Eggs, of Faneuil Hall Market, Boston, are looking for retail as well as wholesale trade along the North Shore this summer, and they think they can best acquaint North Shore people with that fact by taking a quarter page space in the Breeze for the next six months.

DOES THIS SUGGEST ANYTHING TO YOU, MR. BUSINESS MAN?

The Season's Fashions

By HELENE SHERMAN

IN somewhat the same way that Tartarin of Tarascon wondered what "ils" had in store for him, the woman-mind of today is absorbed in the fascinating question of what "they" are going to wear this season. That clothes will be more than usually charming is already established beyond a doubt, and the best of it is that whether they are military or after-six or tailored or sport clothes, they are wholly and delightfully feminine. This season there is a style for every woman if she will but find it and make it her own.

Just now, before Easter, interest seems to center in hats. The tiny, tilted turban has been foremost in favor all the spring, but as summer approaches it will be eclipsed by the picturesque, wide-brimmed hats, which Paris bonnet-makers are already showing in becoming, irregular shapes. The brims are of transparent materials—malines, tulle or neapolitan straw—and the small crowns of dark straw and trimmings of paradise, ostrich or flowers. Some of the American millinery houses are becoming formidable rivals of the French houses in their adaptations of these charming afternoon hats for American summer girls. For wear on the Shore, the indispensable panama has returned with many fetching variations to make its usefulness more tempting. One particularly becoming one has the popular narrow brim of the season, a graduated crown and a trim, black velvet band, fastened with a plain rosette and streamers. Sport hats are more becoming than ever and will doubtless be seen this summer at the North Shore resorts even more than last year, if such a thing is possible. They come in corduroy, preferably white, split straws, and even leather.

Sport clothes are, in fact, of paramount importance here, where so much of the life in the season is out of doors, and never has the young girl or the matron had a chance to be more captivating in her out-of-door clothes than she has in this 1915 season. The tub skirt and blouse will be first favorites. The first requirement of a sport skirt is that it be sensible, although those of us who have watched our girl tennis players in their narrow skirts for the last two years were becoming skeptical. This year most of the sport skirts have becoming yokes, and all of them are wide enough for comfort. Pleats and pockets are used plentifully and with good results. The comfortable, cool-looking blouses, which are to be worn with such skirts, are equally becoming. Paris has decreed ruffled revers and frills again, and all womankind will rejoice over this revival. Baby Irish, it is whispered, will come back this season after a whole year's eclipse. These blouses are made with low or convertible collars, plaited revers and jabots, to fasten in the front, of course, and with long sleeves for the most part. Parisiennes are favoring the judicious use of black velvet with them. Fine Irish linen, Georgette crepe, bastiste and voile are the materials used.

Sport suits, which are a feminine parody on masculinity, are sure to be in high favor for Shore wear. They come with delightful, plaited, pocketed and belted coats and skirts in black and white checks, coverts and serges and heavy linens. While the skirts are in some cases quite flaring, the most exclusive models, although equally full, hang in a straight line, after the smarter of the French suits. One especially becoming sport suit has a low-belted, patch-pocketed, girlish coat and a full two-piece skirt, and buttons used freely on both. The very fashionable, very practical box coat will probably not be used for suits on this side of the water very much, as our American girls refuse to copy their French sisters in the matter of being, and, what is even more radical, looking, loosely corseted. These little box coats with their accompanying plaited skirts are quite fascinating, however, in the endless opportunities they offer for individuality. Along with sport suits must be considered the military influence, for it is not to be supposed that the great conflict overseas will not have its influence here, even in the dressing of the women on Massachusetts Bay. The military touch is used discreetly, and is so feminized as to be invariably becoming. In colors it is felt most, and one hears more and more about Russian green, Belgian blue, soldier red, battleship gray and blue soldat. One of the most graceful of these adaptations had a semi-fitted, belted coat, buttoning with severe, black bone buttons quite up to the chin and a straight, full skirt bound, like the coat, with black braid. In dark blue gabardine it was a practical and graceful garment.

The separate coat is of such vital importance to North Shore sojourners that one hardly knows which to dwell upon—the conservatively cut top-coat, the smart, simple sport coat, or the oddly shaped, little silk coat for wear over the sheer lingerie frock. Each one in its way seems equally a necessity. The simpler the top-coat, the smarter it is, and, more than that, the more uses may be found for it. Most of the new ones are of a becoming length, just below the knees, and have the inevitable belt, convertible collar and wide cuffs, and a few have cleverly placed pockets. Sport coats come shorter, fuller, and, it must be acknowledged, on more youthful lines. Strange to say, they are not belted this year, but hang in full, flaring lines from shoulder to hem. Patch pockets and buttons combine to make them irresistible, and it is safe to say that the jeune fille of this summer will bestow upon them the same favor, which she has given to their predecessors of the last few seasons. These coats come in chinchilla, colored corduroys, coverts and homespuns. Evening wraps are not so plentiful this year as they have been for a season or two back, and it is rather difficult to find them with very becoming lines. Those that are shown have, however, one advantage, in that they are voluminous and simply trimmed, so that they can easily be made at home by the seamstress or, indeed, by the amateur. Last, but by no means least in the point of quaintness and charm, comes the little, extra silk coat, which has not been seen for some years. It is short, quite closely fitting as to bodice, but making up for it in the flare of the short skirts below the waistline. The sleeves remind one of years gone by with their three-quarters length and their full, flaring cuffs.

Surely the dances will be a delight to the fair sex this year, as affording them a dance to blaze the eyes of the less fortunate sex with the most bewitching and demure of dancing costumes. The tight-fitting bodice of grandmother's time has returned, a thing of beauty this time and not of seams; it is quaint and becoming, being used to greatest advantage, perhaps, with a ruffled, lace skirt. Even more becoming is the Victorian bodice, which is apparently slipping down off the shoulders, held in place only by a precarious band of tulle or crystal or velvet. Milady has decided that, however her dancing frock is made, there shall be only a semblance of a sleeve—to make up for the long sleeves in her day blouses presumably. Most of the skirts are short and very full, with flounces; a few if they are wide, many if they are narrow. One of the daintiest and most girlish of the dancing frocks seen this season was an exquisitely simple yellow taffeta. Interest must center in the skirt, which was made of scalloped flounces of yellow, bound with taffeta, and with a high, crushed girdle similarly scalloped and bound of the lower edge, since there was so little bodice as to make it a negligible factor. It was of cream lace, very low and with the merest hint of a sleeve. Another gown, which promises to be much in favor for dancing this season, is made with a short, full skirt with a very high girdle and a bodice of tulle, with sleeves modestly adapted. The one seen was of rose taffeta with a white tulle bodice. There was not even a hint of trimming on the gown, except where a crystal band was brought over each shoulder. These untrimmed frocks, made up even in lovely, soft cotton fabrics, promise to be in favor here this season.

Announcement comes from G. P. Brackett, manager of the Hotel Ocean-Manor at Marblehead Neck, burned last winter, that this hostelry will not be rebuilt for this season. This hotel was one of two North Shore hotels to become a prey to the flames since the close of last season. The Surfside Auto Inn at Gloucester suffered a similar fate. In all probability next season will see a new structure on the site of the Ocean-Manor; or the Nanepashemet, as it was more familiarly known. The Hotel Rock-Mere on the mainland at Marblehead, and under the same management as the Ocean-Manor, will open this season on May 29, just in time for the holiday visitors to the shore. Since last summer considerable improvements have been made at the Rock-Mere, among them several new private baths.

THE GRAND ARMY of the Republic and its affiliated organizations, the Women's Relief Corps and the Sons of Veterans marched on Boston this week. The old soldiers have served their country well. The work they did has assured this nation the peace we now enjoy. If that war had not been fought to a finish with success for the cause of the Union there is no avoiding the conclusion that the nations of Europe would have inevitably gained a foothold in America. If such had been the outcome of a confederate victory, this country would now be entangled in this terrible world war. A peaceful convention of old soldiers in the days of rest is a marked contrast to the martial councils of the old world.

ALONG the SHORE

IT is generally reported that one of the embassies will be established at "Pitch Pine Hall," owned by Arthur F. Luke, at Beverly Farms, this summer. It is probably the Italian embassy, as this is one of the places considered when the representatives were on from Washington a few weeks ago. "Pitch Pine Hall" is one of the largest houses on the shore. It was occupied one season, eight or nine years ago by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and a few years ago the Turkish embassy was established there.

Mrs. Richards M. Bradley and daughters of 216 Beacon st., Boston, have been spending the week at their cottage on Smith's Point, Manchester. They plan to rent the house for the summer.

Mrs. Charles Stedman Hanks and daughter, Miss Clarina Hanks plan to move down from Boston to their residence at West Manchester, next Monday for the spring. The estate has been rented for the summer to a western family who will take occupancy in June.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Whitehouse had to shorten their stay in the south somewhat because of the illness of Mr. Whitehouse's brother-in-law, Edwin B. Sheldon in New York. They expect to return to Manchester the latter part of this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Tucker (Mona House) of Chestnut Hill have taken the Leach Cottage—under lease to Eric Papé—for the summer and will move down early in May. This property is located at the School street entrance to the Essex County club in Manchester.

Nelson Slater Bartlett is established at "Rock Head," his country home at Smith's Point, Manchester, after a few months stay in Boston. He remained on the shore last autumn until December.

NEWCOMERS to Manchester this year will include the Charles Burrall Pikes of Chicago. They have just leased, through the Boardman office, Mrs. W. H. Howard's attractive summer residence, "Bergholt," at West Manchester.

Mrs. Jerre Abbott of Boston, who had Mrs. Gordon Prince's house at West Manchester, last season, has just leased the Tibbetts cottage on Harbor st., West Manchester, through the Boardman agency of the Ames Building, Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Hall of Salem are moving down to their cottage on Summer st., Magnolia, next week for a long season.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Mitchell are still in the south, and they do not plan to open their residence in Manchester until the last of this month. Mr. Mitchell will have his usual shooting trip before coming north. Mrs. Mitchell will visit her daughter, Mrs. Q. A. Shaw, 2d, and family at their plantation in Virginia on her way up from Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Warren Merrill and their son and daughter have been spending a week or two at the Essex County club in Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus P. Loring, Jr. (Rosamond Bowditch), who have been spending the winter in Boston, are settled at their Pride's Crossing cottage for the season.

Eugene Gray Foster and young son of New York were at the Mallard House, Magnolia, Friday and Saturday of last week. The Fosters have a beautiful summer residence, "Crowncliff," at Coolidge's Point, Manchester, which they plan to occupy as usual this summer.

MARBLEHEAD is already taking on a summer aspect, even with the snow of Easter Sunday still on the harbor front, from the fact that even thus early families who frequent that bend of the shore have begun to arrive. The season is being lengthened from spring to late autumn and this year is a good indication of an extension of seasons.

For the past two weeks Herman Parker and family of Boston have been on the shore at Marblehead Neck. They are occupying their cottage, "Whitegates," on Nanepashemet street, as usual, this year.

The L. H. Spauldings of Boston arrived on the Neck last week and are at the Pratt cottage on Ocean avenue.

Frederick Hout is the first New Yorker of the season to come to the Marblehead shore. He arrived with his family a few days ago and will stay down all summer.

Two families which are preparing to come to the shore at the Neck at an early date are the James M. Hunnewells of Boston, at the Parker cottage, and the R. E. Stones of Brookline. Both are expected within the next fortnight.

Through the agency of Gardner R. Hathaway the Parker cottage on Ocean avenue has been sold to Mrs. Emline T. Hunnewell of Boston, who will occupy it this season. She was on the Marblehead shore last summer. Rentals which have been made through the Hathaway agency during the last few days include the following: George D. Haskell of Boston, who will have the Lindsay cottage on Fort Sewall; George E. Stevenson of Boston at the Russell cottage on Highland avenue, the Neck, for his first season; Alfred M. Walter of Chicago, at the Palmer cottage on Ocean avenue; S. Gardner Sleeper of Epping, N. H., who will occupy a camp at Flying point for the summer; and Arthur Willis of Brookline, who will summer at the Russell house on Highland avenue. Mr. Willis will spend his second season on the North Shore.

"Villa Crest," the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Denégre, at West Manchester, will be made ready for occupancy next week and the family will come from the south to spend a long season here, as is their delightful custom. Their daughter, Miss Elaine Denégre, has been quite a belle at New Orleans and Washington through the winter season.

The marriage of Miss Hope Norman and Eliot C. Bacon, it is understood, will be solemnized next fall. Miss Norman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Norman of Boston, Hamilton and Newport, and Mr. Bacon is a son of Hon. Robert Bacon, former Ambassador to France, and Mrs. Bacon. The engagement was recently announced.

Mrs. Gordon Abbott and her two daughters and son were at the Virginia Hot Springs over Easter.

The death in Boston Wednesday of Mrs. Anna M., wife of Dr. Geo. H. Washburn, of 377 Marlboro st., comes as a great shock to the many friends of the family at Manchester, where they spend their summers, as well as elsewhere. Mrs. Washburn was fifty-seven years of age. She was, previous to her marriage, Anna Marilla Hoyt and she was born in Meridian, near Auburn, N. Y., in 1858 and lived most of her early life in Auburn. She was graduated from Smith College in one of the first classes, 1881, and had been secretary of the class ever since leaving college. She had always been interested in college matters and had taken a prominent position in the Alumnae Association in Boston. Mrs. Washburn had taken an active part also in the affairs of the Mount Vernon Church and in missionary matters. She was interested in the work of the W. E. & I. U., and also in the efforts of the Women's Municipal League to secure a cleaner and healthier city. She was of a retiring disposition, with disinclination to take any credit for anything she did, effacing herself and praising others associated with her in uplifting work. She is survived by her husband, Dr. Washburn, and four children: Mrs. Basil D. Hall of New York; George E. Washburn of Proctor, Vt.; Arthur H. Washburn and Alfred H. Washburn; also a brother, Rev. Arthur S. Hoyt, of Auburn Theological Seminary, New York. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 12 o'clock at the Mt. Vernon church, Beacon st. and Mass. ave., Back Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Prescott Bigelow and Miss Elizabeth Bigelow of Boston returned the middle of the week from their country place at Fitzwilliam, N. H., where they entertained a house party over Easter.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. House plan to spend the summer on the North Shore as usual—probably at Manchester or Beverly Farms, so as to be near their daughter, Mrs. Randolph Tucker, who will be at Manchester this season. Mr. House is a close friend of President Wilson and he is at present in Europe on a mission to one of the warring nations as the President's representative. He will return to America shortly, however.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Little, who have been of the winter colony at Beverly Farms, will go to Wenham for the summer.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE NOTES

There is very good news from Wyoming, the state which has had Woman Suffrage the longest of any, and now has a woman member in the legislature. This legislature has just closed a remarkable session, in which these things were accomplished:—an eight hour law for women and girls was passed; married women were given their dowry rights; a mothers' pension law was passed; capital punishment was partially abolished; medical inspection in the schools was provided for; and Mrs. Morna Wood herself (the woman member) introduced a bill prohibiting employment of children in injurious occupations. All of this good legislation and other recent good laws are admitted to be largely due to the women voters and Mrs. Wood. Equal Suffrage is beginning to have its full effect in the pioneer state!

Local news is also cheering. The Suffrage campaign canvassers who have been working in Haverhill the past three weeks report that 75 per cent of the voters there seem to be in favor of equal suffrage. And the Haverhill Ministers association last week unanimously passed resolutions in favor of woman suffrage.

A newspaper man in Boston writes:—"Several cities contemplate Public Welfare Committees. This work is peculiarly adapted to women. Each home is a little welfare committee in itself, of which Mother in the President and Father is the Vice President. And Mother is on the job morning, noon and night."

Eminent opinions are being collected at the State Headquarters in Boston. Prof. Albert Bushnell Hart of Harvard (one of the most noted educators in this country), writes:—"The reasons for favoring Woman's suffrage are precisely the same as those favoring the suffrage of men, namely, that they are human beings, a part of the groups which have organized themselves into nations. All argument for government of the people, by the people and for the people, apply as much to women as to men."

Another of the great meetings which have overflowed the Tremont Theatre in Boston once a month, will be held next Sunday afternoon, at Colonial Theatre, at 3.30 o'clock. The chief speaker will be Miss Helen Varick Boswell, president of the Women's Forum of New York city.

The next meeting of the Manchester E. S. League will be a Tea, at the home of Mrs. Charles Hatch, on Wednesday afternoon, April 21st. at three-thirty o'clock. Mrs. William Codman Sturgis will come out from Boston to give a talk on her Colorado experiences. Mrs. H. E. Russell and others from Boston will come with Mrs. Sturgis.

"THE PRINCE OF PEACE"

Secretary Bryan observed his fifty-fifth birthday by signing one of his peace treaties, that Colonel Roosevelt speaks of as "scraps of paper." The officials of the State Department are very fond of their chief, and they gave him a little informal reception. Mrs. Daniels, wife of the Secretary of the Navy, presented a birthday cake, made by herself, on the top of which were fifty-five candles. When Bryan first became a national figure he was the handsome "boy orator of the Platte," but in these Jeffersonian days no one ever speaks of his beauty, though he is still as able as ever to qualify as an orator.

Harvard Class Day comes on Tuesday, June 22, this year. In the graduating class are a large number of young men who live on the North Shore. Among them are: Russell Codman, 2d, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sturgis Codman of Smith's Point, Manchester; T. Jefferson Coolidge, 3d, son of Mrs. T. Jefferson Coolidge, Jr., of Manchester; Reginald Gray, son of Mrs. Reginald Gray, who comes to the Oceanside, Magnolia, every summer; Kenneth Howard, son of Mrs. Wm. H. Howard of West Manchester; Walter Cabot Paine, older son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Treat Paine, 2d, Manchester; Frank Wigglesworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wigglesworth of Old Neck, Manchester. He is the latest fiance in the class, his engagement having been announced two weeks ago to Miss Isabella Councilman. Harrison Koons Caner, Jr., a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Caner of Philadelphia and Manchester, is also a member of the class.

DRESSES FOR HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES

For years Paris has been setting the pace in styles, but of late there has been a tendency among Americans to fix their own styles in wearing apparel of all kinds. Simpler and less expensive dressing for high school graduates has been advocated for several years, and now Washington bids fair to fix the fashion for sweet girl graduates. The movement for greater simplicity in graduation gowns has been started by Central High School, and the other four institutions here are expected to follow the example. "Simpler dressing at graduations will be accomplished only through education," said E. L. Thurston, superintendent of the public schools. "It is a thing to be desired, and more persons are constantly coming to a realization of the fact. Public sentiment is being formed in favor of greater simplicity, and I feel certain that this will result in less expensive dressing at the spring graduation exercises."

The girl graduates of McKinley Manual Training School will continue their established custom on designing and making their own commencement costumes. These gowns are not uniform, nor are they simple to an extreme, but the prevailing tendency is toward simplicity. This tendency is becoming noticeably more marked because of the influence exerted by teachers of domestic art.

Never marry a jealous woman. A woman who is jealous is almost as bad as one who isn't.

"It is true," remarked the man on the car, "that all people do not think alike; they think in sets, cliques, clans and political parties." —Toledo Blade.

EDITORIAL

THRIFT IS NOT HAVING the attention it deserves in our system of education and it is no small problem to decide how instruction in this important art can best be given. But there is no school like the school of experience. The lessons taught are not always given under pleasant conditions or with due regard to the sensibilities of the victims; but the instruction is gained. Thrift may be taught by the experiences of others or bought with the price,—the price of personal experience. It is a wise man that profits by the successes and failures of others. It is not often, however, that the wisdom that others have gained is given so incisively and accurately as Lucien G. Warner has written. He claims that there are four great investment laws that must not be disregarded. Rule 1 is, never loan a needy friend any more money that you can afford to lose. The second rule reads, never invest in a business with which you are not familiar without first having a careful investigation made by disinterested experts of established skill and responsibility. His third rule is, never take stock or invest money in any new enterprise unless you are willing to devote to it your own time and energy. Rule four is, if you are conducting a successful business do not add to it any other business, unless so closely related to it that one helps the other. These four simple rules are the commonplace facts of investments and by breaking these rules, either one or all of them, more fortunes are lost than in any other way. Every investor should carefully consider these principles and stow them away in his mind against the day of temptation.

THE STATE OF MASSACHUSETTS has lost a valuable leader in the death of former Governor Curtis Guild. His career has been interesting and successful. Beginning as a bill collector on a trade paper after his graduation from Harvard College, by the force of his personality, intelligence and will he had been able to command the respect of a wide circle of friends. The republican party entrusted their standard to him and he carried the party into power with overwhelming successes. As our Ambassador to Russia at a very trying time in the relations of the two countries he proved himself to be a diplomat of ability and good judgment. His editorial work on his paper has always been of high order. To this great faculty of studying men and their activities, whether in the past as records of history, or in the present as trade movements and political activities, Curtis Guild owed much of his success. Massachusetts has rarely had as a Governor a man of such broad sympathies and such an interest and command of the facts of history as did Curtis Guild.

THE CITY OF BEVERLY has established an honor system. The assessors have mailed to its list of taxpayers blanks to be filled out stating the taxable property they possess. The method has some advantages that cannot be denied.

KEEP YOUR EYES out for the bogus five dollar bills. There are many of them in circulation.

THERE ARE NOW a surprising number of new Americans living on the Shore. Forty years ago the laboring work was done by Irishmen. But the Irish have made wonderful advances due in part to their native intelligence and in part to the opportunities presented by our public school system. Now the Italians have come in. Along the entire shore a certain type of work is being done by these immigrants. Most of them earn less than two dollars a day and live accordingly. They have never been trained to live in a wholesome New England way. Most of these men come from Italy after they have reached maturity. Some of them are well trained in their native language, but most of them are illiterate. As a class, however, they are ambitious and desire to become American citizens and to learn the American ways. Every community should try to do something to assist these men to gain their ends. It is true that they are selfish in their desires to learn English, but on the other hand there is a moral and economic reason why the New England towns and cities should try to do something for them. One protestant church on the Shore has been trying to do something for these men and it is such work that will mean much to the community in the years to come.

THE SEASON IS NOW ON as far as preparations are concerned. The carpenters and builders are beginning to receive their instructions for spring work. The owners of estates upon the Shore know the value of early planning and execution of work on Shore property. The Massachusetts committee to promote work has been an effective agent in inspiring employers of labor to continue work as long as possible, but employers must have contracts to employ their men. It will be well for North Shore property owners to go over their summer plans at once and give the word to their contractors to go ahead as soon as possible. In real estate transactions negligence is the worst form of extravagance and careful work every year in offsetting inevitable deterioration will be profitable to the owners of buildings.

GOODS ROADS IN SUMMER for motors make bad roads for heavy horse drawn service vehicles after such storms as came on Saturday. It has been suggested that in the construction of wide roads a portion of it should be constructed to make it possible for horse-drawn vehicles to be used without the dangers that come from fast driven motor vehicles and those occasioned by the slipping of horses.

THE SPRING is the time to care for the trees. The attractiveness of our Shore is due to the ocean and to the beauty of the trees. The North Shore residents should care for them. Look over your own estate or engage a competent forester. A dollar well spent now will save ten dollars a month and a half from now.

THE CITY OF BEVERLY is continuing the improvements to its fire fighting apparatus. It has added another motor kit to its equipment. The days of the horse-drawn fire apparatus have gone.

NO ONE KNOWS when peace will be declared nor the terms that will be agreed upon by the nations at war. In the fall optimists were affirming their convictions that the early winter and surely the early spring would end the war. Today no one is prophesying or even making guesses. There is nothing upon which one can build hopes. The facts at hand do not warrant one in making even a shrewd guess. There is one hope that can be entertained and that is that during the last century every war has been followed by a period of prosperity that was impossible before the war days. This is a matter of history as far as the wars of other times are concerned. One does not need to have a professional economist point out the fact that such a wave of prosperity is certain to follow the present depression. Every careful business man has been living as it were from hand to mouth. The conditions of trade have been such that it has been the policy of the times to "play safe." The moment peace is declared and the future is assured, that policy will be abandoned everywhere and the results is certain to be a great revival of trade. Peace in Europe will mean prosperity for America.

THE DROUGHT has been broken and every one rejoices, particularly firemen. The month of March broke all records for dry weather and spring fires. On Saturday of last week the conditions were serious and everything was ready for a disastrous fire. The woods were dry. A neglected camp fire and a high wind would have done irreparable harm. But the Easter storm and the rain that followed on Tuesday was a blessing to the land. It is regrettable that it worked such havoc at sea, but such are the strange compensations of life; the storm that saved the shore from fire wrecked ships at sea.

THE PASSING of Dr. William J. Dougherty brings home again the dangers that physicians meet in their work. Without a doubt he contracted the disease in the line of duty. A Manchester boy by residence he completed his studies in medicine in Baltimore and took up practice at Beverly Farms. He was a young man of ability and promise and it seems the irony of fate that he should be cut off from life on the very threshold of his professional career. Many will miss his personal friendship.

THE NEW PUBLIC LIBRARY COMMISSION at Beverly Farms is making a careful study of their problem. A study is being made of plans and of buildings now completed and in operation in other cities. The Commission may be depended upon to execute its work in an efficient manner.

EASTER SUNDAY this year will long be remembered. Sleighs were out along the Shore and some were used to carry worshippers to churches. Even the oldest inhabitant cannot remember such an Easter storm.

THERE ARE THOSE who have yet to learn that the railroad rates have been raised on certain forms of tickets but the regular tickets have not yet been changed. There is some consolation in that!

THE RAILROAD SITUATION is improving. It is to be hoped that the dark days are over and that the transportation companies will have a square deal from the public.

SPRING CLEANING, spring planting, spring feeling!

PORT COLLECTOR Dudley Field Malone of New York, upon trustworthy information which he has been able to obtain, has made a protest against belligerents in the European War using that port as a base of supplies. The United States is determined, not only to maintain a paper neutrality, but to maintain a neutrality that is neutrality. Upon such men the country depends for an exact fulfilment of the American purposes. It is to be expected that enthusiastic working in the interests of foreign nations will do everything within their power to assist their native land. To such the breaking of America's neutrality law would mean nothing. America cannot afford to close its ports to any one power and open them to others. Neutrality must and will be maintained.

MAYOR CURLEY of the City of Boston predicts that the nation will go Prohibition in ten years. Great Britain faces a crisis in the management of its workmen because of the economic losses caused by the use of intoxicating liquors. It is only a matter of formulating a reasonable law that keeps the kingdom out of the prohibition columns. The King has begun the good work by starting a moral suasion campaign against the enemy and has banished wines and liquors from the royal tables. In the United States there are over twice as many states that have banished liquor selling now than there were a year ago. The war has accomplished one good at least. It is an undeniable fact that there is a world-wide movement now on that will mean much to mankind.

GERMANY WILL PAY the Frye indemnity demands without serious protests and the incident will be ended. The owners, however, have had an experience that many would not care to repeat.

THERE IS SOME SATISFACTION in contemplating that the prize fighters were forced to seek a place for their fight outside of this nation. The days of such frays ought to end.

THE BOYS WHO STARTED the bonfire that ended in a forty thousand dollar fire at Danvers have something to remember all their lives.

Boston and North Shore society is looking forward to the Vincent club play—"S.S. Romantic, or Count of No Account"—to be given at the Cort theatre the last week in April.

The Arbella club will meet in the Town hall, Tuesday, April 13, promptly at four o'clock. Miss Cook and Miss Woodman will sing and Mr. Leland Hall will play. Each member may bring two guests,—her parents if possible.

Thomas A. Baker and family are sailing Sunday, April 18, from St. Augustine, Fla., for New York on the Clyde Liner "Lenape," the newest boat of that line in operation. Mr. Baker has been going south for a dozen or more years, in charge of a large fruit stand and novelty shop, in the center of the resort section of St. Augustine. He keeps in touch with home all winter by the weekly visits of the Breeze. "Having lovely July weather at present," he writes under date of March 30. "Birds singing in the trees, everything in full bloom and everybody in summer attire. Expect to have a big celebration here on April Fool's evening; streets to be lighted by colored electric lights, and people will be costumed. A general masked ball will be held right in the middle of the streets."

Miss Nina Sinnicks is spending the spring vacation in Boston, where she is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Perham.

Mrs. Hattie C. Converse, widow of the late Col. Converse of Malden, spent Wednesday with Mrs. R. E. Newman, Pleasant st.

Archibald Cool, who is employed at Chelsea by the American Express company, was in town over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Carter of Boston spent the week-end at the home of the former's father, Alexander Carter, on Pine street, returning to Boston Monday.

The dance given at the Town hall Monday evening under the auspices of the Social club was a successful and pleasant party, having a large attendance. Carey's orchestra played.

The Harmony Guild will hold its regular meeting, Monday, April 12th. It will be a "First Aid Meeting" and Mr. Sullivan will demonstrate the "Lung-motor."

At the probate court Monday Mrs. E. Wallace (Nellie D.) Stanley was appointed administratrix of the estate of the late Henry S. Dennis. The inventory was filed of the estate of Mrs. Annie Fields (Mrs. James T.), $66,440.65.

Albert Cunningham is taking his annual vacation, at the New England Trust Co., this month, and plans to start Monday, April 19, for a trip across the continent to the Exposition in California. He goes as a member of a small and select party forming one of the Raymond tours, and expects to be away a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bullock returned last Friday after an extended trip to St. Augustine, Fla., and New York, including a visit with Mrs. Bullock's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Scott, at their home at Irvington-on-the-Hudson.

Owing to the severe snow-storm of Saturday there was a smaller attendance at the Manchester Woman's club Children's Day than there would otherwise have been, but those who were present thoroughly enjoyed Miss Ethel Wood and her clever stories, about the ever-popular Santa Claus, and about children of all lands. Perhaps the Thanksgiving story about the negro boy, Samuel, was enjoyed fully as much as, if not more than, the others, and the Chinese boy found to be very amusing. Miss Wood has a gift for story-telling, which is made the more effective by her very evident love for children. After the entertainment by Miss Wood ice-cream was served, Mrs. William Hooper acting as hostess according to her annual custom. The next meeting of the club will be held April 20, and will be the annual meeting for the election of officers.

WHISPERINGS of THE BREEZES

Manchester sewers will be open and ready for business on April 10, it is announced.

X-X-X

It is very evident there are some dissatisfied with the action of the town at the meeting last month relative to sewer assessment. There was and is now, a feeling that there should be no special tax in connection with the sewers, but that the entire expense should be borne by the town out of the regular tax levy. The argument seems to be that the sewers were put in for the benefit of the general health of the whole town, and therefore the whole town should pay the bills. However this may be, a motion will be offered at the adjourned meeting next Tuesday evening to rescind the former motion, and it is understood, a "yes" and "no" ballot vote will be taken on the question.

X-X-X

Also—a "yes" and "no" ballot vote will be asked for on the question of appropriating money to continue the improvements at Masconomo Park. The town voted (on a two-thirds vote) not to appropriate any money for this purpose this year, in the line of economy, but this vote also will be up for rescinding.

X-X-X

April gets its name from Venus, who was the Lillian Russell of mythology. She married Vulcan, and the weather we have in April fairly typifies the way they get along. Vulcan was the first business man. He did a general vulcanizing and repair business on the Appian Way, and was busy at the shop from morning till night. When things went well at the shop, he had no objection at all to going home and finding his wife dressed up to go out. He felt like going out himself. Nightingales sang in the conservatory, the sweet fragrance of the Egyptian lotus was borne through the house by balmy winds, and Vulcan wrote checks like a drunken sailor. He was a typical business man of the more forceful type, and strongly resembled Charles M. Schwab. Cupid was their son. The spectacle of Vulcan bounding Cupid on his knee, while the loveliest of all women sat on the arm of her husband's chair and pressed her cheek against his, was called the most peaceful and restful on Olympus. It was exactly like those bright days in spring when the garden grows, when the white cherry blooms are breaking out, and the thoughts of young folk turn to love. But, like April, there was another side. Vulcan would sometimes not have a good day at the shop. The men would not get the right consistency in the rubber, or something of that kind. Probably the business lost money. At such times Vulcan went home with thunder in his face. So far from being that lovely creature whom all the gods had coveted for themselves, his wife struck him as a butterfly and a bridge player. On such occasions things danced in Vulcan's house. The neighbors were terrified by his great voice uplifted in rage. There would occasionally be a terrific bang. Cupid hid in the dog house. A storm, everybody said. Thus April typifies the most romantic marriage in history. The Romans said the analogy was perfect—even to All-Fool's Day, when they all said at the wedding only beautiful things.—Clark McAdams.

Frank P. Knight reports gratifying interest being manifest in the Bird Company cattle ranch proposition, in which he is actively interested, both as regards to the proposition in general and in the payments of cash subscriptions.

MANCHESTER

The adjourned town meeting will be held next Tuesday evening.

Walter Howe of Wellesley was in town over Easter with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Howe.

The selectmen have not made appointments of Supt. of Streets or of Police dept. officials up to the present time.

Bullock Bros. have added another new Ford delivery to their equipment this week—the second this season, bought through the Perkins & Corliss agency.

Lyman W. Floyd was honored this week by election as one of the Mass. delegates to the national encampment of the S. of V., in Washington this summer.

John Hays Hammond, Jr.'s, mystic boat the "Natalie" has been put over board at the Fenton Boat Co.'s wharf and is being put in condition for the summer.

Lewis Hutchinson and family are to occupy one of the apartments in the remodelled Friend house, on Friend st., owned by Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Swett.

One of the worse snow blizzards in years, and surely the most severe of the present winter, came last Saturday in time for Easter. The heaviest snow fall of the winter resulted.

Exercises will be held in G. A. R. hall this evening, under the direction of Patriotic Instructor, Mrs. J. S. Reed, of Allen W. R. C. in observance of the anniversary of Lee's surrender. Members of the G. A. R. and associates, W. R. C., and S. of V., are invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Knight and son Frank are starting today for a trip to Arizona, to the cattle ranch property in which Mr. Knight is interested—some dozen miles from the Mexican border. They will also visit the Iron Cap Copper Co. mine in that state. Mr. and Mrs. Knight will be away two months, and will continue on to the Exposition in California before returning east. Their son will join his brother Samuel on the ranch for the summer.

The Red Men worked the Chiefs Degree on one candidate Wednesday evening, the work being very nicely performed by H. S. Tappan, degree chief. Six palefaces are to be adopted by the tribe in the immediate future. At the next meeting—Apr. 21, an illustrated lecture on the Panama Canal will be given by a Bro. Red Man formerly connected with the commissary department at the canal.

PARISH MEETING

The annual meeting of the first Parish, Manchester, was held in the Congl. chapel Wednesday evening. The reports of the various officers and committees were made. Frank P. Knight was elected moderator and Chas. C. Dodge was re-elected clerk. Wm. Hoare, Edward A. Lane and Oliver T. Roberts were elected parish committee. Edward A. Lane was re-elected collector and treasurer.

It was voted to continue the present assessment of pews; also that the minister's salary be continued at $100 a month, and that he be given a four week's vacation, with pulpit supply. $150 was voted for use of the music committee. E. A. Lane was chosen a member of the Mary C. Martin fund for 3 years.

The parish committee was instructed to have a suitable inscription regarding the bell placed in the belfry of the meeting house.

A committee of five—A. C. Needham, D. T. Beaton, Albert Cunningham, Harry W. Purington and Dr. R. T. Glendenning—was appointed to consider the advisability of merging the church and the parish into one body.

The show committee awarded the society's bronze medal to Alfred E. Parsons for six seedling Schizanthus, two varieties; a vote of thanks to P. Maillard for radishes from his own selected seed, and also to Ernest Townsend for gardenias and Darwin tulips.

The next meeting will be held Apr. 16. S. J. Connolly of Beverly Farms will give a talk on the Panama Canal.

KILL THE RAT

Tuesday, May 11, is designated as "Kill the rat day" in the clean-up campaign for Boston. Mrs. Robert S. Bradley, of Pride's Crossing, chairman of the Women's Municipal League committee, which has that particular program in hand, is greatly encouraged over the outlook for her plan as seven different firms have offered their services for what they know is to be a real benefit to the city, not only as a health measure but from the economic side. With so many different methods directed toward the extermination of this pest Mrs. Bradley is confident of success and deeply appreciative of the aid which is being given her committee by different firms.

WILBUR THEATRE

Easter week found "A Pair of Sixes" enjoying its fifteenth week at the Wilbur Theatre, already having broken all records for Boston, and still attracting the biggest and happiest audiences in the city. It is superfluous to say anything more about the wonderful merits of this great farce, as over 160,000 Boston people have already seen it, and each one has told his or her friend not to miss this play. So much has already been said and written concerning the enjoyable qualities of "A Pair of Sixes" that it is hard to add any complimentary phrases. Any show that keeps an audience laughing uproariously for three hours, and can do it for 125 performances in Boston, must be a remarkable play.

"TONIGHT'S THE NIGHT"

"Tonight's the Night," a delightful musical comedy, presented by the famous London Gaiety Company, and fresh from its successful run of nearly five months at the Shubert Theatre, New York, is now duplicating its metropolitan success at the Shubert Theatre, Boston, where it opened last Monday night.

The London Gaiety Theatre is famous from one end of the civilized world to the other as the home and fountain-head of musical comedy. It was there that musical comedy was born, that this peculiar and distinctive form of light entertainment first had its being. Countless Gaiety pieces have been hitherto presented in America, but never by the all-English companies originally appearing in them in London, and with a background of real "Gaiety gells."

MANCHESTER BROTHERHOOD

"THE MODERN TREATMENT OF THE CRIMINAL," SUBJECT OF INTERESTING TALK.

The Manchester Brotherhood meeting of last Monday night was probably one of the most interesting of the season. To an exceedingly large audience Rev. Robert Walker, chaplain of Massachusetts Reformatory, delivered a fine address on "The Modern Treatment of the Criminal."

The meeting was opened with the usual song service, followed by the reading of the minutes of the last two meetings,—the report of the secretary being omitted at the last assembly of the Brotherhood,—Ladies' Night. The business before the society was then transacted,—should the Brotherhood meet on April 19, Patriot's Day. It was voted that the usual meeting would take place on that evening.

"Can you tell by looking in the face of a prisoner what the offence may be?" queried Mr. Walker in his opening remarks. One cannot designate from the outward appearance the charge against a prisoner. John Reed, a noted criminal, was a man of refinement, well educated, and with a strong personality. He was serving sentence for gambling. Outwardly he possessed all the appearance of a gentleman. The speaker told of other cases, and said that appearances are deceiving.

The beginning of crime, said Mr. Walker is often due to negligence on the part of the parents. For instance, a small boy was making more or less noise in his home, disturbing his father, who was trying to enjoy his evening paper. The father getting irritable told the boy to go outside and play. The boy did so, and like many other boys, become a member of the "after dark club," a club which every town or city is known to have, no matter how large or how small. At first the boys were out for fun, which shortly ripened into mischief, and later developed into crime.

There are three kinds of criminals. First we have the defective delinquents, those whose minds have stopped developing at a very early stage in life, "a man with a boy's mind." A great many of this class are cared for in private homes and sanitoriums.

Second comes the accidental. There are many crimes committed through temptation. Although a person has no thoughts of stealing, if a great temptation comes before him, he often commits crime. Temper is also cause of many crimes. There are less crimes of this nature today than there has been for the last twenty-five years.

Third we have the professional. Yeggmen, pick-pockets and shop-lifters all come under that head.

Mr. Walker spoke of many amusing incidents, all of which showed great use of mental power. He also spoke of the older forms of crime punishment. Today the convict "learns the habit of industry." Industry, work and education are methods used today with splendid results. At the state reformatory there is a library for the use of the prisoners. Services are held on Sunday for the different denominations.

Mr. Walker's address was greatly enjoyed by all. The usual collation was served. The next meeting of the Brotherhood will be held Monday, April 19. The speaker of the evening will be announced later.

MRS. MICHAEL KANE

Manchester lost another of her respected citizens by the death of Mrs. Michael Kane, Monday morning from pneumonia. Mrs. Kane was 73 years of age, and, although a native of Ireland, had made her home here for more than 30 years. Funeral services were held at the Sacred Heart church here at 9.30 Wednesday morning, Father Sullivan officiating. Solos were rendered by Miss Julia Grady and Mrs. Kelliher of Beverly, and the pallbearers were Thomas Dolan, James Foley, Henry Dolan, Thomas Foley of Roxbury, Martin Kelly of Boston and Daniel Brockway of Holyoke. Interment was at the New Calvary Cemetery at Forest Hills. Besides her husband, Michael Kane of Summer street, the deceased is survived by one sister, Mrs. Annie Foley of West Roxbury.

To the Business Men of Manchester By the Sea

A young doctor, making a start in a small town, decided that to be prosperous he must look prosperous. He bought a new buggy and two good horses. Although he had only a few patients he always kept on the jump, attending to his patients' smallest needs. People began to notice this young doctor driving about town and they called him because he looked busy and prosperous. He got his start—a start that led to a comfortable practice.

Our town, like this doctor, must look prosperous to be prosperous.

Clean streets, attractive store windows, well-painted buildings and dwellings give the prosperous air. Well-painted buildings are greatest of these.

WAR CORRESPONDENT AND WAR "NEWS."

Edwin Emerson, a war correspondent who has had as great an experience as any living writer, has returned to Washington after spending five months in the European countries. One of the stories he relates is that he succeeded in getting over seventy-five dispatches sent out of Germany and other countries in the war zone. These dispatches were relayed, sent to England, where the censor killed all but four of them, and these were garbled so as to be unrecognizable before they reached New York. Emerson made seven copies of everything he wrote, and mailed these stories in seven different directions, and some of his work finally reached his New York newspaper. He positively states that all war news in the way of dispatches, is to be discounted, and related how the fall of Liege was concealed from the public for eleven days, during which time stories of victories by the allies were being eagerly devoured by newspaper readers. Emerson is one of the best authorities on news of this kind in the world—and he says that he found it impossible to get his material across. He concluded that only the special articles, such as appear in magazines, or as feature articles, and which have been written without any attempt to hasten publication, constitute the only authentic "war news" that is being printed. He gives his own experiences as proving that the cable and wireless dispatches were all doctored by the censors, and maintains that practically no dependence is to be placed in any of that class of "news" which appears on the front pages of daily newspapers. "You must wait until the war is over, and then some historian will write the story of what happened," concludes Mr. Emerson.

WHERE HAS THE LOBBY GONE?

Senator Walsh has been obeying the orders of the Senate in making a searching investigation for the lobby that defeated the shipping bill, but without result. It is very easy to cry "lobby" when legislation gets into trouble, or becomes unpopular,

Mount Vernon THE HOME OF WASHINGTON.

By J. E. Jones

A pretty little story of visits to Mount Vernon on the Potomac—"impressions and sentiments like yours and mine," explains the author to those who have seen our country's greatest shrine.

Bound in colonial blue and buff, with hand illumined cover design, and colonial ribbon book mark; profusely illustrated with handsome half-tones and pen drawings, it is a dainty and invaluable reminder that will instantly appeal to every person who has been to Mount Vernon, while to those who have not had that good fortune this clever, happy little story of our beloved George and Martha gives a clearer view and understanding of their colonial home, which is today the pride of Virginia and the Nation.

As a souvenir or gift book, for young or old, there is nothing to approach the elegance of this little volume, and it will make one feel more like a patriotic American to possess it.

and this is the second time this excuse has been put forward during the present administration. Senator Walsh's investigation appears, however, to have proven that the shipping bill was defeated by public sentiment, since it has been determined that the best part of the public press and a large part of the Senate, irrespective of party, opposed the legislation for the simple reason that it was not regarded as being to the best interests of the country. The bill might have gotten by had it not been regarded as a stepping stone to government ownership.

"A GOVERNMENT INVENTION."

Newspaper readers found it interesting when they were told that one of the faculty of the bureau of mines had discovered a process by which "independent refiners can increase their output 200 per cent." However, it appears that the Standard Oil Company has been using a similar method for years, and have spent great sums of money in developing their processes. The "government invention" is like most of such claims inasmuch as nothing is suggested except a sort of subterfuge by which the independent oil companies might escape prosecution from infringing on the methods of the Standard.

THE BENEFITS TO SHIPPERS.

"Do you know that a manufacturer in Burlington, Iowa, can ship his goods to New York, load them on a steamer, and send them around to San Francisco by way of the Panama Canal, at a cheaper rate than it would cost to ship directly by rail," was the double-barreled information given to a newspaper man by an official a few days ago. Yet it is true, and the illustration serves to point out the advantages of the canal in a clear, understandable manner.

THE CLEAN SHIRT IN POLITICS.

Some of these "excesses" in politics are quite delightful. For instance as an "ex," Mr. Taft is dearly beloved by Democrats, Republicans and Bull Moose. Ex-Senator Root also seems in a fair way to overcome the prejudices against him, and his talk along the lines that the business men should wake up and exercise their rights in politics, has struck a popular cord. Politics is becoming more and more a respectable undertaking, and the men with clean shirts, clean hands and clean purposes are making their way to the places which were formerly controlled by ward-healers and political spoilsmen. All of which demonstrates the correctness of the old darkie's comment "dat de worl' do move," and is progressing on the way.

THE RED CROSS BUILDING.

President Wilson and former President Taft participated in the laying of the cornerstone of the great Red Cross Building, to be erected at the cost of $800,000. A great many years ago Clara Barton conceived the idea of organized relief work, and corps of nurses and attendants on the battlefields. The work she started became world-wide, and is helping to lessen the horrors of the present great war in Europe. A northern woman, Miss Mabel Boardman, is in charge of this great Red Cross work, and it has become a sort of semi-official organization. The new building is in Marble Row, located near the White House, and half of the expense for its construction was provided by the government, and the remaining half by private subscriptions.

BUSINESS OF THE FARM

With the business of the government ever increasing, the Agricultural Department is more than keeping pace with the other Departments. The heads of the Agricultural Department are urging still greater attention to the business side of farming, although it is generally admitted that the farmer is paying more attention to the business end of the farm than ever before. Farmers no longer regard the Department of Agriculture as a thing apart from the practical aspects of their work and they realize that sound and practical advice is to be had from the experts. So far, however, the Department has confined itself largely to the details of cultivation, crop rotation and other rather isolated activities of the farm. The Secretary and Assistant Secretary believe it is time for the Department to go more extensively into the business side of farming, and they would have the Department not only advise the farmer about the production of any single crop, but they would have experts correlate the various phases of farm work and help outline a program for the entire season on a farm. The Secretaries contend that research work by the Department experts should be given publicity at all stages of the process rather than keep their findings to themselves until every phase of the work has been completed. Surely, such practical effort to combine the work of the Department with the farmers' problems and experience is apt to have a wholesome economic effect.

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION

There are a good many reasons why the members of the Federal Trade Commission are proceeding with deliberation. Chairman Joseph E. Davies and his associates on the Commission are determined to consider carefully each and every move in the hope of bringing about the best results from the very beginning. As evidence along that line the Commission has deferred the selection of a permanent secretary until organization is more advanced. In the meantime Frank Jones is acting as temporary secretary. He has been the private secretary of Commissioner Davies for some time past, and since Mr. Jones has a habit of rendering satisfactory service, the commissioners are still less inclined to be hasty in the selection of a permanent secretary.

SECRETARY DANIELS SAVES MILLION

The office of Secretary of the Navy Daniels reports a saving of about $1,103,766 in the cost of special treatment of steel and other structural material for the battleships Arizona and California. The total amount of special treatment steel needed for the California was 9,947,000 pounds. If that amount had been purchased at the price, 12.68 cents per pound, paid for the New York's material when there was no competition, it would cost $1,261,279. The actual cost for the California material was $625,774, showing a reduction in cost of $635,505.

The services at the Baptist church were well attended all day Easter Sunday. In the evening the Bible School gave their annual concert. Next Sunday the Easter music will be repeated under direction of the choir master, Reuel Davis. Two were admitted to the church. Five are awaiting admission to the church. The Girls' club meeting will be addressed by Miss Katherine P. Loring on the work of the Red Cross society. The Boys' club will meet on Monday. The young people's meeting will be lead by Mr. Davis. An Italian worker is to be employed by the church to teach an English class. The Scandinavian department has announced the dates of its services, —June 11 and 25, July 9 and 23, Aug. 6 and 27, and Sept. 3 and 17. Among the speakers are, Rev. C. V. Bowman, Rev. J. A. Johnson, Rev. C. E. Johnson, Rev. A. C. Lindstrom, and Rev. A. N. Lund. The services will be at 8.30 p. m. The Rev. Wei Ping Chen will address the service, April 18. Baptism, April 18. Rev. A. F. Peterson will address the church, May 9. C. E. convention, April 19. Sunday School convention, May 12. Prof. Alberto Pecorini, state agent of the Public Library commission delivered an address on "The Advantages of America for Italians," on Tuesday evening. There was a large number present. Mr. Loreto Tesicini has been engaged to teach the English class. The Girls' club work classes are taught by Mrs. Lewis Williams and Miss Stockwell. The Men's Singing club have been engaged to give a concert in the church under the auspices of the Library Committee and the choir.

Unclaimed letters at Beverly Farms postoffice April 8, 1915: Mrs. G. A. Bramwell, Miss N. T. Barry, Mrs. W. W. Dougherty, Margaret McDoland, Mr. John Kavalekas, Savein Miller, Mr. S. Philpot, Mrs. Wm. Scollins, Jr., F. L. Holtman, S. A. Weldon.—L. J. Watson, P. M.

The Beverly Farms branch of the improvement Society met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Frank I. Lomasney at her home on Greenwood avenue. Reports from the various committees were read. It was voted to appropriate the amount needed to pay for the work done by the school children over and above the $50 appropriated by the Beverly Improvement society, as the amount to be set aside for the work in ward Six. After the meeting a pleasing social hour was held and tea was served. Mrs. Edwin F. Campbell and Mrs. Frank I. Preston presided at the tea table. The next meeting will be held on the first Wednesday in May with Mrs. J. M. Publicover, High srteet.

THAT SINFUL PRINTER

Unobserved and unannounced the president of a church society entered the composing room just in time to hear these words issue from the mouth of the boss printer:

"Billy go to the Devil and tell him to finish that 'murder' he began this morning. Then 'kill' 'William Bryan's Youngest Grandchild,' and dump the 'Sweet Angel of Mercy' into the hell-box. Then make up that 'Naughty Parisian Actress' and lock up 'The Lady in Her Boudoir'."

Horrified the good woman fled from that place of sin and now her children wonder why they are not allowed to play with the printer's youngster.—(Not original.)

Rev. Clarence Strong Pond of Beverly Farms will preach at the Village church Sunday morning in exchange with the regular pastor, Rev. Dr. Walter S. Eaton.

The lecture to be given at the Village church Sunday evening at 7.30 will be along somewhat different lines from the other lectures, which have been given here this season. The speaker will be Ezra Gifford and his address, which is illustrated by beautiful stereopticon views, will be "Islam,—Christianity's Greatest Rival." Mr. Gifford will appear in Oriental costume, thus adding a picturesque touch of local color to his fascinating talk on eastern scenes.

The final party of the children's dancing class will be given Friday evening, April 16th, at the Women's clubhouse under the auspices of the teacher, Miss Clara Louise Friend. The exhibition dancing by the class, which promises to be unusually good this year, will take place from 7 until 9 o'clock, followed by general dancing until midnight. Admission, 25 cents. Miss Friend's parties are always anticipated with pleasure by the village people, and this one will be no exception to the rule.

Miss Maybelle Sampson spent the week-end at Gloucester, where she was the guest of Miss Maybelle Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred McCrackeran have come on from Detroit to spend the season at their home on Fuller street. Mr. McCrackeran is employed here during the summer months by J. Harrington Walker.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Burnham of Western ave. have gone to Middletown, N. Y., for a visit.

The annual Easter concert was given at the Village church last Sunday evening under the auspices of the Sunday school and the musical numbers and the recitations proved to be excellent. The little church had a quite festive appearance with beautiful plants and cut flowers. Miss Fannie Faulkner and Mrs. William H. Coolidge donated the plants, and Eric W. Erickson, the flowers. The latter were afterwards distributed to the sick and shut-ins, and the geraniums were given to the

The social committee for the next meeting of the Blynman Parent-Teacher association met at the home of Mrs. H. C. Foster, the president, for afternoon tea Monday and to discuss the plans for the excellent meeting which will be held at the Blynman school Thursday evening, April 15, when Mrs. Milton P. Higgins, State President of the Parent-Teacher Association, will be the speaker of the evening. There will be a very good musical program, which, in conjunction with such a well-known speaker cannot but draw a larger attendance than usual. Miss Elizabeth A. Brown is chairman of the social committee.

Mrs. Abbie F. Story, who has been spending the winter at Winchester, is settled at her home on Summer street for the spring and summer months.

Frank Davis is able to be out again after being ill at his home on Magnolia avenue for about a week.

Mrs. D. C. Ballou spent Tuesday in Boston, where she was the guest of Mrs. William B. Smith of the Magnolia summer colony. Mrs. Smith is to leave next week for a couple of months with Mr. Smith in California, so that the family will be a little later than usual in coming to their Raymond street cottage.

Rehearsals for "Breezy Point," which the Foster club is preparing to give sometime in May, are under way in earnest and excellent progress is being made. The play will be given at the Women's clubhouse and the proceeds will go to the Piano Fund for the Blynnan Grammar school.

Miss Marion Story is entertaining Miss Harriet Prindle of Little Falls, Vermont, for a few days at the former's home on Magnolia avenue.

DEATH OF A BELOVED PHYSICIAN

Dr. William J. Dougherty one of the best known and best loved citizens of Beverly Farms died at the home of his mother, Mrs. Mary Dougherty, 33 Hart st., Beverly Farms, early Tuesday morning after an illness of about a year, at the age of 33 years.

Dr. Dougherty was born in Lowell and received his early education in that place. Going to Manchester when a young lad, he was graduated from the Manchester high school, later attending Dartmouth and Tufts colleges and finishing his medical education in the John S. Hopkins University at Baltimore.

He came to Beverly Farms about seven years ago and since his residence there had made many friends. He was of a genial temperament and was most generally loved and respected. Ability and hard work built up for him a practice at Beverly Farms and his prospects were very bright.

Dr. Dougherty was also greatly beloved by all his patients to whom he gave untiring devotion, and many there are who will be deeply pained to hear of his death.

He was manager of and was much interested in the Beverly Farms baseball club, and much of the success of that institution was due to his excellent work and judgment.

A member of Masconomo council, K. of C., and John West colony Pilgrim Fathers, he was deeply in-

A very few are kept in Washington looking after public business, and a larger number are still hanging around simply because they like it better in Washington than at home. The National Capital will be lonesome this summer without the Congressmen, but possibly there will be some consolation furnished by Walter Johnson when he starts in pitching ball games for the season.

CORT THEATRE, BOSTON

It is rather an unusual occurrence but speaks volumes for a play that finds it profitable at the termination of its engagement at one theatre to move to another playhouse in the same city. Such, however, is the case with that most delightful bit of Scottish fiction, "Kitty MacKay" that has been playing at another Boston theatre and moved to the Cort for the week of April 5 beginning Easter Monday night.

Following "Kitty MacKay" the Cort will have for their next attraction beginning Monday, April 12, "A Modern Eve" an operetta that has been the musical sensation of Europe.

It was the one play that survived the sultry months in Chicago last summer and rounded out twenty weeks in that city.

GOING TO HEAR HAWAIIAN LOVE SONGS

More than a hundred Congressmen from this long warfare on the fly and filth," says an authority on health matters. "We did not expect to abolish the fly in a season or make the capital a spotless city in so short a time. The 'swatting' habit and the 'clean-up' habit had to be acquired, but all Washingtonians now appear to be impressed with the importance of the work, and I look for the city to enter this summer upon the greatest era of healthfulness it has ever known."

Dr. Murray has pointed out that there were fewer flies in evidence at the close of last season than was the case in any previous year, and the citizens have already commenced to destroy the places that might serve as breeding places for the insects in order that the reduced number of winter survivors will be handicapped in bringing on this season's fly population.

OPEN NOSTRILS! END A COLD OR CATARRH

How To Get Relief When Head and Nose are Stuffed Up.

Count fifty! Your cold in head or catarrh disappears. Your clogged nostrils will open; the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more snuffling, hawking, mucous discharge, dryness or headache; no struggling for breath at night.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothing and healing the swollen or inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable. Relief is sure.

COURTESY

One of our most stringent rules is that every patron must be treated with the utmost courtesy. The very evident object of this is to make your shopping here a pleasure.

You will find our salespeople efficient above the average and thoroughly imbued with the idea that they must give you the service they themselves would expect if they were the purchasers. You will find them attentive, courteous and willing at all times to accommodate you in every practical way.

Wouldn't you appreciate being treated with such courtesy?

The mere receipt of your money for our merchandise does not end our interest in your purchases. We consider your satisfaction as a highly important and very necessary part of every transaction, and unless your selections please you in every respect, we ourselves are not satisfied.

Every possible precaution is taken in choosing our merchandise that it may give lasting satisfaction to every buyer. It is selected to meet your demands of quality, style and cost, and unless it supplies these three looked-for virtues we do not consider that it has properly answered its purpose.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus driving a cold from the system.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB BACKACHE AND LUMBAGO RIGHT OUT

St. Jacobs Oil

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a 25 cent bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right into the pain or ache, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the ache and pain right out of your back and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica and lame back misery so promptly!

Packard Cars for Hire FOR 1915 SUMMER SEASON.

SEVEN passenger up-to-date Packard Touring cars and limousines, to let by monthly contract, or by day or week, as desired. Owner-driver, insuring care and safety on road. Rates reasonable. Satisfaction my first consideration. Families coming to the North Shore from the South or West this summer will be relieved of the shipping of their car to and from their homes, and the upkeep of it, which is a large item at a summer resort. By hiring a car they are relieved of all these details, as I furnish everything. Can refer to parties to whom I have furnished cars in seasons past.

Kernwood Country Club at Salem

Newest Addition to North Shore Social Attractions to be Ready by June 17

By A. L. F. in Boston Transcript

COMPARED with some of the other golfing districts, Massachusetts is not doing much in the line of developing new golf links this year; nevertheless there is one within the Greater Boston confines that is to be opened during the season. This is the new Kernwood Country Club of Salem, located on what was the Peabody estate, and with the old house that was built by Colonel Francis Peabody in 1843 to be the main clubhouse.

The club intends to retain the original architecture of the structure in so far as that is consistent with modern comforts. Up-to-date plumbing and improvements will be introduced, but there will remain, downstairs, rooms finished in a manner that will make it a clubhouse unique. The exterior will retain its Tudor Gothic style and an addition on one side to give a piazza dining room will be in harmony of design with the remainder of the structure. The material changes will be upstairs, inside, made necessary in order to equip the house with about two hundred lockers and shower baths.

On the main floor, where now is in progress a "house-cleaning" most thorough, the different rooms will be much as they were finished for Colonel Peabody, aside from the renovations and a few changes suitable to club life. What might be termed the "chapel room," with its churchy overhead design and its beautiful stained glass windows, probably will serve for a reception room. A Chinese room, with its quaint gargoyles, will be a novelty alike to members and visitors. One of the other rooms has an inset panel ceiling which reflects not only the æsthetic tastes of Colonel Peabody, but a high quality of workmanship in the days when the building was constructed.

Heavy doors, each with individual carvings; beautifully carved chests and many other interior features of this house, combined with a charm of setting and surroundings, leave no doubt that the Kernwood Club made a wise decision in determining to renovate and only slightly alter this building for a clubhouse, rather than tear down and build anew. The other spacious building on the estate, home of Colonel Peabody's son, will be converted into a dormitory and to such other purposes as the club may decide later.

Eventually the Kernwood Country Club will have an eighteen-hole course, with a delightful piece of country for a layout of holes of practically any length desired and with an unusual topographical variety. At present the principal efforts are being put into the development of nine holes on that part of the property on which the old Peabody buildings are located. Work began on these holes about the first of September, last year, and they probably will be playable around the middle of July or first of August, depending upon the weather. Meantime, six holes on the property across the road leading to the clubhouse will be put in temporary condition for play, to be ready perhaps by the first of May. It is planned to have a housewarming in the main club building on Bunker Hill Day, June 17.

The nine holes which are being prepared now are sporty and will call for the highest skill of the members to get around in what they will deem "respectable" figures. Tentatively, they have a total playing length of 3235 yards, with space in plenty to add to the yardage, but with more likelihood that the members of inferior ability will be clamoring for the "short" tees. The club's committee will be wise, however, to have the holes moderately long to begin with, for the difficulties of play are the things that improve the individual's game. Merely to state that Donald Ross is the architect of the course is to imply that it will be bunkered with reasonable severity, but with the scientific ideas of a man who is a past master in the art and whose ideas along that line are considered about the "last word" on this side of the Atlantic.

When Ross was engaged to lay out the new course and spent a few days tramping over the property in order to fill his mind with its natural features, and possibilities, he had on hand a problem which embraced the destruction and uprooting of a number of trees, some ledges, construction of seawalls, the leveling of ridges and filling in of depressions; but his solution was such as to delight any lover of the game who looks the property over even now, in its yet immature state. His greens, in particular, as well as the bunkers already installed, show the master hand and won the admiration of T. L. McNamara, on a visit to the course with the writer. When Ross finally decided on where he would have the different greens and tees, the grounds committee of the club almost "threw up its hands," wondering how he was to so alter the natural lay of the land, but instructions have been followed carefully and results are beginning to show that the man who has designed the lay of so many courses was making no mistake at Kernwood.

The first hole is the longest of the course, 480 yards. Its tee is between the clubhouse and the house which will be used for sleeping quarters. It was necessary to cut down a number of trees and dynamite the stumps, but that has been done and quite a stretch of the fairway will soon be in good shape, for the soil is excellent for golf, which is true of the greater part of the property. Under normal conditions it will take two good shots and a mashie pitch to get home, with distance a highly desirable asset on the long shots, the approach being far from easy. The green is built up in the rear, and to go over into the bunker, partly in back and also to the right, means facing a steep embankment, for the recovery out of the sand. There is a bunker on the left guarding the approach and a clump of trees also on that side, which may prove bothersome. These were left primarily to separate the approach to the first hole and drive to the second, although the two are by no means dangerously parallel.

The second hole, 360 yards long, has a depression about 100 yards from the tee to be carried and a bunker beyond for a pulled shot. The green is on rising ground, directly in front of a beautiful pine grove, of which it was once a part. To go over this green to the right means to go down a steep embankment for the pitch back, while to go straight beyond the green means to get in among the pines.

A third is a hole pleasing to the eye of a golfer. The man who drives long and straight, with no fear of a mental hazard, will clear a ridge well out from the tee and be in favorable position for the shot to get home, the distance of the hole being 420 yards. To the left is a deep sloping depression, toward the Danvers River. This was a wild bit of country, but it has been cleared and partly levelled, so that those who cannot drive over the ridge or who make a poor shot from the tee will have a good lie for their second, but will be a long way from the green in two shots. There are deep traps to the right and left of the green. The fourth hole is 160 yards, but the tee is on a flat and the green on top of a hill, so that it is a case of all carry.

An artificial hillock, in which are 600 loads of dirt, is the tee for the fourth hole, 400 yards. The tee location is highly picturesque, with the river directly to the left. More than 300 trees were removed from the line of the drive. Near the green the fairway narrows up, with a bunker on the right and the river on the left, also beyond. This green is so close to the river that as protection against high tides and storms there is a wall 250 feet long and six feet high in a semi-circle around it. Between the green and this wall is a depression which helps to penalize an over-played approach, yet saves the ball from landing on the beach.

For the drive to the sixth there is a lagoon to be carried, requiring a tee shot of 125 to 150 yards, according to the tee used. This lagoon has a water main connection with the river, so that it may be supplied with fresh water at each tide, if desired. Between it and the river is a wall fifteen feet high at one point and an embankment which required thousands of loads of filling. At the inner end of the lagoon an artistic wall has been constructed, to correspond with the other end, and eventually the club may tear away one embankment to enlarge the body of water and have a place for winter sports. To build up the sixth green took the dumpings from a bunker on which eight scoop shovels were at work excavating for five days.

Few more impressive mental hazards are to be found than on the drive to the seventh hole, for the straight line to the hole, 360 yards away, is directly over a deep ravine and inlet of the river, with the river to catch a hooked ball. The green is another artificially built up, for the tidewater formerly came up to its base. A retaining wall has been constructed between the green and the river.

The eighth hole, 355 yards, and ninth, 360, have characteristics in common, running through valleys separated by a ridge. The eighth is a little more of the dog-leg. A little stone house, topped by a marble cupid, is an object of beauty pretty much in line with the drive and, in McNamara's opinion, should be removed. A stone ledge in the line of drive to the eighth has been drilled for blasting and 2400 feet of drain pipes have been laid in the eighth and ninth fairways. The home green is prettily located in front of the clubhouse.

Besides its golf, the club is now having two tennis courts built in back of the main house, on the spot where there formerly was an Italian garden. The ground was excavated to a depth of about seven feet and there is more than a foot of solid rock as foundation for the courts, which will be between two rows of hedges. Two more courts may be built later. There will be a pier for motor boats, which can go up the Danvers River to the club's property, one section of which is close to Beverly Bridge. Boats can go there from Boston or any other point. The curve of the river makes almost an island of the property on which the buildings and the nine holes here referred to are located.

Enoch Crombie, who was employed at the Essex County Club for a dozen years, has superintended the work on the property since last fall, having from a dozen to forty men under him at different times. Jack Shea will be the professional. He has been with the Elysium Club this winter and is still there, the club having indoor golf courts.

The Kernwood officers are: President, Louis E. Kirstein; secretary, Edward S. Goulston; treasurer, Adolph Ehrlich; vice-presidents, Albert W. Kaffenburgh and Abraham Koshland; board of governors, Jay Abrams, Carl Dreyfus, David A. Ellis, Abraham C. Ratshesky, Jacob Ackerman, Ludwig Eisemann, Summit L. Hecht, Stanley H. Sinsheimer, Ferdinand Strauss; chairman house committee, Carl Dreyfus; grounds committee, Summit L. Hecht.

—A. L. F.

IF there is any one thing about the 1915 season on the North Shore more pronounced than anything else in these early stages, it is the early start which seems to be in the air. On all sides cottages are being opened and families are being established—weeks in advance of usual. The season is to be an early one—and a long one; that much is assured. There will be scores and scores of families settled at their estates at Manchester, Beverly Farms, Pride's Crossing, and all along the shore, in fact, when the first day of May arrives.

Considerable life will be given to Manchester tomorrow—the 17th—when the wedding of Miss Katharine L. Putnam and Harvey Hollister Bundy will bring many down from town. The wedding will be at noon, and will be performed by Rev. James Ropes of the Harvard divinity school, at the Unitarian church. A reception will follow at the summer home of the Putnams, off Proctor st.

Among the new-comers to the North Shore this year will be the George G. Snowdens of Indianapolis, who have just leased the Hanks property at West Manchester, through the Boardman agency of the Ames Bldg., Boston. Mrs. Hanks and daughter are now at the cottage and plan to remain there until the new tenants arrive in early June.

Dr. John Woodford Farlow (Annie H. Burr) and family of 127 Bay State road, Boston, are to occupy the Devens estate, off Forest st., Manchester, this summer. They have just leased the place through the Boardman agency.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Saltonstall of 35 Commonwealth ave., Boston, closed their house last Friday and come down to Beverly Cove, where they will spend the summer.

MAGNOLIA is looking forward to the busiest season of its career as a summer resort. The Oceanside hotel, with its score of cottages and the big Annex—formerly the Hesperus House—is already being made ready for the busy season in store. The booking, says Manager W. S. Warren, is seven weeks in advance of the usual season. There is an unusual demand for rooms and suites from the opening of the hotel to the close. Everything points to a big month in June, as hundreds of reservations have already been made for the opening. The Oceanside and its many connections can accommodate nearly 750 guests when running to capacity.

The Magnolia cottage colony will harbor many prominent families from New York and the west particularly, who are accustomed to take apartments in connection with the hotel. One such family is the A. F. MacArthurs of New York. They have just leased, through the Jonathan May agency, the Ayres cottage on Lexington ave. The MacArthurs have been in the habit of spending the early season in Europe, and then coming to the Oceanside for August and September. This year they are to have a cottage for the entire season.

F. Blackwood Fay of Boston has taken the Tuttle cottage on Western ave., at Magnolia, for the coming season. Mr. and Mrs. Fay were at Magnolia in 1911, when they had the Shaw cottage, and were at Manchester for the next three seasons, for two of which they had one of the Kimball cottages on Masconomo street, and spending last summer at the Masconomo House.

Mrs. S. Fisher Corlies and her daughter, Miss Margaret Corlies, the writer, who have been spending most of their time in Boston the last few winters, though they hail from Philadelphia, are to join the Magnolia colony again this year. They have just leased, through Jonathan May's agency, the Upper MacDonald cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Warren, Jr., are following the work on their new country estate in Essex with a great deal of personal interest, as they hope to be established there very shortly. The house commands a grand view of the coast from a high hill on the eastern outskirts of the town. Mr. and Mrs. Warren only recently returned from spending the winter in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley B. Fay and their family of Beacon st., Boston, will leave town about the middle of May for Nahant, where they will spend the summer.

Dr. and Mrs. Henry F. Sears of 86 Beacon st., Boston, and their children went over to Philadelphia to spend Easter. They will remain there until June, when they will go to Beverly Cove for the summer. Their house on Beacon st. is closed for the season.

The D. A. Sullivans of Brookline plan to open their cottage, adjoining the Masconomo House, Manchester, the last of this month, for the season.

The R. T. Crane, Jr., of Lake Shore Drive, Chicago, have opened their summer residence, "Castle Hill," at Ipswich for the season.

Another engagement of much interest to the North Shore colony in that of Miss Katherine Harte of Philadelphia, and George Putnam, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lowell Putnam of Boston and Manchester. Miss Harte is a grand-daughter of former Congressman Oakes Ames and a descendent of former Governor Oliver Ames of Massachusetts.

Many congratulations are finding their way to Lieutenant John Smith Patton, U. S. A., and Mrs. Patton, upon the birth of a daughter at their far away home at Fort Riley, Kansas. Mrs. Patton was Beatrice Ayer of Boston and Pride's Crossing, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ayer who are still tarrying in Los Angeles, where they spent the winter. Lieutenant Patton has quite recovered from his accident at the North Shore last summer, which came so near to proving fatal, happening while on the way to Topsfield, to participate in a polo game. The accident, however, was in a way regarded as providential by Lieutenant Patton's family, since it effectively vetoed his determination to go abroad for a glimpse of army life during the war. It seems a coincidence that Mr. Frederick Ayer should have two grandchildren—the Patton baby and the infant born to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gordon—added to his family circle in such a short space of time.

Dr. Z. Boylston Adams, a nephew of the late Mrs. James T. Fields, who spent her summers for so many years at Manchester, is to have the Fields cottage, on Thunderbolt hill this season. Dr. Adams lives in Brookline.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Penhallow opened their cottage at Magnolia in order to spend the last week-end there. Blynman Farm, the summer home of the William H. Coolidges, was also open for week-ends until the family settle permanently for a long season.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Whitehouse are still detained in New York by the illness of Mr. Whitehouse's brother-in-law, Edwin B. Sheldon. Mrs. Whitehouse came on to Manchester over the week-end and was a guest of Mrs. Wm. B. Walker at "Highwood."

Mrs. C. Howard Clark of the West Manchester colony and her daughter, Mrs. John P. Hollingsworth, are welcome additions to the well-known people assembled at the Homestead, Virginia Hot Springs, where they are to pass the remainder of the month. It is Mrs. Clark's intention to go to the family country home at Devon, Penn., for May and then to come on to West Manchester where she and Mr. Clark will give their customary house parties and vary their program with cruises on their yacht, the Savarona, which flies the Eastern and New York yacht clubs' colors. The engagement of Clarence Howard Clark, 3d, and Miss Eleanor Townsend, was announced last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Searle of Boston, who went to New York for the Cronkhite-Ruxton wedding, last Saturday, returned to Ipswich this week and opened "Inglisby" for the summer. They will be joined there shortly by Miss Corinna Searle, who is making a series of visits in Washington and Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus N. Rantoul of 300 Beacon st., Boston, will move down to Ipswich in May, when they will open their residence on Argilla road for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Bartlett (Serita Lincoln) of Longwood are among the arrivals on the North Shore this week. They have moved down to their cottage on Grove st., Beverly Farms, for the season.

The Frank B. Bemises and Mrs. S. Reed Anthony and daughter are planning to open their respective cottages at Beverly Farms in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Hutchinson came on from Philadelphia for a flying visit to their Beverly Farms estate, the first of this week. They will come on permanently within a few weeks.

Jewels worth $2,000 were taken from the summer residence of Ludwig Eismann on Puritan road, Swampscott, Thursday. They were in a strong box in a room on the second floor; the family was away at the time. The Lynn police are working on the case.

The wedding of Maude Cupples Scudder of St. Louis and Signor Gustave di Rosa, Italian consul at Boston, took place last Saturday at the home of the bride in St. Louis. Because of a recent injury, Walbridge Taft of Boston, who was to have acted as best man, was unable to attend, and his place was filled by Howard Major of St. Louis. Ammi Wright Lancashire of Manchester and Roger Hill of New York, were groomsmen. Miss Cordelia Drexel Biddle of Philadelphia, who was to have been one of the bride's attendants, was detained at home by the nearness of her own wedding to Angier B. Duke. The bride was attended by her sister Mrs. John H. Overall, as matron of honor, and by Miss Elizabeth Edgar, as bridesmaid. There were about 200 guests at the wedding and reception. Signor Di Rosa and his bride first met at Magnolia where both spend their summers. They are to live at the Copley-Plaza in Boston, and this summer they will probably be at Magnolia as usual.

William Rockhill Nelson, editor and owner of the Kansas City Star, died at his home in that city Tuesday morning. Mr. Nelson, who was 74, had been ill several months with uraemic poisoning. Mr. Nelson was born at Fort Wayne, Ind., March 7, 1841, and was educated at Notre Dame University. After conducting the Fort Wayne Sentinel a short time he started the Kansas City Evening Star with his partner, Samuel E. Morss. On the latter's death Mr. Nelson became sole owner and made the paper one of the greatest in America. He took a lively interest in beautifying Kansas City and was a pioneer in urging paved streets and park system. In politics he was, as he often said, "Independent but never neutral." But he would never consider any elective position. In the 1912 campaign he was an active Progressive. He had a summer home at Magnolia and owned the schooner yacht Hoosier, whose hailing port was Gloucester.

MARBLEHEAD hotels and summer residences are being put in readiness for the season 1915 and the Neck across the harbor is busy with carpenters and mechanics renovating much of the shore property there. There is not a new house on the Neck, with the exception of the Morss house, completed this spring. Work was started on this summer home last season.

The log cabin "at the end of the car line" at Marblehead on the mainland has been repaired and re-painted for this season and presents an appearance much different than for the last two seasons, when it has been vacant. Previous to last year it was a well-known automobile resort for shore dinners, etc., and boasted of a patronage exceeded by but few houses on the upper North Shore. The property has not been let for the present season and is still in the market.

The Adams house on Fort Sewall, Marblehead, has opened for the season.

Mrs. Alice L. Burdett of Brookline, ts to occupy the Smith cottage at Devereux beach, Marblehead, for the summer.

The New Glover inn on the Marblehead waterfront is open for the season. Manager Anderson is already receiving applications for reservations. A good season is in prospect.

SWAMPSCOTT in the persons of 500 members of the Tedesco club made a protest against the application of Michael McDonough, a Swampscott contractor, to the Salem city council for permission to store dynamite in a shed in a swamp in the rear of the Marblehead pumping station, which is within the boundaries of Salem. Besides officers of the club, the towns of Marblehead and Swampscott entered protests against granting the petition and as a result it was turned down. In order to get dynamite to and from the proposed store houses the wagons of explosives would have to pass on a roadway near the clubhouse. Mr. Payne, president of the Tedesco club, at the hearing on the proposition said that idle chauffeurs and caddies would be a source of danger, Marblehead's principal objection rested in the possible damage to the town's water supply in case of an explosion. The Salem fire department and the state police thought favorably of the site of the proposed storehouse. In view of the opposition to the petition the Salem city council turned it down.

The date of the formal opening of the Tedesco Country club at Swampscott has not been set, but as in previous seasons it will be open to members on Monday next, April 19. With the weather continuing as fair as for the last few days many will probably try their golf clubs out and there is a prospect that the tennis courts may be busy.

THE TWO GREAT QUESTIONS that are rocking the world are Prohibition and War. America can take the one, but has no desire for the other.

EDITORIAL

AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM, the North Shore Breeze stands in the front rank of the weekly papers of this state and the entire Atlantic seacoast—in the summer season, from May to October.

Advertisers appropriate a certain amount each year for their publicity work. They place their advertisements in those papers which carry a purchasing power behind them. The greater the increase in purchasing power, the greater the amount of advertising carried in a newspaper.

Last year during the height of the season the Breeze was carrying from 225 to 250 separate advertisements a week, a record seldom, if ever, surpassed by very few weekly newspapers in the country. To accommodate our advertisers it was necessary to run an 80-page paper most of the time during June, July and August.

The Breeze is having an unusual demand for and inquires about advertising space for this coming summer. Enterprising merchants are apparently appreciating the popularity of the Breeze among the people who come to the North Shore to spend their summers.

The North Shore is growing—and the Breeze is growing in keeping with the section which has made its life possible.

JOHN BURROUGHS has declared as his policy and philosophy of life: "Keep cheerful and mind your own business." Cheerfulness is a virtue that all may excel in, but "minding one's own business," strictly and literally is the essence of asceticism. The real point of the Good Samaritan story was made against ascetic aloofness. One may mind one's own business to such a degree as to rob life of its charm, warmth and joy. The life that is human is social. The very essence of life is communal and friendly. Friendship is the greatest thing in the world and the joy of friendship is ability and opportunity and the spirit of "minding" someone else's "business" with a sympathy and helpfulness. Malicious meddling is one thing and helpful cooperation is another. The former robs life of its joy and the other is a joy to life.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED in old England. The poor are becoming richer; dock workers at seven dollars a week are now earning five dollars a day and skilled workmen are receiving double wages for their skill and work, but those who have been dependent upon incomes from securities have seen dividends cease, invested capital and face values shrink and the purchasing value of the money left, diminished because of the increased prices on food stuffs.

THE SUFFRAGISTS AND THE ANTIS are battling. The suffragists seem to have a slight advantage, inasmuch as they are fighting for a cause. The Antis are "bucking" progress. They have no cause for which to fight.

APRIL IS THE TIME to seek the shore. Come and see the season come on! Spring and fall are the most delightful months of the year!

TOO MUCH NOTICE is being taken of Italy's prospective war manoeuvre. To assume that her entrance into the arena of war will end the conflict is false optimism. There is no doubt that Italy can lend a hand, but to assert that its activities will end the war is not a statement that the facts will justify. The allies know this well. While it may be true that diplomacy may have failed in dragging Italy into the struggle as an active participant, diplomacy has been successful in maintaining Italian neutrality. The allies made their great gain when it became an assured fact that Italy's forces would not unite with Germany and Austria. If neutrality is maintained by Italy, near the close of the war, her forces will undoubtedly enter the territory which they desire, and if the occasion require it, war will be declared. No situation has arisen since the war began that could arouse the Italian people more than the events of the first two months. Every month that goes by with Italy still neutral must convince the world that Italy is determined not to throw her forces and powers into the controlling power of Russia and England. England and Russia and Germany are great European powers with ambitions that are insatiable. Italy, plucky but small, must act with caution and diplomacy. A false move now will be disastrous to the national hopes of the Italian nation. Fearing all three of these European powers Italy is, surely, in straitened circumstances. The leaders of the country have shown judgment and not cowardice in strictly maintaining neutrality.

THE CITY OF BOSTON is interested in the possibility of having the price of gas reduced from eighty to seventy cents per thousand cubic feet. The sliding scale, whereby there is a reduction in the price of gas with every increase in dividends seems to be working out well. The North Shore, however, would be glad to pay something more than the maximum that Boston pays for that convenience. It would seem that modern science could devise a means whereby gas could be distributed profitably along this coast. Manchester and Beverly Farms would appreciate the conveniences that gas would provide especially in the industries and in the kitchens of the small homes and the large estates.

EX-PRESIDENT ELIOT is determined to speak his mind on the war and as peaceful a soul as he is he does not seek peace,—yet. His claim that Germany has not been rebuked for its militarism seems to be his outstanding argument and that peace will not ensure lasting and true peace,—peace on firm and permanent foundations. Belgium has a faithful and passionate advocate in the retired president.

THE BLOSSOMING FORSYTHIA, the growing grass, the budding shrubs, the bluebirds awing and the swamp frogs, noisy, tell the story of the awakening season. So do boys playing baseball afield.

BY JUST WAITING the United States is acquiring a respectable collection of foreign war ships.

THE LEGISLATION now being presented to the legislatures of Connecticut and Massachusetts to remedy the railroad situation should become law as speedily as is in keeping with good judgment. There is a popular idea in vogue that any form of legislation that a corporation asks for, especially a railroad, is doubtful and ought without consideration to be turned down. Such an attitude has been the cause of much of the misunderstanding that has existed in the minds of careless or shallow thinkers. Such an attitude of mind on the part of the public has caused much of the present trouble. How long will it be before the business interests of Massachusetts and the public, which must eventually pay the bills for every business enterprise, realize that the prosperity and progress of their interests are one with those of the railroads that serve the district wherein they live or do business? The railroads have been subjected to too much legislative persecution and now the railroads and the public are paying the consequences. What the public demands in service they must repay in money. Money makes a railroad go. A railroad is regulated by the simple laws of the poor man's arithmetic. To purchase, the day workman must earn, and the purchases must not equal the earnings if personal bankruptcy is to be avoided. The public has been carried away with an idea that there is some mysterious law operating corporations that makes it possible for them to give the most for the least. The railroads must pay their bills and these payments must all come from the commodity sold. Transportation is what a railroad has to sell. The more comforts and conveniences transportation companies afford increases the costs of maintenance. If these are demanded by the public and granted by railroads someone must pay the bills, either in increased costs of the commodity sold or in assessments on the owners. Already the public has been receiving transportation below cost and the cessation of dividends means that those who have invested their money in transportation company stocks have not only had the painful experience of seeing their small investments used without interest payments, but seen the values of their shares deteriorate. Is such a deterioration due to natural or unnatural laws? As far as the railroads of New England are concerned it is the operation of unnatural laws. The wild antagonism toward corporations that has been swaying public opinion for two decades has been one of the great causes. Unjust and oppressive laws have been enacted and fair and honorable business policies have been thoughtlessly and unjustly attacked; and the day of reckoning came. It was inevitable. But who is paying for the losses but the holders of stocks? The public is paying the penalty for its own foibles. The railroads are not owned by a close corporation or a limited number of individuals. One New England system has over twenty-seven thousand stockholders. What does this mean but that apart from bond-holders there are twenty-seven thousand people who are the owners of the system. These twenty-seven thousand owners have been negligent in their responsibilities of ownership. It is not fair for them to sit back and permit their property to drift by the board. Every stock and railroad bond-holder, every purchaser of transportation, every resident of Massachusetts has a direct or indirect monetary interest in the prosperity of the railroads that serve him. The public has been blind, the press has been unwise at least, and legislatures have been over suspicious and timid. Fair play to the railroads by the public and by the legislature means fair play by public to public. Every citizen in Connecticut and Massachusetts is interested personally in the efforts to pass remedial legislation. The representatives from the North Shore districts may be depended upon to give this subject their careful thought and their support. The time has come for the public to lend a hand, to stem the tide of unjust legislation by a broader, sane and consequently more profitable policy for the railroads, and that means for the public. A prosperous railroad means a prosperous territory that it serves. Neither can prosper without a direct reflection in the prosperity of the other. The suicidal policies of Connecticut and Massachusetts should cease and the remedial measures that the railroad experts believe should pass should be given a trial.

SENATOR MILES POINDEXTER has announced his determination to re-enter the republican party when he returns to his native state. The progressives he says, "have not surrendered their convictions, nor ceased their activities, but in reuniting with the republican party, they are confident that the organization will be just as progressive as the progressives." Senator Poindexter is the last of the progressives in the Senate. His purpose is well defined and sensible. The republican party has been severely censured. The progressives may have been justified in making their protest at the time they made the protest, but the protest should have been made within the party. The reforms which the progressives sought have not been attained as an independent organization. These progressive measures could only have been attained in a united party. It is late, but not too late to mend. The schism ought never to have occurred, but since it has occurred it is evident that it has not been the worst thing that ever happened to the republican party. The old party has been strengthened and what is better purified. All of this, however, could have been attained if the progressives had fought out their fight within and not outside the fold.

THE SUNDAY AFTERNOON Medical School lectures at Harvard have been continued during the winter and their place among the institutions of the city of Boston has been secured. It is impossible to determine the amount of good that has been accomplished, not alone by the lectures themselves, but by the printed reports in the daily journals. A surprising fund of information has thus been stored away in the minds of readers. There is no subject of more importance to the well being of society than that of medical science and in interpreting the fundamental principles of it to the public, which would otherwise be kept in ignorance. The medical school is rendering a service to the commonwealth that is incalculable.

THE RUMORS that come from abroad concerning the poverty of Germany and the paucity of her reserves in food and ammunition are fabrications. Germany is ably equipped and her food supply will hold out. The optimists who expect peace on that score in October, the time fixed for the spending of Germany's reserve food supply, are deceiving themselves. The world is in for a long seige and it will be well for the nations to realize it and adjust themselves to the changed conditions as rapidly as possible.

CAPTAIN GARDNER, Congressman from this district, was inspired when he invited the reserved forces of the United States to dine; only nine broke bread with him. What more striking way could have been devised by the ingenuity of man to give publicity to the appalling neglect of our nation in this respect. Something will be done to create a creditable reserve.

MANCHESTER SECTION

Friday, April 16, 1915.

Miss Alice Knight came up from Baltimore this week for a few days' visit with her sister, Mrs. A. C. Needham, and family, Union st.

A son was born Wednesday, the 14th, to Mr. and Mrs. James W. Hawkes, Jr., of 7 Wyman st., Jamaica Plain. Mrs. Hawkes was Miss Mary Barry of this town.

Ralph, the young son of Dr. and Mrs. J. R. MacKinnon, Church st., was operated upon Tuesday night by Dr. Cook of Gloucester, the ear specialist.

The Manchester club will enjoy a Smoke Talk at its rooms Saturday night. Refreshments will be served.

The May Festival, which members of the Relief Corps have been planning for an early date in May, has been postponed owing to the repairs which are to be made at the Town hall.

Mrs. Amy Witt of Belchertown has been spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Crombie, Beach st. Mr. and Mrs. Roy MacDonald and little daughter of Beverly were also here over Sunday.

Under the direction of the able Patriotic Instructor of the Woman's Relief Corps, Mrs. Jeffrey S. Reed, the Corps, the G. A. R. and the Sons of Veterans united at Grand Army hall last Friday evening to celebrate the 50th anniversary of Lee's Surrender. In spite of the fact that a number of the speakers and other entertainers were at the last moment unable to be present, the evening passed off very well and the program was pronounced excellent. The Post members marched in their uniforms and were greeted by the singing of "When Johnny Comes Marching Home" by the women of the Corps; several of the Grand Army men gave short and interesting reminiscences of their experience and feelings 50 years ago upon the announcement of the surrender, and Comrades Stanley and others gave an account of the reception of the news here in Manchester; Misses Dorothy Bohaker and Ethel Andrews sang "The Little Boy in Blue;" and Mrs. Harriett Preston also sang.

FORMER POSTMASTER WHEATON OF MANCHESTER TENDERED A DINNER

The employees of the Manchester postoffice tendered Former Postmaster Samuel L. Wheaton a complimentary banquet at the Savoy hotel, Gloucester, last Saturday evening, the party which included Mr. Wheaton and the employees of the postoffice and the new postmaster, Frank A. Foster, making the trip to Gloucester by auto bus.

At nine o'clock the party—ten in number, sat down to one of Landlord King's splendid dinners, consisting of the following:

Celery	Olives	Anchovies
	Bluepoints on Shell
	Chicken Soup
Fried Oysters	Tartar Sauce
	Julienne Potatoes
Noisettes of Lamb Chops	Bourgeoise
Roast Sirloin of Beef	au Jus
	Delmonico Potatoes
Green Peas	Spaghetti Italienne
Lettuce and Tomato Salad
Apple Fritters	Vanilla Sauce
	Ice Cream
Assorted Cheese	Toasted Crackers
	Demi Tasse

The dinner, served in one of the private dining rooms, was followed by a season of speech-making and jollity, during which Mail-Carrier John L. Prest, in behalf of the employees, presented Mr. Wheaton with a handsome watch charm, inscribed with the emblems of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and the Sons of Veterans, of which organizations Mr. Wheaton is a member. Mr. Wheaton responded in a most appreciative manner. The whole affair had been a complete surprise to him.

Those present were: Clerks Ernest Wilcox, Harry T. Swett and Fletcher MacCallum, Letter Carriers Prest, Dennis, Hodgdon, Chane and Marsh, Postmaster Foster, and former Postmaster Wheaton.

Mr. Wheaton has served as postmaster for 16 years, and all the employees except Miss Johnson have entered the office during that time, Miss Johnson being in the office when Mr. Wheaton assumed the duties of postmaster.

A pleasant evening was spent by all present and the party returned home by auto bus.

The Boy Scouts were favored last night with an illustrated lecture on Norway.

Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Hatch have had a visit the past week from Mrs. Hatch's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walker, from Bangor, Me.

The annual meeting of the Manchester Woman's club will be held on Tuesday, Apr. 20, at 3.30, in the Chapel. Lunch will be served as in the last two years, and it is desired that as many members be present as possible.

WHISPERINGS of THE BREEZES

The Whisperer has heard several very favorable comments on the report of the board of selectmen regarding the electric light contract. The wording of the contract and general management of the whole affair by the board is worthy of praise. The report and contract is as concise as could be and is as ably drawn up as any such contract we have seen placed before the town in recent years. We understand the Electric company has signed, or will sign the contract within a day or two, and that the work of installing the street lights will be started at once.

X-X-X

The board is proceeding in the matter of contracts for rebuilding two miles of street with the same care as they did in the above case. The preliminary work has been done and bids will be called for in a short while and the work will be started within a week or so.

A toast! Here's to laughter, the sunshine of the soul, the happiness of the heart, the leaven of youth, the privilege of purity, the echo of innocence, the treasure of the humble, the wealth of the poor, the bead of the cup of pleasure; it dispels dejection, banishes blues and mangles melancholy; for it's the foe of woe, the destroyer of depression, the enemy of grief; it is what kings envy peasants, plutocrats envy the poor, the guilty envy the innocent; it's the sheen on the silver of smiles, the ripple on the water's delight; the glint of the gold of gladness; without it humor would be dumb, wit would wither, dimples would disappear and smiles would shrivel, for it's a glow of a clean conscience, the voice of a pure soul, the birth-cry of mirth, the swan-song of sadness. the results were most gratifying. With a long nozzle attached a stream was thrown 114 feet, and with the short nozzle, 102 feet, and the same result was obtained by shooting the stream direct, as from the tank itself. The big 400-gallon tank was filled in 6 minutes, and it was emptied in 17 minutes; less time, were it not for the wind. On the way back from the eastern section of the town at 2.30 a forest fire was reported on the standpipe road. Under ordinary conditions it would have taken 20 men four or five hours to kill this fire, but with the machine only one-half an hour was needed to do a most effective job. The demonstrator from Boston showed the local men how to handle the machine, which is now at Foster's stable fully equipped ready for a quick response for any use to which it may be put. The machine cost $1644. Fire Warden and moth Supt. Peter A. Sheahan is highly pleased with the machine and feels confident he can save the town its full value in the next six months.

YE OLDE FOLKS CONCERT

"Ye Olde Folks' Concert" at the Baptist church, Manchester, Wednesday evening, under the direction of G. Allyn Brown, was one of the best musical programs given at the Baptist church this winter and was highly appreciated by those who attended. The costumes of Colonial days were well carried out and the whole effect was charmingly old-fashioned. A. B. Dunn as "Ye Tythinge Manne" was one of the hits of the evening. The ladies of the choir were the committee for arrangements. Mrs. Jacob W. Lee was chairman for the committee for children's costumes, and she was assisted by Mrs. George Younger and Winthrop Younger. The program was well chosen and well carried out as follows:

Invitation, Majesty, Alle Ye Singers
"We'll have to mortgage the Farm"
Angelina Seraphina Stanley, Mehit-

SACRED HEART CHURCH, Rev. Mark Sullivan, pastor.—Masses, 8.00 and 10.30 o'clock. Rosary, Instruction and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, after 10.30 mass. Week days: morning mass at 7.30 o'clock.

Friendship circle will observe guest night, April 27. The evening's program will be filled by Mrs. Irad Hardy of East Gloucester, reader; Miss Rebecca Andrews of East Boston, formerly of Gloucester, soloist; Miss Caroline Weeks of Dorchester, violinist; G. Allyn Brown of Gloucester accompanist. Tickets may be obtained of the committee, who suggest an early application as the number is limited.

The Kings Daughters will meet on Tuesday evening with Mrs. Olga Lethbridge, Pleasant st.

Harmony Guild held an interesting meeting at the Chapel Monday evening, when Mrs. Maude Carter, assisted by five members of the First Aid class gave a demonstration of Red Cross emergency work. The work was most efficient and interesting, and the class has made good progress. Chief of Police Sullivan exhibited the new lung-motor and gave a description of its working. The social committee served punch and crackers. Attention is called to the afternoon tea and food sale, which the Guild is to hold at the Chapel Saturday afternoon. Everything will be home-made and of the best quality, and patronage for this sale is particularly solicited, as it is to be one of the last of the Guild affairs of the season to raise money for the summer expenses.

At the Baptist church Sunday morning Rev. A. G. Warner will preach on "The Message of Abraham Lincoln's Life to the Manhood of Today."

THE NORTHFIELD CONFERENCES FOR 1915.

Rev. G. Campbell Morgan, D. D., of Westminster Chapel, London, has just cabled to Mr. W. R. Moody, son of Dwight L. Moody the evangelist, his acceptance of an invitation to be one of the speakers at the General Conference for Christian Workers at Northfield, July 30 to August 15. Owing to a severe attack of typhoid fever, Dr. Morgan was compelled to abandon his proposed visit to India and the Far East in October, but on the first of March was able to resume his pastoral duties in Westminster Chapel. The announcement of his visit to America this summer will be welcomed by a large circle of friends. It was in Northfield nineteen years ago that Dr. Morgan first became known to the Christian public of America.

Plans are already well under way for the annual series of religious conferences to be held here this summer. Since Mr. D. L. Moody inaugurated the first of these conferences in 1880 the Christian people from every state and almost every nation have gathered annually for inspiration and Christian fellowship. The gatherings this year promise to be of even more than usual interest and help. Besides the regular program there will be, through the late spring and summer, special speakers and addresses to which all are cordially invited.

"A MODERN EVE," AT CORT

On Monday evening last the very newest creation there is in musical comedy, "A Modern Eve," was presented at the Cort Theatre, Boston, and met with emphatic approval. So favorable indeed, was the verdict of the public that the stay of the pretty new comer may be prolonged far into the summer.

"A Modern Eve" was first produced in Berlin over two years ago, and was so successful that it played protracted engagements there and in Paris, Vienna and Budapest. The book was written by George Okoukowski and A. Schoenfeld, and the translation was made by Will Hough and Hapgood Burt. The music was written by M. Jean Gilbert, Victor Hollander and Jerome Kern. The operetta is in two parts, or acts, which are laid in Aix Les Bains, France, at the present time. There are fifteen musical numbers, and ten dancing numbers, all new.

Matinees of "A Modern Eve" will be played on Wednesdays and Saturdays, and a special matinee will be played on Patriots' Day—Monday, April 19th.

The building is used for storing gasoline and serious consequences was apprehended but the prompt work of those about the place had practically done away with all danger before the fire department arrived. The fire is believed to have been caused by a cigaret thrown among the dead leaves near the building by a passer-by. No damage was done to the building.

COMMUNICATION

Editor North Shore Breeze,
Dear Sir:—

The account in your recent issue of the record of the last legislature in Wyoming is indeed exciting, for the laws listed therein are all admirable. In our excitement, however, let us not forget that most of them have been in force in Massachusetts for some time in practically the same, or better, form than those Wyoming has just enacted, and let us also remember that it has taken Wyoming 46 years of woman's suffrage to get where Massachusetts arrived with male suffrage considerably earlier. It reminds me of the countryman whose dogs ran off after a bear. The farmer followed as fast as he could, but, unable to keep pace with them, he inquired of the first man he met if he had seen any dogs and bear along that road. "Yaas," said the man, "Yaas, I seen 'em." "Well," said the farmer, "how were they?" "Well," said the man, "the dogs was a leetle ahead, but the bar was a gainin'." Wyoming's experience may be taken as pointing to the retarding effect of woman's suffrage on good legislation.

To the Business Men of Manchester By the Sea

The prosperity of a city is in direct proportion to the local pride. Where local pride runs high, prosperity has a firm foothold. Such a town is a good place to live and do business in.

Paint helps to a remarkable degree in spreading an impression of prosperity throughout a community. It gives a fresh, new, inviting look wherever it is used. Municipal buildings, stores and homes feel its good effects. Growing business is bound to be one of the direct results of a liberal use of paint, not from any magic in the paint, but because of the pride which is stimulated.

ADJOURNED TOWN MEETING

SEWER ASSESSMENTS AND PARK IMPROVEMENTS CHIEF BONES OF CONTENTION

The question of sewer assessments and further improvements at Masconomo park were the prime issues before the voters at the adjourned Town meeting in Manchester Tuesday evening. In the former matter the question was recommitted to the sewer board for action and the park board engineered through a just appropriation of $2990 for the work on Masconomo Park. The moderator had some perplexing complications to straighten out several times, but matters were righted finally to the satisfaction of all.

Chairman Edward S. Knight of the selectmen presented the report of the board relative to a contract with the Manchester Electric Co. for lighting the streets with some 250 lights. Everything was set forth in a most comprehensive manner and the board was authorized to make a 10-year contract with the company. It is understood a 60 c.p. lamp will be used for the most part, and at certain points more powerful lights. At five places the 250 c.p. lamp will be used,—cor. Pine and Central sts., cor. School and Union, Postoffice square, cor. Union and Washington, and corner Summer and Forest sts.

Mr. Knight stated further that the Welsbach company had agreed to continue their lights until the new system was installed and ready for use in October or November.

A petition was presented, signed by 30 or 40 citizens asking the town to continue with the present system of gasoline lights.

The question of sewer assessments was recommitted to the sewer commissioners, they to report at some adjournment of this meeting or at some other meeting. This motion was carried at the conclusion of an excited argument as to rescinding the vote passed at the meeting a month ago, to the effect that users of the sewer be assessed a minimum of $3.00. An effort was made to have all the expense paid out of the general tax levy. The moderator finally ruled all motions, except the one mentioned above, out of order on the ground that the town voted in Aug. 1913, that every person who enters the sewer shall pay a just and equitable charge therefor, based on the reading of their water meter; and until this vote was rescinded, all action contradictory thereto was out of order.

The moderator immediately appointed the Fourth of July committee,—C. A. Hatch, F. L. Smith, L. W. Carter, Alfred Walen, Cheever Hersey, Waldo F. Peart, A. H. Sjolund, James Murray, Wm. H. Allen.

After some more wrangling $2990 was appropriated to continue the work at Masconomo Park. At the former meeting it was voted to appropriate no money for this purpose. Somebody moved to lay on the table, but the meeting was opposed to this, 47 voting in favor to 120 against. Mr. Reed's motion as above was carried by a vote of 115 to 50.

On motion of Forster Tenney $300. was appropriated for the use of the special investigating committee on the concrete standpipe. M. J. Callahan of the committee to nominate an appropriation committee, offered the following list of nine: Geo. S. Sinnicks, C. L. Crafts, W. H. Coolidge, Philip Stockton, W. L. Putnam, Alfred C. Hooper, T. C. Rowe, A. C. Needham and Frank W. Bell. This committee was accepted.

It was suggested that the finance committee hold their meetings in the Town hall and that such meetings be open to the public.

It was voted that $600 be appropriated to make needed repairs on the dam at Central pond.

At 9.30 the meeting adjourned until Monday evening, April 26, at 7.30 o'clock.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE NOTES

The Manchester Equal Suffrage League will hold an unusually interesting meeting and tea on Wednesday, April 21st, at 3.30 o'clock, at Mrs. Leach's Tea Room,—owing to illness in the household of Mrs. Hatch. Mrs. William Codman Sturgis will come out from Boston to give a talk on her Colorado experiences. Mrs. Sturgis is the daughter-in-law of Mrs. Russell Sturgis and a well-known visitor on the Shore. This year she is living in Cambridge, but for many years she lived—and voted—in Colorado. She has recently spoken in Milton, and in Boston at the house of Mrs. Robert Gould Shaw. Mrs. Shaw has also been invited to come to Manchester with Mrs. Sturgis on this occasion. New members will be welcome.

On Saturday of this week (April 17), the Boston American will have a special Suffrage Supplement, which will be edited by the Mass. Woman Suff. Ass'n. (Mrs. E. C. Jeffrey of Cambridge, Editor in chief). This edition promises to be full of news and fun, and extra copies will be sent to Manchester and other towns.

The Christian Science Monitor of last Saturday had a splendid leading editorial (one third of a page) on "The Franchise and We Men," in which the Editor said: "Nobody has ever been able to produce a single logical reason for the distinction between men and women in the franchise.*A position, however, which is indefensible logically, can always be defended, after a fashion, by prejudice." And the same editorial shows how the present war is bringing nearer both woman suffrage and temperance. "Out of evil cometh good!"

At the recent municipal election in Chicago, a very great number of women came out of the polls and voted (over 224,000)—and at the same time the percentage of men voting was increased (giving Chicago a new record)—which usually happens where there is equal suffrage. I have heard men in Manchester (and in Boston) say that women will not use the vote if they get it. They said the same thing in Chicago a little while ago!—But never again!

TALK ON ISLAM.

Ezra Gifford of Newton addressed the People's Forum at the Village church, Magnolia, last Sunday evening. His lecture, "Islam, Christianity's Greatest Rival," was highly interesting, as were also the stereopticon views which accompanied it. Mr. Gifford appeared in Turkish costume. He spoke of Mohammedanism in a general way, of its mystery and fanaticism, and then of the prophet Mohammed, who was, in spite of everything that has been brought up against his character, a genius of the first order. The speaker went on to say that Mohammed had brought about a religion which should extend to a territory, second only to that of Christianity, through the sheer force of his unique personality.

Many very beautiful views were shown of Mohammedan cities, such as Constantinople, Cairo and Mecca. One was impressed with the beauty of the architecture of the mosques, and with the minarets in particular. The Taj Mahal was beautifully reproduced showing this most beautiful and most celebrated of temples from many viewpoints, each seeming to be more beautiful than those that had gone before.

After showing the conditions in cities, and in the lives of the citizens, which are the inevitable product of Islam, Mr. Gifford proceeded to tell what can be and is being done, to introduce Christianity and to relegate Mohammedanism to its proper place—in history. Mission schools, in which American men and women take a leading part, are being established wherever possible, thus doing the most effective thing that can be done in any great movement: namely teaching the rising generation. The Turkish families will send their boys and girls to these schools, where the Christian Bible is taught for the sake of the Western education and culture. In the massacres of 1908 and 1909 many of these Christian workers fell and the speaker showed some pictures of the scenes of action and told a little about some who sacrificed their lives for their cause. Mr. Gifford's lecture was of a type quite unprecedented here, and was correspondingly enjoyed.

BEVERLY FARMS

Before six o'clock Thursday morning, Wm. Leahy saw what appeared to be a fire in the Knights of Columbus rooms in Marshall's block, Central square, and quickly gave the alarm. It was well he did, for the quick work of the fire dept. stopped a blaze which probably would have been a serious fire in the business section of Beverly Farms. The flames burnt a hole in the floor and worked into the partition. It is thought that the fire might have started from a carelessly thrown lighted cigaret by some late occupant of the rooms.

The clean-up committee for ward 6 met in G. A. R. hall last evening and made plans for carrying out the work in this section of the city.

A pretty wedding took place at St. Margaret's church, Wednesday evening, at 7.30 o'clock, when Rev. John J. Downey united in marriage two of Beverly Farms' most popular young people, Miss Helen Gertrude Callahan and Charles I. McCarthy. The bride was attended by her twin nieces, the Misses Mary and Rose Smith, thirteen years old. Russell Cadigan was best man. A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Callahan, Hart st. After the honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. McCarthy are to live in apartments in the Pierce cottage on High st.

About a dozen of the prominent business men of Beverly Farms went to Boston Wednesday, and appeared before the Bank Commissioners in favor of the establishment of a branch here of the Beverly Trust Co. The population of the place, the probability of the interest and support given the proposed new institution was discussed. A decision from the Commissioners is expected in a few days.

Rev. Neilson Poe Carey moved into his new home, the "Elliott cottage," Valley st., recently purchased by him, on Tuesday. During the past winter Mr. Carey has occupied the Hutchinson cottage on West st.

MAGNOLIA

The Blynman Parent-Teacher association held its regular meeting at the grammar school on Magnolia avenue last evening. There was a large attendance to hear Mrs. Milton P. Higgins of Worcester. Music was furnished by a number of musicians, among them Miss Ivonetta Shaw of Lanesville. Readings were given by Patrick H. Boyle of Manchester. The social committee, of which Miss F. A. Brown was chairman, served ice-cream and cake.

Miss Alice G. Wonson of East Gloucester spent last Friday with her aunt, Mrs. Harry G. Foster, at her home on Summer street.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Robinson (Clara Butler) and baby daughter of Montserrat spent the week-end at the home of Mrs. Robinson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Butler.

Miss Maybelle Brown of Gloucester spent a few days the latter part of last week with her cousin, Miss Maybelle Sampson, Magnolia avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Stanley of Woburn were in town over the week-end, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Lycett at their home on Fuller street.

Mrs. Joanna Seaburg and family of Boston are at their cottage here for the summer months.

Ralph Richardson has a position at Foster's Drug store for the summer season.

Hon. Arthur K. Peck of Boston will return to Magnolia for another of his valuable lectures Sunday evening. Mr. Peck has spoken here many times and has always met with the same high appreciation. The lecture will be illustrated.

The Ladies' Aid society will hold their last supper and dance of the season, at the Women's Clubhouse on Wednesday evening, the 21st. Supper will be from 6 to 7.30; dancing from 8 to 12. Carey's orchestra of three pieces will furnish the music. Mrs. Edward Symonds has the supper in charge.

ABORN GRAND OPERA

The Easter week opening of the Aborn Grand Opera company at the Boston Theatre on April 5th was only exceeded in enthusiastic praise and public approval by the second week's offerings of this popular organization.

For the third week the selections made by the Boston music loving public have been Bizet's "Carmen" the first half and "The Tales of Hoffman" for the second part of the week. Boston will hear for the first time a new Carmen in Gertrude Francis. There will be four performances of "Carmen," with the usual Wednesday matinee and four performances of Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffman" with a Saturday matinee. The chorus and ballet for the ensemble number 60 and the augmented orchestra of 30 have already won merited praise from the musical critics of Boston as well as commendable appreciation from the public.

"TONIGHT'S THE NIGHT"

The London Gaiety Company, direct from the London Gaiety Theatre, the most famous home of musical comedy in the world, is now playing a limited engagement at the Shubert Theatre, Boston, fresh from a successful run of four months at the Shubert Theatre, New York. The organization is presenting "Tonight's the Night," which has scored one of the three biggest successes of the current season in the metropolis.

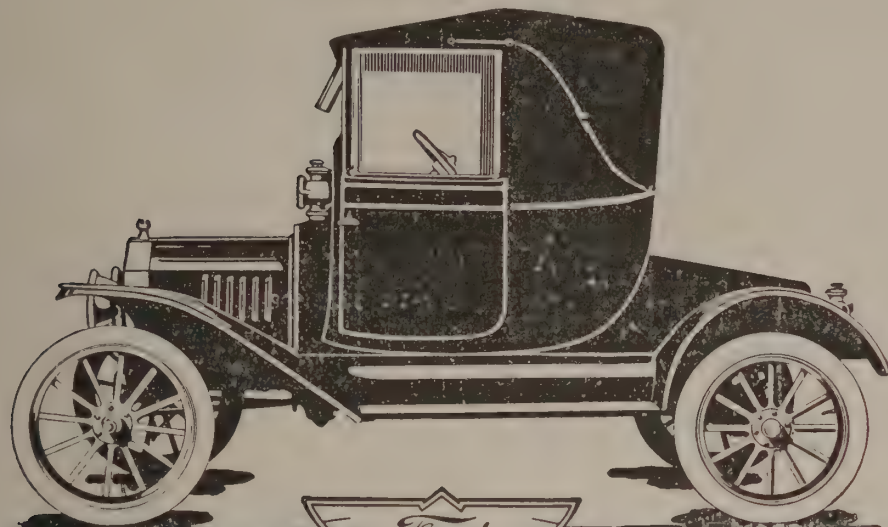

There will be a special matinee on Patriot's Day, Monday, April 19.

"THE LAW OF THE LAND"

Coming to the Majestic Theatre on Monday, April 12th, for a limited engagement, will be that remarkable New York success, "The Law of the Land," from the pen of that prolific writer of American dramas, George Broadhurst. It is a matter of distinct satisfaction to be able to announce that Boston will be favored with the same original cast and production seen in the all-season run at the 48th Street Theatre, New York. Featured in the cast is Julia Dean, and associated with her in leading roles are George Fawcett and Milton Sills.

The play is said to be a masterpiece in construction, and superbly acted.

Certainly not since "The Third Degree" has a play made so profound an impression upon those who are interested in social conditions of today. As in some other recent successful plays the police and a murder figure prominently in the story. "The Law of the Land" differs from many of the recent works of our leading playwrights in that it does not argue or talk its way through a story, nor lead up to stagy, obvious situations. Given a certain set of facts and a strong opening situation the people involved in this drama proceed to do human and manifestly plausible things.

The Breeze $2 a year postpaid.

Mrs. Mary Lee and Mrs. Abbie Marshall spent the past week on a vacation trip to Washington, D. C.

Improvements are under way in the Central square garage, of which Edwin F. Campbell is the proprietor. The work includes the taking down of partitions, making a larger floor space on the ground floor, utilizing the second floor space by means of installing a broad passage way and an elevator. The place is also being made fire proof by putting in a cement floor and plastering the walls.

Lorin David Cullen of Lynn, a former well known Beverly Farms resident, passed away the early part of this week from pneumonia. He was a stone mason by trade and was rated as an excellent mechanic. He had worked on some of the best structures along the North Shore. Of late years he gave up his trade for steady employment as a janitor in one of Lynn's public buildings. He leaves a widow, a daughter, also a mother, Mrs. Mary E. Cullen of Beverly; a sister Mrs. Mable Howard and a brother William T. Cullen.

A patriotic meeting was held last Friday evening in G. A. R. hall in observance of the Surrender of General Lee, which ended the civil war fifty years ago. The meeting was held under the auspices of the three patriotic organizations of the Farms, —the G. A. R., W. R. C. and the S. of V. There was vocal and instrumental music, short speeches, the reading of the story of Lee's surrender, and recitations. Preceding the entertainment a supper was served in the banquet hall.

Frank I. Lomasney has had improvements and changes made to his stable on Greenwood ave., part of which has been changed to a fire-proof garage. The work includes a concrete floor, plastered walls, electric lights, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Hull (Lily Drinkwater) are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby girl born last Saturday.

It has been advertised that a certain parcel of land, with the buildings situated on the upper end of Hart st., Beverly Farms, now in the name of John S. Shepherd, will be taken on execution and sold at public auction on Saturday, May 8, at two o'clock at No. 155 Cabot st., Beverly.

John West colony, Pilgrim Fathers, will hold their regular business meeting in Marshall's hall this evening.

C. E. CONVENTION MONDAY AT GLOUCESTER

Essex County Christian Endeavor Union will hold its twenty-fifth annual convention in Gloucester, Monday, April 19. The delegates, a thousand strong, will form in line at the railway station at 9.45 and, marching in a grand parade, escort State President Carl Stackman to the First Baptist church for the morning session. The addresses will be as follows:

"The Society Inside and Outside the Church," Rev. Carl Stackman, Somerville; "Making Christ Real," Rev. Ferdinand F. Peterson, Boston; "Our Neighbors the New Americans," Mr. Guy D. Gold, Brockton; "The Call of the East," Rev. William E. Strong, D. D., Boston.

The Conference Hour at four o'clock will be spent as follows: "Problems Within Our Society," Rev. Edmund D. Webber, D. D., Haverhill; "Our Society and Church Organizaztions," Rev. Richard Bennett, Beverly; "Christian Endeavor and Civic Betterment," Rev. Robert W. Beers, Lawrence; "Conference for Presidents and Secretaries of the Societies and Local Unions," Prof. Carl R. Hayward, Quincy.

James C. Purinton of Beverly, President of the County Union, will preside at all three sessions. The recognition of the young people who have earned the degree of Christian Endeavor Expert during the year will be given by Prof. Hayward.

WILBUR THEATRE, BOSTON

New England playgoers in search of hearty laughter and bright entertainment are still flocking to the Wilbur Theare, where "A Pair of Sixes," on Patriot's Day, will begin the seventeenth week of an engagement which has broken all records for long runs in Boston. WENHAM

Easter brought the same weather in Wenham as everywhere else; and while it cast a damper on the millinery features of the observance, it also afforded a test of true devotion to the spirit of the festival with results by no means disappointing. At the village church a fine musical program was rendered by the choir and organist, assisted by Miss Dennett, violinist, of Salem. Weather conditions were more favorable in the evening and the children's concert attracted a full house and elicited much warm commendation. A part of the Easter music was repeated last Sunday.

Miss Helen C. Burnham is reported not to be in her usual vigorous health this season, and consequently will not occupy her estate, "Overloch," as early as customarily.

Last week brought annual meetings in the village parish, church and Sunday School. Prosperous conditions were reported and re-elections were in order. Church membership increased 6, and no deaths were reported. Naturally the meeting rose and sang the doxology in the presence of the latter fact. A new hymn-book was introduced, the Pilgrim Hymnal. Hereafter the annual meetings will take place the second week of January instead of the first week in April. Treasurers find it simpler to make annual reports in January than at any other season of year. And there will be no further conflict between the annual meetings and the growing observance of Passion week. The Church Cabinet as now constituted consists of the following chairmen of departments: Social service, Herbert W. Porter; Bible study, Dea. Albert A. Tracy; Missions, Mrs. A. W. Dodge, Jr.; Church extension, Miss Grace E. Glavin; Membership, Orpheus L. Woodbury; Parish committee, H. W. Porter; Music committee, Charles H. Leach; Minister, Rev. F. M. Cutler.

Rev. Arthur P. Wedge of Jamacia Plain, missionary of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel among Indians, the society formed more than two hundred years ago to "back up" the famous John Eliot, delivered an exceptionally interesting and valuable stereopticon lecture Sunday evening, under auspices of the department of missions. William Glavin and Miss Marjorie Hill operated the lantern.

Owing to annual meetings last week, the Ladies' Society postponed the monthly meeting and supper until this Wednesday.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE— DRINK HOT TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking up a cold.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

Where Shall We Plant Our Vines

By MARY H. NORTHEND

THERE are more latent possibilities in the planting of vines than any house owner has yet imagined. With the exception of large trees already standing upon a house lot before the buildings are put up, there is nothing else which makes the newly-built dwelling so soon seen at home in its environment, as does this drapery straight from the hand of nature. The lusty and vigorous growth of leaf and blossom and tendril is the outward and visible sign that Earth is taking the newcomer to her heart, and making the home a part of the landscape.

There are so many different vines from which to choose, that the very width of latitude hampers us in making a selection. We are, perhaps, too prone to remember only that a certain specimen of vine was beautiful where we saw it growing; and so decide to plant it for ourselves, in a different situation, with surroundings far from harmonious.

Now vines may be used as an ornament, to emphasize the attractions of that which is beautiful, or they may serve as a screen, to conceal the blemishes of that which is unsightly. These different uses need different types of vines, since the light and airy festoons which enhance the beauty of some architectural triumph would be inadequate to hide defects; and the heavy masses of foliage, which successfully veil that which is ugly or that which is merely commonplace, would conceal just as effectually the classic beauties of fluted Corinthian columns, in porch or pergola. In both cases, the value of vines is beyond question, but the house owner must be familiar with vines of various descriptions, so that he can make his choice with discretion.

We have but one evergreen vine, and that is the English ivy. Except in Washington and Oregon, this does not grow with us as luxuriantly as in England; for in other localities our climate does not combine great dampness with an even temperature. Our hot summers tell more severely upon this vine than do our cold winters. It may thrive to a limited extent in sheltered locations, upon the north side of buildings; but its growth always seems more or less forced, and is never really spontaneous and luxuriant.

We have, however, a great variety of hardy deciduous vines, which possess all the good qualities of climbing shrubs, and are perhaps the most valuable of their kind; since, when once well started, they demand no further care beyond a little necessary pruning.

Of these hardy vines, the two varieties of Ampelopsis easily lead in popularity. The five-leaved or palmate variety is commonly known as Woodbine or Virginia

Creeper, while that which has the three-parted leaf is called Boston Ivy or Japanese Ivy. Both varieties belong to the order of concealment rather than to the order of decoration. If a house is hopelessly ugly, the least expensive method of making it beautiful is to cover its walls of wood or brick or stone with ampelopsis. There are no perceptible blossoms, but the Virginia Creeper often shows rich clusters of purple berries, and the foliage of both varieties undergoes an autumnal change which is far more brilliant and beautiful than a spring-time inflorescence.

Wherever thick foliage is needed, for shade or for concealment, there can be no mistake in planting either or both varieties of ampelopsis. They will thrive in almost any soil and need no trellis. The Virginia Creeper is perhaps the more hardy of the two, as it is often found growing wild in great luxuriance.

We have other native hardy vines of great beauty,—the Fox Grape, the Bittersweet, the Clematis, and the Trumpet Creeper. Of these, the Fox Grape, Vitis Vulpina, has foliage of great beauty, and is well calculated to form a canopy of shade over an ornate pergola of the classic type, without in the least disguising the beauty of its pillars. This is mainly on account of its habit of putting out its foliage at some distance from the ground, leaving only a decorative brown stem twined about the pillar, while it masses heavy leafage on the trellis-work at the top, with pendant sprays of blossoms or bunches of fruit to hang down between the bars in very decorative fashion. It is hardy all over the country.

The native false Bittersweet, Celastrus Scandens, is more suitable for decoration than for shade or concealment. It has handsome foliage, yellow flowers, and a scarlet fruit in orange capsules, which clings to the vine all winter. It is hardy, being found sparingly all over the country, although seldom growing commonly anywhere. It seems most abundant in the upper valley of the Connecticut, in the region about Brattleboro.

Another splendid vine is the Trumpet Creeper, Bignonia Tecoma Radicans, which grows wild in Kentucky, and is hardy all over the country. It can be trained over a trellis when young, and will keep the same shape after the trellis has fallen away. It is beautiful when trained against a distorted tree, or in unsightly bit of stonework. Its dark-green glossy leaves would be sufficiently decorative, even without the splendid, scarlet, trumpet-shaped flowers, which it sends out in such profusion. It is a clean plant, seeming to have no insect enemies, and is very attractive to the humming-birds. Its only bad feature is the fact that it does not put out its leaves until very late in the season, so that it is well to plant it in company with wistaria or clematis, which put out early.

Our native Clematis is thoroughly reliable, and is especially pleasing when massed with other creepers upon pergolas of the rustic order. This is the Clematis Virginiana, which beautifies the roadsides in August. It is commonly called Virgin's Bower, Traveller's Joy, Devil's Yarn, or Old Man's Beard. For planting singly, a better variety is the Clematis Panicula, the well-known climber which is starred all over with fragrant white blossoms in September. This is an excellent foliage vine, perfectly hardy, and very satisfactory if placed in a sunny situation. It is a noteworthy fact that few vines can be successfully placed out of reach of sunlight.

Of all imported vines, perhaps the Wistaria is the most general favorite. Certainly there is none more beautiful. Not only is the whole habit of the vine graceful and decorative, but the gray-green foliage is delicate, and the blue-lavender flowers wholly charming. The best varieties are the Chinensis and the Multijuga. They are rapid growers, climbing to a height of fifty feet; but there is likely to be a little trouble in their first taking root, which makes them often slow about starting.

Honeysuckles require too much training to be entirely satisfactory on porch pillars and formal pergolas; but they are excellent additions to the effect of a tangle of vines, where that is required. The Red Coral is beautiful, but subject to severe attacks of green aphids, and therefore less satisfactory than the popular Hall's Japan or the Chinese Evergreen.

Beautiful hardy vines for screens or for heavy shade are found in the Dutchman's Pipe and the Chinese Kudzu Vine. Both make a phenomenal growth. The former has singular pipe-shaped flowers, of a brownish color, and heart-shaped leaves, that keep their color well until late into autumn. Its vigorous growth is frequently seen upon archways and verandas. The Kudzu vine is often called Jack-in-the-Beanstalk. It sometimes grows twelve inches in a day, so that its value for quickly covering dead trees, fences, arbors, and rockeries, can well be imagined, especially as its large bright-green leaves, shaped much like those of a bean-vine, afford very dense shadow.

The Lycium, or Chinese Matrimony Vine is a shrubby climber that makes a vigorous growth, best utilized for walls, fences, or trellises. Every new shoot is filled with small purple flowers, which in turn are followed by brilliant scarlet berries, and these remain all winter.

Other hardy vines with shrubby tops are the Akebia Quinata and Apios Tuberosa, which resemble wistaria, the Periploca Greca or Silk Vine, the Silver Vine, and the great variety of Ramblers and other climbing roses.

Sometimes it is convenient to make use of vines which die back to the ground at the end of the season, while the root remains perennial in the ground, to start in the spring. Of this class, the Hop is the best instance. It will always prove satisfactory. It is clean, delicate, graceful, and will grow to the top of a second-story veranda. By planting the roots very close together, abundant shade can be secured, but the prettiest effect from hop-vines is purely decorative, and is attained when plants are kept far enough apart to permit the play of light and shade upon twisted stem, delicate leaf, and clusters of characteristic fruitage. A new Japanese Hop is now being sold. It has variegated foliage, strikingly marked with silvery white or palest yellow. The Cinnamon Vine, Badiere Vine, and Camelia Vine are all beautiful climbers which die down to the root. The last-mentioned makes the best growth, from fifteen to twenty feet. It also produces large rose-colored flowers.

Often it is desirable to use annuals, to form a screen where we did not have one the year before and shall not need one next year. Sweet peas upon wire netting are too well known to need more than a passing word. For some reason, it does not seem to be generally known that if the so-called climbing or trailing nasturtiums have a stout cord to run upon, they will reach a height of fifteen feet and form a dense screen. The Wild Cucumber or Creeping Jenny is very decorative when massed upon shrubbery, and combines well with Scarlet Runner or the new Hyacinth Bean. The old Morning Glory, which is a garden weed at the South, has received re-enforcements in the shape of a new Japanese Morning Glory of large size and novel coloring, and with variegated foliage. Various ornamental gourds are rapid growers while the Moonflower sometimes attains a height of forty feet in a single season, producing white moonlike flowers that are five or six inches in diameter. We have until another spring to decide upon these annuals.

There is a very common mistake made in setting out vines, and this is putting them too near to the wall upon which they are to be trained. Keep them away from it at least a foot. This will give room for the trellis, if one is needed, and will also give some opportunity to cultivate the soil about the roots, an attention which is required by vines in common with other plants. A wistaria which is making a good growth needs to be hoed, and fertilized. It also needs to be mulched, for warmth in winter, and for moisture in summer. It is a safe rule to follow that the more rapid the growth, the more attention must be given to the vine, since by its reaching out for necessary plant food, the soil about its base is rapidly exhausted.

SINGING BEACH, MANCHESTER

COTTAGE rentals along the North Shore are being made with great rapidity these days. If one has any doubt as to the outcome of the present season as compared to other seasons of the past he need only look at the list of cottage rentals as recorded in the Breeze from week to week. There is an unusual demand all along the the coast from Long Island to the Maine resorts—and, of course, the very hub of the resort territory—the North Shore—surpasses all other sections in point of actual rentals.

Mr. and Mrs. David Rumsey (Frances Davidge) of New York, have leased the Edward Robinson cottage, off School street, Manchester,—opposite the Essex County club. The Livingston Davises of Boston have again leased the Wheelwright cottage, so-called, at Pride's Crossing. Both of these rentals were made through the Boardman office of the Ames Bldg., Boston, and Manchester.

The William H. Coolidges are coming down from Boston today to open "Blynman Farm," their beautiful summer place at Magnolia, for the summer season. The house has been kept in readiness for week-end parties all winter and the family has spent many a pleasant holiday here.

Miss Katherine P. Loring and her sister, Miss Louisa P. Loring, are at Pride's Crossing for the season. Also among recent comers there are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cannon Clarke (Mary Head).

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. F. Ayer of Boston and Hamilton, with their daughters, Misses Theodora and Anne Ayer, left Boston Monday for San Francisco to visit the Panama Exposition. They will be away six or seven weeks, and when they return in early June they will go direct to their country estate in Hamilton.

COLVILLE BARCLAY and family of Washington are to return to Manchester for the summer, and will again have the S. Parker Bremer house on the far end of Smith's Point. Mr. Barclay is the counselor of the British embassy and he was charge d'affaires of the embassy last summer at the outbreak of the war. The family was greatly attached to the North Shore and remained here late last summer after the diplomatic corps had returned to Washington. The British Ambassador is to be at Pride's Crossing this summer. Mr. and Mrs. Bremer and daughters will spend the summer at their country place in Dover.

The summer residence of the late Mrs. Charles P. Hemenway, off Masconomo st., Smith's Point, Manchester, has been rented for the season to Mrs. Thornton K. Lothrop, who will spend the summer here with her daughter, Miss Mary B. Lothrop, and Thornton K. Lothrop, Jr. Miss Clara Hemenway may spend the early part of the summer at Manchester, with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. W. Taintor, who plan to spend the summer at their attractive little country place in Topsfield. Miss Hemenway will also spend part of the summer with her other sister, Mrs. Geo. E. Cabot and family at Manchester.

The Richards M. Bradley cottage on Smith's Point, Manchester, has been rented for the season to Thomas Lindsay and family of Boston.

Miss Dorothy Jordan was down to her farm at Wenham over the last week-end and holiday. Mr. and Mrs. Eben D. Jordan and daughter are to spend the summer at West Manchester.

The Geo. von L. Meyers, who have been at Aiken for the season, are now at Washington, but they plan to settle at their Hamilton home shortly for the spring and summer.

A GAIN this season the racing yachts of the Boston, Corinthian, Eastern and Manchester Yacht clubs will take part in the competition for the North Shore championships in the races off Marblehead and Manchester. This is the third season that these championships have been competed for by the racing yachts of the North Shore. While the open races of these four clubs all count for the championships of the various classes, there is no association of the four clubs, the whole matter being settled by agreement among the chairmen of the regatta committees. This season the championships will be awarded in the following classes: Class P, 31-raters; Class R, 20-raters; Bar Harbor 31-foot class; Boston Yacht Club first special rating class; Marblehead 17-foot class; Manchester Yacht Club 17-foot class; Corinthian Yacht Club 15-foot class. The only change from the classes of last year is the substitution of the first rating class for the second rating class of the Boston Yacht club. To qualify for the championships a yacht must take part in at least 10 of the 16 scheduled races. In the races of June 12 and June 19 the Manchester Yacht club 17-foot classes will be omitted. Last week the chairmen of the regatta committees of the clubs met and arranged the season's racing as follows: Saturday, June 12, Boston Y. C.; Saturday, June 19, Corinthian Y. C.; Saturday, June 26, Eastern Y. C.; Saturday, July 3, Corinthian Y. C.; Monday, July 5, Corinthian Y. C.; Saturday, July 17, Corinthian Y. C.; Saturday, July 24, Manchester Y. C.; Saturday, July 31, Corinthian Y. C.; Tuesday, Aug. 10, Eastern Y. C.; Wednesday, Aug. 11, Boston Y. C.; Thursday, Aug. 12, Corinthian Y. C.; Friday, Aug. 13, Corinthian Y. C.; Saturday, Aug. 14, Corinthian Y. C.; Saturday, Aug. 28, Eastern Y. C.; Saturday, Sept. 4, Corinthian Y. C.; Monday, Sept. 6, Corinthian Y. C.

In addition to the North Shore championship races, the Corinthian Yacht club will hold club races on July 10, Aug. 7 and 21, open only to boats owned by club members. The annual open race for the trophies presented by the commodore will be given Saturday, Sept. 18, and with this event the racing season of 1915 will close at Marblehead.

The annual cruise of the Boston Yacht club this year as usual will be along the Maine coast. The fleet will rendezvous probably either at Marblehead or Gloucester Saturday evening, July 17. The racing schedule of the club is as follows: Saturday, June 12, open, Marblehead; Thursday, June 17, open, Hull, inside course; Wednesday, Aug. 11, open, Marblehead; Wednesday, Aug. 18, open, Hull, inside course; Thursday, Aug. 19, open, Hull, inside course; Friday, Aug. 20, club, Hull; Saturday, Aug. 21, open, Hull, outside course.

Miss Margaret Thomas will entertain the Far East club next Wednesday afternoon at the North Bennett st. school, Boston, on the occasion of the private exhibition of the school's work which is to be given under the direction of the board of managers. The Far East club is made up of Back Bay people who have traveled in the Orient. Miss Thomas was in India two years ago with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Washington B. Thomas. Her article on India, with illustrations, was one of the features of one of the July issues of the Breeze last summer. The Thomases, by the way, will be established in their Pride's Crossing home shortly for a long season as usual.

Everybody is looking forward to the Vincent club's annual show, to be given at the Toy theatre, Boston, next week on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. Among the North Shore girls who are to take part are: Frances Bradley, Harriet Dexter, Barbara Rice, Edith Sigourney, Elizabeth Paine, Christene Snelling, Julia Coolidge, Muriel Saltonstall, Elizabeth Coolidge, Caroline Foster and Pauline Pollard. Also Edith Foster, Hilda Foster, Rose Saltonstall, and Miss Katherine Dorr, the latter at the piano.

Miss Rosamond Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wood of Pride's Crossing, will take part in the performance at Jordan hall, Boston, tonight. She will give a Spanish Dance.

Mrs. Albert I. Croll is in Maryland for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Barton, Jr., at "Airlie," the Barton country place near Pikesville. She will also visit Mrs. Robert Brown Morison and Miss Sydney Morison in Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Livingston Hoyt are spending the spring season at Staatsburg, N. Y., but they will be at Beverly for the summer, with Mrs. Hoyt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis R. Appleton.

Rev. and Mrs. Wm. H. Dewart, whose summer home is at Manchester-by-the-Sea, have bought the house, 247 Berkeley st., Boston, from the estate of the late Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Peabody, for a permanent winter home.

SWAMPSCOTT'S summer colony is fast getting ready to enjoy a season of recreation on the upper North Shore. The residences along the ocean front are being put in readiness for their occupants and some few families are already down. The hotels are getting ready to take down the shutters and all are making the necessary repairs and improvements coincident with the advent of another season. The Tedesco Country club, that magnet of the Swampscott colony, opened informally over the holiday and week-end and played host to several hundred guests during the day.

Among the holiday visitors to Swampscott were Mr. and Mrs. John P. Squire and family of Brookline. They were at the Bellevue in the Beach Bluff section, where they will come for the entire season later.

The Tedesco club was the objective point of several hundred members and friends on the holiday. On Saturday and Sunday, also, many came down to the shore from Boston and vicinity to enjoy the golf, tennis and a spin along the shore. On Sunday morning 45 enthusiasts enjoyed the golf course, which is in the pink of condition this year. The full 18 holes will be opened in two weeks. A feature this season in golfing at the Tedesco is a miniature course in the rear of the clubhouse. It has been designed especially for the ladies. It is equipped with regular bunkers and hazards in miniature and has one green entirely surrounded with a sand trap. A tiny lake is also included in the small course. On the holiday the club was a busy place. There were 404 guests at luncheon and dinner and there was dancing during the afternoon and evening. Sharp's orchestra of Boston provided the music. The Tedesco now numbers 600 members with a waiting list of 108 persons who desire membership. The club is now at its full measure of strength and has prospects for a busy season this year.

Frederick A. Taylor, for several years superintendent of the Tedesco Country club at Swampscott, was recently wedded to Miss Julia Alice Blackwood of Boston. The ceremony was performed at the home of Rev. Herbert S. Johnson on Bay State road, Boston. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor are residing for the summer at the Tedesco club cottage in Swampscott.

CLIFTON is getting into the summer stride in a manner which speaks well for this particular section of the North Shore. Although new summer residences are noticeable because of their absence in Clifton and vicinity this is perhaps true of the shore in general. Thus does not indicate a quiet season at Clifton and Beach Bluff, however, as families are arriving thus early in the spring for the entire season.

Samuel Shuman and family of Boston are already down at "The Lauralton," their Clifton summer home on Atlantic ave.

The summer estate of E. A. Earle at Clifton has been sold through the F. A. Chapman agency, although the final papers have not yet been passed.

Max Brummel and family of Brookline will occupy the summer home of F. S. High at Clifton this summer. This estate was formerly the Clements property; the house has been thoroughly renovated this spring for the new occupants.

Mansfield Fox of Brookline has decided to come to the North Shore this season, renting a cottage at Beach Bluff.

F. A. Chapman has rented the Rowe cottage at Orchard Circle at Clifton to M. R. Reardon of Brookline.

Another Brooklineite to come to Clifton for the summer is George Guppy, who will be quartered on Hathaway road.

ICELANDIC JOKERS

"The Iclander is very fond of a joke, especially when at the expense of someone else. The steamship company trading around the coast advertises 'to return empties free of charge.' A farmer in Borg sold a cow to a man in Reykjavik with the understanding that the skin be returned to him. The man in Reykjavik tied up the skin and shipped it to the farmer in Borg. The steamship company charged the farmer for carrying the bundle. The farmer replied,—

"'But there is no charge. You took the cow to Reykjavik and you offer to 'return empties free of charge,' and if a cow skin is not an empty, what is it?'"

THE picturesque little Unitarian church on Masconomo street, Manchester, was the scene of the first social function of the season last Saturday noon, when Miss Katherine Lawrence Putnam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lowell Putnam of Boston and Manchester, was married at high noon to Harvey Hollister Bundy, formerly of Grand Rapids, Mich., now private secretary at Washington of Chief Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes of the United States Supreme Court. The bride wore the gown in which her mother was married, remodelled for the present day. The skirt was of satin, with flounces of point applique lace, mounted over tulle, and there was a long court train of cream moire antique. The bodice had a V-shaped neck and rather full sleeves of tulle. It was enriched with lace and had a girdle of moire. The superb veil of ancestral lace, originally worn by the bride's grandmother, was becomingly arranged with little clusters of orange blossoms at the sides and reached to the hem of the train. Literally from the "crown of her head to the sole of her foot" the fetching little bride was a mass of exquisite lace. She was attended by Miss Mary E. Parkman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Parkman of Boston. Under chaperonage of Miss Hopin, the bride and Miss Parkman had made a journey around the world after Miss Putnam's debut in 1910. Miss Parkman wore a pink taffeta frock and black Leghorn sailor hat, faced with pink and trimmed with pink roses and broad black velvet streamers. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. James H. Ropes of Harvard Divinity school. Nathan H. Bundy of Norfolk, Va., was best man. George Putnam and Masters Bundy and Putnam were ushers for the five or six score of relatives and intimate friends that attended the wedding. The church was very prettily decorated, white ascension lilies and pink rambler roses predominating, a cluster of white lilies tied with white satin ribbon adorning the head of each pew. The chancel was filled in with a field of lilies, through which the clergyman walked as he met the wedding party. Frank O. Nash of Jamaica Plain, organist of this church, presided at the organ and played the wedding march from Lohengrin as a processional and Mendelssohn's wedding march for the recessional, also giving a concert program preceding the ceremony. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Putnam at Smith's Point for which several hundred invitations were issued. Mr. and Mrs. McGeorge Bundy of Washington, D. C., parents of the groom, assisted in receiving. Mr. and Mrs. Bundy left on an afternoon train for a wedding trip which will end in Washington, D. C., which is to be their home. Among those present were President Lowell of Harvard, the bride's uncle, and her aunt, Miss Amy Lowell, also Mrs. Geo. Putnam, her grandmother.

Mrs. Robert Gould Shaw was prevented from coming to Manchester on Wednesday, with Mrs. Sturgis and Mrs. Russell, by an attack of grippe. Mrs. Shaw is chairman of the Equal Franchise Commission of Boston, of which Mrs. Wm. Sturgis is secretary and Mrs. H. E. Russell is treasurer. The Writers Equal Suffrage League, of which Miss Louie R. Stanwood is president, met at Mrs. Shaw's Boston house on Tuesday last, when Miss Amy Lowell read several of her new poems.

Miss Helen Lancashire, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Lancashire of Manchester, has sailed for Europe, where she has gone as a volunteer in the Red Cross service as a nurse. She prepared for this duty by taking a course in nursing in New York city. She will go directly to Paris on her arrival on the other side. Dr. and Mrs. Lancashire and their family have just come north from the Hot Springs, where they have been for most of the season, and are in New York. Their house at Manchester, in the Dana's Beach section, is being put in readiness for occupancy, and they soon will arrive here.

One sister of Miss Steele is the Countess Jean de La Graze, who was married in October, 1900.

Miss Gertrude Livingston Amory, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harcourt Amory of Beacon st., Boston, and Pride's Crossing, with a maid of honor and six bridesmaids attending her in pale green and yellow, was married in Trinity Church, Boston, Saturday noon by Bishop Lawrence, assisted by Rev. Alexander Mann, D. D., rector of Trinity, to Constantine Hutchins, Harvard '05, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Constantine F. Hutchins of Boston. The bride wore white satin, with full train and trimmed with lace. Her lace veil was caught up with a cluster of orange blossoms. Her cousin, Miss Mary Copley Amory was maid of honor. The six bridesmaids included Miss Mary Hunnewell, Miss Alice Wesselhoeft, Miss Laura Amory, Miss Caroline Fessenden, Miss Grace Lockwood and Miss Dorothy Thatcher. Mr. Hutchins' best man was Francis W. Sargent, Jr., Harvard '07. Mr. Hutchins was best man for Mr. Sargent when the latter married Miss Margery Lee last September. The ushers included Harcourt Amory, Jr., and John S. Amory, brothers of the bride; Davis Hutchins, the bridegroom's brother; I. Tucker Burr, Jr., Morris Gray, Jr., Thomas G. Gannett, Gordon Fairchild, Robert Grant, Jr., Gorham Brooks, Augustus Hemenway, Jr., Robert Winsor, Jr., and Eliot Farley, all of Boston, with Robert H. Cox and Trowbridge Callaway of New York, who were classmates of Mr. Hutchins in college. A reception and wedding breakfast followed at the Amory residence. Mr. and Mrs. Hutchins will live in Dedham.

Mrs. Henry S. Grew (Ethel Hooper) of 254 Marlboro st., Boston, and West Manchester, will be in charge of the Saturday evening dancing class next year at the Hotel Somerset, the members of which will be the debutantes of the following year. The first class will be held on Jan. 8, 1916, and the subsequent dates are Feb. 12, Feb. 26, March 11 and the closing date, March 25, on which the winding-up ball will be given in the large ballroom.

PAINT PREDOMINATES

The usual spring inclination to clean-up and paint-up is now evident in every direction from Lynn to Rockport. The spirit prevails annually during April, May and June, all along the North Shore and this season seems to surpass its predecessors in pruning, planting, cleaning and painting, the main incentive of which is undoubtedly the anticipation of new patrons and guests who have hitherto forgotten or ignored the quiet comforts and serene splendors of the North Atlantic shore resorts, and gone abroad, a wearisome journey that a sense of prudence now forestalls, or possibly precludes, or positively forbids.

Reverting to the contemplation of spruce-up and paint-up season, one's thoughts naturally become associated with the revelry of colors and qualities. The California Expositions appear to have established the fashion of lively hues, or vivid shades with harmonious effects that are a tonic to one's visual faculties. There are now 212 different tints all of which have names, that are recognized by color experts—and paint manufacturers rank next to textile manufacturers in their respective varieties of production—a statement that was very lately vouched for by one of the enterprising sales managers of the Wadsworth-Howland Company, Incorporated, who recently moved into their new store at 139 and 141 Federal street, Boston, still retaining, the old stand at 82 and 84 Washington street for the convenience of patrons who pass daily to and from the North Station.

HE MAIN OBJECT

OF the NORTH SHORE BREEZE is the dissemination of reliable and timely information that most materially concerns the strictly self-respecting class of permanent North Shore readers and many others who have property or kindred interests in this section, but reside elsewhere during six or seven months of the year.

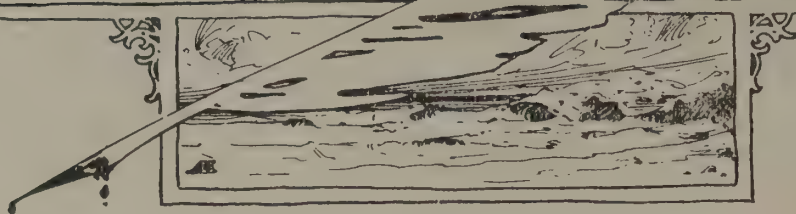

The worthiness and topical importance of its news service and relative editorial comments, is accompanied by a consistent representation of advertisements and reading notices.

The North Shore Breeze feels honored and proud to be welcomed into the homes of hundreds of the richest and best known people of the country,—not only in the summer, but every week in the year. The paper will be eleven years old next month, and its growth in this eleven years has been consistent and healthy.

W. H. Lerner & Sons, the well-known dealers in Butter, Cheese and Eggs, of Faneuil Hall Market, Boston, are looking for retail as well as wholesale trade along the North Shore this summer, and they think they can best acquaint North Shore people with that fact by taking a quarter page space in the Breeze for the next six months.

DOES THIS SUGGEST ANYTHING TO YOU, MR. BUSINESS MAN?

EDITORIAL

THE GOVERNOR HAS MADE an attempt to correct the inequality of tax assessments in Massachusetts by asking the legislature to pass four new laws,—one giving additional power and authority to the tax commissioner, another making compulsory returns of taxable property by their owners, still another, providing for the retention in the treasury of the commonwealth certain of the corporate franchise taxes which are now distributed to cities and towns on the basis of the residence of the shareholders, and a fourth bill requiring banks and corporations to give to the tax commissioners such information as they have as to the holders of bonds, now taxable.

BRYAN HAS JUSTLY CONDEMNED Admiral Peary for his unwise statement that America must expand. It is such a form of doctrine that has ruined Europe. The Munroe Doctrine has kept Europe out of America and America must keep the faith. Territorial expansion is not the pathway to national prosperity.

THE CLEAN MILK BILL has passed the Senate and will doubtless become law. There has been too many "freak" milk bills passed in the past and it is to be hoped that this bill will afford the farmers and dealers a square deal and give the consumer the clean milk he is entitled to receive.

AMERICA IS MEETING the new trade conditions with remarkable rapidity. The output of American dyes has been phenomenal. One manufacturer alone has found it necessary to increase his plant by an expenditure of upwards of a million dollars.

EVERY MODERN IMPROVEMENT costs money, but the improvements are worth the money. A new electric light system, a new sewerage system and new roads will cost the town of Manchester a pretty penny, but the improvements will be worth the money expended.

THE YOUNG MEN who broke into the summer cottages on the South Shore have had to reckon with the penalties of the law and are now in jail. Breaking and entering of summer homes has been given an effective check.

ENGLAND IS AROUSING the workman to increased endeavor. The destinies of that government rest as much with the workers at home as the fighters in the ditches provided their labors are enthusiastic and effective.

ONE OF THE SURPRISING results of the European War has been the phenomenal development of ship chandlery and ship mechanic enterprises. It is an ill wind that blows no one good.

THE STRONG, STEADY upward movement of the values of stocks and bonds tells the story of returning confidence. The hours of depression have sped.

NO APRIL SHOWERS, but plenty of Mayflowers!

THE SEASON HAS ADVANCED rapidly during the week and the next fortnight will witness a marvellous transformation in nature's gardens. For a while the school children have been digging dandelion greens. The trees and shrubs have been throwing out their buds and some of the earlier shrubs have unfurled their tiny baby leaves. In sheltered southerly exposures the lilac bushes have shown their miniature blossoms, awaiting the coming days of sunshine. In Magnolia and Gloucester fortunate nature lovers have found the trailing arbutus in sparing quantities. From the Cape, however, bright and abundant bunches of the hardy spring flowers have arrived. The horse chestnut buds are swelling their sticky cones. In the garden, early peas have broken the ground and spikes of sweet peas have adventurously pushed their way up, to the light. The rhubarb, the pie plant of our elders, long since nosed their way above ground and have now thrown their broad leaves to the sun and rain. Adventurous gardeners have planted more peas and other garden "greens" and some have tried a gamble with a row or more of early beans. The spring birds have come and their sweet songs are welcome indeed, but the numbers are small. Imaginative youngsters "have seen" Baltimore orioles and searched for dog-tooth violets, the yellow adder's tongue, but the most of us will be contented to wait until the month of May opens for our friendly oriole. As to the flowers of the woodland and the meadows the hypanthia must tell the days of spring. Spring is here!

THE GOVERNMENT PROSECUTES a railroad under the provisions of the anti-trust laws in order to prevent railroad corporations from mulcting the public. But what about the unjust parcel post graft that the United States government has been able to exact from the railroads of the country? That is a coat of a different color!

THE COLORED RACE is justified in making a protest against false ideas that may be promulgated by moving picture films which create antipathies and racial hatred. Sometime enterprising men with a genius for public entertaining projects will realize their financial investments are jeopardized by such follies.

ON APRIL ONE the Highway Commission had issued more automobile registration licences than were issued up to September 10 in 1913. Over fifty-five thousand number plates have been issued this year. There appears to be no depression in the automobile industries.

IT NOW TURNS OUT that the original anonymous philanthropist who gave eight thousand dollars for the strandway fund in So. Boston, was George A. Gardner. The gift was worthy of the cause and the donor.

MR. WEI PING CHEN, who addressed a Beverly Farms audience last Sunday evening, asserted that there was a time when China hated the foreigner and everything called "Christian" and China was justified in her attitude because of the perfidy of the American and European traders. All this he claims is now changed and despite the Chinese exclusion act, China looks to the United States as to a friend. In his home country an American flag is an assurance of protection. Remarkable changes have taken place in that old world republic and the good will that nation now shows to this country is due to the faithful and capable service that was rendered this country by our beloved John Hay.

A BOSTON NEWSPAPER printed a statement recently concerning Quincy Shaw, 2d, and a southern café incident. The paper has made an amende honorable and denied the article. Such errors are lamentable and the unfortunate thing is that all who read the first account do not always see the denial.

NOW THAT THE KING has climbed onto the water wagon it is the custom of society to banish liquors from the tables of the old world. Who would have forseen this a short year ago?

Psalm In Sonnets

XXIII

The Lord my Shepherd is; no want I know.

He makes me to lie down in pastures green;
Where streams thro' verdant meadow flow serene
His way He leads me and I gladly go.
'Tis He restores my soul; He guides me so
In paths of righteousness for His name's sake;
Yea! when in Death's dark vale my way I take,
His presence guards my soul from every woe.

Thy staff shall strengthen me in all my toil;
A table in the presence of my foe
Thou dost prepare; my head with oil
Thou dost anoint; my cup doth overflow.
Thy mercies follow me in all my days
And in thy house my tongue shall sing thy praise.

—JOSEPH A. TORREY.

Spring Rain

It isn't raining rain to me,
It's raining daffodils
In every dimpled drop I see
Wild flowers on the hills.
The clouds of gray engulf the day
And overwhelm the town—
It isn't raining rain for me
It's raining roses down.

It isn't raining rain to me,
But fields of clover bloom
Where any buccaneering bee
May find a bed and room.
A health unto the happy
A fig for him who frets—
It isn't raining rain to me
It's raining violets.

—ROBERT LOVEMAN.

COMMENTING EDITORIALY on Col. W. R. Nelson of Kansas City, a former summer resident of Magnolia, the BOSTON HERALD says: "It is a commonplace observation that the days of the great editor—like Greeley and Dana and the elder Bowles—are gone, and that newspapers now lack personality, and to a certain extent individuality. This theory encounters one conspicuous exception in the case of William R. Nelson, proprietor of the Kansas City Star, who died yesterday at the age of 74. Born in Indiana, in turn a bridge builder and cotton planter, at the age of 40 he somewhat accidentally fell into the newspaper business for which he proved to have a decided capacity. A hard-and-fast Democrat, he made his paper thoroughly independent. Published in a western community, where standards of journalism are supposedly lurid, he dressed his sheet so conservatively that any one-cent evening newspaper in New York thus garbed would create a sensation. Col. Nelson would rarely allow the name of an author or the source of information—like the Associated Press—to go into his paper. He would permit no pictures other than line drawings. He stuffed the STAR with 'good reading,' adapted to a wide family circle. In personal expenditures he was most lavish. Not liking the highway which the municipality provided out to his country residence, he built one of his own for several miles. His other gifts to the city were many and varied. His influence in its affairs, both personal and through his newspaper, have rarely been equalled."

The summer residence of Leon Strauss of Brookline at Clifton has been renovated and new baths added since last season.

W. G. Lees of Brookline will occupy the Grout cottage at Clifton this summer.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE NOTES

The Manchester Equal Suffrage League had a delightfully interesting meeting and tea at Mrs. Leach's Tea Room, on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. William Codman Sturgis came out from Boston, with Mrs. H. E. Russell, to give the League a talk on Woman Suffrage from the point of view of one who has voted for years in Colorado and knows the value of the ballot. In beginning her talk, Mrs. Sturgis mentioned that one of her maternal ancestors was a Leach of Manchester; and in speaking of Massachusetts she said that she believes this state will win equal suffrage next November,—but even at that it was plain that she thinks us shockingly behind-hand in this matter! Mrs. Sturgis is gracious and kind in all that she says and does, but she makes plain statement of facts. She had never heard of the "failure" of Woman Suffrage in Colorado until she came to Boston, and she is rather amused at the attitude of those who prefer to listen to indirect reports of conditions in Colorado and other Western states, and to repeat these wild tales among themselves, rather than to come to one who knows by direct experience and talk it over with her freely, face to face with facts! Mrs. Sturgis thought that in spite of our many advantages in Massachusetts the need of justice and freedom is just as great here as anywhere, and that the really unwomanly thing is the opposition to the great woman movement which stands for the sisterhood of all women. Then she told of some of the things the women voters of Colorado have been able to accomplish, such as the 8-hour law for women, the prevention of child labor, the regulation of the public dance-hall evils with the aid of women policemen, the improvement of liquor conditions, and so on. At the question as to whether equal suffrage had broken up home life in Colorado she laughed as at a good joke, then added seriously that with the Australian ballot system such fears were absurd, and that if only in the cause of peace and quiet and an end to the everlasting arguments, the men ought to enfranchise the women as soon as possible! Mrs. Sturgis is herself the best possible answer to the argument that women will lose their womanly charm when they become enfranchised. And it is not a very convincing answer to the flippant charge that "restless women only want the ballot because they haven't got it," that so many of these enfranchised women think it worth while to help us win our vote here though they themselves (really because they themselves) have had it and tested it for years?

Mrs. and Miss Leach served their famous tea and coffee, muffins and cakes, and after this there was a work conference of the League members.

An Essex County Work Conference will be held in Newburyport on Saturday of this week, morning, afternoon and evening, to which all Suffragists are invited. The business sessions will be held in the City Hall at 10.30 a. m. and at 2.30 p. m. and there will be lunch at the Wolfe Tavern at 12.30. The afternoon session will be open to the public, and in the evening at 7.30 there will be an open-air meeting in Market square. The speakers will be Mrs.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE NOTES

Mrs. Harry W. Purington will open her home, corner Lincoln and School sts., Manchester, Tuesday afternoon, May 4, at 3.30, for an anti-suffrage afternoon and tea. There will be two speakers from Boston. All interested are cordially invited to attend.

Mary Kenney O'Sullivan of the Dept. of Labor and Industries, Mrs. Mary Bradley Mahony of Lawrence (the County chairman), Mrs. Susan Fitzgerald, pres. of the Political Equality Union, Mr. Roger Sherman Hoar, and others.

Next Tuesday evening, April 27th, Mrs. Forbes-Robertson Hale will speak in Huntington hall, Boston, under the auspices of the Equal Franchise Comm. (Mrs. Robert Gould Shaw, chairman). This meeting will be at 8 o'clock and will be free to all.

The Equal Franchise Comm. also announces that they have taken an office at 75 State street, Boston, for the month of May, where there will be daily speaking at the noon hour, with a variety of good speakers, and with two or three of the Committee on hand every day to answer questions, etc. This same group of Suffragists had a similar shop in Federal st. last June, which was a great success. The new location is even more auspicious, and all business men and women are invited to drop in, after May 1st.

ANSWER

TO ANTI-SUFFRAGE COMMUNICATION

To the Editor of the Breeze:

In reply to Mrs. Putnam's communication in last week's Breeze. I beg to call attention to these facts: There is no eight-hour law in Massachusetts, nor in any states that are not Equal Suffrage states. And as for the Widows' Pension Law, like many other laws in this state, it is a law "without teeth," as Miss Blackwell so well puts it. For it is so worded that it may be locally evaded (and is thus evaded). Even when the industrial and social laws here are properly worded, they very often cannot be enforced. For instance, the provision for factory inspection in Mass. is wholly inadequate, and child labor continues in spite of the law. While in N. Y. state the conditions of woman and child labor in the canneries and sweat-shops, etc., is so shocking that Owen Lovejoy of the Child Labor Commission recently said the sooner we put an end to "chivalry" and try simple justice, the better! The recent action of the N. Y. legislature in passing the canneries bill, making it legal to work women and children 72 hours a week, has swelled the Suffrage ranks in N. Y. The women of Wyoming and Colorado have obtained an 8-hour law—with teeth! (which means with real power to back it up). And they have stopped child labor in those states.

—LOUIE R. STANWOOD.

May 15th and not May 1st, will be Suffrage Day in Massachusetts. There will be many demonstrations in Boston and other cities and towns. Full announcements later.

WHISPERINGS of THE BREEZES

If everybody in the world minded his own business there would be a lot more room in the papers for advertisements.

Most folks are a little better than their neighbors think, and not quite as wonderful as their distant sweet-hearts imagine.

The "Man About Town" whispers the following in Wednesday's issue of the SALEM EVENING NEWS: "The current issue of the North Shore Breeze had a beautiful colored cover. A feature of the cover was a map of the North Shore district. A striking fact about this map was that it did not contain 'Salem.' In fact, although Beverly, Hamilton, Topsfield, Gloucester and all the little places along the shore were shown on the map, Salem wasn't there at all. We always thought that Salem was 'on the map' but evidently, in the opinion of the editor of the Breeze, we are not even a spot on the landscape. I notice, however, that on the back cover of the magazine, appears a full page advertisement of a Salem concern, the great Daniel Low Co., known all over the world. The William G. Webber Co. and Almy, Bigelow & Washburn, other Salem concerns, have half-page ads. No doubt the checks of these Salem concerns are appreciated, even if the home of the concerns isn't put on the map. Furthermore, Salem has long been recognized as the 'Shopping centre of Essex county' and instead of being omitted from the map should occupy the most conspicuous place in the centre in big caps."

True, brother, true! We will try to remedy this—if not in this issue, just as soon as we can, despite the fact our covers are printed up through the last issue of May. We feel sorry for this, as it was purely unintentional. The map feature of our colored cover plates was a small part of our troubles in the general layout of the cover—but it is essen-

Friday, April 23, 1915.

Miss Grace Merrill was home from Andover over the holiday, a guest of Miss Dorä M. Marshall.

Miss Marie Lampron spent the week-end and Patriot's Day with relatives in Haverhill and Georgetown.

Benjamin G. Foster has purchased the house at 31 Central street owned by Michael E. Gorman and commonly called the Rust house. It is occupied at present by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mullen and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. George Andrews and family returned to Essex last week. Miss Grace Andrews, a daughter of the family, will remain at Manchester in order to finish the school year.

Miss Maude E. Hadley of Arlington was a guest over the week-end of her cousin, Mrs. J. A. Lodge, Church st. Mrs. Lodge's mother, Mrs. Chas. E. Bullard of Peterboro, N. H., has been spending the week here. Mr. Bullard was also here for a brief stay.

Mrs. Harry R. Floyd of Cambridge came down last Thursday for a visit with her parents Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Rust of School street, and she was joined by Mr. Floyd, Saturday. She has since gone to Portland for a week's stay.

The Foresters are to hold a dancing party at Town hall, next Thursday evening for the benefit of the Visiting District Nurse Fund. This has been a fund from which Manchester people have derived more benefit, perhaps, than from any other, and it is hoped that there will be a large sale of tickets.

The members of the Manchester Woman's club are cordially invited to be present at the meeting of the Rockport Woman's club on Monday evening, Apr. 26, at 8 o'clock in the Congl. vestry. Mme. Beale Morey will speak upon "The Message of Music; or the Mission of Art in the Life of the World." The chorus of the Rockport club will illustrate the music by selections from Elijah, the Ave Maria from the opera Lorelei, and the Bells of Shandon. If the ladies will take the 7.22 train a committee will meet them and conduct them to the vestry.

Mrs. Jeffrey T. Stanley is seriously ill at her home on School st.

Miss Florence Bradley has a position at the North Shore Market, Beach st.

The ambulance was out yesterday to remove Mrs. Mabel (Chadwick) Cameron to the Beverly Hospital.

Work is to be started week after next on making repairs on the interior of the Town hall building.

Mrs. William Choate Rust of Bridge st. is able to be out again after an illness of three weeks, during which she has been threatened with rheumatic fever.

Francis Bohaker entertained a number of his school friends at his home on Smith's Point last Friday evening.

Miss Gladys Semons returned to Jackson college Wednesday after spending a week, the Spring vacation, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Semons, of Pine street.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Harrison of Cambridge spent the week-end and holiday with former's sister, Mrs. R. T. Glendenning and Dr. Glendenning.

One of the most interesting of the holiday gatherings was that at "Dieppedale," the summer camp of Mr. and Mrs. Julius F. Rabardy at Annisquam, Monday, in observance of the 54th anniversary of Mr. Rabardy's enlistment in the Union army. Among those present besides Mr. and Mrs. Rabardy were their daughter, Miss Etta Rabardy, Mrs. L. W. Floyd, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rabardy Floyd, Miss Abbie Floyd, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Jewett, Miss Beth Jewett, Dr. Frank Wills, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith of Salem, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Banks of Peabody, Miss Eva Allen, Charles Smith, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Smith and their children, Eleanor and Raymond Smith, and a number of the cottage colony at Annisquam. Harry Floyd in a brief address, welcomed those present and spoke of the occasion which had brought them together, and presented Mr. Rabardy with a flag in memory of the day. Mr. Rabardy responded with a simple eloquence which touched his hearers deeply.

Miss Marion Spinney was home from Boston for the week-end and holiday.

Mrs. Chas. A. Hatch has gone to Bangor, Me., for a visit with her parents.

Supt. Chas. E. Fish of Amesbury was in town Patriot's Day, with his daughter, Mrs. P. A. Wheaton, School st.

Eugene Wogan has returned from the South and resumes his position in charge of the golf at the Essex Country club next week.

A daughter, Dorothy Allen, was born Monday morning, April 19, to Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Poor Floyd (Blanche Bailey) at Boston.

A new member was initiated into the Sherlock Holmes club at the weekly meeting at the home of Miss Helen Knight, Central street, last Friday evening. The meeting this week is to be omitted owing to the play which High school students are to give at Town hall tonight, and Miss Ethel Spry will be the hostess next week.

The comedy, "Sally Lunn," which is to be presented tonight at the Town hall, Manchester, under the auspices of the Story High school and with the musical assistance of the Glee and Orpheus clubs, is attracting unusual attention. It promises to be out of the ordinary with a cast of the most clever students in the school. The posters have caused much commendation for their originality and excellent drawing. William Angus was the artist.

Manchester Odd Fellows will observe the 96th anniversary of Odd Fellowship next Thursday evening by a roll call and supper. The lodge at Swampscott will be guests of Magnolia lodge that night, and their famous Fishermen's Degree staff of 30 men, will work the initiatory degree on one or two candidates. The local lodge will meet the visitors at the 7.22 train and will form a parade for a march to the Town hall. The supper will follow the meeting at Odd Fellows hall and will be served in the vestry of the Baptist church as the Town hall is in use that night. All members of the lodge and visiting brothers are cordially invited to turn out next Thursday night to make this event a huge success.

A. LOVERING, ManagerTHE CORT THEATRE, BOSTON

It has been a long time since Boston has received a musical attraction with an equal amount of hearty appreciation as it bestowed on "A Modern Eve," which had its premier at the Cort Theatre on Monday evening of last week. "A Modern Eve" is full of new songs and concerted numbers of the singable, moving kind that are pleasing the people of musical Boston and vicinity in an unusual degree. There are fifteen musical numbers in the new operetta, and the ones that have been accepted with most favor are, "I'm Waiting for You," "When Love Flies Through the Window," "A Quiet Evening at Home," "When the Madame Goes Away," "Is the Girl You Married Still the Girl You Love," and "Good-bye Everbody." The latter is the theme song of the piece, and has made such a great impression that it is safe to say no song of a similar kind has equaled it since the "Merry Widow" waltz.

MADAME EMMA CALVE AT B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

The world's most famous "Carmen," the renowned grand opera singer, Madame Emma Calve, will make her vaudeville debut at B. F. Keith's Theatre the week of April 26th for a positively limited engagement of one week only. Madame Calve is the climax of a great array of headliners booked at this famous playhouse this season. Never before has there been such a galaxy of stars, and Calve is by far the greatest and highest-salaried entertainer ever seen in vaudeville. Madame Calve will be paid the largest weekly salary ever known in vaudeville. She will offer a program of operatic selections, including the famous "Habenera" from "Carmen."

PARENT-TEACHER MEETING

One of the finest, if not the finest, of the meetings of the Manchester Parent-Teacher association was held at the John A. Price school Tuesday evening when J. Franklin Babb of Haverhill addressed the meeting on "The Educated Man" to the delight and profit of his audience. Seldom has the association been able to secure a speaker so eloquent and so original in ideas and expression as Mr. Babb, and the large audience appreciated the address. The first principle of education, Mr. Babb said, is inculcation. With the things learned from books must be honest thought, if a man is to have a true education. If a man's gleanings from his books are not practicable, they are not educating; he is merely an echo, not a thinker. The speaker made it plain that he had no intention of disparaging books, which are an open gate to genius, and through which we gain an appreciation of literature, music, pictures, mathematics, et cetera, and appreciation precedes appropriation.

The second requirement for an education is experience, and the most valuable experience is the unconscious kind. The experience in sorrow and trouble as well as in joy and happiness that is taught in the world tends to inculcate kindness, truth, sobriety, and sincerity, which are necessary to education. The man who plays the game, who pretends to be pleasant when he is ugly; shakes hands with and congratulates a fellow man, when he is, in truth, jealous, is the man who is truly successful. In this world we get what we give. Concerning this, Mr. Babb said in part: "If you right here in Manchester complain that the people in our town are critical, you are yourself a critic; if you cannot trust those about you, you are unworthy of trust; if you find people censorious, you are yourself a fault-finder. When I take a new parish and one of my neighbors comes to call on me with a long face and says, 'Mr. Babb, as one who has an interest in the church and as one of your neighbors, there are a few things I feel it my duty to tell you about the people of your parish,' I always remark to Mrs. Babb, 'Put her name down. She is the one we'll have to watch.'"

In speaking of observation, which Mr. Babb mentioned as the next fundamental in education, the speaker told of an incident in a district school, where he endeavored to bring out the best in the boys by talking to them of the things which he thought they would know, such as the number of calls the red squirrel gives in the woods. To his surprise, they knew nothing about it, so he gave them a month in which to find out about it, assuring them that he would call on them again and ask the same questions. At the end of the time every boy in the school knew all about the red squirrel and its life because they had been observing. Some homes are still disfigured with chromos, said Mr. Babb, when there is no need to live with daubs in these days when a clean print of a masterpiece may be purchased for a few cents. It is better to have bare walls and to observe the pictures God has painted for His people out-of-doors than to have chromos in the home. There is no finer music than that of the brook,—not the first obvious sound of the water falling, but the inside music with its silver touch of melody. There are so many things in the world that we never see nor hear because we do not observe! The main reason for the great advancement which has been made in education is because the teacher of today observes. A man who observes, even if he has not had a technical education, may be an educated man.

The speaker closed his address with a few words about inspiration as an important factor in the life of an educated man. He said briefly, "There is something given to some men, cloistered souls, such as the poet Whittier, who can see the hand of Divinity in a field of wheat or a blade of grass. They walk close to God in a peace and hush which makes men forget their enmity and hate." To give one's heart to the world is education, and education that loves, looks for and sees the pure and the noble in everything, and gives the best.

The music for the evening was supplied by a quartet from the Glee clubs of the Story high school, Misses Helen Cheever and Emily Ferreira, and Harry Baker and Manuel Miguel, who sang very pleasingly "Welcome" and "My Lady Chlo." After the program was brought to a close the company was served with refreshments by the social committee.

To the Business Men of Manchester By the Sea

When a run-down salesman calls on you, do you buy his goods? Aren't you afraid of his line because he looks as if no one ever gave him an order?

Same thing is true of a seedy town. To be prosperous we must look prosperous and show local pride.

Clean streets, nice stores and well-painted buildings pay because they bring business. Paint-hungry buildings are least excusable, for paint made of and pure linseed oil pays its way by protecting buildings against rot and decay.

Let us estimate on your painting job. We have all good painting requisites. Call us up today.

The family has resided in Manchester for many years, having their home on Ashland ave. and a pattern factory on Bennett st., the latter afterwards being remodelled for apartments.

The board of selectmen at their meeting Tuesday evening appointed Austin C. Jones as Town Accountant for a term of three years from May 1, 1915. Common victualler's licenses were granted to Jeffrey S. Reed, 14 Beach st., and to Willis H. Bell, 15 Beach st. The petition of the N. E. T. & T. Co. for over-head wires across Brook st. to the Price school was granted. The board has all its plans and specifications ready for the two miles of highway for which the town voted $30,000 in March, and we understand bids are now being called for. The work is virtually in the hands of the state and will be handled by the state engineers as though it were a state job, which insures the town the very best work, done under high class supervision. A penalty of $50 a day will be imposed on the contractors doing the work,—and a bonus of like amount will be given for everyday the work is completed before July 1.

MANCHESTER BROTHERHOOD

The Manchester Brotherhood held its semi-monthly meeting in the Vestry of the Baptist church, Monday, April 19. Rev. A. A. Forshee of Dorchester gave a very interesting lecture, illustrated by the stereopticon. His subject was "The Philippines." The pictures were exceedingly beautiful and gave one a splendid idea of that country. As Mr. Forshee had spent several years on these islands he proved to be a very interesting lecturer.

The islands are volcanic in nature, said the speaker in his introductory remarks. They were once below the sea level. Coral formation is found on high mountains. All the islands are more or less mountainous. There are also large number of earthquakes and active volcanoes. Because of the rich volcanic soil, warm climate and large per cent. of rainfall the vegetation is very thick.

The non-Christian peoples of the Philippine Islands constitute approximately an eight of the entire population of the islands. Since the United States government has come in possession of these islands a great deal has been done in the way of education and industry.

Owing to the warm climate the people wear very little. They are a lazy light-hearted people. As nature provides them with nearly everything—food and clothing—they acquire this lazy attitude. Their houses are usually built of bamboo and thatched with cocoanut leaves or leaves of other large plants and trees. Hemp is used a great deal for clothing when other fabrics are not obtainable.

This government has done a great deal towards educating the people of that country. Schools have been established and agriculture has taken a remarkable stride, as well as other industries. Rice, corn, sugar-cane and bananas are the principal products. Navigation has also been perfected, and good roads have been built. The islands are self-supporting.

Rev. Mr. Forshee devoted little time to explanation of the government of that country. The people are not fitted to govern themselves and it will require at least another generation before they will be amply fit to resume this responsibility.

From the start the speaker held the close attention of his audience, and all present greatly enjoyed the illustrations which he had shown them. Rev. Mr. Warner operated the stereopticon.

The usual collation was served at the close of the meeting. The attendance was seventy-five—a marked increase over a year ago. On Monday, May 2, Roger W. Babson of Wellesley Hills will be the speaker.

"A PAIR OF SIXES"

It has been some years since such a remarkably successful farce has been seen in Boston as "A Pair of Sixes," which begins its 18th wonderful week at the Wilbur Theatre, Boston, next Monday, April 26th.

"THE LAW OF THE LAND"

"The Law of the Land" has made a tremendous sensation at the Majestic Theatre, and will enter upon its second big week at this house next Monday, April 26th. Everybody seems to agree that George Broadhurst has never sent to Boston such a genuinely vital and human play as this. It is a play once seen will make you wish to see it again. It is full of thrills and tears and laughs. There are tears that end in a laugh, and laughs that end in tears.

The play is said to be a masterpiece in construction, and superbly acted. Certainly not since "The Third Degree" has a play made so profound an impression upon those who are interested in social conditions of today. As in other recent successful plays the piece has a palpitation with every emotion that sweeps its cyclonic way across the stage. As a drama, it is vital and human. It is the stark tragedy of souls that have been stripped of conventions of every-day life, and that stand forth as naked as on the day when man and woman and love were created.

"TONIGHT'S THE NIGHT"

"It's so different," is what they all say of "Tonight's the Night," the big musical comedy success as presented so successfully at the Shubert Theatre, Boston, where the fourth week of its engagement begins next Monday, April 26th. It is so entirely in contrast to the customary American brand of musical comedy that it is positively refreshing.

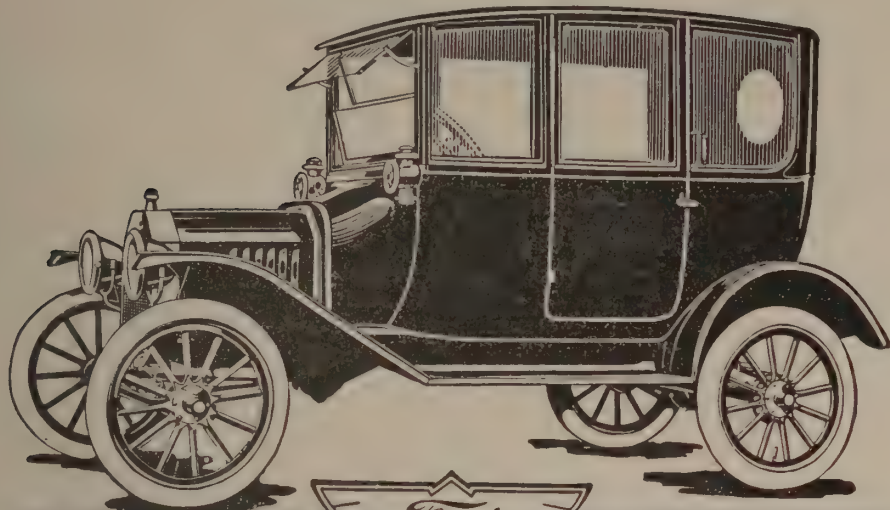

Local theatregoers have never before had an opportunity of seeing the London Gaiety Company in a typical London Gaiety musical comedy without going to the world metropolis for that purpose. Only the depressed theatrical conditions prevailing in London rendered possible its presentation in America by this world-famous company of entertainers.

The daintiness, delicate charm and essential politeness which always characterize Gaiety productions and which has never been successfully reproduced in American presentations of Gaiety pieces, are in evidence in this production.

MAGNOLIA

The last of the series of suppers and dances, with which the Ladies' Aid society has made the winter months so pleasant here, was held at the Women's clubhouse Wednesday evening. After the supper Carey's orchestra furnished the music for the dancing.

Mrs. Wilkinson entertained Misses Viola and Rhoda Dean of Somerville over the week-end and holiday.

Miss Katherine McAuley, formerly of Magnolia, now of Attleboro, was in town over Sunday and Patriot's Day as the guest of her friend, Miss Amy Lycett.

Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Hunt and son, William, were in Lexington over the holiday visiting Mrs. Hunt's sister, Mrs. Frank Cutler.

Misses Elizabeth A. and Jennie Brown, Beatrice and Dorothy Story, Maybelle Sampson, Gertrude West, Abbie May, Etta Harvey of Gloucester, Katherine Winn, also of Gloucester and Helene Sherman of Manchester, comprised a camping trip to Little Neck on Ipswich river over the week-end and holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Wiltbank of New York have been in Magnolia this week. Mr. and Mrs. Wiltbank will have the North Shore Grill again this season.

Miss Louise Friend's final dancing party for the members of her children's dancing class last Friday evening at the Women's clubhouse was an unqualified success, and everyone enjoyed the general dancing which followed. In the exhibition dancing by the pupils, Miss Mildred Commerford and Ernest Lucas led the grand march, which was followed by exhibitions of the two-step, the one-step, the fox trot and the Castle polka, by all the children; by a mask dance, which was started by Miss Marion Scott and Henry Sampson, Miss McEachern and Ernest Lucas, and by the Castle polka, the hesitation Cantata Waltz, and the Opera Waltz by Miss Friend and Miss Leila Maddox of Gloucester. Miss Mildred Commerford presented Miss Friend with a bouquet and a gold thimble as a token of esteem from the members of the class. After the exhibition, general dancing was enjoyed, the music being supplied by Harold Ohn, pianist, of Gloucester.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Ballou had as their guests Miss Florence Andrews of Gloucester for last Friday and Saturday, and Miss Gertrude Smith of Boston for the week-end and holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carol Webber of Gloucester spent Friday and Saturday with Mrs. Webber's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Butler, Magnolia ave.

Mr. and Mrs. George Moulton of Lawrence opened their cottage on Raymond st. Saturday. Mr. Moulton has an automobile business here during the season.

Miss Ethel May spent the week-end at Milford, N. H., where she was the guest of friends.

The American Express company will have an office in Hunt's block on Magnolia avenue this season instead of at the old location on Raymond street.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Upton have returned from the South after a sojourn of several months, and are at present in Boston. Mr. Upton was at Magnolia Thursday to make arrangements for opening his cottage on Fuller street.

Rev. Dr. Walter S. Eaton will occupy the pulpit at the Village church Sunday morning. This service begins at 10.45.

Everyone is looking forward to the People's Forum at the Village church Sunday evening with mingled pleasure and regret: pleasure in the anticipation of the visit of such a reader as James T. Thresher, who will interpret the works of the poet, Dr. William Henry Drummond. Mr. Thresher's poems and stories will be in French-Canadian dialect and will portray vividly the simple, but theatrical character of the peasant. Mr. Thresher is well known as a reader and it is safe to prophecy that he will draw a large attendance and leave a lasting impression upon his audience.

Miss Molly Brown of East Gloucester has been a guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Dunbar, Magnolia avenue, this week.

A pretty young woman stepped into a music store the other day. She tripped up to the counter where a new clerk was assorting music, and in her sweetest tones asked:

FRUIT GROWERS OF MASSACHUSETTS

Are you spraying at the right times? Are you spraying at all? Are you killing the bees which set the fruit for you?

These are important questions. There is no doubt that by spraying in the right way at the right times you can greatly increase your crops and your profits. Are you doing this?

The bud moth begins its work just as the buds begin to open. Spray with arsenate of lead paste, three pounds (or one and one-half pounds powdered arsenate of lead) in fifty gallons of water just before the buds open.

The apple worm (codling moth) attacks the young apples, beginning about the 20th to 25th of June, and most of them start in at the blossom end. After the blossoms fall there is left at the end of the fruit a little cup surrounded by five small, thick green scales, the "calyx lobes." These bend together at the tips, closing up the top of the cup, and this is completed with most kinds of apples about two weeks after the blossoms fall. If poison is put into this cup while it is still open the closing of the top will hold it there till the worm comes to feed, and will then poison it. Therefore, spray with arsenate of lead. As for the bud moth (see above), after the blossoms have fallen but within ten days after, i. e., before the top of the cup is closed. While the blossoms are still on the tree they are so large—other parts also—that they prevent much of the spray from reaching the cup. While the trees are in full blossom too, the bees visit them and set the fruit. If the nectar and pollen they are after there is poisoned by spraying at the wrong time (during blossoming) they are liable to be poisoned and less fruit will be set. Therefore never allow your trees to be sprayed while the large pink or white blossoms are still on them for the job will not be as well done; less fruit will be set, and many bees may be killed.

Spraying just after the blossoms have fallen gives better protection from the apple worm; saves the bees and sets more fruit.

Spray again about the 20th to 25th of June, as the eggs of the apple worm will soon hatch and the little worms feed somewhat on the leaves before going to the fruit. Spraying at this time gets large numbers of the worms before they even reach the fruit.

Mount Vernon

THE HOME OF WASHINGTON.

By J. E. Jones

A pretty little story of visits to Mount Vernon on the Potomac—"impressions and sentiments like yours and mine," explains the author to those who have seen our country's greatest shrine.

Bound in colonial blue and buff, with hand illumined cover design, and colonial ribbon book mark; profusely illustrated with handsome half-tones and pen drawings, it is a dainty and invaluable reminder that will instantly appeal to every person who has been to Mount Vernon, while to those who have not had that good fortune this clever, happy little story of our beloved George and Martha gives a clearer view and understanding of their colonial home, which is today the pride of Virginia and the Nation.

As a souvenir or gift book, for young or old, there is nothing to approach the elegance of this little volume, and it will make one feel more like a patriotic American to possess it.

In pears the top of the cup does not close, so that spraying these can be put off until the apple spraying has been finished.

It is the best policy never to spray any plant while it is in blossom.

Further details in regard to spraying will be found in circular No. 2, "Insecticides, Fungicides and Directions for Their Use." This will be sent to anyone applying for it to the State Board of Agriculture, State House, Boston.

Beverly Farms is to have a bank. Authority has been granted by the state board for the Beverly Trust Co. to open and maintain a branch at Beverly Farms. It is planned that the bank will open about the first week in May. The location is understood to be in the store in Central square owned by the Marshall estate and formerly occupied by James A. Culbert. Well known Beverly Farms business men are on the board of Directors and there is now a feeling of satisfaction in Beverly Farms that the institution is to be opened here as the facilities offered will certainly be appreciated. It is understood that the banking room furniture formerly used by the Salem Safe Deposit and Trust Co., has been secured for the new bank.

Miss Sophia Bennett, Greenwood ave., plans to take a vacation in May and will be one of a party to visit the Panama exposition in California.

The Andrew Standley camp, S. of V., will hold its regular business meeting in G. A. R. hall this evening.

Improvements are under way at the new estate of Dr. Warren, Hale st., formerly owned by Edwin L. Pride and known as the "Dixey Woodbury" property. The house which was near the front of the lot, has been moved back, a new cellar and foundation has been constructed and a driveway has been built.

Jeremiah J. Toomey, Haskell st., and Miss Nellie Neville of Boston and Newton, were married Wednesday in St. Cecelia's church, Boston, in the presence of immediate relatives and friends. After a reception the couple left on a wedding trip to New York and on their return will live in Amesbury.

Nicholas Macone, chauffeur at the F. B. Bemis estate for several years past, moved his family to Concord, Mass., which is Mr. Macone's home town, Wednesday. He has for several years been a part owner in a public garage in that town, and the business has increased so much Mr. Macone decided to devote his whole time to it.

A coming attraction, of decided interest and pleasure to Beverly Farms people, will be the concert to be given by the Men's club of Beverly at the Beverly Farms Baptist church on Thursday evening, May 6. The tickets are 35c. and no Beverly Farms person who loves good music should miss this opportunity.

Preston Post, 188, have engaged the Beverly Farms band for Memorial day.

NAVY RECRUITS COME FROM SMALL TOWNS

According to the Secretary of the Navy the greater portion of recruits in the navy are from the smaller towns in the interior of the country. The seaboard cities do not furnish any considerable number of "jackies" for Uncle Sam. It is the old story wherein "distance lends enchantment," and perhaps if more of the young men from states like Illinois, Iowa, Missouri and Minnesota knew what they were undertaking, the percentage from those localities would drop off, as it has in coastwise places.

REALLY BIG MEN

It is most refreshing to note that really big men, in intellect, do not follow the line drawn by extreme partisans. On several occasions during the past two years President Wilson and ex-President Taft have appeared on the same platform at public gatherings, and social visits have also been enjoyed by them at the White House. The President has also entertained ex-President Roosevelt, although the latter has spent only a few hours in Washington since President Wilson took up his residence at the White House.

Several days ago newspaper men sought the views of President Wilson relative to criticism of the present administration by the two living ex-Presidents, and the President said that he thought the former occupants of the Executive office had a right to criticise the administration if they so desired, and Mr. Wilson added that he might want to do likewise after leaving the presidency. All these things go to show that men with big minds take an altogether different view of life and public questions from those kind of people who carry the idea that they are always right, and that those who hold contrary views, are always wrong.

APPROVE SECRETARY DANIELS

The people as a whole certainly will applaud the attitude of Secretary of the Navy Daniels in his decision that every possible effort must be made to raise the submarine, F-4. While there is not the slightest hope of finding alive any of the victims at this late day, there may be a chance of the bodies being recovered to be claimed by relatives and friends, thus assuaging to some extent the grief of those who were near and dear to the unfortunate men who lost their lives. The administration is also putting forth its best efforts to recover the submarine, and it is hoped that the cause of the tragedy at Honolulu harbor may be discovered and that steps may be taken to avoid a repetition of a similar accident.

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffling, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly.

It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus driving a cold from the system.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB BACKACHE AND LUMBAGO RIGHT OUT

Rub Pain and Stiffness away with a small bottle of old honest
St. Jacobs Oil

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a 25 cent bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right into the pain or ache, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the ache and pain right out of your back and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica and lame back misery so promptly!

It Is Easy to Select a Wedding Gift at Low's

There is such a comfortable feeling in selecting a gift in a Store like ours. We have so many lines and such a variety in each line, that the idea of selection being a "problem" disappears when you enter our door.

If you are looking for a gift in sterling silver our stock is replete with excellent pieces and patterns of table silver. If you wish something in cut glass or china, you will find an elaborate display of rich pieces and assortments. If you wish a clock or some small article in mahogany or an article in nickel or brass, you will find an excellent showing.

The point is, that our Store is a number of specialty shops in one, and if you cannot find a suitable gift in one line you can in another. It is such an easy, pleasant way to shop. And we are always glad to help with appropriate suggestions if you wish us to. Come in, even though you merely wish to "look around".

Out of town customers will find the same helpful selection in our illustrated Year Book, a copy of which will be sent upon request.

What Shall We Do With Our Shady Corners

Bp MARY H. NORTHEED

THOSE shady corners in our garden, which you so much deplore, are the very spots in which to show your individuality. If the whole enclosure lay in wide, unbroken sunshine, there would be some difficult problems in keeping it clear of monotony. Shade and sunshine intermingled are better than sun without shade.

Suppose that the pine grove, which your neighbor has planted to the north and west of his buildings, as a windbreak, cuts off the sunlight from the southeast corner of the spot which you wish to beautify. No turf will grow under the shadows of those pine trees, and you are inclined to be discouraged.

There is, however, an excellent way of overcoming the difficulty. Shrubbery will grow there, if grass will not. Set out a row of our hardy native sumach against those pines, close up to your division line. Try two rows, if one does not fill the space, and intersperse a few shrubs of clethra and shadbush. Inside the sumach, plant hardy perennials and ornamental grasses, with the taller varieties on the inside. This will make a border fully six feet wide, if you allow proper space to each row of plants. Inside that border, the turf will grow beautifully.

The pine grove will thus be transformed into a thing of beauty. The sumach is always suggestive of tropical palms, in its richness of foliage and in the autumn, no shrub changes its colors with an effect more decorative. The shadbush blossoms very early in the spring, and the clethra which has a delightful fragrance, is in flower for fully a month at mid-summer.

If the grove is composed of deciduous trees, there will be no difficulty in making the grass grow under their shadow. A fine plan then is to put up a small summer house in the corner, where it seems to be fitted to its environment. A suitable type is the one rustic in composition, six-sided, and made wholly from cedar poles and branches, even to the covering of the roof, and to the seats and table arranged inside.

Sometimes one corner of the garden is shaded by a tree having very thick foliage, with branches nearly touching the ground. To cut off any of these limbs is to spoil the beauty of the tree. In such a situation, rockwork and ferns are all that you need to complete the effect of beauty. Wild ferns of the taller varieties, such as the cinnamon fern, interrupted fern, and royal fern, will do for filling in the corner. Mosses can be transplanted to the rocks, and in the crevices native rock ferns, such as polypody and aspidium could be set. You will find that native ferns will grow much better than greenhouse varieties, besides living out all winter, and increasing in number. If the corner is damp and springy, bulrushes will thrive, and you could even essay a small lily pond.

If the corner is only moderately shaded, it might be improved by the introduction of a gypsy kettle, set in a frame, either square-topped or arching. A climbing vine, to run up one of the supports of this frame, and across the top, is an improvement. As for the filling of the kettle, the ordinary tuberous-rooted begonia is very satisfactory to cultivate in such positions, for it does much better than in bright sunlight. It seems to prefer the shadow of tall trees, but a thick growth of shrubbery does not suit it as well. It needs air in free circulation.

For the gypsy kettle, could be substituted an Italian oil jar, or a Chinese fruit jar. Such artistic bits of garden furniture can oftentimes be picked up at very reasonable rates. They have beautiful shapes, and are made of material fitted to endure the stress of weather without permitting it to spoil their beauty.

A shady corner that is remote from the house is an excellent stand for a garden seat. This seat may be rustic in character; it may be expensively wrought from carven stone; or it may be made of iron, cement or wood. A very desirable addition to the garden seat, especially for a person who wishes to read or write out of doors, is the large umbrella with its iron stand and table attachment. However well shaded any place upon the lawn may be, there are always sunny spots that catch us if we try to read.

Another good theme to be developed for a shady corner is the flat-topped arbor. It is easy to make, and its appearance is pleasing. Take four poles about six inches thick and at least ten feet long. Drive them into the ground for about three feet, to be sure that they are firm enough to support the top. Fasten on crosspieces. Lattice-work is easily made, and is a pretty finish for both top and sides. A green stain makes it harmonize with the foliage so finely as to be almost imperceptible.

Another very satisfactory arbor of the same general style is made by using iron supports and a covering of woven wire with very large meshes, at least six inches wide, over which vines find it easy to clamber.

The Virginia creeper is one of the most satisfactory vines to grow in a shaded location. Most vines love sunshine, and it is not easy to find a climbing plant which will grow with any degree of luxuriance, when sunlight is lacking.

Sometimes a shady corner will occur among trellised vines, set upon each side of a regular walk. In the shadowy place, it is well to break the monotony of the walk by means of a cement vase, which has much of the beauty of stone. Italian marble soon loses its beauty, under our colder skies. This was the fit setting for the leaden statues of old English gardens, which only turned a more soft and lovely gray by exposure to the weather. Our best substitute seems to be found in the cement vase.

It may take the form of a shallow tank for gold-fishes, with its base set about by the sword-like leaves of semi-aquatic plants. The tank can be fitted up in fountain fashion, with separate pipes for supply and overflow; or it can simply be filled up nights and mornings, by means of the garden hose, the waters kept sweet by overflowing twice daily.

Water in a garden is particularly appropriate. If possible, let one shady corner be devoted to a wall fountain, which is easily arranged and invariably beautiful.

Another ornament which may be used is the sun-dial. It may not measure the hours, as it would be glad to do in a sunnier situation, but the motive is appropriate for any location in any garden. A stone base looks well, but is not imperative. The dial can be bought for a nominal sum, and set securely upon a tree stump, if a shade tree in a good situation has to be cut down. It is only necessary that the top should be planed off perfectly level, and treated to a stain or filler, to make a proper finish. Then, if the points of the compass are properly observed, no mistake is possible.

If the shade is deep, the sun-dial can sit in the center of a grass-plot, with walks all about it; but most shadow is not so deep as to require this, and a circular bed of flowers might enclose it, preferably of begonias edged with lobelia, or of sweet alyssum and mignonette.

On the shady side of a garden, it is sometimes well to lay a brick walk, and thus utilize as a passage-way the portion which is most difficult to beautify. Between the walk and the boundary wall, roots of perennials will make a good border. It is a sheltered place for early bulbs in the spring. Crimson rambler roses, which are strong and hardy growers in any location, can be trained upon trellises.

The effect of this walk is much enhanced by an opening in the fence directly in front of the walk. This opening can be emphasized by a wicket gate, or by an arch above, hung with climbing roses and the winsome wistaria. A Japanese lantern, hung beneath this arch, is still another happy thought.

A brick walk in a garden, especially if set with borders of some height, presents the familiar theme of the vista, and as such should have a definite object, whether the desired end may be an arbor, a sun-dial, a fountain, a vase, a lily pond, a garden seat, or an arched gateway.

Now, as to the treatment of a single beautiful specimen of tree, which may stand separate, in the space allotted to your flowers,—it is more beautiful than any arrangement of posy-beds, so let us not begrudge it the proper space which it requires. As flowers will not thrive in its shadow, let the beds stop just short of the rain-drops falling from its boughs. Let a circular gravel walk surround it, with green grass only at its base.

By building a rustic stairway from the ground to the lower branches, such a tree may be transformed into an airy lookout for a summer day. A strong platform, or even a small and well-formed summer-house, can be fitted in among the branches without driving into the tree any iron nails or spikes.

If trees stand near the north side of a house, it is often difficult to make grass grow between the house and trees. For such a situation, the ideal vegetation is the fern, massed in clusters, as it is accustomed to grow in its native habitat. The native varieties already mentioned are the best for this purpose, as the maiden-hair, while extremely beautiful in its wild state, will seldom bear transplanting to a lawn. Many other kinds require sunshine to bring them to their best estate, as will be shown by the fact that they are found in hillside pastures.

An improvement upon the planting of ferns alone is made by interspersing them with specimens of our native wild aster and meadow-rue. The latter plant is hardy, and bears transplanting well. Its foliage is similar to that of the maiden-hair fern, and is but little less beautiful, while its delicate white flowers, produced early in the season, have a delightful fragrance and a tasselled appearance.

The native asters can easily be procured in a half-dozen different varieties, ranging from the small white frost-flowers to the tall and showy New England Aster, with its mass of royal purple blossoms. All the asters have a delicate foliage which remains inconspicuous during the summer months. They come into blossom just as the ferns are beginning to fade, at the first hint of frost in the air, and their period of inflorescence in a sheltered situation often continues for six weeks, before it is checked by the severity of the weather. Each different variety blooms at a little different time from the others, and the effect is highly satisfactory.

If you are so fortunate as to have a bit of woodland, or even a small grove, on your estate, do not be content until you have experimented with our native rhododendrons and mountain laurel. If the plants are carefully dug from a dry place in the open, they are almost sure to thrive. They need no protection in winter, unless it may be from the January sun; and for such a purpose the only requirement is an evergreen shelter, a mere screen of hemlock boughs, through which the wind is free to penetrate.

THE next week will bring a big influx of summer cottagers to all parts of the North Shore, more especially along the section comprising, Beverly, Pride's Crossing, Beverly Farms, Manchester and Magnolia. Such a noteworthy increase in the early-season arrivals bespeaks the busy season that has been expected all winter. Everywhere is there evidence of a long and active season along the North Shore.

Mrs. Chas. H. Tweed is at her Beverly Farms cottage for a short stay, recuperating after an illness at her New York home.

Mrs. John A. Burnham and daughters are closing their Boston residence at 5 Commonwealth ave., next Wednesday and will move down to their country estate at Wenham Lake.

The Augustus Hemenways of 273 Clarendon st., Boston, are to again become permanent summer residents of Manchester, it is understood. They summered here last year, but for four or five years previous they had gone elsewhere. The stone house on the Hemenway estate—stone, because the lower portion of it is built of that material—has undergone a thorough overhauling the past winter, the interior being practically rebuilt, and some additions have been built. This is the house the family will occupy. In the family besides Mr. and Mrs. Hemenway are two daughters, Misses Hetty and Mary, and two sons, Augustus, Jr., Harvard '05, and Lawrence, now in Harvard. An older daughter, Miss Charlotte Hemenway was married on July 2 of last year, at Hyde Park, to Dr. Geo. P. Denny of Brookline. Mr. Hemenway is a nephew of Mrs. Chas. P. Hemenway, who died last fall, and is a cousin of Mrs. Geo. E. Cabot, Mrs. C. W. Taintor and Miss Hemenway, who live on the same extensive estate, bordering on Singing Beach.

AMONG newcomers to the North Shore this year will be Mr. and Mrs. John Harvey Wright of Boston, who were in Europe last summer. They are to have Mrs. H. R. Dalton's cottage at Beverly Farms. Also, Mr. and Mrs. Conover Fitch (Gladys Bogert) of Chestnut Hill, who are to occupy the Churchman cottage, Proctor st., Manchester, the middle of May. Both rentals were made through the office of T. Dennie, Reginald and R. deB. Boardman of the Ames Bldg., Boston, and Manchester.

Herbert M. Sears and daughter of Boston are to open their summer home at Pride's Crossing the middle of next week. Other arrivals expected next week are the W. J. Mitchells, F. M. Whitehouses and W. D. Denegres, all of the Manchester colony.

"Lilliothea," the attractive summer home of George R. White and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. Bradbury of 285 Commonwealth ave., Boston, has been opened for a long season as usual. The estate, on the highest part of Smith's Point, Manchester, overlooks the entire coast for miles around. Considerable work has been in progress on the property all winter, in line of changing the landscape and beautifying the surroundings. This is the most beautiful of the many fine estates at Manchester and will vie with any on the entire North Shore for its many charming features.

T. Dennie Boardman and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Goodrich have arrived at "Chubbs," their West Manchester summer estate, for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Cabot are at their cottage in Manchester for a few days' rest after the tiresome period of the Cabot will trial. The Cabot cottage has been open all winter for week-ends, but the family will not settle permanently until the children leave school the end of May.

THE wedding at Beverly Cove on the 24th of June of Miss Hope Norman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Norman, and Elliot C. Bacon, son of former Secretary of State Robert Bacon, will be the crowning social function of the Harvard Commencement week festivities.

Oliver Ames and family of Boston, are to spend the spring at their estate at North Easton as usual, but they will come to Pride's Crossing a little earlier than usual for the Bacon-Norman wedding the 24th of June.

Col. and Mrs. Cranmore N. Wallace have closed their house on Commonwealth ave., Boston, and have opened their summer home on the Neptune boulevard at Beverly Cove, for a long season as usual.

Henry Clay Frick spent the week-end at his summer home, "Eagle Rock," Pride's Crossing, and left Sunday evening for New York. During the winter months a number of improvements have been made about his summer home and some changes are now being made to the mansion. Miss Helen Frick came on for the week-end with Mr. Frick, making the trip in their private car, the Westmoreland.

The engagement has been announced of Miss Dorothy Morgan, daughter of George M. Morgan, Boston, to Paul Graham Courtney, a senior at Harvard, son of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Courtney of Marlboro st., Boston. Miss Morgan is an only daughter. Her brother, Laurence W. Morgan was married last January to Miss Esther Turner of Brookline. They are now living at Beverly Farms.

Thomas Silsbee of 115 Marlboro st., Boston, has arrived at his summer home on Prince st., Beverly Cove, for the summer.

Ralph Henry Barbour, the writer, and Mrs. Barbour, who have been spending the winter in Cambridge, plan to open their summer home at Manchester—"Journey's End"—about the first of June.

Dr. John Andrew Brown is to spend the month of May at his large cottage at Old Neck, Manchester, moving down from Boston tomorrow.

The Andrew Carnegie, 2ds, plan to open their summer home at Manchester the coming week after a winter at Fernandina, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Merriam expect to open their summer home at West Manchester next week.

Mrs. Lucy Laughlin, a sister of Mrs. Wm. H. Taft, was married Monday in Washington to Senator Henry F. Lippitt of Rhode Island. The ceremony took place at Mrs. Laughlin's home at 1622 N st., Northwest, at 1 o'clock and was performed by Rev. Roland Cotton Smith, pastor of St. John's Episcopal church. Immediately after the vows were taken the bride and groom left for the Senator's farm in Rhode Island. The marriage of Senator Lippitt and Mrs. Laughlin was witnessed only by the members of their immediate families. It was such a quiet affair that the local afternoon newspapers never knew of it and the couple was on their way to Rhode Island when the news leaked out. Mrs. Laughlin was the widow of Thomas K. Laughlin, a millionaire iron manufacturer, who killed himself in Pittsburgh several years ago. She has lived in Washington two years and Senator Lippitt has paid her special attention for more than a year. Senator Lippitt was elected to succeed Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, Jan. 18, 1911. His term will expire March 3, 1917. He first married Mary Louise Bowen, who died four years ago. Mrs. Lippitt was christened in the White House on the silver wedding anniversary of President and Mrs. Hayes. Her father had been the law partner of the President and she was named for Mrs. Hayes. During the Taft Administration, she frequently visited the White House and often presided at official functions for her sister, both in Washington and on the North Shore. Miss Helen Taft represented the ex-President's family at the wedding. Mrs. Lippitt has spent the last five summers on the North Shore. Last year she had the Simpkins cottage at Beverly Farms, which place she leased several weeks ago for this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Richardson (Catherine E. Weld) of 9 Bay State Road, Boston, are opening their cottage at Magnolia—"Woodside"—on the 11th of May.

Mrs. Robert C. Winthrop plans to open her residence on Jersey lane, West Manchester, the 13th of May. Miss Clara Winthrop is still doing hospital work across the water.

Miss E. D. Boardman of Boston is among the week's arrivals on the North Shore. She is at her residence at West Manchester for the season.

The Nathan L. Amsters are not to come to Manchester this summer, it is understood, but may go to Jackson, N. H. They have occupied the Black house, off Sea street for three years.

ALTHOUGH the plot of "S. S. Romantic," the Vincent Club's annual show, which was given its first performance Monday afternoon at the Cort Theatre, Boston, has none of the thrill of a French play, it serves as an excellent peg upon which to hang a great variety of novel and clever "stunts" that, for number and originality, make this year's production the best that the club has ever presented publicly. As a finished performance it would not be fair to say that this show surpasses those of other years, but for the amount of entertaining vaudeville which it contains, it is certainly a "top notch-er." That the handsomest boys are girls was shown in every act of "S. S. Romantic." In their natty sailor suits and gold-trimmed uniforms of ship's officers, those who took the male parts were stunning. From the "hip hooray" of the opening chorus to the last line of the play, Vincent club girls made it evident that even in matters peculiarly pertinent to the male sex, men are confronting an up-hill climb to hold their own against women. The first act represented the "S. S. Romantic" just leaving Naples for America. The scene showed the deck of a trans-Atlantic liner and the life of the first cabin passengers who, seeking diversion, invite some of the immigrant passengers to the deck to contribute to their amusement. A bit of romance enlivens the voyage, for in the most unexpected manner Miss Anastasia Waldorf Vandermeier, an heiress, impersonated by Mrs. John R. Chapin, encounters her former lover Walter Sandford, enacted by Mrs. John E. Thayer, Jr., after the ship has left Naples, and the two renew their old love affair. To add to the interest of the romance, Comte Louis Pierre d'Agincourt, represented by Mrs. George von L. Meyer, Jr., who is in search of the heiress, whom he wishes to marry, mistakes Miss Elsie Vandermeer, characterized by Miss Anne Means, for Miss Vandermeier, and from this error there ensues an embarrassing situation which is finally adjusted by the captain, a part taken by Miss Margaret Thomas, who is assisted by Johnson, the deck steward, impersonated by Mrs. William E. Russell. Miss Jane Crockett, an aunt of Miss Vandermeier, represented by Mrs. F. Abbott Goodhue, causes a good deal of amusement by her devotion to Chiffon, a tiny white poodle, who is known in real life as Paton Peters. Miss Olivia Ames and Miss Natalie Thayer, dressed as a girl and a boy, and looking every inch their parts, were cast as foils to Aunt Jane whose lover was Col. Sandford, father of Walter Sanford, a part taken by Miss Janet Elliott. The vaudeville turns in this act comprised a song, "She Was Meant for Me," by Mrs. George von L. Meyer, Jr., an octet; a song "Ho, Heave Ho!" by Mrs. Williams E. Russell, assisted by sailors and stewards; a hornpipe dance by the Misses Winsor, Thorndike, Prescott.

Sheafe and Weld; steerage melodies by a group of Italian immigrants, comprising Mrs. A. Robeson Sargent, who was stunning as Giuseppi; Miss Mary Vaughan, who played the guitar, and Miss Dorothy Howard; a song, "Reminiscences," by Mrs. John E. Thayer, Jr.; a skating dance by Miss Dorothy Jordan, wearing a costume of 50 years ago, which was both graceful and humorous, and a Jack Tar drill by a group of 12 girls which was, perhaps, the principal feature of the show. A special feature of this number was a flag drill which was wonderfully executed by Miss Sylvia Warren, with the aid of two large British silk flags. The second act, which was laid in Algiers, was beautifully staged and the scenery and the costumes combined to make an exquisite picture. The numbers included a Turkish Janisary dance by the Misses Harding, Dixon, Pickering, Parkman, Read and Mrs. Knowles; a tourist song by Mrs. Russell and Miss Parkman, assisted by the octet; a camel dance by the Misses Howard, Thorndike, Brooks, Parker and Stedman, which was a very clever performance; cafe girl dance by the Misses Eliot, Bullard, Prescott and Wheeler; song "A Fortunate Discovery," by Mrs. Meyer and Miss Means; and Arabian dance by the Misses Hoar and Cabot and Mrs. Lothrop; jugglers by the Misses Mason, Winslow and Baylies, which displayed some very entertaining necromancy; a song, "Crystal-Gazing," by Miss Miriam Sears, who wore a superb costume with glittering jewels; and several choruses. The third act was depicted on board the ship. It was enlivened with songs by Mrs. John R. Chapin, a dancing lesson by Mrs. Henry P. McKean, Jr., and Mrs. Goodhue, assisted by the octet and passengers; songs by Miss Mary Fay, who impersonated Lena Cantalieri, a grand opera singer; a dance by Miss Dorothy Jordan, who performed a Petrograd ballet with such skill that she was repeatedly encored, and the ship's band, a humorous imitation of an orchestra, which was led by Miss Elizabeth S. Porter. Other parts included Juella Tiffany, Miss Elizabeth DeFord; Americana Hearst, Miss Caroline Fessenden; Electra Edison, Miss Mary Hunnewell; Carina Ford, Miss Rosamond Eliot; Dolly Ingersoll, Miss Martha Thorndike; Kodacia Eastman, Miss Eleanor Fabyan; Phonita Bell, Miss Frances Webster; Sewson Singer, Miss E. Hope Bancroft; Cafe Proprietor, Miss Marion Frazer; Cook Guide, Miss Edith Parkman; Jugglers, Miss Sarah Winslow, Miss Miriam Mason and Miss Charlotte Baylies; Dancing Master, Mrs. Henry McKean. "S. S. Romantic" was written by Miss Barbara Burr and Miss Alice Thorndike. The music was adapted by Miss Katherine Dorr and Miss Miriam Sears. The dances were taught by Mrs. Lilla Viles Wyman and the drill by Miss Isabel Florence.

Frank S. Chick, vice-president and general manager of the John H. Pray & Sons Company, of Boston, and one of the leading summer residents at Magnolia, died Sunday after a brief illness. With Mrs. Chick, he was spending a few days at the home of Harry E. Converse at Marion, before starting on a trip to Hot Springs. He had contracted a severe cold and early Wednesday morning complications set in which caused his death. He was born 59 years ago in a part of Groton that is now in the town of Ayer. In April, 1885, he married Miss Frances Williams of Jamaica Plain, who survives him. For the last 25 years they have lived at the Hotel Vendome. He was a member of the Algonquin, Temple, Brookline Country and Press clubs and the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Chick has been coming to Magnolia for a number of seasons and occupied a cottage on Norman avenue. The house was being put in shape for occupancy by Mr. and Mrs. Chick, who had planned to arrive Wednesday for the season. Mr. Chick was the prime mover in the North Shore Swimming Pool at Magnolia, and took an active hand in its management since its organization three years ago; he was also one of the leaders in the Kettle Cove Golf club.

The committee on rats and flies for Clean-Up Campaign announces that for the benefit of the public a bureau of information will be open at 304 Boylston street, Boston, from Saturday, May 1st, through Saturday, May 8th. Literature, fly slappers and samples of exterminators will be given away. All interested are asked to call. The honorary committee consists of T. James Bowlker, Arthur Perrin, Edward H. Forbush, John Farquar, Frank C. Hall, Dr. Harold C. Ernst, Dr. Robert M. Lovett, Dr. Samuel J. Mixter, Dr. F. Z. Mahoney, Dr. Theobald Smith, Dr. Harold Williams and Dr. J. Homer Wright. The active committee: Mrs. F. R. Allen, Mrs. Percy Bolster, Mrs. H. G. O. Colby, Mrs. R. M. Lovett, Mrs. Gordon Prince, Mrs. J. M. Swift, Mrs. W. W. Vaughan, Miss Wunderbaldinger and Mrs. Robert S. Bradley, chairman. Be it understood that this committee, acting in this campaign with the consent of the Women's Municipal League, follows the example set by the government, by the state and by the Boston Board of Health in not advocating the use of any one method of extermination, but feels most grateful to all who are giving their time and help toward conditions for a cleaner city which will mean fewer rats and fewer flies and be of benefit not only from the view-point of public health but also from that of public economy.

MR. BUSINESS MAN?

THE MAIN OBJECT

OF the NORTH SHORE BREEZE is the dissemination of reliable and timely information that most materially concerns the strictly self-respecting class of permanent North Shore readers and many others who have property or kindred interests in this section, but reside elsewhere during six or seven months of the year.

The worthiness and topical importance of its news service and relative editorial comments, is accompanied by a consistent representation of advertisements and reading notices.

The North Shore Breeze feels honored and proud to be welcomed into the homes of hundreds of the richest and best known people of the country,—not only in the summer, but every week in the year. The paper will be eleven years old next month, and its growth in this eleven years has been consistent and healthy.

W. H. Larned & Sons, the well-known dealers in Butter, Cheese and Eggs, of Faneuil Hall Market, Boston, are looking for retail as well as wholesale trade along the North Shore this summer, and they think they can best acquaint North Shore people with that fact by taking a quarter page space in the Breeze for the next six months.

DOES THIS SUGGEST ANYTHING TO YOU, MR. BUSINESS MAN?

The engagement of Miss Ruth Gaston to John Kenneth Howard is of interest to North Shore people inasmuch as the Howards summer at West Manchester. Miss Gaston is the elder daughter of Mr. and Mr. Wm. A. Gaston of Boston. Mr. Howard is the son of Mrs. Wm. H. Howard of Boston and San Mateo, California. The wedding will be on the afternoon of the 26th of June, at Trinity church, Boston.

Mrs. Clarence Moore expects to occupy her country place near Kensington, Md., for a few weeks after closing her house in Washington. The greater part of the late summer, however, Mrs. Moore will spend with her mother, Mrs. E. C. Swift, at Swiftmoor, Pride's Crossing, where a number of house parties of their mutual friends, including many from Washington, are already being arranged to extend through the warm season.

"The residents along the shore are waiting with much expectation for the coming spring edition of the 'North Shore Breeze.' It is understood that the publication, which embodies the 'Reminder,' will have much in it of interest to Swampscott people and many attractive photographs will be found among its pages, illustrating Swampscott and its real value as a summer resort. The 'North Shore Breeze-Reminder' is more popular in Swampscott perhaps because of the fact that Mr. Grabow, of the New Ocean house at one time published the paper."—Swampscott column in Lynn Evening News.

The right to think, to know, and to utter is the dearest of all liberties. Without this right, there can be no liberty to any people; with it there can be no slavery.—Wendell Phillips.

REALTY VALUES EXCEL

It is quite generally understood and frequently admitted by the well informed, that there is less land suitable for house lots and fewer estates for sale on the North Shore than in any other locality bordering upon the North Atlantic seaboard. The decrease in the number of realty transfers from year to year has been apparent, and the advance in prices has been marked, invincible, and unyielding to kindred influences. Depressions in stocks, bonds and other securities seem to have no more effect on North Shore land values than does the meteorological elements have upon the rock of ages. It is therefore logically safe to predict that the time is not far distant when it will be practically impossible to purchase a North Shore estate at any price. The sale of even small properties is now announced with such infrequency that when one does occur, it is the principal topic of conversation among realty men for indefinite periods, and the fact and details of the sale are recorded by historical societies, not omitting a biographical sketch of the purchaser and his or her family. However true this may be there will be at least one more "for sale" announcement published in the next Friday's issue of the Breeze. It is at Pride's, and comprises seven and a half acres of land and an eighteen-room house. To describe this estate as beautiful might seem verbose, as every piece of property on the North Shore is already known to be magnificent.

EDITORIAL

BEVERLY FARMS is now to have a Bank of its own. For many years the summer residents and merchants and permanent residents have been handicapped by the poor banking facilities which have been offered that growing community. Now the Beverly Trust Company has been granted permission by the state authorities to open a branch at Beverly Farms. The success which has attended the venture made four years ago in Manchester demonstrated beyond a question the profitableness and desirability of a bank in that town. The same conditions that assured success in Manchester will make the Beverly Farms branch of the Beverly Trust Company a success. The state authorities have acted wisely and justly and as the years go by it will be demonstrated beyond all doubts that it was a need. The merchants will be relieved of many petty annoyances in cashing checks and summer residents will be able to obtain banking accommodations nearby, a convenience which the Manchester summer residents have appreciated and which the summer residents of Beverly Farms and Pride's will be quick to appreciate also. Two departments are planned in connection with the company, one for savings accounts and one for checkable accounts. Both departments will render a service to the Pride's and Beverly Farms district of the North Shore which has long been needed.

JUST BECAUSE one Congressman has sand and life enough to take a vital interest in the military preparedness of our country is no reason why one should fear that the spirit of militarism will throttle the American people. The best sort of peace doctrine is that being preached by Congressman Gardner. No one wishes this nation to become a military machine, but such a world-power as this nation is should at least be prepared to maintain its honor and provide against rash and ill-timed attacks by belligerent nations. A well prepared nation is a good insurance for peace. The peace doctrines are valuable if they do not jeopardize the very ends which they seek.

EVERYONE ASKS when shall they plant their garden. The calendar is not a sure guide; but nature is. The old signs of nature students rarely go amiss. When the silver maple's leaf and the willows bud it is time to plant hardy greens, as lettuce, onion sets, radishes, spinach, early peas, Irish potatoes, and turnips; and when the dogwood and white ash show signs of spring life it is time to plant bush and pole beans, sweet corn, muskmelons and the various kinds of squash.

MR. THEODORE ROOSEVELT is back upon the front page of the newspaper, and in the war days, too! There is no denying that T. R. is very much alive and is a force still to be reckoned with in American politics.

UPWARD THE STOCK MARKET moves. Another sign of returned business confidence.

ALL ROADS now lead to the country.

THE SEASON HAS PROGRESSED rapidly during the week. In the spring light and under the spring sun even the evergreens are putting on a new appearance. The warm weather has started the new growth and every twig and branch is tipped with a lighter green growth that gives the forest a novel spring appearance, especially in the light of early morning or in the twilight hour at evening. The gardener finds the shrubs in good form for a season's growth. The swamp maple is red with new life, soon to be transformed into green. The bush honeysuckles seem to be the most forward of the shrubs, although the lilac is pushing out and getting ready to throw its early clusters of flowers. The forsythia that has been showing occasional blossoms before the leaves opened, are now entering their glory and another week may end their golden reign as queen of the early flowering shrubs. In the master's garden the gardener now walks by sight; the hour has arrived and into their furrowed graves the seeds are being buried and the sower is guarding against the birds of the air with such arrangements as his imagination can devise. The grass has grown green and nature is beginning to tell the days of warmer weather. The warm days of the earlier part of the week worked wonders on the wooded slopes and on lawns and shrubbery. Nature has turned her back upon the cold winds of the north and turns smilingly toward the south, and all the world is glad.

COLONEL SOHIER is continuing his good work for our highways. On Wednesday evening he gave an interesting and instructive address on the State Highway work. The public little appreciates the time, thought and energy that has been put into our highway problem. One has only to motor west and north beyond the borders of our state to appreciate what Massachusetts has accomplished in roadbed improvements. Colonel Sohier has been in the lead in this good work in Massachusetts and his influence has been felt all over New England.

IT IS NOW HOPED that a virus has been discovered that will check typhoid. Dr. Harry Plotz is being hailed as "Typhus Conquerer." Typhoid has been a bitter enemy to subdue and the studies of the Rockefeller institute are now maturing. Much faith is placed in the new antitoxin and if the hopes mature, what a blessing Dr. Plotz will confer upon the human race.

THE NORTH SHORE is looking forward to warm weather, but Tuesday's visitation would have been more welcome if it were only more seasonable and temperate.

THE AGITATION for a State University still continues to grow despite the disadvantages of such a waste of good money in duplicating educational plants. Dreamers are keeping up the agitation! What Massachusetts needs is not a new State University, but the development of some plan whereby the advantages of institutions now successfully operating may be open to all the youths of the state. President MacLaurin of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology has come out with a statement opposing a state university. His reasoning is clear and irrefutable. After all the arguments for a State University are analyzed, the only one that has any weight is the probable economy that will be afforded the student seeking an education. President MacLaurin rightly says, "the obvious thing to do is to provide scholarship for those who cannot afford to pay the tuition fees, the amount and extent of these scholarships being fixed by considerations of public policy." It is time that this agitation for a State University ended and a movement for state scholarships available for worthy but indigent students begun.

THE SOUTH SHORE has been looking to the North Shore for evidences of the advisability and practicability of reforestation and moth prevention, and following the example the South Shore residents have begun to reclaim forest lands by cooperating with the state reforesting commission. Imitation is the sincerest form of flattery. The North Shore was forced to do preventive and reforestation work to preserve its woodlands. The South Shore is learning a valuable lesson and more of such work should be done in the near future.

THERE IS NO DOUBT in the minds of most people that a certain film that has been exposed in Boston contained features that were objectionable from many points of view. It would be interesting, however, to learn who the advertising agents who was clever enough to carry his scheme to completion. By the time the film has been suppressed or expurgated the "movie" will have made an unusual "run" and netted a pretty penny for those concerned.

THERE IS MORE THAN ONE person who is grateful that Mrs. James W. Cauger had a red table cloth to wave in time to stop the Newton circuit train from plunging into a wreckage of poles and fallen trees. Her heroic action is a striking repetition of the interesting episode that every school child reads in one of the early school readers.

IT DOESN'T MATTER much who started the first Sunday School in the City of Boston. The important consideration is that they have been successfully maintained and the idea was colossal and has been executed. The influence of Sunday Schools has been inestimable.

WHAT IS FOSS up to now?

CLEAN-UP and paint-up.

THE FOREST WARDEN has been busy these days of drought and the warnings which come from his office should be heeded. The last two months have been exceedingly dry and the rainfall has been unusually low. Rain is needed for vegetation, but its preventive value is particularly appreciated now. Forest workmen and cleaning squads must be careful about forest fires as all the woodland and forest floors are dry as tinder and small fires will endanger miles of standing timber. Obey the fire laws! There are reasons back of the law that should be appreciated by every growing boy and every householder.

THE FILM still runs. Opposition means dollars to the management.

KONA MIN

I sat on the brink of the *Oxera
And beside me Kona Min;
The river roared and the rocky gja
Reechoed with the din.
On a summer's night,
In a bright sunlight,
We scanned the rifted floor,
The Mount of Law,
We beheld with awe,
As we talked of the deeds of yore.

The plover piped by the rolling tide
And foamingly flowed the linn;
I gently drew to my beating side
The form of sweet Kona Min.
In the days of old,
A wanderer bold,
Breathed love to a blue eyed maid,
On this self same spot,
By the Troll-wife's grot,
Where the cairn gives friendly shade.

In his Viking craft he had cut the crest
To the strand of the ancient Nile,
He had won his fight and filled his chest
With the spoil of a Grecian isle.
From the land of spice,
To the realm of ice,
He had fled with his warrior band;
In the Gothi's Hall,
Midst lord and thrall,
He had claimed the maiden's hand.

Long past is the day of this Viking bold,
And his Hall is lost in dust;
But the plover pipes as he piped of old,
And love has the self same trust.
So I held her hand,
By a golden band,—
That tender hand and slim,—
And vowed through life,
To love my wife,—
For the girl was Kona Min.

MANCHESTER

WITH THE BOARD OF SELECTMEN

The contract has been awarded for rebuilding about two miles of Manchester's main highway, beginning where a half-mile built last year was left off—at Coolidge's Point, and extending toward the center of the town, to or beyond Lincoln st. (corner of Summer.) R. F. Hudson of Melrose was the successful bidder, his figures being $22,229.31. The other bidders were A. G. Tomasello, Boston, $23,687.60, using local stone, $25,072.60, using trap rock; J. F. Coleman, Boston, $25,410.25 (local stone), $27,141.50 (trap rock); Rowe Contracting Co., Boston, $26,371.50 (using either); F. E. Ellis, Melrose, $28,934.95 (trap rock only). The following were invited to bid, but did not do so: D. Linehan & Son, Pride's Crossing; M. McDonough Co., Swampscott; Lane Construction Co., Meriden, Ct.; Adams, Ruxton Co., Springfield; Walter Cressy, Gloucester; and Connelly Bros., Beverly Farms.

The bids were called for by the selectmen through the Mass. Highway commission and were opened at the office of the commission in Boston, Wednesday at 1 o'clock. The contract was awarded yesterday morning. Work will be started at once, with gangs working on either end, probably, and with three or four steam rollers and all the modern road building equipment. The time limit is set at July 1.

While the contract figure calls for only $22,229.31, of the $30,000.00, most of the amount will be used up with the original 2 miles called for in the bid. The town furnishes the asphalt and that will cost $4,200. And the inspection and survey work must be met outside these figures, too. One of the biggest items of expense in the bidder's figures is for drainage. A thorough job is to be done, and all the work will be under the supervision of the state, acting for the selectmen.

At their meeting Tuesday evening the board of selectmen re-appointed Wm. Henry Sullivan chief-of-police for a year, at a salary of $1400—an increase of $100 over last year. Loring N. Cook was appointed special police officer, at the same salary per day as last year. The following special police were appointed (without pay): Robert Milne, for duty at the Catholic Church property; Lawrence J. McCarthy, for duty on the Brook st. playground.

Benjamin M. Crombie was re-appointed Supt. of Streets at a salary of $1200, and $200 for transportation expenses.

The contract to install sewerage connections at the Memorial Library building was awarded to Alex H. Sjolund, whose bid was $129. R. Robertson Co. was the only other bidder, $157.

James Hoare, Clarence W. Morgan and Thomas Baker were re-appointed fire engineers for one year.

A bowling alley license was granted to Chas. E. Bell.

IRON CAP LITTLE INCONVENIENCED BY WAR SLUMP

From the Arizona Record of recent date we reprint the following: "Iron Cap came through the war slump in the price of copper with very little inconvenience, the mine being dry no expense or loss occurred during the shut down of November and December. From January to March general repairs to the plant were made and the shaft was retimbered for 200 feet and concreted at the top.

"From August, 1915, to November, when operations ceased, several hundred tons of ore were hoisted to the surface and stored. The increase in the price of copper will make that ore show a handsome profit.

"Present operations are confined to the 800 level stope. This stope is about 500 feet long and is producing a very good grade of ore. Seven cars have been shipped to the smelter recently.

"President F. P. Knight is expected to arrive from Boston soon when plans for more extensive operation will be considered."

HIGH SCHOOL PLAY

One of the most cleverly adapted amateur performances ever given under the auspices of the Story High School, Manchester, was that at the Town hall last Friday evening, when a number of the students gave "Sally Lunn" to a large and appreciative audience. William Angus, as Leo Randolph, was the star of the evening and his really remarkable performance gained vigorous applause. Miss Esther Northrup, as Mrs. John Randolph, "Sally," scored a hit with her clever lines and good acting. Her stammering was very realistic. Miss Gladys Hildreth, who took the part of Mrs. Penelope Winslow, was very funny and the absence of any elocutionary effort made her lines even more effective. Miss Pauline Semons made a most attractive Marjorie Randolph and immediately gained the approbation of the audience. Miss Emily Ferreira had a good part in the society girl, Vivian Winslow, and did justice to it; her costume was quite effective and her portrayal of the character, good. The two remaining parts, John Randolph, Jr., a Junior at Yale, and his college chum, Morton Glynn, were taken by Harry Baker and William Walsh, both doing excellent work. The high school glee clubs and the Orpheus club added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening by their musical program, which was as follows:

March, "Greeting to Bangor" (Hall), Orchestra; Lullaby (Dvorak) Girls' Glee club; Opera Selection, "Maritana (Wallace) and "Berlin Echoes" (Lincke), Orchestra; "Greeting to Spring" (Strauss), Glee Clubs; March, Orchestra. Home-made candy was on sale during the intermission between the acts of the farce, which added materially to the substantial sum realized for the the school needs.

ADJOURNED MEETING

Manchester's adjourned Town Meeting was held Monday evening and the business of the annual meeting was finished up.

Art. 16. $850 was appropriated to purchase 1000 feet of hose for the fire department.

Art. 59. New town hall. Passed over.

Art. 64. Reimbursements from County of Essex in connection with Pine street construction, not credited to Pine st. account.

Art. 65. Voted that all taxes must be paid by Nov. 1, 1915, also that all taxes remaining unpaid Nov. 1, 1915, be charged interest at the rate of 6%, and that the collector be given the necessary authority to compel payment of the same.

E. P. Stanley moved that his motion at previous meeting relative to sewer rates be taken from the table. Mr. Stanley moved the previous question—that the town approve and adopt the rates of sewer assessments as recommended by the sewer commissioners in their report, viz., $3.00 minimum rate for 2000 cubic feet of water passed through the water meter, and 12c for each 100 cubic feet in excess of such minimum. He put the motion in that way, he explained and hoped the voters would kill it.

The vote was put after discussion on both sides of the question and resulted 15 in favor to 87 against.

Art. 67. Voted the selectmen be authorized to petition the bureau of statistics for an audit of the town accounts as provided by law.

On motion of E. S. Knight it was voted $195,000.00 be raised by taxation. Mr. Knight explained that total appropriations of $232,212.07 had been made, and adding to that what would be needed for state and county tax, on a basis of last year—$74,912.63, making a total of $307,124.70 would be needed to run the town this year. The assessors felt the proper sum to raise by taxation was $195,000.

On motion of Thomas Baker $25 was voted as salary of the moderator at "this democratic meeting," and, on suggestion of R. C. Allen, the thanks of the meeting was also extended to Moderator C. C. Dodge.

The meeting was dissolved at 8.07.

NORTH SHORE PLUMBERS OUT

One hundred fifty journeymen plumbers of Salem, Beverly, Beverly Farms, Peabody and Manchester declared a strike Tuesday, pending an agreement between their local union and the master plumbers for a new working schedule operative for one year instead of two. As a result of the strike about 90 per cent. of the work on buildings in process of construction in these towns is tied up.

Two years ago the North Shore master plumbers and the journeymen plumbers, through their representatives, signed an agreement which expired on March 19. In the agreement was a clause that sixty days' notice should be given of any desired change in the working rules. On March 19, the journeymen plumbers sent to the master plumbers a schedule calling for double pay for overtime and no Saturday afternoon work except in case of emergency, this agreement to be operative for one year. As the sixty days' notice has not expired the master plumbers have not acted definitely, in spite of which the strike was declared.

The plumbers further want it agreed that they shall receive a half a day's pay for any number of hours they may work in the forenoon, and a full day if they work at all after noon. They want 60c. an hour.

WHISPERINGS of THE BREEZES

Someone has said very wisely that the road ambition travels is too narrow for friendship, too crooked for love, too rugged for honesty, too dark for science. The problem play "Experience," which has been drawing thousands of people to the Casino Theatre, New York, since last September, teaches many such plain truths about life. "Youth," the central character in the play, passes through all kinds of experiences in setting out on life's journey. Ambition is with him in the beginning, but leaves him hopelessly, when Youth becomes too much entangled with Pleasure, Passion, Intoxication, Deceit, Slander, Wealth, Chance, Crime, and a whole lot of worldly characters of that type. "Experience" is ever present on all of "Youth's" trying times and finally brings him back safely to his home of Love and Hope in the country, whence he started, only to find that Ambition had not died, but still lived if "Youth" would but seek his companionship. The Press Agent of the company informs us that "Experience" is to open the season at the Majestic, Boston, next autumn,—on Labor Day, and New Englanders will then have an opportunity of seeing this wonderful play. It may be of local interest to know that Bess Ryan, of "Toodles"-Fernecroft fame takes the part of Fashion in the play.

It was very evident at the Town Meeting Monday evening that a large proportion of citizens are much against a sewer rate being established for those using the new sewer. The vote to rescind former action, in which a sewer rate was established, was very pronounced. The sentiment seems to favor putting the entire expense of the sewer maintenance on the general tax levy—despite the fact that the proposed minimum rate is only 3c. on each $1000 of valuation. But—there are those who ask us to look at the other side of the question. What about the man who pays his tax to provide a sewer for some of the people, who does not have a sewerage privilege himself? He not only pays the tax, but he pays also for removing his own sewage, as usual. Is that fair, they ask. The majority of the people, however, seem to want the whole expense of the sewers borne by the town. The argument in favor of sewers at first was that it would benefit the general health of the town, and for that reason the town should pay the bills.

The following real estate transfer was recorded at the registry of deeds recently: Francis G. Goodale of Wesson, conveys to Philip Dexter of Manchester, 2½ acres of land in Manchester.

In the District Court at Salem last Saturday Michael Ricci of Manchester was fined $50 for keeping liquor with intent to sell. He appealed and was held in $300 bonds, which he furnished. Ricci runs the Italian grocery store on Summer st. extension.

The Manchester Branch of the Massachusetts Anti-Suffrage Association will hold a meeting Tuesday afternoon, May 4, at the home of Mrs. Harry W. Purington, School and Lincoln sts., when all who are interested in the question are cordially invited to be present. One of the speakers, who has been secured for the afternoon is Miss Edith Melvin. Afternoon tea will be served.

Four years ago tomorrow—May 1, the Manchester Trust Co. started in business. Its success was assured from the very day the doors were opened. Today its deposits have increased twelve-fold. On May 1, 1911, the bank had a capitalization of $100,000; surplus, $25,000; deposits, $50,000. Today the capitalization is the same, but the surplus is $35,000, and deposits, $600,000. The officers are Oliver T. Roberts, president; Roger W. Babson and William Hoare, vice-presidents, and Harry W. Purington, treasurer.

The Red Men will work a degree at the meeting next Wednesday evening.

Miss Bella Porter, the English instructor at the Story High school, has been obliged to give up her work for a few days this week, owing to an attack of grippe, which has confined her to her home on Union street.

The work of installing underground connections for the electric street lights is progressing quite rapidly. This part of the work will be completed in much less time than was supposed.

Col. Charles L. Dodge, the well-known insurance man of Beverly, who died Sunday, was well known all along the shore. He was a frequent visitor here in connection with his business.

Wednesday, May 5th, the Manchester High School baseball team will play the Marblehead High at the Beverly Farms playground. Our boys will have new uniforms, furnished by the town.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Baker returned this week from St. Augustine, Fla., where they have spent the winter. Mr. Baker is to resume his position in charge of the Magnolia-Gloucester route of Bullock's bakery for the summer.

Rev. C. A. Hatch has been elected chairman of the Fourth of July celebration committee, and Cheever Hersey, secretary. The committee plans to arrange a different program from recent years. An effort will be made to have a morning parade, and the sports will probably be held in the center, instead of at the playgrounds. The Manchester Brass band has been engaged for the day and evening.

THE KNOCKER'S CREED.

I believe that nothing is right. I believe that everything is wrong. I believe that I alone have the right idea. The town is wrong, the editor is wrong, the teachers are wrong, the people are wrong, the things they are doing are wrong and they are doing them in the wrong way anyhow. I believe I could fix things if they would let me. If they don't I will get a lot of other fellows like myself and we will have a law passed to make others do things the way WE want them done.

I do not believe that the town ought to grow. It is too big now. I believe in fighting every public improvement and in spoiling everybody's pleasure. I am always to the front in opposing things and never yet have I advanced an idea or supported a movement that would make people happier or add to the pleasure of man, woman or child. I am opposed to fun and am happiest at a funeral. I believe in starting reforms that will take all the joy out of life. It's a sad world and I am glad of it. Amen!

The architects from Olmsted Bros. were down yesterday laying out the work to be done on Masconomo Park this season.

Mrs. Abigail Gentlee, Manchester's oldest female resident, and the second oldest resident of the town, is quietly celebrating her 93d birthday today at her home on School st. Born in Essex in 1822 Mrs. Gentlee came to Manchester when a girl and has spent the whole of her life here. She is the daughter of the late John Mears of Essex. Her husband was of the once well-known firm of Burnham and Gentlee, proprietors of a country store here. Though she is quite feeble with old age, she is comfortable for one of her years. She is able to be up and dressed, but is not out and able to see anyone outside the members of her family and the doctor. Wm. Johnson, the oldest resident of the town, is also the oldest member of the Congregational church, and Mrs. Gentlee is the oldest female member.

RESOLUTIONS

WHEREAS God in his Infinite Wisdom, has called from our midst, our late brother and associate, Dr. William J. Dougherty,

BE IT RESOLVED, that in the death of Mr. Dougherty, we mourn the loss of a valued member; a man who was a good citizen, and one whose life and profession had endeared him to all; a man who gave the best that was in him to the service of the community; also be it

RESOLVED, that we offer to his bereaved family and mourning friends, over whom sorrow has hung her sable mantle, our heartfelt condolence, and pray that infinite goodness may bring speedy relief to their burdened hearts.

RESOLVED, that in tribute to his memory, that Masconomo Council, 1232, Knights of Columbus, spread these resolutions on their records and that a copy of the same, properly engrossed, be presented to the family of our deceased friend.

The annual business meeting and election of officers of the Arbella club will be held in the Chapel next Tuesday, May 4, at 4 o'clock.

Miss Vera Kitfield was surprised by about forty of her friends, who gave her a utility shower Monday evening at her home on Summer st., Manchester Cove. Mrs. Robert Stoops was in charge of the party.

At the annual meeting of the Thought and Work club, Salem's leading woman's club, Mrs. Emma A. Missud was elected president for a third consecutive year. Mrs. Missud is a frequent visitor to the Manchester Woman's club and is well known here.

Two automobiles collided at the bridge over the railroad at West Manchester, Sunday afternoon, but fortunately nobody was injured. A 6-cyl. Hudson owned by Arthur E. Moreau of 1127 Elm st., Manchester, had turned onto the bridge from Tuck's Point just as a Ford touring car, owned by C. B. Maloon of 340 Eastern ave., Lynn, was on the bridge on its way toward the West Manchester station. In the larger car were two men, two women and five children; in the Ford were two men and two women. As the larger car struck the Ford, in swinging around the sharp curve, there was an awful smash, but most fortunately no serious damage was done except to the cars.

AS TO SEWER RATES

Manchester, Mass.,
April 28, 1915.

Editor North Shore Breeze,

Dear Sir: In attending the past town meetings I was surprised at the opposition by some of the citizens, to what appeared to be just and equitable rates for the use of the new sewer, and also at the injustice of the attempt being made to put all costs of running new sewers on the general tax levy. I do not think it right or fair, that a citizen not having the use of the sewer, should pay equally with those that have, and then have to pay the cost of getting rid of his own sewage extra. It seems to me that the only fair way, if such a proposition carries, is to authorize the Sewer Commissioners to take and dispose of all sewage in the town limits, placing everyone on an equal footing.

Do unto others, as you would they should do to you!

LAST WEEK OF "A MODERN EVE."

One of the big theatrical successes of the season, "A Modern Eve," opens its last week at the Cort, Boston, next Monday. It is not hard to understand the popularity of this musical comedy, whose producers have taken all the qualities that please audiences, and gone just one step further than anybody else in putting them before the public. To begin with they were lucky in getting a play with a consistent story in it, a story on an up-to-date topic, clean and wittily handled. The "Modern Eve" is a woman lawyer, a brusque, business-like person who keeps her husband washing the dishes and running the house, and who brings up her daughters to be painters and physicians.

To her comes her old lover of twenty years ago, and the feminist disappears in the woman. Interwoven with this comedy of love are the stories of the two daughters, real love stories. And in a whimsical melange, involving the trial for divorce of one of the daughters, a merry plot is carried consistently through the evening.

Not Ambitious.—The teacher sent the son of Newburgh politician before the schoolmaster for a serious misdemeanor.

"Young man," said the schoolmaster, as he gazed severely at the youth, "do you know that you are a candidate for a severe whipping?"

"Yes, sir," replied the boy, "and I hope I'll be defeated."—Newburgh Journal.

MANCHESTER

Mrs. E. H. Wilcox has had as her guest for a few days this week, Mrs. William Beyer of Lynn.

A. G. Tomasello and son, Joseph Tomasello, of Boston, were in town Saturday. Robert Gardner of the Scott Co. was here last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pierce and Mrs. William Macomber of Salem spent Sunday in town as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Joseph.

Work has begun on a bungalow on Lincoln street for Mr. and Mrs. William Joseph of School street and the house will probably be ready for occupancy sometime in August. The architect is B. E. Porter, and the contractor, Henry M. Dolan.

GUEST NIGHT OF FRIENDSHIP CIRCLE

Over three hundred tickets were sold for the first annual guest night on the occasion of the second birthday of the Friendship Circle at the Baptist church Tuesday evening. A splendid program of music and readings was presented to this large and appreciative audience, opening with an organ solo by G. Allyn Brown, organist of the Trinity Church of Gloucester, who also accompanied the singer and the violinist. Miss Rebecca Andrews of East Boston was the soloist for the evening, giving an Italian song and, later, two groups of selections. Manchester people know Miss Andrews well, as she has sung at the Baptist church many times, and she was given a cordial welcome. Miss Andrews left for Los Angeles, Wednesday. Miss Carolyn Weeks of Dorchester was the violinist, and her selections were greatly appreciated. In addition to being a violinist of ability, Miss Weeks is a very attractive girl and one who wins favor wherever she plays. The three readings by Mrs. Irad Hardy of Gloucester were of a varied nature and were exceptionally well received. Mrs. Hardy, too, is a favorite with Manchester audiences, having read here before. The committee in charge, Mrs. Isabelle Stidstone, chairman, Mrs. Ellery Rogers, Mrs. Albert Rogers, Mrs. Grace Younger, Mrs. A. G. Warner, Mrs. James Kehoe, Mrs. Edward Crowell and Miss Nellie Leonard, are to be congratulated upon the undoubted success of the Circle's first guest night, and particularly for the expeditious way in which the serving of the ice-cream was done; nearly three hundred people were served in ten minutes.

To the Business Men of Manchester By the Sea

When a good salesman goes out after business, he first puts on a clean collar and gets his shoes shined. Then he looks like more business—and he's made a flying start toward getting it.

Likewise, a community can go after more business—and get it. The "clean collar and shiny shoes" of this town are the well-painted stores, the bright, cheery homes, the fresh, clean-looking buildings. The part paint plays in building up local pride cannot be put in figures—but its good effects are recorded on the local merchants' sales sheets. Buy good paint. We recommend and sell

McINNES-WALSH

At the Parochial residence, Manchester, Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock Miss Delia Walsh and Patrick McInnes were united in marriage, by the Rev. Fr. Mark J. Sullivan. They were attended by Miss Helen Kearns of Cambridge, a cousin of the bride, and Joseph Wynne as best man.

A reception followed at 29 Bennet st., where the young couple are to make their home. A large number of friends and relatives attended and had a most enjoyable time. The bride has been a member of Mrs. Gordon Prince's household for the last ten years; the groom is employed at the Essex County club. The bride wore a pretty dress of white crépe-de-chene, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses.

CHAMBERLIN-ANDREWS

Miss Julia Ellen Andrews and Edward John Chamberlin were married Tuesday evening at 9.15 at the bride's home on Elm st., Manchester, by the Rev. A. G. Warner.

96TH. ANNIVERSARY

MANCHESTER ODD FELLOWS HAVE GALA NIGHT

Manchester Odd Fellows turned out in large numbers last night to celebrate the 96th. anniversary of Odd-Fellowship. More than 100 of the members and nearly 100 visiting Odd Fellows took part in a parade through the principle streets of the town and the other features of an evening's program.

Forty-two members of Swampscott lodge, 140, paid a fraternal visit to Manchester, bringing along their crack Fisherman's Degree team, the initiatory degree being worked on one candidate. The work was done in a masterly manner and the many side features of the degree was a revelation to the Manchester members.

The members of Magnolia lodge, together with a large delegation from the lodge at Rockport met the Swampscott brothers at the 7.22 train, and headed by the Manchester Brass band, a parade with more than 200 in line marched through Summer, Washington, Norwood, Lincoln, School and Central streets to Ashland ave., then countermarched to town hall. Red fire was burned on the way.

It was after ten o'clock when the floor work was finished and the gathering then adjourned to the vestry of the Baptist church for a supper. Blessing was asked by Rev. A. G. Warner. An orchestra, composed of T. W. Long, Arthur Lodge, John Prest and Byron Bullock played popular airs during the supper. The Swampscott lodge had brought their own orchestra and quartet along with them for the degree work at the hall.

Among those present was the Deputy, Jesse G. Lent, and suite of grand officers from Marblehead. Visitors were present from Lynn, Salem, Peabody, Beverly, Essex, Gloucester, Rockport and Swampscott.

Magnolia lodge of Odd Fellows, is one of the strongest small lodges in the state and stands among the highest financially in the country for its membership. Bernard Leo Boyle is the present noble grand.

"AUNT" MARIA LUFKIN

Mrs. Maria Lufkin, popularly known by all who knew her "Aunt Maria," passed away Wednesday night at the home of her niece, Mrs. Albert Sinnicks, off Bennett st., Manchester, at the age of 87 years, 13 days. A resident of West Gloucester, Mrs. Lufkin came to Manchester ten years ago to live with her niece. To Mrs. Sinnicks she was as a mother, as the former had lived with her aunt since she was two years old. Mrs. Lufkin was a sister of the late George Haskell of Manchester, and also of the late Lucinda Colby Reed and of the late Henry Haskell, father of Geo. D. Haskell of Vine st. She was a woman of motherly instincts, a friend of everybody and loved by all who knew her. Funeral services will be held in Manchester, and interment will be in West Gloucester.

MRS. ELIZABETH (EDWARDS)
STANLEY

Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, widow of the late Jeffrey T. Stanley, passed away at her home on School street, Manchester, Sunday morning after a lingering illness, dating from a fall from which she received a broken blood vessel. Mrs. Stanley would have been 85 years of age the 10th of May had she lived. She had made her home at Manchester practically all her life. She leaves besides a large circle of friends, who sincerely mourn her loss, a son Frederick Stanley of Woburn, and two nieces, Misses Annie and Louise Johnson, of this town.

Mrs. Stanley was born on May 10, 1830, a daughter of Samuel and Sarah J. (Allen) Edwards. She was descended on both sides from old respected families of Manchester. Her father, who was a seafaring man, was 18 years old when he did guard-duty at Norton's Point, Manchester, during the War of 1812. She was not a member of the Congl. church, though she was always a regular attendant, and was a pew holder. She was a member of the Ladies Sewing circle. She was married to the late Jeffrey T. Stanley on June 18, 1854.

Funeral services were held from her late home at 2.30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Rev. C. A. Hatch officiating. Interment was at Rose-dale cemetery.

James B. Thrasher of Natick was the speaker at the People's Forum at the Village church last Sunday evening, and for about an hour he entertained an appreciative audience with poems and stories of the French-Canadian people. The program embraced selections from the works of Dr. William Henry Drummond, Burns, Roland Robinson, and Holman F. Day, and included a wide range of subjects, some of which were very laughable, others, filled with the simplicity and the pathos of the French-Canadian peasant life. Mr. Thrasher lived for many years among the people he has chosen to describe and his naturally keen and sympathetic insight into their lives is supplemented by his skill in storytelling, which is unmarred by a conscious elocutionary effort. Among the readings, which Mr. Thrasher presented to his audience were The Habitant, The Hearly Bird, My Little Cabane, Joe Supernau, The Cure of Calumette, Antoine's Ride, Philorum's Canoe, How Joe Caught the Bull, Little Bateese, and The Last Portage. This program brought to a close what will be long remembered a most delightful winter of concerts, readings, and lectures at the church.

Miss Olive Chane was a Sunday guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Chane, of Pleasant street, Manchester.

Miss Marcia Bradford has returned from her winter trip to the South and is established at her cottage on Norman avenue for the season.

Mrs. John V. Carr spent Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Lanesville with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Silas Dion.

Mrs. Frank Cutler and her son, Ernest, returned to Lexington the first of the week after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Hunt, Magnolia avenue. Mrs. Cutler and Mrs. Hunt are sisters.

Miss Edna Symonds was the guest of friends in Boston over the week-end.

Irving Eaton returned to Massachusetts Institute of Technology this week after spending his vacation with his parents, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Walter S. Eaton, at the Parsonage on Magnolia avenue.

Mrs. Frank Abbott entertained Miss Mona Blackwell of Malden over the week-end.

Rev. Dr. Walter S. Eaton will preach at the morning and the evening services at the Village church, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Symonds and family have taken the cottage on Western avenue on the location of what was formerly the North Shore Poultry Farm.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lycett had as a week-end guest, their nephew, Arthur Gray of Lynn.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore are occupying one of the apartments in the building on Western avenue which is owned and has been remodeled by Michael Kehoe.

Some of the Magnolia young people were present at the Presentation dance at the Armory at Gloucester last Friday evening. It was a high school party.

The members of the Foster club have been invited to attend an exhibition of costumes at the Congregational chapel at Manchester next Tuesday afternoon under the auspices of the Arbella club.

Joseph Crispin has charge of the renovating and improvement work, which is being done on the building, Raymond street, formerly occupied by the American Express company.

Miss Marion Story is the recipient of the interest and good wishes of her many friends in her thus far successful place in the Journal contest, the award of which is a trip to the Exposition at San Francisco this summer. Miss Story, the popular clerk at the Magnolia branch post-office, is well known here and has the honest support of the village people. She will be very appreciative of any votes which may be sent in for her.

The Magnolia Market on Raymond street is being remodeled by the owner, W. H. Coolidge.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE NOTES

This week I should like to sum up a few facts, in view of the mis-statements that are still going about.

The statement persists that "a large majority" of women in Mass. are opposed to Equal Suffrage. But at their annual meeting last week the Anti-Suffragists reported an enrollment of only 30,000, including men and women, opposed to woman suffrage, and there are 1,074,485 women in Massachusetts, so that about one per cent. of the woman are opposed. Is that a large majority? And a woman recently said to me that she could not make the Antis take her name off of their list, although she is now a Suffragist! By this method of keeping count, we see that a few thousand women in Mass. are actively opposed to Suffrage, and yet the men are asked to consider these rather than the million others. Of course, if only one woman wanted the ballot, the principle of justice would remain the same, and she should have it.

The Boston public school teachers, nearly 3000 strong, have recently come out for Suffrage, through their official organ, the News Letter. The National and International Teachers' Congress had already endorsed Equal Suffrage, and there is no question that of all departments of life, none deserve the franchise more than the teachers of little citizens,—unless it be the mothers of little citizens.

Together with the overwhelming testimony as to the tremendous numbers of women voting at recent elections in Chicago and in Montana (their first elections in the latter state) there comes testimony to the humanizing effect of women at the polls, for the elections were more orderly than ever before. The same effect in California has been mentioned by Senator Works in a recent speech in Rhode Island.

Cardinal Gibbons has made a statement that the Catholic church is not opposed to Woman Suffrage. The Church, he says, takes no official stand in the matter, but "leaves it to the good judgment of her children." In New York recently the Suffragists had a "Catholic Day," when several prominent Catholics spoke in favor of Equal Suffrage.

A letter is being circulated among the people of Massachusetts in the interest of the liquor men, which appeals to the voters to reject woman suffrage at the referendum next autumn. Is this the real way to reach the hearts and minds of the men of Mass.? I do not believe it! But we shall see next November.

Ex-Governor John D. Long said—in a recent interview—"Let us be honest and admit what we all know, that the real reason why the right to vote is denied to women is that there is just trace enough of ancient barbarism lingering in our civilization to bar them out. I have no more doubt of the ultimate voting of women than I have of the progress of the human soul." I can remember Mrs. Julia Ward Howe introducing Mr. Long, on a public occasion, in these words,—“Once our Governor, always our Gov. Long!” And all Suffragists re-echo these words. Let me add in this connection, that Gov. Walsh, Samuel McCall and Charles Sumner Bird are all for Woman Suffrage.

Dr. Burton, the President of Smith College (the largest women's college in the world), says—"I shall vote for Suffrage in Mass. this fall."

George Macaulay Trevelyan, the English historian who has been in Boston recently, said, "English women will vote after the war. Women have proved their worth to the state."

At this moment, the great International Women's Peace Congress is in session at the Hague. And it is presided over by an American woman,—Miss Jane Addams of Chicago—which an English Newspaper correspondent says is "most fitting." Among the prominent New England women taking part in the congress is Mrs. Fanny Fern Andrews.

The Equal Franchise Comm. (Mrs. Robert Gould Shaw, chairman, Mrs. H. E. Russell, treasurer), will open its new room at 75 State st. on Monday, May 3, at 12 o'clock. The speakers on this occasion will be Mrs. Maud Wood Park, Miss Minnie Mulray, and Hon. Sam. Powers. There will be speaking every day at the noon hour, and some of the committee will be there every day between eleven and three o'clock. Men and women both are invited to come in.

The annual convention and Campaign Conference of Mass. Suffragists will take place in Boston, at 585 Boylston st. on May 13, 14 and 15, ending with an open air meeting and band concert on the Common on Saturday the 15th. The big banquet at the Hotel Somerset will be on Thursday the 13th, at 7 o'clock, with important speakers. Tickets at 1.50, and 50-cent tickets for the gallery, may be had of Miss Fanny Osgood, 221 Beacon st., Boston.

Mrs. Marshall T. Larcom entertained the Ladies Sewing circle at her home on West st., last evening.

Some of the furniture and fittings for the Beverly Trust Co.'s branch bank for Beverly Farms arrived in auto trucks on Wednesday, and were put in the Marshall estate vacant store in Central square where the bank is to be located. It is planned to have everything in readiness to open the bank for business on or before June 1st.

John West colony, Pilgrim Fathers, will hold their regular business meeting in Marshall's hall this evening.

The vacant building on Vine st., known as the Hanson blacksmith shop and owned by Robert Robertson, has been leased to G. P. Connolly, 2nd., and J. E. McDonnell, proprietors of "The Tunipoo Inn." They are moving it to a new location, but on the same lot of land. The change is made for the purpose of improving the hotel surroundings.

Miss Jane Bartlett, Hale st., will be the hostess for the Girls' club of the St. John's church at her home this evening.

Loring & Leland, Boston architects, with an office at 7 Water st., have been designated by the Beverly Farms Library commission to make the plans for the new $30,000 library building. Mr. Leland of the firm has already been down and inspected the lot on Vine st. After the plans are accepted work will be started at once and the building should be well along towards completion by the fall.

A pretty wedding of two Beverly Farms young people took place last Monday evening at St. Margaret's church, when Rev. J. J. Downey united in marriage Miss Nora A. Shea and John J. Malone. Miss Mary Mahoney of Lawrence was the bridesmaid and Dennis Shea, a brother of the bride, was best man. Only immediate relatives and close friends witnessed the ceremony. Following the wedding there was a reception at the home of the bride's mother, 111 Haskell st. After a short honeymoon trip they will reside at Beverly Farms.

Rev. Frank P. Cressy of Charlestown has been secured by Preston Post, 188, G. A. R., to deliver the Memorial Day address at Beverly Farms. He is a prominent G. A. R. man and an interesting speaker.

George S. Day arrived home yesterday from a month's vacation trip to the Pacific coast and the Panama exposition. He reports the time of his life and enjoyed every minute of his trip.

The Mass Highway commission has started to repair the highway from the R. R. crossing at the Beverly Farms depot to the Manchester line. This year the work will be a light repair job consisting of the picking up of the old road surface, shaping and the application of tarvia. John McCarthy of Watertown is the foreman in charge.

Edw. Columbus, the prescription clerk at Varney's drug store, is the latest to join the ranks of the "road burners." He has just purchased an Indian motor-cycle of the latest model.

Arthur A. Woodbury, proprietor of the Eli R. Hodgkins painting concern, has added a Ford delivery to his equipment this week.

The hotel on Vine st., formerly known as the Beverly Farms house and now owned by G. P. Connolly, 2nd, and James E. McDonnell, has had its name changed to "The Tunipoo Inn." The building has been completely renovated and improved both inside and out and is now certainly a credit to the owners and to the town. It will be conducted as an up-to-date hotel and will be opened for guests on May 15th.

Beverly Farms will certainly be favored by having the opportunity to hear the Men's Singing club of Beverly, who are coming to the Beverly Farms Baptist church next Thursday evening, May 6th. The club is composed of 30 to 40 members and is made up of some of the best male voices in Beverly and elsewhere. Their entertainments are indeed very enjoyable, especially to all who like good music. The public is cordially invited to attend. The tickets have been put on sale, 35c.

The "Wigwam," a camp cottage at West Gloucester, has been sold. It was owned by Mrs. Mary Lee of Beverly Farms, who has many times given its use to her friends for many pleasant outings.

The Breeze $2 a year postpaid.

Benjamin Manning has gone to Brunswick, Me., for a week to take charge of some landscape work being done there by Connolly Bros.

Miss Mary F. Murray of Worcester has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. D. Connolly, Oak st., this week.

"A PAIR OF SIXES"

"A Pair of Sixes" enters on its 18th week of wonderful success at the Wilbur Theatre, and it is creating just as much hearty and unbounded enthusiasm as it did the first week of the Boston engagement. Every other man, woman or child in Boston has already seen this remarkable farce at the Wilbur, and the others are doubtless preparing to see it before it leaves the city. For only once in years are the theatre-goers given such an opportunity for rich and wholesome laughter as is to be found in the performance of "A Pair of Sixes." Already it has broken all records for farce runs in Boston, and there is not the slightest decrease in the interest displayed in the piece.

"THE REVOLT"

Edward Locke, who is the author of "The Climax" and "The Case of Becky," has come forward with a new play, which is to be presented at the Shubert Theatre, Boston, for a limited engagement week beginning next Monday, May 3rd. The name of the play is "The Revolt," and comes here direct after a successful run at the Maxine Elliott Theatre, New York.

The cast will include Vincent Serrano, Alma Belwin, Edwin Mordant, Beth Franklyn, Jessie Ralph, Susanne Willa, Annette Tyler, Claire Burke, Sara Enright, Rosanna Logan, Craig Miner, Howard Gould, Sam Edwards, Fred W. Peters, Charles Hallock, Fred Smith and John Walsh.

BEVERLY FARMS

Beverly Farms firemen are much interested in the success of the plans for a big firemen's carnival and field day to be held in Beverly on Bunker Hill day, June 17th. The program calls for a parade, an exhibition of the work of the various kits and companies, a banquet and a dance at City hall in the evening. In order to help defray expenses a button will be sold. The following members from the Farms department are on the various committees: Asst. Engineer J. M. Publicover, Capt. Duncan T. Smith, Lieut. Edwin F. Campbell, Robt. E. Hodgkins, Lieut. E. Fred Day, J. Albert Mayberry, Frank E. Cole, Lewis G. Williams, W. B. Publicover, Walter B. Wright and Capt. Alfred Williams.

The Beverly Farms band has secured the services of E. F. McSheady of Salem as instructor. Mr. McSheady took charge at the band rehearsal last Monday evening and the program was given with much spirit. The new instructor is the leader of the Salem Light Infantry band and is a musician of reputation.

A hearing has been granted by the aldermen to Michael H. Wittenhagen, who was suspended a week ago for failure to ring in his duty calls. Next Monday evening, May 3, at 8 o'clock, is the date set.

The Public Service committee have recommended the adoption of the order providing for the removal of the flag-pole from the square and placing it on the new library lot. The committee recommended the passage of the order providing for the construction of an "Island" at the Beverly Farms square, also for the installation and maintainance of an arc-light on the "Island." All the above orders were adopted at the meeting of the aldermen last Monday night.

The Public Service committee held a public meeting last Tuesday evening in G. A. R. hall when some 25 to 30 citizens met the committee and considered the various needed improvements in Beverly Farms. The meeting was presided over by Alderman-at-Large Goldthwait. The matter of sidewalks was discussed and it seemed the general opinion that continuous sidewalks should be built on certain streets. There also developed somewhat of an objection to the removal of the flag-pole from Central square. The meeting was a very profitable one and if more were held the results would be of much benefit to the community.

Sincere sorrow is felt among many Beverly Farms people over the death of Col. Charles L. Dodge, who passed away last Sunday morning at his home in Beverly, at the age of 79 years. He was one of Beverly's best known residents and a former state representative, prominent in Republican affairs and a member for years of the City committee. Mr. Dodge gave a long and marked service in the Mass. military service. For years he served the city as a public library trustee. In recent years Col. Dodge was best known because of his connection with the Mass. Mutual Life Ins. Co., being its Essex Co. agent, holding this position at the time of his death.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Palmer of Bridgeport, Conn., have been among the visitors at Beverly Farms the past week.

Ernest Babkirk has again started in the provision business. This week he put on the road a very attractive butcher cart.

The Smith house, corner Hale and Prince sts., recently purchased by Dr. Franklin Dexter, has been torn down and a new cottage will soon be erected on the site of the old house.

Wm. Votterus has opened his new fruit and confectionery store on West st., located in the small Silverberg store. The store has recently been renovated and with the splendid assortment prettily arranged, it is very attractive, and should be encouraged by receiving its share of patronage.

On Wednesday one of the large plate glass windows was broken in the building which is to be later occupied by the bank. The auto truck, which brought some of the bank equipment, in backing up, had too much speed and struck against the front window before it could be stopped.

The "Tunipoo Inn," Beverly Farms' new hotel, has a very attractive ad. in another column.

Work has been started on the remodeling of the building in Central square which is to be occupied by the branch bank of the Beverly Trust Co., the improvements being under the direction of Eben Day of Hardy & Day. The changes include the raising up of the building, putting in a cellar, walls, ceilings, floors, in fact when completed the whole surroundings will be in keeping with a modern bank, fully equipped and very attractive. To the structure itself the improvements will be extensive enough to make the old building when finished unrecognizable.

WENHAM

Harvey R. Williams has been re-elected Superintendent of Schools for a three-year term. Not only skill in pedagogical work, but also much tact is required to satisfy the requirements of school committees in five different towns.

Communion will be administered at the village church Sunday morning, with an appropriate sermon by the minister, Rev. F. M. Cutler. Sunday School at noon. Junior C. E. at 5. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6. The final social service forum of the season will take place at 7, with Mrs. A. J. George speaking on Anti-Suffrage.

Wednesday afternoon the Ladies Society will hold their regular monthly meeting, followed at 6 by a public supper, and after that an entertainment.

A missionary barrel for a home missionary family in Michigan will be packed Friday evening at 7.45 o'clock. The event will be made a social one, with an entertainment and light refreshments. It will take place in the village chapel.

Fifteen of Wenham's most charming young ladies participated in the picnic and out-door supper of the campfire girls Monday afternoon. Under the guardianship of Miss Pauline Copping the girls are being gently initiated into the mysteries of the woods.

The department of membership of the village church held its annual meeting Sunday evening, with Chairman O. L. Woodbury presiding. Mrs. C. W. Patch was re-elected secretary. An executive committee was chosen, and it was voted to continue work along established lines.

Wenham will soon take its place with Panama, Suez, Kiel, Bourne, and other canal towns of the world. A large force of excavators are at work digging the long expected water-way from Topsfield to Wenham lake. There is room for speculation as to whether this canal will not drain the Wenham swamp sufficiently to render it available for cultivation or cottage sites.

Announcement was made Sunday morning in the village church that the law forbidding liquor dealers in license towns to send delivery vehicles into no-license territory had been passed by both House and Senate. This is one of the bills for which the church, through its department of social service, had petitioned and passed resolutions. It was further stated that both Representative Long and Senator Norwood had manifested their independence of party domination by voting for this bill's adoption.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE— DRINK HOT TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking up a cold.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

It Is Easy to Select a Wedding Gift at Low's

There is such a comfortable feeling in selecting a gift in a Store like ours. We have so many lines and such a variety in each line, that the idea of selection being a "problem" disappears when you enter our door.

If you are looking for a gift in sterling silver our stock is replete with excellent pieces and patterns of table silver. If you wish something in cut glass or china, you will find an elaborate display of rich pieces and assortments. If you wish a clock or some small article in mahogany or an article in nickel or brass, you will find an excellent showing.

The point is, that our Store is a number of specialty shops in one, and if you cannot find a suitable gift in one line you can in another. It is such an easy, pleasant way to shop. And we are always glad to help with appropriate suggestions if you wish us to. Come in, even though you merely wish to "look around".

Out of town customers will find the same helpful selection in our illustrated Year Book, a copy of which will be sent upon request.

When Society House-hunts and Prepares for the Warm Weather Exodus

By LIVINGSTON WRIGHT

"OH, Jack! I won't be agreeable! I just know I won't!" quoth My Pretty Young Dowager, the other afternoon. In spite of her sauciness, she never looked more ravishing. Her Chinese blouse and apple-blossomed checks made her semi-negligee perfectly intoxicating to me, although seeing that she was declaring ultimatata so fast, I, of course, had to make a fashion of belligerency.

"Wherefore the ukase?" I queried, sliding over to the sideboard and poking around for my favorite Scotch.

"Why don't you see? Are you blind, you obtuse thing?"

I gazed at her. Gazed about the room. Gazed out of the window. Then came back to my, I fear, usual job of gazing at her. She did look luscious to me, "agreeable" or not "agreeable."

I could not stand this thing any longer and darted over to wind my arms where they'd do me the most good!

"What is it now? What IS it?" I demanded, just pulling that luscious mouth up to me.

A sudden suspicion struck me. "Look here," I said tragically "have you?—Have you joined 'em?"

"Not yet," she giggled, "but Marguerite Lobelia has! (The head caretaker). . . She's a fullfledged Suff and is going to carry a banner in a parade next week."

"Oh, it's worse than that, Jack! Your heart'll be fractured, which means your stomach is going to be immediately reached!—Bungalow-hunting!"

I sat kersmash down on the divan.

So-o-o!

This was it, was it? And quite enough, too. I bowed my head in my hands and the panorama of miserableness ran before by mental optics:

My Pretty Young Dowager almost never "in." I, pestering that savage Marguerite Lobelia with my calls and queries until there would be the inevitable "Well, fer gawd's sake, I told ye twict: She's up around the North Shore somewheres, looking for a summer place!" and a look which informed me I had best be making myself as seldom as might be.

Then, when Valma was "in," she would be so exhausted! And I detested salad-making and rarebit-making and—in fact, most all "making" unless her dainty fingers were puttering about and her velvety voice and lips were close by.

Disorganization. Desperation. Damnation. That was what it would be—Damnation.

"Valma," I said in my most profound mien, "why, why DO you insist upon bungalowing every single spring?"

"Silly thing," she declared.

"People 'clean house' and catch pneumonia each spring, so why shouldn't I have my bungalow fever each spring?"

"But,—oh my zounds and gadzooks! wasn't the one you had last year livable enough? Heavenlike in its location by the ledges and sea? And so cosy and commodious and convenient and—everything?"

"It was my dear, all those and many more, but I got to 'bungalow' just the same. First."—and she assumed as much of the stately Portia attitude as her plump figure permitted—"First, because everybody else that is anything bungalows at this time of year. Secondly—because one gets tired of a summer cottage, just as one gets tired of a last season's chapeau. Thirdly—because one never knows what genuine bargains are kicking around until one gets out and skies through the North Shore. Why, think of the Bentleys! Their 'cot' cost them over $150,000 and yet, it is on the market! Why?—just because they got tired of it and are going to spend the season at the Selkirks. Fourthly—well, I bungalow because I love to bungalow!"

"Fine! Grand! Stupendously satisfactory!" I growled. "Noble life. Joy to all. You full of colds and chills and congestion, and I full of indigestion and growls and glooms. Oh lovely days! Oh happy prospect!—Valma," I demanded, "is this year's 'fever' going to run the full three weeks, like those of previous times?"

"Until I get a 'bargain,' if I bungalow my head off," she avowed.

I glanced despairingly about the room. Yes, there were certain portentions "signs." The automobile hamper reposed over at one end of the sideboard. Navaho blankets were piled in one corner. The auto coats were in the hall.

But, next morning, I was with My Pretty Young Dowager bowling over the roads for the North Shore, just as she knew I would be. That delectable dame has her own way with me entirely too much! Soon as ever

I can think up a way to stop it, I surely shall do so! Yes sir!

Well, it wasn't so bad this first day. It seemed good to be back again. And everybody was out fixing up! The caretakers and gardeners were about, the jonquils were jumping, and the sea was at the old stand. We had a really enjoyable cold-luncheon for once, there in the shade of the solemn pines. And the bargains!—Well, Valma really can ask more questions and get away with it than any mortal I ever beheld, only I do hope she won't employ quite that skill in

No one has seen
America who has not seen the North Shore : : : : :

querying me as to "where I've been," if I ever AM away from her an evening after we get settled down! I am a fairly good single-handed liar, but I really should not prefer Valma to do the cross-examining.

"Twas chilly in the evening and we did enjoy the crackling oak logs at the Inn.

"I can see, Jack," began Valma, "that some changes and very important ones are gradually taking place. There is a growing tendency to build after the literal style of the Old Farmhouse, those with the long roofs, the low eaves and all that." (She does have a head for those architectural things.) It is a pleasing innovation.

"Then, too, the roads are so much better. I notice also many more garages. Best of all, there is indication that the North Shore 'season,' this year is to be unusually successful. There'll be more people here—there's the War and they just can't help it! So, do you know what I'm going to do, Jack?"

"Nary a know," I answered illiterately.

"I'm going to lease that brick, two-story new Farmhouse the Hiltons have lately completed. I've found that owing to a bereavement, they're not to be here."

"Hallelujah!" I ejaculated. Then corrected my faux-pas with "Not at their bereavement, of course, but at the fact that your lease will stop this bungalowing before it begins to get virulent."

"I am not doing it on that account," pouted Valma, "but, you see, if I don't nail it at once, somebody else is certain to grab it!"

I kissed her forthwith, for she does have such good judgment.

Some of the North Shore Islands

By HELENE SHERMAN

Mystery Island as Seen from the Railroad Station at West Manchester.

THE islands along the North Shore which lie in an almost unbroken line the entire length of the coast form a most fascinating feature of the varied scenery along this famed resort section. Some are large; some are small; almost all are rocky. They have unusual names, which must have arisen from stories of wonderful interest if we could hear them all. From Marblehead Neck to the tip of Cape Ann the line is particularly regular, so that it has all the appearance of a promontory, which in ages past must have been broken down by the ceaseless beating of the Atlantic, leaving, as the only reminder of a beautiful land, these islands. Years ago, perhaps, a virgin forest land with mighty trees sheltered the mainland from the stormswept ocean, forming splendid harbors. There game was abundant and there, the red man held his sway. To us ten long, eventful centuries ago,—to the Sphinx and Pyramids, only a flash of time!

The dreamer has the support of the scientist in this belief. Agassiz, upon the occasion of his first visit to the Beverly Beach, ventured the surmise that the picturesque line of islands before him had once been a continuous promontory. John H. Sears has been particularly interested in the subsidence along the North Shore, and has made some interesting researches. He found stumps of several species, such as the white pine, swamp cedar, spruce and ash, in leaf mould and peat beds, one to three feet thick, at Nahant. These were covered by washed sand and stones, under six to thirteen feet of water. At Mingo Beach, Pride's Crossing, is a peat meadow full of the sunken stumps of forest trees; and in the Manchester section are a number of such examples. Near Chubb's Island, in the Manchester Harbor, at a depth of about eleven feet below high water mark, may be seen remains of an enormous, oak stump. Divested of sap wood, it is fully twelve feet in diameter inside the buttresses. Not far from Chubb's Island, just inside Great and Little Ram, are stumps of white pine and oak in leaf mould. At Lobster Cove logs of spruce have been found, and red cedar stumps with only the heart remaining.

Magnolia harbor has one of the most familiar examples of sunken trees along the Shore. It is a large oak stumps, which is only four feet below low water, and therefore easily discernible. A large area of submerged trees was discovered in 1866 at Forest Cove, lying southwest of Cape Hedge (Briar Neck), Gloucester, noteworthy particularly for the diversity of species it offered. The stumps were of red cedar, pitch pine, maple and birch. It would seem from these facts that, at the accepted rate of subsidence, about two feet for each century, the dreamer's vision of a land in normal position and trees in full growth a thousand or twelve hundred years ago, where the green waves of the Atlantic now wash our shores, is close to reality.

Beautiful as the promontory must have been, we cannot find it in our hearts to regret that "Nature, the good, old nurse" saw fit to take it away from her children, and to leave in its stead the beautiful islands. There is hardly one that has not its legend of wrecks, of fishing vessels or of colony days.

One of the largest of the islands along the Shore is Plum Island, which lies near the mouth of the Ipswich river. It was important in marine affairs, because of its location, and was early supplied with a beacon light, afterwards replaced by a light-house. This island was granted to Capt. John Mason very early in colonial history, during the year after the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth, in fact, by King James. The grant described it as: "The great isle, henceforth to be called the Isle of Mason, lying near or before the bay, harbor, or river of Agawam." The General Court of Salem set off part of the island to the town of Ipswich (Agawam) in 1639, and for many years, the place has been called Plum Island, on account of the abundant wild plums which grow there. Such, at least, is the generally accepted opinion.

The islands of the Gloucester region seem to have played an important part in the history of the North Shore. They include many, whose names have been made famous by the pens of great poets and by the graphic records of the Revolutionary period. Five Pound Island in Gloucester Harbor, is one of the latter. In the year, 1775, after the battle of Bunker Hill, the ship "Falcon" was sent to the assistance of the British, with a brave sailor, Captain Lindsay, in command. The vessel came to Ipswich Bay, to the mouth of Annisquam Harbor, and, on the eighth of August, overtook two schooners from the West Indies, capturing one and chasing the other into Gloucester, where she ran ashore on Five Pound Island. Captain Lindsay was thus able to capture his prize, but he paid dearly for the privilege, for a hot battle with the Gloucester men followed. Five Pound Island received its name from the price, five pounds, which was paid for it. The same is true of Ten Pound Island, of which the colonial records of 1644 say: "Ten Pound Island shall be reserved for Rams onlie; and whoever shall put on any but great Ramms shall forfeit 2s. 6d. per head."

In the days when pirates added to the dangers of the good ships sailing out of Gloucester Harbor, the General Court of Salem offered 35 pounds for each pirate hung. After the John Phillips episode, the pirates, who were caught, met with a summary end, and their bodies were hung as a warning to other wrongdoers from the limbs of trees on an island, which was named from the occurrence, "Hangman's Island."

Like many another along the Shore, Thacher's Island, or as it is sometimes spelt, Thatcher's Island, was named for one of those catastrophes which were so common when our forefathers went out to the open sea in the crude vessels of the day. In 1635, a pinnace sailed from Ipswich bearing the Rev. John Avery with his wife and six children, Anthony Thacher with his wife and four children, two other passengers and four mariners. The boat was bound for Marblehead, where Father Avery had been called to preach to the fishermen, but on the rocks, ever since called "Avery's Woe," she struck and sank. Every soul on board save Anthony Thacher and his wife, who were cast upon, and rescued from, the island to which they afterwards gave their name. In 1771, Thacher's Island became the property of the Colonial Government, and two light-houses which are called the "Cape Lights" were erected there within a year's time.

These are a few of the stories of the many islands in this section and while the others, such as Milk, Obadiah Bruen's, Cow, Norawaie, Cormorant, and Eagle Islands have just as interesting, if more obscure traditions, they may not all be written here. Continuing down the coast a little way is Kettle Island, one of the prettiest islands along the Shore, and, moreover, one which has figured in the history of Manchester and Magnolia from the beginning, for was not the first settler at Magnolia (Kettle Cove), John Kettle, who built the very first dwelling in Manchester on the property, which is now included in the estate of the late Hon. T. Jefferson Coolidge? The island is quite reasonably supposed to have been named for John Kettle, as it is mentioned as Kettle Island in records as early as 1634, when five men of Salem were drowned in the vicinity. Another interesting island in this neighborhood is the picturesque, little Dana's Island, which lies in front of the first summer home of which Manchester ever boasted, that of the writer, Richard Henry Dana.

The islands of Marblehead Harbor vie with those of Gloucester in their treasures of traditions and legends. Cat Island, now known as Lowell's Island, was once the cause of a hot controversy between the residents of Marblehead and the governing powers of Salem. The latter, much against the wishes of former, decided to build a small-pox hospital there. After the erection of the building, more small-pox cases broke out, until the Marblehead people feared an epidemic, and the greatest intensity of feeling arose against "Castle Pox," as they ironically named the hospital on Cat Island. The crisis came early in 1775, when on the night of January twenty-sixth, a party of men, carefully disguised, rowed over to the island and burned the hospital to the ground. That animosity was not soon forgotten, however, seems to be evidenced by the treatment of a man named Clark, who, some time after, brought some clothing to the mainland from the island. The citizens were so incensed by his action that they took him from his bed at night, and tied him to the public whipping post, where he was unmercifully beaten.

An even more extravagant tale is connected with Charles Island in Little Harbor. The northwestern part of the island was leased to Edward Dimond, "shoreman," for thirteen shillings a year. Being somewhat of a recluse, he quickly became a man of mystery in the eyes of the quaint folk of y^e town^e of Marblehead, who called him "Old Dimond," and who supposed him to be a wizard. It was said that on windy, stormy nights, Old Dimond would go to the Burying Hill and, in the darkness, "beat about" among the gravestones, and, in a voice to be heard on the mainland, even above the roar of the storm, would give orders for his ships at sea. Woe betide the man who dared disobey Old Dimond's directions, for wreckage and sorrow speedily overtook him! His reputation as a wizard travelled until he was sought by people from distant places for advice, and Old Dimond never failed to help the honest and the righteous. The dishonest were quickly discouraged from visiting him, for his discernment of their sins was immediate and followed by punishment of a novel nature. A favorite example of this was his treatment of a luckless fellow, who came to him for advice after stealing wood from a poor widow. Old Dimond "charmed" him and, to make the punishment fit the crime, caused him to carry a heavy log of wood on his shoulder the whole night through.

It is a far cry from the beautiful "Mystery Isles" of today to the "Moulton's Misery" of yesterday. The Miseries, as the larger and smaller islands were called for many years, lie off West Beach at Beverly Farms, and have figured in New England annals from the time of Governor Winthrop, when he refers in his Journal to Little Misery, as "Little Isle." In his "Annals of Salem," Joseph B. Felt wrote that Salem had instructed the selectmen to see if "payment had been made for Moulton's Misery." Bentley's "Description of Salem" (1790) says the island was "early called Moulton's Misery from a shipwreck." It seems more than possible that this was so, for the passageway between the Miseries and Baker's Island, through which the ships were obliged to pass, was narrow and unlighted, and to miss it was certain destruction.

It has been, moreover, a common practice wherever ships have sailed the seas, to name rocks, reefs and ledges for wrecks, and the North Shore is replete with such instances, as witness, Norman's Woe, Rising States Ledge, Avery's Rock, and Bowditch's Ledge. Whether the "Moulton" was directly connected with the wreck, or whether it was simply the name of a family who lived on the island at the time, or afterwards, will probably never be known now that the mist of years has enveloped the truth so long. I have read somewhere that the name is associated with Robert Moulton, a master ship-carpenter, who was sent over by London adventurers in 1629. He had a descendant who was Secretary of War under President McKinley. It is certain that Robert Moulton never owned, nor occupied, the island, but it is believed that he may have leased it for ship-timber.

However the Miseries may have obtained their name, it is certain that they have had a history that has been ever interesting, ever varied. After the Court of Assistants had made all islands public property in 1631, Thomas Tyler, a son of the Masconomet, who sold the town of Ipswich to the white settlers, asserted claim to part of Misery Islands in spite of the decree of the Court, and he conveyed Greater Misery to Bartholomew Gale. The action was never recognized by the town authorities, however, who in 1678, leased the Miseries to Captain George Corwin. The erection of Captain Corwin's beautiful and valuable summer home was the beginning of a long period of gaiety and hospitality on Misery Island. It was probably the first resort of fashion along the North Shore, and their balls and parties must have been all that was courtly and ceremonious in colony life. The pity is that in the winter of 1782 the house was as completely and mysteriously demolished as if evil spirits had infested the island. The reasonable supposition is that it became fuel for British cruisers.

Colonel Franklin Haven of Beverly Farms purchased Little Misery in 1886, the same year in which the "Misery Island Syndicate" bought Greater Misery. The syndicate established a club with the appliances and means of amusement for yachtsmen on the island, and once again, after years of practical desertion, the shores of the island rang with festive sounds. The reunion of the Harvard classes of 1881, 1891, on the Island in June, 1901, and their golf, their al fresco luncheon, and more than all, their singing, are not yet forgotten. The latest chapter of the Miseries opened in 1909, when the name was changed to "Mystery Isles," and they passed into the hands of Edwin Garsia of Chestnut Hill. Mr. Garsia made many improvements on the Isles. New roads were constructed; shade trees and flowering shrubs were put out; on the larger island the Casino was built; a golf course was laid out; a wall joined the islands; and a swimming pool was constructed. It has grown steadily in popularity since that time, and is now a delightful resort, as yet unspoiled in its simplicity. Jacob Rogers of the famed Rogers family of Salem, is now the leading light in the management of the islands as a summer resort. An interesting contrast exists in the glowing 1915 prospectus of the Mystery Island Casino, and a copy of the Essex Gazette of 177-, wherein the advertisement of the sale of Moulton's Misery appears just over a notice of the sale of a "strong, likely young negro woman" together with her baby boy. A far cry, indeed, from the Mystery Isles of today to the Moulton's Misery of yesterday!

Ah! what pleasant visions haunt me
As I gaze upon the sea!
All the old romantic legends,
All my dreams, come back to me.

Most of all, the Spanish ballad
Haunts me oft, and tarries long,
Of the noble Count Arnaldos
And the sailor's mystic song.

Telling how the Count Arnaldos,
With his hawk upon his hand,
Saw a fair and stately galley,
Steering onward to the land.

In each sail that skims the horizon,
In each landward-blowing breeze,
I behold that stately galley,
Here those mournful melodies.

Till my soul is full of longing
For the secret of the sea,
And the heart of the great ocean
Sends a thrilling pulse through me.

—LONGFELLOW.

Motoring through the Woods at Manchester.

Of Interest to Motorists.

NORTH SHORE motorists driving to and from Boston and who wish to keep within a reasonable running time should avoid the newly rebuilt state road over Highland avenue from Salem to Floating bridge in Lynn. Although this stretch of highway has been built at a cost of $25,000 and is well laid out and constructed, it is not intended for extensive motor traffic or as a through route from the North Shore to Boston and beyond. This may be a surprise to some motorists who have thought this road was to be an additional one to the shore road which comes through Medford, Everett, Revere, Lynn and along the shore through Swampscott and on down to Beverly. On the other hand, the Highland avenue road is designed primarily to accommodate heavy traffic of non-motorized vehicles between Salem and Boston. Many a motorist coming from the North Shore has had, perhaps, the unpleasant experience of nearly colliding with a wagon laden with garden truck if he has strayed off the shore boulevard and finds himself on the marsh road from Lynn to Revere and Boston. Since the many accidents on the Newburyport turnpike from farm wagons colliding with automobiles it has been deemed advisable to have some road which would be free of motors and this old Salem turnpike has been refurbished with a thorough repairing with this object in view. The only motor route from Boston to the shore is as formerly, along the state boulevard.

-O-O-

With the fact that the improvement of Walnut and Elm streets in Salem, near Salem Common, will not be a reality for the present summer, at least, the same bothersome effort of motorists getting through Salem will be experienced. One real improvement has been made on Bridge street, Salem, immediately adjacent to the Beverly bridge, in cutting down several large elm trees which have always been a source of danger to traffic because of their projecting out into the street. They have been replaced with small maple trees. Although the removal of the great elms will make this thoroughfare an uncomfortably warm one, it is still an improvement.

-O-O-

Traffic regulations in Beverly and Salem will be practically the same this summer as last year. The system of "Bunker Hill white posts" will be in vogue in the Garden City and in Salem, traffic officers will be maintained in the same places. In Salem there will be an officer at Elm street, just beyond the Salem Common going into Boston; another at the corner of Essex and St. Peter streets and a third a hundred feet beyond at the corner of Essex and Central streets. Motorists early in the season should look for two motorcycle officers on Lafayette street in Salem, who are on the watch for overspeeding.

-O-O-

Motorists are appreciating the great improvement in Swampscott on the new addition to the boulevard on Humphrey street from Monument square to Puritan road. The street is 70 feet wide and is block-paved, the space between the double car tracks being faced with brick. From a point where the boulevard runs from Puritan road to the trolley turnout for about 600 yards the road has been paved with a coating of cement.

-O-O-

Puritan road, Swampscott, is closed temporarily while extensive repairs are being made to this motor thoroughfare.

-O-O-

The Manchester roads will be torn up during the early summer—between now and the first of July—while the main roadway between Manchester and Gloucester is being rebuilt. Some two miles is being built at a cost of $30,000. The work is being done under the auspices of the state engineer. The work starts at Coolidge's Point, Magnolia, coming west, and will extend to or beyond the Essex County club. For nearly half of the distance traffic will not be bothered other than taking the road along by the shore (Ocean st.) at Manchester Cove. There is no alternate road the rest of the distance. The work will be completed by the first of July.

The new motor road along by Revere Beach has been completed and is now open to traffic. The purpose of this road—which runs parallel with the Revere Beach boulevard, is to take through traffic off the beach boulevard during the rush. Motorists wishing to avoid the boulevard along the beach, will do well to use this new way.

In response to an appeal just received from the French Red Cross for sterilizing motors, which are highly useful near the battle lines for disinfecting purposes in and around field hospitals, the American Red Cross hopes to be able to furnish the French Red Cross enough money to buy one of these especially equipped automobiles. These machines cost $2,000 apiece, and out of its contingent fund the American Red Cross contributed $1000 towards the purchase of one. Mrs. Levi P. Morton has contributed $500 and Mrs. George Cabot Lodge, daughter-in-law of Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, has engaged to raise the remaining $500 to make up the price of the machine.

A new two-story summer dwelling has been erected for S. S. Clark of Malden in the village section of Nahant.

MAGNOLIA cottages are in great demand this year, especially since the big advance booking for the Oceanside has assumed one of the busiest summers in the history of that famous North Shore hotel. Through the Boardman office of Boston and Manchester four cottages have been rented the past few days. Mrs. Elizabeth A. Hyde of New York city has taken the Brinley cottage. The James E. Caldwells of Philadelphia have leased "Brier Rock," the attractive residence of the late Mrs. Wm. McMillan, on the point. Mr. and Mrs. John T. Willetts of New York have hired the Hayden cottage. A Southern family will occupy the James Lee cottage.

Mrs. Wm. H. Scudder of St. Louis and her daughter, Mrs. di Rosa of Boston, were at Magnolia yesterday, making preliminary plans for moving down for the summer.

Col. and Mrs. H. E. Russell of Boston are opening their cottage at Manchester Cove today for the season.

Mrs. Reginald H. Fitz and daughter of Boston plan to arrive at their cottage at West Manchester on the 15th of this month.

A. Tacoli, first secretary of the Italian embassy, has taken the Highland cottage on Sea street, Manchester, for the summer. The Ambassador is to be located at Beverly Farms.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel S. Simpkins, Jr. (Olivia Thorndike), who have been living at the John L. Thorndike estate, West Manchester, most of the winter, have returned to Beverly Farms, and are settled in one of the Arthur Little cottages, off Webster ave. Mr. and Mrs. Thorndike and Miss Alice Thorndike are to move down from Boston shortly. The stable on the estate is being built over into a garage.

THE Hood estate on Norton's Point, Manchester, occupied last year and the year before by the Austro-Hungarian ambassador, has been leased for the present season to Mrs. J. D. Safford of Springfield, the lease being made through the Boardman office.

The Charles Burrall Pikes of Chicago are among the new-comers to Manchester this year. They have taken Mrs. W. H. Howard's cottage at West Manchester, and are already settled there for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Stevens of 259 Beacon st., Boston, have taken a three years' lease of the Rabardy cottage on Ocean street, Manchester Cove.

Dr. and Mrs. Francis Lowell Burnett of Beacon st., Boston, arrived at Manchester yesterday for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Adamowski of Boston are to summer on the North Shore, having hired the Clark cottage, so-called, on the H. L. Higginson estate at West Manchester, through the Boardman agency.

Nahant is beginning to put on its summer dress and make ready for the busy season in store for all the North Shore resorts this year. Among the week's arrivals is Senator Lodge, who closed his residence in Washington and returned to his home in Nahant in season to "see the roses bloom," as he puts it. As the years pass and "the shadows lengthen" the Senator's love of home and loyalty to his native state increases, if that were possible. There is never anything the matter with Massachusetts; he loves to dwell upon her glorious past and to contemplate the fruitful present.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Peabody of Boston are leaving town on May 27 for Marblehead, where they will spend the summer.

THE Foster Cottage, in Lobster Lane, Magnolia, will be opened this season, as a summer shop, by the Women's Educational and Industrial Union, of Boston. The Union is planning to make this a place of great attractiveness, with little tables on the veranda and out under the elms, where afternoon tea, ices and cooling drinks will be served as well as the justly famous and delicious Union cakes and candies. Many of the specialties of the Union's Boston Food Shop will be on sale and automobile luncheons will be packed on short notice. Here also may be found a most fascinating array of models for children's dresses, coats and hats. The Union's designer has a real talent for originating charming styles for little folk, at the same time conforming to the strictest ideas of simplicity. There will be a place reserved for dolls, that will be dressed just like little boys and girls, books and all kinds of toys and the Union hopes that many children will be guests of the Summer Shop and find pleasure in its playthings.

Mrs. S. Fisher Corlies of Philadelphia, who has been spending the winter at 384 Commonwealth ave., Boston, is settled at Magnolia for the season. She has the upper MacDonald cottage.

Mrs. C. C. G. Thornton with her daughter, Miss Mary Thornton, are returning to the North Shore the first of next week to spend a long season at their Magnolia cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Prescott Rowe of Longwood, who had the Upper MacDonald cottage, so-called, at Magnolia Point last season, have taken the Houghton cottage on Norman avenue, Magnolia, for the coming season.

Mrs. A. Octavia Wilkins of Boston has opened "Villa," her Magnolia cottage for the season. The house is one of the most pleasantly situated places on Hesperus avenue.

"Villa Crest," at West Manchester, the summer home of the Walter D. Denégres of New Orleans, has been opened for the season. Mr. and Mrs. Denégre came on from New York, where they have been stopping at the Ritz-Carlton, last week-end, but they have gone away for another ten-day stay before settling permanently for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Warren Merrill, who have been spending the winter at 39 Bay State road, Boston, plan to open their summer home at Manchester on the 24th of this month.

Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Dewart of the Manchester colony have sold their country home on Brush hill, Milton, to James Lawrence of Walnut st., Milton, who buys for his own occupancy. The Dewarts now make their home in Boston, since Rev. Dewart became the rector of the Old North church.

Unique Plan Proposed at Mystery Island off Beverly Farms and Manchester-by-the-Sea

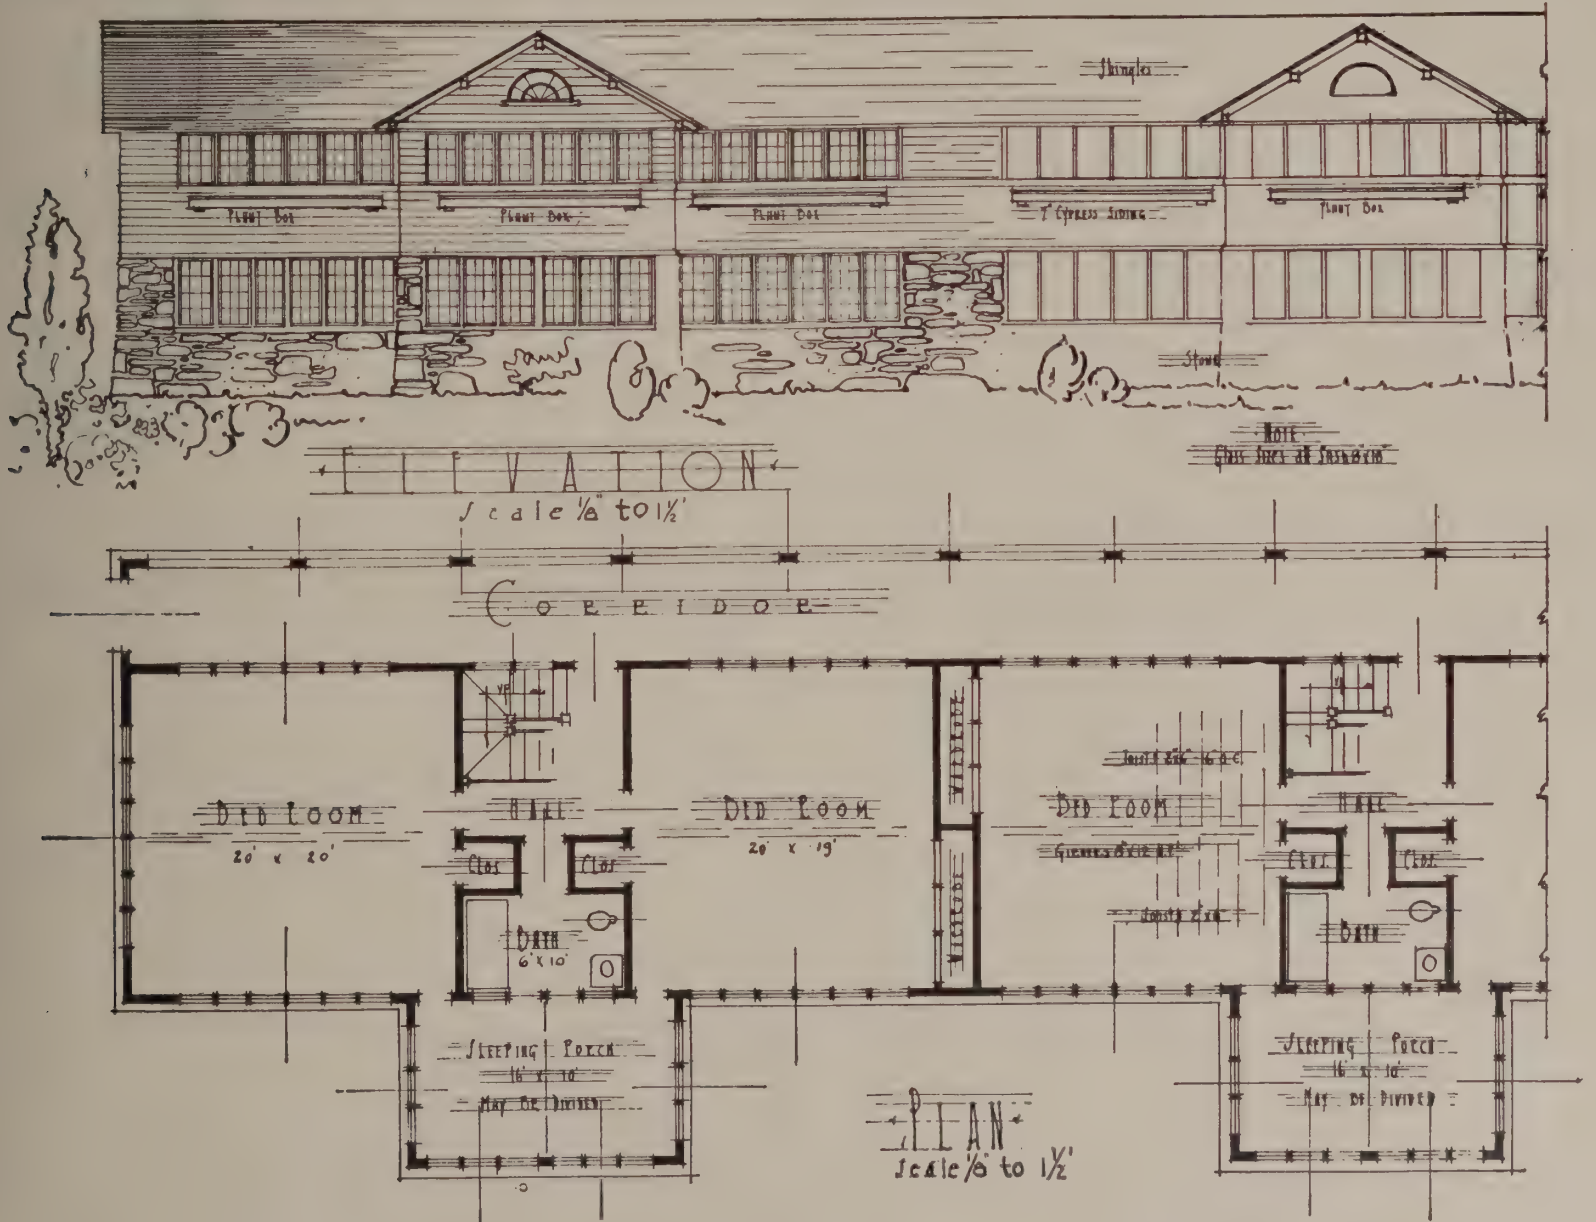

CASINO AND ANNEX, SWIMMING POOL AND TENNIS COURTS

THE Mystery Island Casino is expecting a very busy season this year as nearly all the rooms and cottages have already been engaged.

The management has had so many demands for accommodations which they were unable to fill during past seasons that it is proposed to build in connection with the Casino suites of two large rooms, 20x20, and bath, with a covered veranda 10x16, which can be used at night as a sleeping porch, giving guests all the comforts and privacy of a home without the cares of house-keeping. Meals will be served by the Casino either in the suites or at the Casino, which will be connected by a covered walk, as per plan.

The suites have been figured to cost $2000 each exclusive of the land. In order to finance the proposition it has been arranged to make a ten-year mortgage covering the land and building to secure bonds at the rate of $2000 a suite. Every subscriber to $2000 of the bonds will have the first privilege of leasing for ten years for $150 a season, which just covers the interest on the mortgage and taxes. Any suites not taken by the subscribers will be leased by the Casino at the same rate, so that the interest on the mortgage at the rate of 6% is assured. The suites are to be built in sections as per plan and each section will be laid out as soon as subscribed for.

BBROWNLAND COTTAGES at Manchester are booked to capacity for the summer. Among those who have taken apartments are: Charles F. Atkinson and sister, Boston, the Wheaton cottage; Mrs. John S. Newbold of Philadelphia, one floor of the Gannett cottage, and Thatcher Loring and family of Boston, the rest of the house. In the Greeley cottage, so-called, will be Mrs. Rufus F. Greeley and Miss Marion Greeley, of Boston; Mrs. Charles T. White and Miss Gertrude White, Boston; Franklin T. Phaelzer and family, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Langdon C. Stewardson, the former ex-president of Hobart college. In the main house will be the Misses Fabyan of Brookline; Misses Emily and Mary Sohler of Boston; Miss Annie Bradford, Philadelphia; Miss Florence M. Rhett and aunt of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Taylor and daughter, Miss Marcia Taylor, who have lived at the Brunswick hotel, Boston, the past winter, have arrived at their summer home, "Craigs," Smith's Point, Manchester, for the season. Francis M. Stanwood and family, who have lived in the Taylor house all winter, have settled in their own house nearby for the summer.

Howard Heinz and family of Pittsburg, who had "Ledgeleaf," the Harris bungalow on Proctor st., Manchester, two years ago, and were at the Oceanside, Magnolia, last season, have just leased "Ledgeleaf" for this season, through the Boardman agency of Boston and Manchester.

Jesse Koshland and family have arrived from Boston and are settled at their estate on Smith's Point, Manchester, for the summer.

Gordon Abbott and family are at their residence in West Manchester for a short stay, though they have not yet closed their Boston house for the season.

The death in Boston Sunday of Miss Fannie Bartlett, removed another of Manchester's greatly beloved summer residents. Miss Bartlett had been ill all winter, though it was not generally known her condition was so serious. She was the daughter of the late Matthew and Mary E. Bartlett. Miss Mary Bartlett, a sister, and Mr. Nelson S. Bartlett, a brother, both of the Manchester summer colony, survive her. Funeral services were held at 2.30 Wednesday afternoon, from her late residence, 227 Commonwealth ave.

With its hand hewn beams, and old fire places—several of them like that in the accompanying picture over nine feet long—and its furnishings of rare antiques, all of which are for sale, it is considered the most attractive Tea House in New England; famous for home-cooked lobster and chicken dinners, and delicious cakes. OPENS SATURDAY, MAY 29

G. H. BRACKETT,
Ownership Management

MARBLEHEAD is rapidly coming into the summer stride. Its hotels, yacht clubs and many summer residences both on the Neck and mainland are being put into shape for summer dwellers and already many have come to that bend of the shore for the season.

The Corinthian Yacht club is in the hands of painters and kindred mechanics at present, being made ready for the opening on Saturday, May 22, two weeks from tomorrow. With plenty of racing on the schedule for those who are among the ardent yachtsmen there will be plenty to excite the interest of visitors to that clubhouse. There will be much entertaining this season and it is not being too optimistic to judge that it will be one of the biggest years ever, from a social standpoint.

The Eastern Yacht club has had its shutters removed this week and like its brother club farther down the harbor is being put in readiness for the opening day, to come on Saturday, the 29th. Memorial day will be a busy one at the Eastern, this probably being the formal opening day of the season. The grounds are in excellent shape this year and the tennis courts built last season are in excellent condition after a winter which has not been characterized by any great measure of severe weather along the coast.

The Oceanside hotel on Marblehead Neck is to open this summer on May 28th, the Friday before the holiday. Advance bookings for this house are decidedly encouraging and a season far above the ordinary is in prospect. Manager Lane does not believe in being too optimistic, but reservations for June and July make things look decidedly favorable.

Vincent Astor has been Marblehead's most distinguished visitor for the last few days. With Mrs. Astor he has been on the North Shore seeing his new aeroyacht being tested at the yards of Burgess Co. & Curtis. Mr. Astor came by motor to Marblehead from his country home in Rinebeck, N. Y., but has been obliged to return for business reasons. Mr. and Mrs. Astor have been familiar figures on the shore as a result of their interest in aviation, having taken a spin in their car along the shore each morning. Because of the prevailing easterly winds Mr. Astor did not attempt any flights at Marblehead, even as a passenger. Clifford L. Webster, the intrepid young aviator, has been testing the Burgess-Dunne hydroaeroplane. It is said that Mr. Astor will pay $14,000 for the machine and he intends to take lessons at his New York state summer home until he is proficient in the art of operating it himself. The machine is a regular Burgess-Dunne make, with several added and peculiar features. The seats are arranged tandem, as in the regular type, but are housed in so that the main pontoon with the seats resembles a speed launch more than anything. In the air it looks like a flying boat and is the first of its kind to be constructed.

BOSTON

Hotel Rock-Mere at Marblehead on the mainland is out for one of the best seasons it has ever had since its initial opening several years ago. It is going to be a big year along the Marblehead shore. Hotel bookings are way above the average and guests are planning to stay for longer periods than before. Season guests are in the majority. The Rock-Mere is in better condition to please its guests than ever. Many improvements have been made on the house and grounds, one feature being the addition the past winter of many more private baths. The fact that yachting will be enjoyed at Marblehead more this season than in any other part of the coast will bring many enthusiasts of the water sport to this section. The Rock-Mere has always been a recreation center for yachtsmen and their friends. It is situated directly on the water's edge and overlooks the Corinthian and Eastern Yacht clubs across the harbor. From its broad verandas one can follow the races when they are run off on the Marblehead course. The roster of guests who have signified their intention of coming to the Rock-Mere this summer contains many families representative of the wealth and fashion of the country. Western people in particular have a great liking to the Marblehead shore and make the Rock-Mere their headquarters. The Rock-Mere opens on Saturday, May 29 for the season. As in previous years the hotel will have as a feature, soloists from the Boston Symphony orchestra. The popular thés dansants will be held every Wednesday afternoon during July and August from 3 to 5 o'clock, tables for which will be reserved in advance. Luncheon will be served on the broad verandas facing the yachting course.

The Hotel Ocean-Manor on Marblehead Neck will be missed by motorists this summer, as it has not been rebuilt following the fire of last fall. This house will probably be re-built for next season, however. Its site is probably be re-built for next season, however. Its site is directly on the yachting course. It is better known as the old Nanepashemet, under which name it was run for several years. Next year will probably see another house there, built country club style, a low rambling structure with comfort as its highest aim.

The old Col. Lee mansion on Washington street, Marblehead, is a house visited by hundreds of summer tourists each year. It has already been opened to the public. It is situated directly opposite the famous Abbott hall in the seaside town.

Marblehead has a new garage for this season, called the State Street garage. It is already open under the management of Walter P. Nichols and is a spacious and up-to-date auto station. It is built according to the latest laws governing garages and is strictly fireproof throughout. The garage measures 80 by 50 feet and will accommodate 35 cars. There is an entrance on State street and an exit leads into Front street.

The boat yards about Marblehead are busy places these days. At the Stearns & McKay yards indications point to a lively yachting season, as comparatively few crafts will be allowed to accumulate dust in the sheds this summer. R. B. Bird of New York has purchased the "Amoret" from Cornelius Wood; it will go into commission at once. Mr. Bird will take the "Amoret" around the Cape in a few days. At the same yards the cruising sloop of Fred O. Fish is being put in readiness for launching and will go over in a few days.

The "Pellegrina" has been purchased by Seward Prosser of New York from Robert Tolland and Capt. Pettican, who will sail her, has arrived from England. The captain is an able and experienced seaman, having won the Queen's cup twice while sailing for Walter Abbott in English waters. The "Pellegrina" has been re-finished inside and out.

Deed has been recorded at the Salem registry of deeds transferring title in the W. A. Bullard property at Marblehead Neck to William S. Bigelow of New York, a summer resident. The property comprises a frame dwelling and about 14,400 square feet of land on Ocean avenue and fronts on the ocean. There is a garage with 3,000 feet of land adjoining it. Mr. Bigelow intends to improve the property. The sale was negotiated through the office of George A. Dill of Boston.

Miss Julia T. Sherman of Buffalo, N. Y., has arrived at her summer home in the McQuesten cottage on Manley street, Marblehead Neck.

Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Atkins and Mrs. Rebecca Atkins of Cambridge were recent arrivals in the Marblehead summer colony.

I. Wit of Brookline has leased the Weston cottage on Follett street, Marblehead Neck, for the season.

Howard C. Brigham of Marlboro was a week-end visitor at Marblehead Neck.

Mr. and Mrs. David C. Percival of Boston visited their summer estate, "Greycourt," on Marblehead Neck this week. They will open their home for the season shortly.

The L. H. Spauldings of Boston were down to their cottage on Ocean avenue last Sunday, preparatory to opening it for the summer.

Mrs. Frederick C. Ramsey of Patchesham Park, Surrey, Eng., has come to Devereux to spend the month of May with her daughter, Mrs. Henry Gideon. Mr. and Mrs. Gideon have been occupying the house of Dr. John Goodwin since February 1, and will remain until June. Mrs. Gideon's sister, Miss Vera Ramsey, is visiting her uncle, Rev. W. H. Ramsey of Wellesley Hills. She has the distinction of having defeated at golf recently Miss Mabel Harrison, seven times champion of Ireland.

SWAMPSCOTT is emerging from its winter retreat and is blossoming out into the summer resort atmosphere. Hotels are preparing to serve their guests and summer residents are already invading the quietude of this part of the shore.

The Tedesco Country club at Swampscott is assuming the greater part of the life of this section in the early season. The full 18-hole golf course was opened up last Sunday with many players on the links. The tennis courts have been unusually busy for so early in the season. Many members are motoring from Boston, Brookline and the suburbs, which is made all the more inviting by the great improvements in the roads leading to Swampscott. Last Saturday evening 19 of the members had two and three guests each at dinner and a dance following.

The Simon Vorenbergs of Boston were visitors at their Swampscott summer home on Puritan road this week and plan to open their residence for the season within a fortnight.

The Lincoln house, Swampscott, will be run under the same management this year as last, Roy F. Bergengren of Lynn being the proprietor. It will probably open about the 10th of June.

A novel shop at Swampscott is the new headquarters of B. F. Buzzell, the antique dealer. In about two or three weeks this shop will be called "The Whittier Kitchen" in a location at the corner of Humphrey and Marshall streets, a short distance from the junction of Puritan road and Humphrey street. Besides an extensive line of antiques on exhibition, there will be a tea and luncheon room for the patronage of summer residents and tourists to that section. A replica of the famous Whittier kitchen will be one of the features of the house. The original Judge Baldwin dining room in Allston, with its quaint styles of furniture, will be included in another exhibition; it was purchased when the old mansion was demolished. The present store is at 436 Humphrey street.

SOME ASSOCIATION OF CITIZENS should start a campaign of safety first for automobilists. The railroads of the country have been very successful in their campaigns for safety and the money expended in publicity has been well invested. Incidentally attention has been given the automobile and its dangers. Diagrams of possible conditions under which accidents could occur have been freely distributed, but a wider and more definite campaign should be launched. The large number of avoidable accidents that are reported every day is appalling and a “safety” educational campaign would be well worth while. Automobilists should exercise care, more care, and then be careful. A high power motor is a dangerous vehicle and it should be handled with skill and every precaution taken. The state governments might well unite in bearing the expenses of a commission to study the problem and to prepare a small volume of safety principles to be distributed to every automobilist that registers. The State of Massachusetts has issued a “book” of laws. This is in the line of information and has been effective in its work, but a smaller volume of succinct and definite instruction could be prepared that would help the problem. Pedestrians also need instruction. The operators of automobiles are not the only transgressors. It is surprising how many foolish things motorists see pedestrians do in the course of a day’s run. A certain number of accidents are avoidable, but as has been demonstrated in railroad matters many an accident can be avoided by a little care.

SUPPLIES OF DISTINCTIVE QUALITY

With this in view, we carefully investigated the different brands of ham and bacon, and found that in the last four years one brand had shot into prominence because of an unusual cure, which appears to be an improved form of a formula used for ham curing in Vermont. The process results in a ham which is entirely free from superfluous salt and unusually tender. Its exceptional tenderness is said to be due to the mild curing system, which permits the meat to age properly and during this process its delicious flavor is developed. This is supplemented by smoking in the old-fashioned way with corncobs. The bacon, following the same general process, is cured in its own juices in air-sealed containers. We supply it in the strip, in wide or narrow form, or SLICED READY TO USE in one and five-pound boxes. In hams we recommend the family sizes, from ten to fourteen pounds, or sliced to your order.

GLoucester and all of the Cape Ann resorts are prepared for 1915, which, according to present indications promises to be a hustling one. Application for rooms at the various hotels have been most encouraging to the proprietors and over fifty per cent. of the summer homes have been rented thus far, which exceeds the demand of several previous seasons. There have been much building operations, especially at East Gloucester where the greatest amount of the summer business is realized.

The green on the wild rose bushes and the hedges and the delicate white bloom of the wild pear tell us that the season has been ushered in. Already cottagers have arrived in different sections while many hotels are open receiving guests. Warm appropriate weather is eagerly anticipated by those in the summer hotel business and taking the European situation into consideration as applied to travelers, one of the biggest and earliest seasons ever, is the word passed along. While places have been taken up by the summer folk, there is generally accommodations arranged for people desirous of coming here, therefore Gloucester citizens deem it the wisest idea to hold as a slogan, "Room in Gloucester!"

The "Build Now" Campaign in Gloucester has found two advocates among the hotel keepers in East Gloucester, besides the local land owners and several fine new houses have been erected by local contractors. The hotels receiving extensive improvements are the Merrill Hall, on Eastern Point Road and the Thorwald at Bass Rocks.

Merrill Hall was one of the earliest hotels in East Gloucester, being formerly known as Craig Cottage, when conducted by its owner, the late Mrs. Mary E. Merrill. It has been almost entirely made over by extensive additions and improvements. The office and parlor on the first floor have been thrown into one, a long comfortable foyer being the result, with a fine large fireplace which guests so much enjoy. The dining room has been enlarged several feet and new sleeping rooms and private baths have been added on the upper floors and in the big annex of the hotel. The enlarged piazza is an attractive feature of the hostelry. Ezra L. Phillips was the architect and Simon Garland, the contractor. Merrill Hall is situated at the summit of Patch's Hill and is really at the entrance of the Eastern Point summer hotel section, the Harbor View being a neighboring hostelry at the foot of the hill. Merrill Hall is managed by Mrs. Grace Buell and her son, George Crosby. The house will open the first of June for the season.

A large new summer home for S. K. Ames of Melrose, the well known owner of the extensive chain of butter and egg stores in New England, has just been completed and the owner will take occupancy in a very short time. The house is located on a picturesque site near "Sunset Rocks," so-called, at Eastern Point, facing the Niles Beach and Boulevard, and commanding a fine view of the harbor. The lower story of the structure is of field stone, the upper part being of stucco, with a long, overhanging roof of slate. A broad piazza, 14 feet wide and 70 feet long is a feature, and at one end of the house, the piazza is uniquely built out to an angle which afford a much more extensive view of the beautiful surrounding scenery. The house contains 16 or more rooms. On the first floor are the large living room, dining room, den, kitchen, pantries, maids' bedrooms and two baths. A laundry is in the basement. On the second floor are six chambers, two baths and a large open sleeping porch. A big garage of stone and stucco, kindred to the general architecture of the residence, is built a short distance towards the golf links road and will accommodate three cars. E. L. Phillips of Gloucester was the architect and Mr. Ames' force of employees built the house.

At Eastern Point, beyond the golf links, the former Edward C. Eliot residence has been changed into a spacious summer dwelling, the work of remodeling having been completed recently. The new owner of the estate is W. A. Coursen of Oak Ridge, Marietta, Ga. This estate adjoins the property of ex-Congressman J. Sloat Fassett of Elmira, N. Y. It is a 12-room house, with garage, and has its own ocean frontage, being one of the very few lots on the ocean located between the boulevard and the sea wall. Mr. Coursen and family will occupy the house searly this season. The newly added living room with its mammoth fireplace and broad windows, commands a magnificent view of Massachusetts Bay.

Farther along from the golf links, to Grape Vine Cove, a pretentious summer cottage has been erected for John Bowler, the millionaire brewer of Worcester. The house is located on Mr. Bowler's estate, at the rear of his picturesque summer residence "High Cliff Lodge." The new house is named "Warrington Villa" and has been presented, it is understood, to his daughter, Mrs. R. L. Royce (nee Emma Bowler). The house has 12 rooms and baths and large sleeping porch, and a broad veranda facing the ocean. The chimneys are built of field stone. A Worcester architect drew the plans and I. P. Fears' Sons, contractors, of Rockport, built the house. "Warrington Villa" is now being attractively furnished. There is also a spacious new garage on the grounds.

On Grape Vine Road, coming from Eastern Point Road, a commodious and costly residence has just been completed for Mr. and Mrs. William T. Gamage. The house erected on a solid ledge is built of tile and fire-proof, and the roof is of purple and green mottled slate. The house contains 15 or more rooms and there is a garage. E. L. Phillips was the architect and Simon Garland, the builder. Mr. and Mrs. Gamage will occupy their new residence this month. Mrs. Gamage is the daughter of Editor Hastings of the Lynn Item and Mr. Gamage is a member of the Gorton-Pew Fisheries concern of Gloucester.

Mrs. Mary B. (Jackson) Rathbone, widow of the late Robert C. Rathbone, has arrived at the Rathbone colonial summer home "Hacienda," located on the Niles Beach boulevard. Mr. Rathbone, who was a prominent insurance man of New York, died in that city during the winter. He will be greatly missed from the summer colony.

The large schooner yacht Constance of Boston, owned by Armory Gardner brother of Congressman A. P. Gardner of Hamilton, is at the Rock Neck railways, Gloucester Harbor, for her annual overhauling. The yacht is named for the Congressman's daughter Miss Constance Gardner.

The Summer schedule of the Gloucester and Annisquam Yacht clubs will be very attractive again this season and the many prominent summer resident members will enter the races. The schedules will soon be in readiness for distribution.

The John Hays Hammonds are expected early in June at their home, "Lookout Hill," Fresh Water Cove, Gloucester. Mrs. Hammond has been in rather poor health and is now in New Jersey after her extended stay at Hot Springs. Mr. Hammond has been in New York this winter, as has also his son, John Hays Hammond, Jr., for the past several weeks.

BASS ROCKS is also being prepared for a busy season. Extensive improvements to Hotel Thorwald include an additional story to the big annex of the hostelry. This addition has ten new sleeping rooms and six bath rooms. The annex now includes 54 rooms. Although there are five stories to the annex, on account of the slope of the ground and the raise of the hotel veranda, the new rooms will be only three flights up from the hotel office. The new rooms are in natural finish. Much appreciated features will be single rooms with bath, and all the sleeping rooms will have attractive lattice doors with locks, so that guests may have the advantage of the circulation of air. H. L. Torrey of East Gloucester was the contractor.

On Page street, Bass Rocks, a new summer residence has been completed by James U. Cranton, builder, of Gloucester, for Malcolm Farmer of Brookline, a Bass Rocks summer resident of years' standing. This 13-room artistic home will be occupied shortly by Mr. and Mrs. Farmer for the season. A fine veranda taking up the entire front side of the house, commanding a splendid view of the golf links, and the sea beyond, is an attractive feature. The house is nearly square and of dignified lines. H. M. Hanson of Gloucester was the architect.

Farther up, on Page street, ground has been broken for a new cottage on the estate of Dr. J. H. Broughton of Boston. The structure will be the second house on Dr. Broughton's property. The first house is receiving an addition and the Paul family of Baltimore will take occupancy this season.

The Moorland cottages on Atlantic Road, south of the hotel, have all received improvements, by the house carpenters. The most important improvement to the Moorland property is the addition of 20 feet to the casino, making that building a most commodious one for the largely attended social affairs at the resort. A recent brush fire endangered the casino, the flames reaching within nearly a foot from the wood foundation before extinguished by the fire department. The former long veranda facing the tennis court, where afternoon teas are often held, has also been extended the 20 feet.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh J. Dennin of Jacksonville, Fla., have opened their cottage "Wyoming" on Beach avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Baker of Houston, Texas, the former a prominent attorney, will occupy the Seth Mendell cottage on Atlantic Road this season.

EASTERN POINT, East Gloucester, hotels now open are the Rockaway, Pilgrim House, Harbor View, Delphine, Fairview and Mailman House. Guests are coming gradually. The college students made their usual spring visit here. The Rockaway, Rocky Neck was the mecca for the great majority. There were 57 from Simmons college, 12 from Wellesley, eight from Radcliffe and also eight men from Technology. Ralph and Otis Dana of Brookline are now stopping at the Rockaway.

The Rockaway has a novel addition in its newly erected tea house. This building 20x30 feet, to which a piazza has been added, was the cabin of a large ship which was wrecked during the past year at Eastern Point, near the lighthouse. The tea houses will not be in operation this season, but next year Proprietor Publi-cover plans to make it a feature of his hostelry, besides building a new casino on the Pagoda Rocks, on the attractive harbor front. New cement walks have been laid about the hotel this spring.

George S. Noyes the Boston artist, who with his family was at the Rockaway, has leased the studio cottage of Col. Charles F. Wonson on Rocky Neck. The Noyes will arrive early in the season at East Gloucester.

Mrs. Lawrence of New York has taken the residence of Commodore Benjamin H. Colby of the Gloucester Yacht club, situated on Wiley street, near the clubhouse, for the season. Mrs. Lawrence and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ingo Simons, have been located at the Colby house the past winter. They will stay here till next October. Last season they occupied the E. P. Wonson cottage at Grape Vine Cove. Mr. Simons is a grand opera singer. The wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Simons last summer was a society event at the Hawthorne Inn. The Lawrences were guests at the Inn for many seasons.

The Hawthorne Inn will open the first of June and Proprietor George O. Stacy has a large booking for early guests at this popular summer abiding place. Already the large Hawthorne Inn casino has a festive atmosphere, many attractive dancing parties being held there each week by various social organizations of Gloucester.

The family of Colonel Sidney Hedges of Boston is at the Hedge's cottage, Eastern Point.

Mrs. Annie Weeks and three daughters of Bristol, N. H., are at the beautiful Weeks Spanish villa at Eastern Point, near the new Ames summer residence. The late Mr. Weeks was owner of extensive paper mills in Bristol.

Rev. J. S. Williamson and wife of Lansing, Mich., are at their lovely villa at Eastern Point, occupied for several seasons by the Siamese Legation. Rev. Mr. Williamson is a prominent clergymen of Lansing formerly of Haverhill. Owing to ill-health, the pastor has been granted a two months leave of absence from his church and no doubt he will find beneficial rest at this delightful spot at Eastern Point. Besides the Eastern Point cottage the Williamsons own "Gray Gables" at Grape Vine Cove occupied by ex-Governor John Dix of New York last season, and "Brown Boulders" at Bass Rocks.

Mrs. S. A. Raymond and son Jack were recently at the Rouse Mansion, "The Ramparts," at Eastern Point, from Cleveland, O. The Raymonds will come again in June for the season. Mrs. Raymond is mourning the loss of her husband, the late Samuel A. Raymond, who died in Cleveland during the winter.

PIGEON COVE. The season of 1915 promises to be a very successful one at Pigeon Cove. Cottagers are beginning to arrive and servants are at several houses preparing them for the occupancy of their owners. The Hotel Edward, which is the leading social center for the wealthy clientele, will open in June under the usual management of Louis Wilson.

THE NORTH SHORE of Massachusetts is the most attractive shore resort in the United States and it has an enviable world-wide reputation. As a summer place it has no equal. Nature has been kind and man has been quick to realize her beneficial gifts. This shore has attracted men of wealth and good judgment as the one spot in all the world for a summer place. Some ambitious newspaper men and novelists have called it the gold coast. It is the character of the shore, however, that has attracted the wealth of the world. Never have the charms of the shore been unknown, but the last fifty years has seen a transformation that has been unrivaled in the history of America. There are other charming shore resorts along the eastern American coast from Long Island sound to the coast of Canada, but the shore and for ten miles inland from Beverly to Rockport is unrivaled. The open sea, rugged rocky promontories, long sandy beaches, wooded points and hills are all attractive. On this coast is found that unusual combination of shore and country, the tree growths in some places running down to the very shore lines. The June skies and summer cloud effects are of world repute; travelers have compared them favorably with the Italian skies. Fortunate, indeed, is the man whose lot in life affords him the privilege of enjoying nature's bounty. No one has seen America who has not seen the North Shore.

IN NATURE the week has meant much. All of the signs of spring have now become common place and budding trees and opening flowers do not create quite the enthusiasm they did a week of more ago. The forsythia is holding its own, still. The children are searching the woodland hills and finding hepatica in quantities. The marsh marigold has long been poking sunny heads out of stagnant pools and running swamp streams. The dogged tooth violet has been blooming in profusion for two weeks. It is time the summer residents were turning to the Shore. The city has had its day. Now the country place will hold the centre of interest for six months.

THE PURCHASE by H. C. Erick of a portrait of Thomas Cromwell, by Holbein, for his private art gallery adds another treasure to his already rich art possessions. America should be grateful that there are men interested in the art treasures of the world and have the means and the interest to collect them from the ends of the earth to enrich American possessions.

THE CITY OF BEVERLY has two banks, Manchester has its own centre and Beverly Farms is to have a branch bank. These facts alone tell the story of a growing North Shore.

THE CLEAN-UP AND PAINT-UP agitation is but a new name for an old-fashioned custom,—spring house-cleaning.

WATCH NEW HAVEN come back!

SOUTH AMERICA is now being considered by the merchants and manufacturers of America as a new outlet for American goods because of the limitations put upon business operations by the war in Europe. America has already been asleep too long to the opportunities which are to be found in the continent to the South. Europe has been industrious in plying its trade with America and has been careful to cultivate the friendship of South American people. Arrogant and conceited as the Americans have been in their southern relations there are still opportunities to redeem the past and seize the future. The American merchants have been blind to the opportunities of the South American continent and the national policy of the country has not always been conciliatory or civil. With all of America's boasted faith in liberty, equality and fraternity it must remember that the South American people love the same privileges and resent discriminations. Roger W. Babson in his address to the Brotherhood at Manchester Monday made a strong plea for the South American continent and its people. The men of Manchester now have a clearer idea of the opportunities of South America than they ever have had. Mr. Babson made a careful study of the trade opportunities of South America and has returned equipped with a fund of valuable information that will help create a new interest in South America and its possibilities.

THE BOSTON OPERA COMPANY made a "gamey" fight,—only to lose. It is a pity that the enterprise that has been so successful from the standpoint of artistic endeavors could not have been made to pay financially. The Opera Company served the musical public efficiently, but the lovers of music did not rise to the opportunities. The passing of the company puts an end for a while to Boston's opera ambitions. It is a thousand pities that such an educational enterprise could not have been successful.

ALL WASHINGTON has been stirred by the news that the United States tanker Gulflight has been sunk by a German torpedo. The incident is disconcerting and somewhat embarrassing to our State department, but the average citizen may go about his daily tasks without apprehension; the state department will be able to peacefully adjust matters. What a chance the "yellow journals" had.

NATURE IS PRODIGAL with yellow these spring days. What is more beautiful than the long sweeping branches of the newly budded willows? Among the wild flowers yellow is prominent; note the dandelion, marsh marigold and the forsythia.

CALIFORNIA AND THE WEST are good places to visit, but the North Shore is the place to live.

IT IS A WISE MERCHANT that knows the possibilities of his own field.

ITALY STILL "keeps 'em guessing."

THE SCHOOL GARDEN that came into vogue a few years ago has now become a regular feature of school work. The wisdom of acquainting the child with the mysteries and possibilities of the soil cannot be gainsaid. One of the chief joys of country life come by appreciating nature. The beauties and delights of the natural world afford the world of men much pleasure. The art of appreciation can be developed. Nothing will awaken the mind of the child better than a little garden of his "very own." When the "earlie" settlers approached our New England shores they saw the land and smelled the land winds laden with the "smell of the garden" and the good dames had brought with them seeds of English flowers to plant in the garden lands of the new country. Gardens were one of the earliest pleasures of the new land. The children of another generation may enter into all the joys of country life through the gateway of the "tiny" garden. To appreciate nature and the skill of the master gardener there is no better teacher than a garden planted and cared for as one's own. The children should be encouraged in school garden work and even the prosy necessity of weeding will not be without its instruction; nowhere can the importance of care, and care for small things, be taught better to a child. In even a little garden, care and neglect show themselves so quickly that one of the primary lessons of life is taught in a convincing and interesting way.

THE UNITED STATES has begun to study the dye question seriously, and it looks now as though the new infant industry will be able to succeed. The European war has upset American textile work and all allied industries that have been directly or indirectly dependent upon dyestuffs. For economical reasons America has always looked to Germany for its supplies of dyestuffs. The war has ended the trade and America has been thrown upon its own resources and the dye question has been serious. If America can develop its dye industries until they become a success we will have gained something these depressing days.

THE CONVICTION is now growing that peace is a long way off. The plans of all of the belligerents may be read without great errors. These plans have not been executed and until some definite gains have been made there can be no peace. The Allies are determined to clear Belgium of the Germans. The Germans are determined to get to the sea. The Russians have only begun their operations in Germany and the allies have mapped out a plan of operations in the Dardanelles that will take time. There is nothing to indicate an early peace.

THE LEGISLATURE may well be economical, but it is an open question whether this should begin on the appropriations for the state institutions. There is a form of retrenchment that is wholesome, but over-economy in the appropriations for the care of the indigent may throw upon the state burdens unforeseen.

THE STATEMENT by A. Piatt Andrew that the French have buried more soldiers who have been killed in the war than Great Britain now has in the field is significant. The French are a plucky race, if they do not seek publicity.

WELLINGTON BRIDGE is open at last and motorists can again reach Boston without a detour.

THE LITTLE FOLK have found their first woodland violets.

SECRETARY MEYER has made an attack upon the Daniels administration of naval affairs. The attack appears to be political rather than personal; it is a conflict of ideas as to policy in naval affairs. It is well that the Navy should be open to public criticism. The navy is the strong arm of peace, and negligence in this branch of our national affairs would be serious. The policy of expenditures for naval purposes have not been great. No one denies the expense that is involved in maintaining a navy. Every lover of peace would welcome the day when the investments that are sunk in gigantic naval enterprises could be stopped. But the international situation is such that the lovers of peace cannot but know that progress must be made and that the naval equipment should be increased. Militarism is a pernicious and destructive policy for any government. It arouses false ideas of national patriotism and is an insidious poison working harm not alone to the state as a unit of government, but to the citizen as an individual; and the monetary harm done is the least of all the considerations against it. A progressive naval policy does not mean that the nation shall turn itself over to a militaristic propaganda; it means that this country must be able to protect itself in order to avoid the very entanglements that are feared. There is, of course, a danger in a large naval force with militaristic ambitions, but such dangers are less than the perils of an unprepared navy. With a national government devoted to the idea of a small standing army a strong and effective navy is doubly necessary.

C. W. BARRON, in the volume fresh from the press entitled "The Audacious War," gives it as his opinion that a war between Germany and Russia was inevitable at the end of two years. Two years, because at that time a commercial treaty which Germany had enjoyed before this war began, expired. The terms of that commercial treaty have always been humiliating to Russia. Under the conditions that have existed Russia has never been able to shake itself free of the iron hand. Russia saw the shadows of coming events and realized that Germany would insist upon the treaty being renewed upon the old terms and Russia has also known that such a renewal would be impossible and that Germany would force the issue and so would Russia even to the necessity of war. The war that was inevitable came two years earlier than anticipated. As matters stood in the early days of the war the advantage was Germanic; but the unexpected happened, Great Britain declared war. This upset all the calculations of Germany. But it is fortunate for the future world's peace that the conflict has so many belligerent nations. A speedy peace is more likely than in a drawn out contest between Russia and Prussia. The war is audacious, but it has some compensations. Americans are neutral, but Americans are not so neutral but what they can wish that Germany had waited with more patience and learned the lessons of peace and arbitration.

ONE OF THE MOST objectional qualities of human nature is that of religious bigotry. How fortunate it is that progress is being made and all religious men are beginning to respect the religious rites and interests of others. Toleration and brotherly kindness are the very life of religion.

IT IS TIME NOW for political aspirants to read Secretary Langtry's political calendar.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE NOTES

An interesting Anti-Suffrage, Anti-Socialist rally under the auspices of the Men's Anti-Suffrage league was held Saturday, May first at eight o'clock in Fanieul hall, Boston. The Hon. John A. Sullivan presided, Mrs. A. T. George and T. Mitchell Galvin were among those who spoke.

It will be of interest to the readers of the North Shore Breeze to hear that Mrs. William Lowell Putnam spoke on "Motherhood" at the regular Friday afternoon meeting of the Anti-Suffrage association, 685 Boylston st., Boston. Mrs. Putnam's talk was particularly significant because of the approach of Mother's Day, Sunday, May second. Following Mrs. Putnam's talk Miss McCearry spoke on Anti-Suffrage and Mrs. Felix Fox, Mrs. Georgie K. Lassell and Miss Marion Fox entertained musically.

Candy, cake and home-made preserves were on sale, and the cordial welcome which is ever present at the Anti-Suffrage rooms was extended to all.

—C. E. O.

The Manchester Branch of the Massachusetts Anti-Suffrage association held a large meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harry W. Purington, School street, when Miss Edith Melvin of Concord was the speaker of the afternoon. Miss Melvin gave a concise and comprehensive address, speaking first of the reasons for the founding of an Anti organization. The accepted theory seems to be that "silence gives consent," and it was to prevent this theory from becoming current with regard to the suffrage question that a society in opposition was founded. Miss Melvin spoke of the large number of Anti-Suffragists in the Commonwealth, and made mention of the Drury bill, which would have given every woman of voting eligibility an opportunity to express her opinion. The suffragists were greatly opposed to the bill and worked against it.

Some of Miss Melvin's statistics were very enlightening, especially on the statement that woman suffrage is "bound to come." Michigan was considered quite a suffrage stronghold during the campaign of 1913, and in the whole state there were only two papers, which were anti-suffrage. Nevertheless, the question was defeated by 96,144. Suffrage was defeated in Ohio by 87,455 in 1912, by 182,905 in 1914. There are 1,131,000 women over 21 years of age in Massachusetts, and in their 50 years of agitation the suffragists have enrolled only 55,000 members (including men and minors), while in 20 years the anti-suffragists have obtained a membership of 31,160 women of voting age, which number is, of course greatly augmented by the Junior league and the Men's league. The total number of women voters in the United States is 700,000, while there are in Massachusetts alone, 1,131,000 woman of voting age.

Miss Melvin expressed her belief in the need of an improved rather than an increased, but different electorate. She quoted the dissatisfaction which a prominent man suffragist of Boston has expressed with the suffrage methods. He criticized severely the laxity on the part of the suffragists, which allowed 16 year old girls to sell suffrage papers and to accost men with a request that they vote pro-suffrage on the streets.

Miss Melvin dwelt somewhat on the question of the fitness of men and women for their widely differing, but cooperative, duties in life. The men to be the providers and protectors, and the women to be the home makers and the keepers, is the normal and ideal mode of living.

A good citizen is developed through an understanding of the meaning of personal honor, and of the fundamentals of life, and not by the right to cast a ballot. Female suffrage does not seem to have worked toward the purification of politics, prohibition, or the abolition of child labor, judging from conditions in those states where woman has the ballot, as contrasted with man-suffrage states. In San Francisco there are today 35,000 saloons, and many public dance halls of a not altogether desirable character are springing up about the Exhibition grounds. The four women, who are in the Colorado legislature voted for the much-discussed race-track law. Suffragists make their appeal to the industrial women of the country, by describing the benefits the ballot will bring to wage-earners, but, Miss Melvin said, economical conditions control labor conditions without regard to politics. Massachusetts has a 54-hour a week law for woman workers, a maternity law, and a minimum wage law, and was, moreover, the first state in the Union to have any of these provisions for women workers. There is also an eight-hour a day law for boys and girls under 16 and 18 years. Ours is the only state where the wages of a woman factory worker cannot be cut down on account of broken machinery.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE NOTES

We can learn certain lessons from the Anti-Suffrage meeting held in Faneuil Hall, Boston, on the evening of May 1st. In the first place, over $1000 was spent on this one little meeting, so we can easily see what tremendous sums the Antis are prepared to spend on their whole campaign of opposition. (And all Waste!) Suffragists cannot afford to spend so much money (in proportion), because the great bulk of their members are working people and professional people,—including writers, teachers, scholars, scientists and other thinkers,—and the so-called "interests" do not help us, but work against us. Suffragists must—and will—make work, sacrifice, enthusiasm and truth over-balance the wealth of the Antis and the Interests. But the second lesson is more encouraging, for, in spite of this being the one "big" spring rally of the Antis in Boston, and tremendously advertised, it was not a big meeting and a good proportion of the audience must have been Suffragists, judging by the applause and laughter which came in the wrong places! A Boston newspaper man said that the artificial red roses which were the emblem of the occasion were typical of the artificiality of the whole meeting and of all the Anti arguments; he also called it a "cold storage meeting." And a prominent business man of Boston said that the Antis must be hard up if they had to get Mr. John Sullivan and Mr. T. M. Galvin to speak for them. They are! There was not one representative person among the speakers. But Mrs. George of Brookline is an able speaker and she is too clever a woman not to know that many of her statements were false. She and other Antis know as well as we do that Equal if it does, why has Socialism not come in the Suffrage states and countries? If Woman Suffrage is anti-Christian, how is it that the Unitarian Church and many priests and ministers of the Catholic, the Episcopal, the Baptist and other churches have endorsed Suffrage? And that in all our churches the women are sixteen to one man? The Antis know better, but they continue to repeat these silly and outrageous statements in hope of frightening ignorant people. It reminds us of the saying, "But you can't fool all the people all of the time!" It remains to be seen whether the bogus fears of the Antis and the money of the Interests will triumph next November.

"THE LAST LAUGH."

Everyone is familiar with Mrs. Shelley's story of "Dr. Frankenstein." In this yarn a giant mummy is imbued with life, but lacks the moral instincts of a normal human being. Pursuing the same lines, Paul Dickey and Charles W. Goddard, authors of "The Ghost Breaker" and "The Misleading Lady," have written a three-act farce called "The Last Laugh." The Messrs. Shubert will present Edward Abeles in this play at the Cort Theatre, Boston, for a limited engagement. The cast includes beside Mr. Abeles, Miss Inez Plummer, Marion Murray, Gertrude Clemens, Henry Harmon, Everett Butterfield, Stephen Maley, Albert Gran, Robert Lawrence, George Abbott, Frederick Wallace, Bert Mein, Bernard Riggs and others. In "The Last Laugh" the authors do not attempt the weird, but treat their subject in a highly amusing manner.

The benefits derived from the training which the members of the Manchester police department received from Dr. Blaisdell in "First aid" instruction, was emphasized last Sunday when a man in trying to board a moving train fell under the car and had his foot crushed. Officers Bullock and Sheehan were at the railroad station at the time and they were the first at the side of the injured man. Officer Sheehan was quick to wind two handkerchiefs about the injured leg, administering first aid. He afterwards went to the hospital with the man.

STATEMENT BY MATSER
PLUMBERS

To the residents of the North Shore and vicinity:

On account of the present labor trouble and the extortionate demands of the Labor Union, and the defiant attitude of that body in refusing to arbitrate all questions in dispute, and knowingly taking unfair advantage at our busiest season, and striking for exorbitant demands, we ask your indulgence.

We, the undersigned Master Plumbers, in the past have always been fair and allowed exaction to go on at every demand in the interest of peace. The plumbers are the highest paid mechanics in the Building Trades and their demands are unreasonable and exorbitant. Compliance with their unjust demands means costly construction.

We at this time ask your moral support in the present difficulty, assuring you that we will meet your demands to the best of our ability. (Signed)—

THE PLUMBERS SIDE OF IT

At the request of the journeymen plumbers the Breeze reprints the following from the Beverly Times of Wednesday, May 5:

"Little change locally has been reported in the plumbers' strike, with the master plumbers and the journeymen still contending that their stand is the proper one.

"Journeymen are working in most of the Marblehead shops and at the Pickett & Goodwin shop on Bow st. There seems to be a wide difference between the stories told of what the union asked and what the regulations as posted really call for.

Pickett & Goodwin have not signed any agreement but allow that their men shall work under the conditions drawn by Local 138. In the agreement as posted there is nothing about the paying of a journeymen a half-day's pay if he should work but half an hour, nothing which prevents the use of a certain kind of fitting, and in the card as posted several of the much talked about demands are missing. The regulations were perfectly agreeable to them and so were posted.

"There seems to be one change in the working agreement and that is that pipe two inches or less shall be cut by local plumbers. It is claimed that many contractors have been having the pipe cut in Boston."

NORA BAYES AT B. F. KEITH'S

After an absence of over a year from Boston, Nora Bayes the famous musical comedy favorite will appear at B. F. Keith's Theatre for a positively limited engagement of one week only. Miss Bayes has just returned from an extensive tour abroad. She is now appearing alone, singing a series of songs written especially for her, and also such other favorites as the audiences care to hear. No actress has popularized so many songs as Nora Bayes. During her starring tours in "The Jolly Bachelors," "Ziegfeld's Follies," and with the vaudeville team of Bayes & Norworth, this clever comedienne made more songs popular than any other singer upon the stage. The big comedy feature of the week will be Chick Sales and his unique country school entertainment, introducing graduation day in a country school, with all the various characters that appear in such an event in the rural districts, from the boy who stutters to the old rube constable and chairman of the school committee. Another big comedy feature will be Jack Devereaux and Eva Condon, in a new and rousing funny farce comedy.

"A PAIR OF SIX" SOUVENIRS.

"A Pair of Sixes" will be seen at Ye Wilbur Theatre for the twentieth and last week, starting Monday, May 10, when the inauguration of the very last week of the phenomenal run in Boston will be commemorated by the presentation of handsome souvenirs consisting of beautiful silver frames fitted with photographs of Frank McIntyre and other members of the company. This farce has been such a huge success that there are now five companies. "A Pair of Sixes" has the distinction of having the longest run of a farce in Boston

FELL UNDER CAR.

Joseph J. Vaughn of 18 Bennett st., Manchester, employed at the E. L. Wood estate, Singing Beach, as caretaker, fell under the wheels of the train Sunday afternoon at the Manchester station. He attempted to board the 3.58 train as it was leaving the station, by swinging on one of the cars in the middle of the train. He fell and his right foot was crushed. The train was quickly brought to a stop, but Vaughn had meanwhile extricated himself and was sitting on the side of the track removing his shoe when the crowd gathered. Dr. Glendenning was called and he rendered first aid. Vaughn was taken to the Beverly hospital in the ambulance. The toes had to be removed, but the foot though crushed almost to a pulp, may be saved. Vaughn is 37 year old and is unmarried.

To the Business Men of Manchester By the Sea

Business fights shy of dead towns. A sure sign of a dead one is the lack of local pride. People who live in a live, prosperous town show it. Their stores are attractive, their streets clean, their homes are well painted.

Nothing shows a lack of pride, a lack of prosperity, like paint-hungry buildings. Let's paint up. As the most durable and economical paint, we recommend

IN AID OF MANCHESTER BASEBALL ASSOCIATION

In spite of the stormy weather, the entertainment of last Friday evening given at Town hall for the benefit of the Manchester Baseball association was a decided success from all points of view. "The Newsboy Chorus" was easily the hit of the evening, and gained the applause which it so well merited. There were nine boys taking part with Tommy Peters, the negro boy, and Roland ("Poky") Brooks scoring special hits. To Mrs. F. G. Cheever, who drilled the boys, much of the credit for the act is due. The dancing by Miss Beatrice Long and Mr. McCarthy of the playground was especially enjoyable. The cornet duet by Messrs. Hanneberry and Slade was enthusiastically received and they responded to the prolonged applause with an encore, which was equally good. Mrs. Cheever's song was greatly appreciated, and her encore, "Baseball Fantasie," the words of which she herself composed, was an undoubted success. Candy and carnations were sold at intermission.

WITH THE BOARD OF SELECTMEN OF MANCHESTER

The board has granted a common victualer's license to Kassanos and Varzakis, 26 Central st.

Pony express licenses were granted to Smith's and American Express Cos.

The Penn Metal Co. was awarded the contract to put up metal ceiling in the Town hall. No other bids.

The resignation of James Hoare as fire engineer was received and accepted. Edward P. Flynn was chosen to fill the position. Thomas Baker and Clarence W. Morgan are the other two members. Mr. Morgan has been elected chief of the department.

Junk licenses were granted to Garrett Fitzgerald, Charles F. Daley, Nicholas Zelinsky and Louis Cohen (the latter of Gloucester).

The new laws regulating the purchase and sale of gasoline, while intended primarily to control the handling of the gasoline in automobile garages, are liable to cause more or less trouble for anyone who handles it. For instance, the man who sells in quantity is as liable to fine for selling it, as the man who buys, if the latter has not the permission to keep gasoline. Under the new law a hearing must be given to anyone who desires to build a private garage on his own property; owners of abutting property must be notified at least fourteen days before such hearing.

SOUTH AMERICA

SUBJECT OF ENLIGHTENING TALK
BY ROGER W. BABSON,
AT MANCHESTER

Roger W. Babson of Wellesley Hills, one of the vice-presidents of the Manchester Trust Co., was the speaker before the Manchester Brotherhood at its semi-monthly meeting Monday evening. Mr. Babson visited South America last fall and his talk Monday night was along the line of his observations in that country. He said in part:

"I have just returned from an 18,000 mile trip about South America where I heard 18,000 stories all of which were different. This will be an effort to boil these 18,000 stories down to one simple tale.

"First let me say that we show great ignorance in speaking of South America as a unit. It is too large and varied to refer to in any such terms. Even one country—Brazil—is as large as our United States, and its coast line alone would stretch from Boston to Liverpool. And there are ten distinct and different nations in South America alone not counting the Guianas. Considering all of Latin America we find there are twenty different countries.

"The table-lands of the north which include Venezuela and Columbia are beautiful, but their utilization is too far distant to interest us now. Our children may be able so to travel about in these countries that it will be practical for them to buy land and raise cattle, coffee and the like. Today, however, the good lands are inaccessible for practical purposes. Excepting for a few cities, the north can be forgotten for the moment.

"The West Coast including Ecuador, Peru, and northern Chile is doubtless rich in minerals, nitrates, etc., but it need not be seriously considered today. Perhaps our grandchildren may go there for agriculture; but irrigation must be used. Considering the vast unused areas in other portions which do not need irrigation, it is useless now to consider the possibilities of Peru. Here again, with the exception of Lima, Antofagasta and two or three other cities, the West Coast north of Valparaiso may be forgotten for sales opportunities or other immediate possibilities.

"This is especially true so long as the present sanitary and political conditions exist. Unfortunately, I cannot pass judgment on Bolivia. I am told it is very rich and has a bright future. Sometime, I want to make a long visit to Bolivia. It is said to be very rich in minerals and also to present fine possibilities; while land there can now be purchased for almost nothing.

"Valparaiso and Santiago are good cities. Valparaiso (next to San Francisco) is the largest western port on the Pacific Ocean. Although a breakwater is under construction, the harbor is now only an open roadstead and ships must go out to sea when certain storms arise. Moreover, Valparaiso is built in the side of a mountain which, with the city's susceptibility to earthquakes, makes building rather unattractive. Santiago, however, situated less than one hundred miles inland, is an attractive city. These two places combined offer a good market for our goods. The south of Chile is a fine country—fertile and rich in timber with some coal. There also are good rivers suitable for both irrigation and water power. But with all these good things combined there is not much. The valley is less than one hundred miles wide and the southern portion is fit only for sheep raising. Hence, although attractive and a good place to live, it is not large enough to get excited over.

"The East Coast of South America is another story. Every inch of it is fertile and its vastness is beyond comprehension. A large portion of the East Coast is low and humid. The South is too wet and the north too hot. There are insects of all sizes and varieties, snakes of known and unknown brands, not to mention the natives which vary from the high grade intelligent Argentine scholar to the naked, savage Brazilian Indian.

"However, with all these difficulties, I am a great believer in the East Coast of South America, not only for my children and grandchildren but for this present generation. The section from Bahia Blanca, Argentine, to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, (1500 miles) extending about 400 miles westward, is a gold mine. Moreover, being as large as all of our country east of the Mississippi, it is worthy of careful study.

"This area includes the best part of Argentine, the whole of Uruguay, most of Paraguay, and the southern part of Brazil. Argentine is the wonder of America. Its farms are beyond description. Its cities are the most active imaginable. Its people are as fine as you would want to meet anywhere. I had just as soon live in Argentine as in the United States. It should become a great customer for our goods. Uruguay is a little country; but very much alive. It is now almost wholly devoted to cattle raising. Argentine has many fine cities, Buenos Aires, Rosario, Mendoza, Rio Blanca, and the like. Uruguay's energy is centralized in Montevideo.

"Paraguay is very rich in timber and cattle lands. It, however, is now inhabited only by indians and hence, lands are very, very cheap. In Argentine, Uruguay nor Paraguay is there any manufacturing to speak of today. These countries for years to come will be great exporters of grains, cattle, and their by-products, and are importers of manufactured goods. Every live U. S. A. manufacturer should have branches in this section which is on the verge of a great awakening.

"In this section, I also include southern Brazil which is my favorite land of all so far as climate goes. Here is a great section eight hundred miles long and four hundred miles wide situated on a high plateau. It is healthy, cool and compares very favorably with any section of any land. It is the southern California of South America and Sao Paulo is its capital. This city is located 2500 feet above sea level and hence a few miles from the coast. Its port is Santos from which our coffee comes. Sao Paulo has now over 300,000 people and will soon have 1,000,000 of inhabitants. Any one desiring to go to South America to live should at least visit Sao Paulo before settling elsewhere.

"Sao Paulo is also the center of the manufacturing industry of South America. Outside of southern Brazil there is little manufacturing; but I was surprised at the textile mills, shoe factories and other plants located in Sao Paulo. In my mind, climate is a great factor. I have always confined my investments to fertile but cool climes. Sao Paulo is the center of just such a rich and temperate region. Space does not permit me to treat further of this here; but in our special South American Service will from time to time mention definite money making opportunities which this region offers to North American capital.

"Let me say, however, that the only safe way to invest money or to sell goods in South America is to arrange with some good catholic young man in whom you have confidence to go there and live. There is nothing in these flying trips nor in long distance control. If we U. S. A. citizens hope to do anything permanent in South America, we must adopt the German apprentice system where the best young men go to foreign fields for periods of ten or more years, often marrying native woman (who in many cases are superior to our girls) and sometimes settling down for life. We must leave playing with South America. We already are looked upon as "four flushers and bluffers." Let us quit talking about South America or else let us send our young men down there seriously to stay as do the young men of Germany and England.

"Concerning the great resources of South America I am fully convinced. Concerning the great opportunities there, I have no doubts. The only question which troubles me is whether or not we—a democratic people with a democratic form of government—can develop a successful foreign trade under present conditions when force rules the world. The English have developed great foreign trade at the point of their guns. The Germans have developed great foreign trade through subsidies and trusts. The whole foreign trade game—as played today—is contrary to the fundamental principles of democracy. Considering that our government is apt to become more—rather than less—democratic, and that the powers of the masses will gradually become greater, while the influence of capital may consequently become less, what is the outlook for our foreign trade, and investments? England and Germany have adopted "dollar diplomacy" accompanied by the "big stick." Will we? I think not.

"Hence, I believe that there are two things which we absolutely need in order to develop a real foreign trade with Latin America:

"(1) Protection for our investments abroad, so that we can safely extend credits and start banks. The Europeans have established credit for their people through making them fear them, but this being contrary to democratic ideas, it is very improbable that out people will stand for such a policy.

"(2) Freedom from dependence on foreign ships, cables, and other means of exchange. Here again Europe has established prestige for its manufacturers and shippers in a way that our people will be very reluctant to assent to.

"It therefore seems to me that we must devise some other means by which we can secure protection for our investments and freedom from dependence on banks and ships controlled by other nations. Hence, does not the future of our foreign trade depend on developing machinery whereby we can start foreign banks, steamship lines, etc., under a

Rev. Dr. Walter S. Eaton has been ill at his home on Magnolia avenue with an attack of laryngitis. Mrs. Eaton read his sermon at the morning service at the Village church last Sunday morning, and Rev. Dr. Eaton was unable to conduct any evening service. Communion which was to have been given, was postponed, and will be given after the morning service this Sunday instead. The pastor will preach a Mother's Day sermon in the morning. Evening service at 7.30.

Henry W. Brown is leaving next week for a several months' trip to Alaska in the interests of the mining company of which he is president. He will stay with Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Story at Skagway, formerly of this town.

Jabez Dunbar is suffering from an attack of gripe at his home on Magnolia avenue.

The members of the Foster club were entertained Wednesday evening by the Camp Fire girls of Essex at the home of Miss Martha Wonson, who is a sister of Mrs. H. C. Foster. The trip was made by motor and the evening proved very enjoyable. There is some consideration of the plan of affiliating the Foster club with the Camp Fire organization. The date for the production of "Breezy Point" has not yet been decided upon.

Thomas Joyce was in town the first of the week visiting friends and making arrangements for his summer's stay here.

Sylvester Height has been quite seriously ill with pneumonia at his home here, but is improving. Guy Symonds, who has also had pneumonia, is recovering.

Miss Katherine Ballou has returned to Clinton after spending a week here as guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Ballou.

Mrs. Ada Deane of Somerville is visiting Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Lycett, Magnolia avenue. Mrs. Deane and Mrs. Lycett are sisters.

Mrs. Julia Cook of Gloucester was in town over Sunday, the guest of Mrs. Effie Foster, Norman avenue.

WENHAM

Next Wednesday the Essex South Association of churches meets at North Beverly.

Master Albert Winslow Dodge was baptized last Sunday morning at the village church. As Master Dodge is aged only eleven months, he will be more readily recognized when described as the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Wesley Dodge, Jr. He passed through the ordeal with much credit to himself and his parents.

The committee on recreation of the department of social service held a meeting Tuesday evening to examine candidates for advancement in the boy scout troop.

An all-Wenham baseball team journeyed to Beverly Farms last week and crossed bats with the local players. The "All-Wenham" were not at the best advantage, owing to the fact that two of their best players were busy in high school games elsewhere that day.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Maddalena (Barbara Daniels) returned from a vacation trip by auto to New York yesterday. They will now take up their residence in Beverly Farms, after spending the winter in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Preston Thisseil left the first of the week for a vacation trip to Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Agnes M. Bennett, widow of the late George H. Bennett, has a position in a Roslindale hospital. Mrs. Bennett has been a trained nurse for some time.

Michael Ring has purchased through the agency of Arthur A. Forness the Linehan property on High st. now occupied by George Wyness and known as the "Horatio Haskell estate." The property consists of a cottage house, a barn and several other buildings. It contains over an acre of land with a frontage on High st. and the rear adjoins the playgrounds. Mr. Ring purchases for his own occupancy.

Arthur Bordeau is the new clerk at Standley's shoe store. He is in charge of the repair department and also assists Mr. Hawkins in waiting upon customers.

Frank I. Preston is the latest Beverly Farms man to own an automobile. He has a "Little" runabout.

Miss Wilhelmina Patterson and Miss Jane M. Watson have spent the week visiting friends at Sutton, Mass.

Miss Muriel Publicover has received notice of her appointment as one of the instructors at the Beverly playground the coming season. It has not been decided which one she will be assigned to. Miss Publicover made an excellent record as instructor of the playground in Ward 1 last year.

At Monday evening's meeting of the aldermen, Patrolman Michael H. Wittenhagen was given a hearing upon his suspension. The charges were: failure to ring in his duty calls on account of his being asleep; the use of intoxicants while on duty, and making false statements to a superior officer. On the first charge he was found guilty and suspension for thirty days was recommended. On the other charges, by a vote of six to two, it was decided the charges were not proven.

The "clean-up and paint-up" movement has been pretty well observed at Beverly Farms during the past week and the village, through the efforts of the committee, has helped very much to make Beverly Farms a "spotless town."

COURTEOUS ATTENTION

There was a hearing before the board of aldermen Monday night on the matter of the widening of Hale street, opposite the police station at Beverly Farms. This matter was considered by the board of aldermen last year, and was practically decided by the board in favor of the petitioner, Robert S. Bradley. Robert B. Stone of Boston appeared for the petitioner and briefly reviewed the matter. He said that the proposition came before the board of aldermen and was settled, the highway commission uniting with the city and the petitioner. Nothing was done last summer and Mr. Bradley went to Europe in the fall. This spring the premises were viewed by the parties interested and the members of the highway commission thought that the plan as agreed upon made the street too narrow at one point, and a new plan is presented for consideration of your board. The plan provides for less widening, making the street uniform in width. The agreement with Mr. Bradley is the same as that of last year and provides that he will build a retaining wall, will give the land necessary and all he asks in return is that the city convey to him a triangular lot of land now in the highway. Two plans were presented for the consideration of the board, one decided upon last year, one with the proposed changes. There was no opposition and the hearing was closed.

This has been vacation week for the Beverly schools and the students have been enjoying themselves immensely. School commences again on Monday morning.

Letters remaining unclaimed at Beverly Farms postoffice May 5, 1915:—Mr. Robert Dennis, Mr. M. Gleason, Mrs. Catherine Hilyard, Horne Bros., Mr. Thomas Kilcoyne, John Karalikas, Mrs. O. T. Lachamer, Mass. Highway Commission, Mrs. Mary Rust, Mrs. A. Willis Rankin.—Lawrence J. Watson, P. M.

HEAD STUFFED FROM CATARRH OR A COLD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Opens Air Passages Right Up.

Instant relief—no waiting. Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh disappears.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh.

The Beverly Farms branch of the improvement society met on Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. John M. Publicover at her home on High st. Miss Bessie A. Baker, secretary of the Beverly Improvement society, was present and gave a talk on school gardens. The society perfected plans at the meeting for the contemplated improvements to be carried out for the coming summer season.

Miss Mary McTiernan of High st. is a new operator at the Beverly Farms telephone exchange.

Miss Margaret Connolly is visiting relatives in Toronto, Canada.

The Beverly Farms fire dept. companies held their annual meeting at the Beverly Farms fire station last Monday evening and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Engine 3, captain, Duncan T. Smith; lieu., Edwin F. Campbell; clerk, Benj. F. Hawkins. Ladder 2, captain, Alfred Williams; lieu., E. Fred Day; clerk, Wm. S. Pike, Jr.

Alfred Medcalf has a position in a large machine shop at Athol.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Varney and son Harold have spent a portion of the past week visiting at Mr. Varney's former home, East Wyndham, Me. They made the trip by auto.

The Public Service committee are to carry out the suggestions at last week's public meeting held in the G. A. R. hall by having the various streets in Beverly Farms designated by attractive street signs.

Misses Christine Murray, Margaret Brady, Hazel Hersey, Charlotte Chapman and Herbert Cole, Howard E. Morgan, Jr., Henry Wright and Joseph Rourke are the Beverly Farms graduates from the Beverly High School this year.

Eugene McSweeney died at his home in Beverly last Monday. He was employed by local contractors as a stone mason for many years. He had a part in the construction of some of the best class of work along the shore. He was a favorite among his fellow workmen and had many friends.

William E. Lewis, station agent at West Manchester, has rented apartments in the Williams house on High st., owned by Mrs. Elmer Standley and recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Babkirk.

Rev. Neilson Poe Carey has had as a guest the past week his sister, Mrs. Wall of Jersey City, N. J.

Public pay telephones have been installed at Hersey's restaurant and at the Tunapoo Inn.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus driving a cold from the system.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB BACKACHE AND LUMBAGO RIGHT OUT

Rub Pain and Stiffness away with a small bottle of old honest
St. Jacobs Oil

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a 25 cent bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right into the pain or ache, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the ache and pain right out of your back and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica and lame back misery so promptly!

The North Shore Babies Hospital.

THE annual Tag Day to raise money for the North Shore Babies' Hospital at Salem is set for Saturday the fifth day of June and plans are underway to make it a notable occasion, for the past year has been the most important one in the history of this worthy institution and what is accomplished for the stricken mothers in the great Salem fire has established it in warm public esteem. Last Monday the directors of the hospital held a meeting and transacted some few items of business and received the reports of the year from the hands of the printers. The report of the executive committee was of unusual in-

pital meant at this time to the stricken parents: a haven of rest for the most dependent. Situated outside the city, surrounded on two sides by water, it stood with open doors ready to receive the weary little travellers who could not understand.

"The days following were busy days for everybody. From a quiet road, Dearborn street, which leads to the hospital, was turned into an active thoroughfare,—new cases coming in, others departing, families and friends of the children coming to visit. People of all walks of life interested in the babies visited the hospital. The list interest for the work of the year was one of opportunity which was embraced to its fullest extent, and consequently the summer was one of unusual strain on the treasury.

The story of the work of the hospital when the great fire of last June made demands upon it, is graphically given by Mrs. Margaret L. Ropes, secretary. She says:

"As June was a comparatively cool month we had only about 15 babies up to the time of the fire. About three o'clock in the afternoon the hospital, was offered to the city officials and the Salem Hospital for fire refugee service. At five o'clock the first case was received coming from the Salem Hospital. All that night the hospital staff prepared modified milk for the burned out babies all over the city. This work, averaging 500 feedings daily, was continued until the regular station was established several days later. It was accomplished late at night, after our own feedings had been prepared, and working under difficulties as the regular supply of light and water was cut off.

"The day following the fire automobiles came bringing the little helpless victims. Our superintendent rose to the emergency and, when asked the limit of the hospital, replied, 'the sky is the limit.' Just think what the hoscludes the governor of New Hampshire and many officers of the militia throughout the country.

"A complete outdoor ward, necessitating additional nurses, lighting, and food supplies, was immediately set up in twenty tents. Seventeen of the tents were used for the babies, one for the commissary, one for service and one for headquarters. Every race and creed was represented. As a general thing two babies occupied each tent. In the outdoor ward the well babies were cared for until their parents found new homes. Later babies came with various conditions due to the housing and living of the refugees. The effect of the fire was felt in our work the entire season. Fortunately the summer was a cool one or the proposition of caring for all the sick babies would have been very serious.

"It was a happy sight to see the little refugees sitting out in the sun at meal times or rolling upon blankets spread upon the grass. The smallest refugees spent their time in baby carriages under the trees. The volunteer workers were a great help to the regular nurses with the well babies. All through the summer the joy of service could be felt in and about the North Shore Babies' Hospital."

Apple Blossom Time

By SALLY STORROW

NOW is the time for all motoring people, really loving nature, to see her in the freshest glory of spring bloom. Many say they "just adore Nature," who have not even a bowing acquaintance with her. Their idea of nature-worship usually consists, if they are middle-aged, in joining the Rocking Chair Brigade, on a hotel piazza, or if they are young, of short walks through nearby gardens or woods to escape for the period, perhaps, too irksome chaperonage.

Still others reluctantly leave town, its opera, gayety and shops, for the necessary summer vacation. These stay with crowds, and travel dusty roads in hordes, in swarming motors.

A drive that takes one away into inland solitudes where unspoiled New England smiles with all her country witchery would not appeal to them.

The Boston-Portsmouth road, from Hamilton to Newburyport offers a pleasing journey to artist or poet, or to layman with appreciation of either spirit. At this season when apple trees are in their best bloom it should not be missed. Hamilton's wide smooth roads, and trim fields, its careful orchards, its elms drooping here and there, the roadway set about at intervals with natural hedge reminds one of the fair English April land.

Through Ipswich's ancient streets, and comely Meeting house green, down the long hill where tiny Egypt river runs free at its base over stones and shallows, to merge itself in the wide salt marsh waters, one comes up a slope again to meet the charming vista of a tiny hamlet strung along the road, to the foot of high Jewett Hill. This is Ipswich Village, and here we always leave our car at "Ye Ancient Rose Tree," to climb on foot the rising slope of the hill pasture for the wonderful view at the top. If the sky is blue, and "clear as a bell," one sees the misty Isles of Shoals phantom-like in refraction, and dim Monadnock far over distant reaches to the north. The eye travels over Rowley, Newbury Old Town, Broad Water and Plum Island. Ox Pasture hill, where Mrs. L. Carteret Fenno's stately brick dwelling crowns the summit, is opposite. On the southern side lies the fair panorama of distant Cape Ann, with its suggestions of towns and shipping,—and between is Ipswich with marshes, meadows, tree tops and town-roofs and a glint of the "Blue Dragon," or Ipswich river, shining at intervals.

The hill itself offers so many charming bits for sketching one longs to remain, to explore its many delights.

At the bottom of a little ravine that the ancient glacier thrust sculptured cunningly to make an effect as if planned by skilful landscape gardener, long sprays of tamarack and wild rose bend over the water. Lavender colored stems of blackberry make tracery over a gray stone wall. Erect alder stems and bright orange buds of blueberry bushes rise from amidst delicate grasses like a Japanese print. Lovely tints of rose and lavender and gray show against dark pines and savins on the upper hill, and at the end of the ravine is a flashing glimpse of palest orange-yellow against a deep turquoise blue band. This is the sand-dunes against the Broad Water.

But if we are to see the apple trees we must hasten on, so down the hill and back to the car.—We stop to admire the "Rose Tree" doorway with Colonial settles at each side, and vines on lattices over the house front. A tablet at the doorway tells us that "ye ancient house was built by Capt. Aaron Jewett, commanding the Ipswich men who started for Lexington from near this spot." Cameras are always produced for the doorway, and it has been most charmingly photographed by Mary Northend especially, for use in magazine illustration. Also the memory of scones, jam and clotted cream causes us to make mental note to visit "Ye Rose Tree" often. We skim over smooth roads, through Rowley by shining marsh vistas and the spring green of wood and meadow, and into that blessed abode of bloom-topped gnarly apple-trees of Old Town. Drive slowly here, and when you have seen the crowning charm of May in pinky bloom of apple and peach and plum, with misty fragrant white of pear and cherry thickly set through all the little farm-holds and dotting the fertile meadows, return the same way, for of beauty like this one can never tire.

THE season of 1915 along the North Shore is coming on with a rush. Everywhere there are evidences of life and renewed activity over previous seasons. A larger number of families are settled at their estates and cottages along the shore between Nahant and Cape Ann than ever before at this time of year. The coming week will see scores of families settling for the season. The only thing needed to put a finishing touch on things is a few warm days.

The Martin Erdmans of New York plan to occupy "Willow Bank," the Wm. A. Slater estate on Prince st., Beverly Cove, the 10th of June. Mrs. Slater is still in France, but she will join Mr. Slater and the rest of her family in Lenox in mid-summer.

S. V. R. Crosby and family of Boston, plan to open their residence, "Apple Trees," West Manchester, next week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Winthrop Tewksbury (Caroline T. Graham) of Longwood, have arrived at Beverly Farms for the summer, and are settled in "Owl Cottage," which they had last year.

Mr. and Mrs. James Howe Proctor of Commonwealth ave., Boston, are settled at "Mostly Hall," their summer estate at Hamilton, for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Leland have closed their town house at 422 Beacon st., Boston, and are settled at their North Shore estate, "Old Tree House," West Manchester, for a season, which usually extends beyond Thanksgiving. Their residence is picturesquely located on the rocks near the West Manchester station, the water from the bay almost lapping their front lawn. Their flower garden is always a most beautiful sight and is the envy of many other cottagers along the North Shore.

NEW-COMERS to the North Shore this summer will include Elias Ponvert, whose home is in Cuba. Mr. Ponvert has leased the James Lee cottage at Magnolia and plans to settle there early in June for the summer. Also Miss Katharine Horsford of 27 Craigie st., Cambridge, who has hired the James Means cottage on Smith's Point, Manchester. Both these places were leased through the real estate office of T. Dennie, Reginald and R. deB. Boardman of the Ames Bldg., Boston, and Manchester.

It is reported that the Payne Whitneys, who have had a house on the North Shore for several years, are not to join the colony here this year, but will spend most of the summer on their new houseboat, dividing their time between Newport and the North Shore.

Mr. and Mrs. Ezra C. Fitch of Boston, are settled at "Riverhouse," their summer home on Norton's Point, Manchester, for the season.

Miss Louisa Loring Dresel and Ellis L. Dresel of Boston, plan to open their cottage, "Thissellwood," on the top of Mingo Beach hill, Pride's Crossing, the 24th of this month.

It is understood that Col. and Mrs. John R. Williams of Washington are to spend the summer at "Edgewater," the attractive summer estate of the late Mrs. Levi Z. Leiter at West Beach, Beverly Farms. Col. and Mrs. Williams are the parents of Mrs. Joseph Leiter, the latter being the beautiful Miss Juliette Williams of Washington when she married the younger Leiter in 1908. Mr. and Mrs. Leiter are to spend the early part of the summer at the Exposition, coming to the North Shore for July and August. "Edgewater," has not been occupied since the death of Mrs. Leiter, Sr., three years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Childs Frick (Frances S. Dixon) of Pittsburg are to join the colony at Manchester this year, having leased "Alabama," one of the Harris cottages, on Smith's Point. Mr. Frick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Frick of Pride's Crossing. Though the elder Fricks are making their home in New York city, the son is living in Pittsburg, where he is picking up the reins of the extensive steel interests of his father. Last year the young couple spent the summer at Bryn Mawr, Pa., coming on to the North Shore only occasionally, and for the polo season in late summer. "Alabama" is not a large house, but it is very well laid out and has many attractive features. It is off Masconomo st., alongside the picturesque little Episcopal church, with Mrs. W. Scott Fitz's beautiful garden on one side and a big grove in the rear.

North Shore people will be interested to hear of the engagement of Miss Ann Page Harison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Beverly Harison of 8 West 91st street, New York, to John Williams Sanford, son of the late Samuel King Sanford of Boston, and Mrs. Sanford (Rieta Williams), who now makes her home in Baltimore. Miss Harison was graduated from Miss Spence's School last season, and has made many visits in Manchester, where she received much attention.

Miss E. C. McVickar of Providence, who was at Manchester last year, will return this season, having leased the Smith Homestead, so-called, one of the five houses on Smith's Point, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Harris.

Mrs. Richard J. Monks is settled at "Edgewood," her summer residence at Manchester Cove, after a winter in Boston. Miss Grace Monks is making several spring visits in New York, and she is now with Mrs. Morris Llewellyn Cooke of Germantown, Pa.

Art lovers have been able to view at the Boston City Club one of Mr. Isaac H. Caliga's rare exhibitions of paintings. A number of portraits, interior views and out of door sketches show Mr. Caliga's industry in the past few years. In portrait studies Mr. Caliga delights in the play of direct light on his flesh and fabric and makes use of it effectively, while his direct and vigorous method of working results on canvases that "carry" remarkably well. He sees the decorative value of his composition rather than the character of the sitters, but when he chooses he is an most accurate portrait painter. In his interiors he shows great skill in the accuracy of his drafting and in the lights and reflected half lights, but his canvases lack a peculiar softness that is always so pleasing in this type of picture. Mr. Caliga is well known in Boston and Gloucester where he visits every summer.

Jordan Marsh Company BOSTON

THE new home of the Essex County Club at Manchester, is completed except for some of the interior furnishings, and formal dedication will take place early in June, though no definite plans are announced yet. The building occupies the site of the structure which was burned in the winter of 1913, but faces southeast. By this arrangement the verandas will be shaded from the afternoon sun. The new building is constructed of Harvard brick and is practically fire proof. A clock tower is visible from a large part of the golf links. The first floor is divided into office, main dining room, men's lounging room, women's parlors, card rooms and serving room. The main corridor is 36 feet long. The floor of the lobby is laid in light green tiles of a Roman design. Nine chambers, five bathrooms, servants' quarters, etc., take up the second floor. The finish is white enamel, but the men's cafe is paneled in Mission style. A basement extends under the whole building where are located the kitchen, heating apparatus, storerooms, etc. The porch extends around three sides of the building and on the eastern side a terraced lawn, enclosed by a stone balustrade, faces the veranda.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Foster of Washington have arrived at "The Boulders," their summer home at Freshwater Cove, Gloucester.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Barr, formerly of the North Shore colony, who have been dividing their time this winter between Boston and New York, as usual, with frequent visits with Mrs. Barr's daughter, Mrs. Landon Humphreys, and Mr. Humphreys, at Convent, N. J., have opened their country home in New Ipswich, N. H., for the season.

Among the Baltimore people to come to the North Shore for early in June are Mr. and Mrs. Douglas H. Thomas, Miss Alice Lee Thomas and John Harrison Thomas. They will occupy "Karemia," their cottage on the Nahant shore as usual.

Among the bequests in the will of Miss Fannie Bartlett of 227 Commonwealth ave., Boston, and Manchester, is a gift of $20,000 to Harvard college, for two scholarships, and also $24,000 to the Instructive District Nursing Association for the support of a nurse under the direction of the Boston Lying-in Hospital. Miss Bartlett took an active interest in the last named institution and was a consistent worker in its interest the year round, hardly ever missing a trip to Boston once or twice a week during her stay at Manchester.

MOTOR TOURS

The inherent desire of city people to view the spring scenery of the country is already evidenced by the large number of motor tour outfits resuming their old stands in the populous districts of Boston, and festive parties in glad regalia, not neglecting the comfortable accessories necessary to weather changes may be seen whizzing out of town toward the regions where lilacs and apple blossoms are now blooming to beat the band, and the beauties of nature are on the job, and coming right along, accelerated by the balmy zephyrs of spring and the promise of an early summer. The Royal Blue Line of Motor Tours that now leave the Brunswick Hotel in famous Copley square, Boston, every morning at 9.30, pass through Manchester about noon enroute to Gloucester, where dinner is served the tourists, after which the return trip begins arriving at the Brunswick stand about 6 o'clock.

MAGNOLIA

MAGNOLIA cottagers are beginning to arrive in large numbers as May advances. There are already evidences of a drought of houses—about everything is taken. Mr. and Mrs. E. Prescott Rowe of Longwood, who have the Houghton cottage for the season are among the week's arrivals. Last year they had the so-called Upper MacDonald cottage at Magnolia Point. The Edward H. Grahams are among this week's arrivals also. They have the Story cottage on Summer st.

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Hamilton have opened their summer home on the picturesque Norman's Woe Road at Magnolia. The Hamiltons have a winter home on Newbury street, Boston.

Mrs. Edward Sullivan of 238 Commonwealth ave., Boston, has renewed her lease of the Adams cottage at Magnolia for the coming season.

Mrs. Joseph S. Ford is on from Chicago for a month's stay at her cottage on Fuller street, Magnolia. She plans to rent her place here and will spend the summer at Highland Park, one of the delightful suburbs of Chicago, where she is beautifully situated amidst ideal surroundings for the enjoyment of country life during the warm weather.

Dr. Freeman H. Hibben of 264 Tappan street, Brookline, who was at Magnolia two or three seasons ago, has leased the MacDonald shore cottage, so-called, at Magnolia, the lease being made through the office of Jonathan May. Through the same office John J. Rowe of Cincinnati, a new-comer, has just leased the John H. Wilkins cottage at Magnolia.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Jones of Boston are to have the Newton cottage at Magnolia again this season. They were among the arrivals of the latter part of last week.

IPSWICH cottagers are beginning to gather for the season. A number of estates have been opened the past week and families have settled. Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman of New York, who have been staying for some weeks at the Copley-Plaza, Boston, are among the arrivals.

Mrs. Robert C. Winthrop has closed her town residence, 10 Walnut st., Boston, and is settled at her summer home in West Manchester for the season, arriving yesterday. Her son Robt. Mason Winthrop is in the West, but will join his mother later. Miss Clara B. Winthrop is still in England. She was to have sailed tomorrow from Liverpool on the ill-fated Lusitania, and it is presumed she will now take passage on one of the early departures from the other side.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Sullivan and two daughters of Beacon st., Brookline, are among the week's arrivals. They came down to their cottage, adjoining the Masconomo hotel, Manchester, yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Tucker and Miss Marion Tucker, after a winter at the Plaza, New York, arrived yesterday at their estate on Norton's Point, Manchester.

The George C. Snowdens of Indianapolis plan to arrive at West Manchester, where they will occupy the Hanks cottage, early in June. Mrs. Hanks and daughter and son are spending May at the cottage, but they will give up the place the last of this month. Miss Clarina Hanks plans to go to the Exposition in California. Stedman Hanks, who was private secretary to Ambassador Reid at the Court of St. James during the latter part of the last administration, is now taking a course in International Law at Harvard to better fit him for diplomatic work.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Wheeler, Jr., of Boston, who were at Beverly Farms last summer, will not come to the North Shore this season as they have leased a cottage at Cohasset. The house which they had at Beverly Farms, the "Gray house" on Valley st., has been sold to A. Nicholas Reggio, who intends to make it an all-the-year-round home.

"Uplands," the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Frazier of New York city, on Highland ave., West Manchester, has been opened this week. Mr. Frazier and son have been spending a few days at the Essex County club, but the family is now settled at their residence for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Aksel Christian P. Wichselt, accompanied by the latter's stepdaughter, Miss Frances Moore, left for New York immediately after the marriage last week in Washington of Mr. and Mrs. Wichselt. On Monday, they started on a two months' trip to California and on their return east will spend the remainder of the summer at Swiftmoor, the beautiful home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Swift, at Pride's Crossing.

The main house of the Manchester Tea Rooms (Geo. C. Leach cottage), 41 Central st., Manchester, has been rented to Dwight R. MacAfee of New York. Mr. MacAfee is to have a display of rare and beautiful antique furniture. The shop is to be run in connection with the Manchester Tea Rooms. The Tea Rooms are to be transferred to the cottage which is now being remodeled, with large verandas and all modern improvements, all beautifully arranged for serving teas and lunches. The entrance to the new Tea Rooms will be on the new Pine Street boulevard.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Mitchell arrived at their summer home, "Glendyne," at Manchester Cove, last Sunday, after a winter in the south. Later in the summer they expect their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, 2d, and children, on from their farm in Virginia for a long visit. Mr. and Mrs. Shaw do not plan to occupy their own house on the Beverly Farms-Wenham road this summer, and it is said that the former's mother, Mrs. John Silsbee Curtis, and Mr. Curtis, may live in it this summer, letting their own house on Storrow hill, Beverly Farms.

LUSITANIA AND INTERNATIONAL LAW

THE FINE LINES OF THE OCEAN CODE

SAYS the NEW YORK EVENING POST in a review of the questions of international law arising from the Lusitania incident:

The case of the Lusitania is not quite so simple as it appears to the man in the street, who can think only of the horror of the tragedy. The law of the sea draws very fine lines. Thus, had the submarine given 30 minutes' warning to the crew and passengers, the exploit would have gone down in history as one of the most brilliant in annals of naval warfare.

Again, the question whether the ship was convoyed is of enormous importance. There has already appeared a vast deal of criticism of the British admiralty for its failure to protect the Lusitania. But those who are so glibly finding fault are ignorant of the fact that if the ship was convoyed, even by a couple of torpedo boats, the submarine was entitled under law of the sea to treat her precisely as if she were a man-of-war. This has always been the case, even during the Napoleonic days.

It may well be that the admiralty deemed it wiser not to convoy the Lusitania for this very reason. According to survivors, the appearance on the surface of the submarine and the discharge of the torpedoes took place so suddenly that, if destroyers or torpedo boats had been accompanying the great liner, they could not have saved her. It is plain, therefore, that our government cannot be certain of the exact culpability of the Germans until this question of the convoy is definitely settled.

The question of the ammunition on board has bothered many amateur authorities on international law, and even some people in responsible positions. Without reason, however. The fact that the Lusitania had several thousand boxes of ammunition in her hold did not in any wise alter her status as a merchant ship entitled to sufficient time to let her crew and passengers escape before the ship was sunk. It gives the Germans a talking point, but does not alter the essential situation, which is this: Up to this time the law of the sea demanded the removal of crew and passengers, when the prize could not be taken into a harbor.

It is a curious fact that there are some defenders of Germany's torpedoing the Lusitania to be found in Washington: these club strategists insist that the warning given in New York before the Lusitania sailed was a compliance with the warning demanded by international law—which is, of course, an absolute absurdity, since the warning has always related to captured ships when in the presence of the enemy man-of-war. Driven from this position, they point out that a submarine could not stop the Lusitania merely by appearing on the surface, either in front of the liner or upon her beam, and ordering her to stop.

They maintain, therefore, that the submarine could only do what she did, or else admit her impotency. To this the answer is, that if we are to have submarine warfare hereafter, some adjustment of international law will indubitably have to be made to cover this and other new points raised by the use of the new weapon of sea warfare; but that no nation has the right to change international law to suit itself in the middle of a war.

It is no defence, experts in international law point out, to say that Germany was forced to this action by England's efforts to blockade her ports and starve out her women and children. The United States government from 1861 to 1865 blockaded the coast of the confederate government for the express purpose of bringing about the end of the rebellion by starving out the confederate armies.

No one criticises the policy of the North in establishing that blockade as a military measure, and certainly the confederates did not consider that the blockade gave them the right to violate international law. And the blockade, be it noted, did drive the Confederacy to the use of what were practically submarine boats, with a success in sinking federal blockaders that is astounding to those not familiar with the facts. One might almost say that the Germans are merely beginning where the confederates left off.

MAY 18 is now an easily remembered date, requiring no especial reminder of its significance as the day devoted to peace and arbitration; but this year it makes a stronger appeal than ever before to the heart and conscience of our nation. While there are those who decry the entire peace movement at this time as a harping upon "peace when there is no peace," the best thought of the day is centered upon it and the keenest intellects are studying the best way to attain the much desired condition.

In view of the events now transpiring across the sea, it seems incredible that war should be longer advocated by any one accustomed to look beneath the surface of things, or who is interested in the future welfare of the nations or of the human race. Never in the world's history has there been such an accumulation of horrors as those which characterize the present conflict. Never such sacrifice of life, such suffering, such destruction of the flower of physical manhood; or so many wrecked homes, blighted lives and crushed aspirations. There are so many sorrowing women and little children who have been defrauded of a happy childhood. And for what, and to what purpose? A mere dream—of power, of prestige, of fear.

It is an encouraging omen that in the present conflict the element of personal glory seem lacking. No names appear likely to be emblazoned especially high upon the roll of fame to distract the attention of hero-worshippers from the hard, cold facts of present-day "civilized warfare." Stripped of romance and personal adulation, the folly and actual imbecility of the present carnage stand out stark and grim against the desolation of lands and of peoples whom God intended for happiness and prosperity.

Let every heart and every mind be opened wide to absorb the lessons of Peace and Arbitration day, and alert to apply them when the opportunity shall appear; as in the natural course of events it must, in the not distant future.—THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF PATRIOTIC INSTRUCTORS.

MARBLEHEAD is virtually experiencing its second week of the summer resort season, for so many came down to the upper shore and on the Neck especially during the past 10 days that the season might practically be termed "on" in this section. While the hotels are merely open for inspection and not for guests just yet and the yacht clubs are only getting ready for a busy season, everything appears extremely business-like on the Marblehead shore.

Vincent Astor's hydroaeroplane came to grief last Friday, when Clifford L. Webster, the aviator who has been testing the machine for Mr. Astor, landed with the plane on the Marblehead causeway. Webster sustained a broken left arm and was badly shaken up. At the time of the accident it was rumored that Mr. Astor was killed in the fall, but he was enjoying the early summer at his country estate in Rhinebeck, N. Y., at the time.

Boating activities still continue on the Marblehead shore. Rear Commodore Percival's new cruiser power boat "Arval" is already in the harbor and is a trim looking craft. Mr. Percival plans several long cruises along the Atlantic coast during the next few months.

The old "Sally XII" has been repaired and rechristened the "Maia." It has been sold to a New Yorker and will not be sailed in these waters; it is to be shipped to New York within a short time.

The Corinthian Yacht club will open on May 22. Members may enjoy limited accommodations at the clubhouse for the coming week-end, however.

The "Sea Gull" is the name of a new tea room which has been opened this season on the Neck. It is in the Dunlap cottage, at the corner of Harbor, Ocean and Nashua avenues.

Mrs. Charles P. Wells have been quartered in their summer cottage on the Neck for the last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Patterson of Boston, came down to their summer place on Kimball street, the Neck, this week for the season.

John Wilcox and family, who last year had a cottage near the lighthouse on the Neck, will be at the Ocean-side for the month of July.

Bowdoin B. Crowninshield of Boston is having his cottage, "The Anchorage," at Peach's point on the mainland, raised six feet. This is being done to get the full effect of the southwest winds which prevail in the heated months of summer. The Crowninshields are not expected to occupy their cottage for a fortnight, at the earliest.

David C. Percival's auxiliary schooner yacht "Rodina" has been chartered for the season to Andrew Preston of New York. It will be used during the summer on Buzzard's Bay and along the North Shore. Mr. Percival is a summer resident of Marblehead Neck.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester L. Dane and family left their winter residence at Charles River square, Boston, this week and are now at their Marblehead summer home, the Old Wharf house.

A. M. Jones and family will be new-comers on the Clifton shore this year.

Stowell, at 110 Canal street, Boston, who sells everything in the line of furniture from individual pieces, to complete outfits for hotels, clubs and private homes, has his annual announcement elsewhere in this issue. Mr. Stowell specializes on oriental and domestic rugs, as well as furniture, and invites retail sales at wholesale prices. He is recognized as an expert in his line by many of the largest and most reliable furniture dealers in Boston, and is well liked by his numerous North Shore patrons.—F. M. C.

CLIFON'S summer colony has been augmented by the arrival of several of the regular summer residents of that section of the Marblehead-Swampscott shore the last few days. There are also new faces among the season colonists. There is little summer building in Clifton and vicinity this season, but cottages and the larger estates promise to be all occupied.

Leon Strauss of Allston, who has occupied "Grey Knoll" for several seasons, has bought the George Guppy cottage on Hathaway road and with his family will spend the summer at Clifton as usual.

Benjamin A. Kaiser of Brookline has made several improvements to his cottage on Rockaway avenue and expects to occupy it by the next week-end.

Mrs. C. W. Green was hostess to 30 young people at her cottage on Rockaway avenue on Tuesday of this week.

Mrs. Grace Bristol of Martha's Vineyard is another new summer resident to sojourn at Clifton.

R. Murray Boutwell of Boston is already on the shore at Clifton Heights with his family for the season.

Mrs. Mary Landy of Brookline, a new summer resident, will occupy the Draper cottage on Rockaway ave.

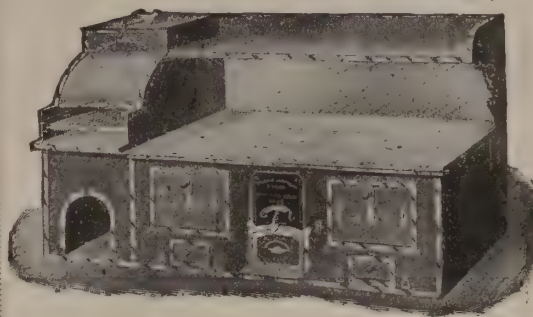

Mrs. W. H. Hollaway of Natick is already at Ocean Bluff, Clifton, for the summer.

Society of greater Salem and vicinity turned out on Tuesday night, May 11th, to view the "Fashion Fete" given under the auspices of the Salem Committee of the Massachusetts Association Opposed to the Further Extension of Suffrage to Women at Academy Hall. Not only was it a pageant of wonderful gowns that have been in Salem and Boston families for years, but it was a correct picture of the life and fashions of the various periods between 1719 and 1915. NAHANT is in line for as busy a season as any of the other North Shore resorts if cottage rentals are any criterion. Nearly everything has been taken. Among those who have just hired are the Richard S. Fays (Hester Lawrence), who have taken the Peabody house on the Lawrence estate. They had the same place last year. Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Curtis, Jr., (Edith Roelker) of Cambridge came down to Nahant last week, and are settled at the Cary cottage for the season.

Other Bostonians going to Nahant for the summer include: Mr. and Mrs. Francis R. Bangs of Marlboro st. and their family, who will leave town the latter part of May. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Motley, Jr., of 241 Beacon street. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bacon of Marlboro st., who are among this week's arrivals. Also Mr. and Mrs. Frank Merriam of 183 Commonwealth ave., and Miss Theresa Merriam, who were among last week's arrivals.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lawrence and their family of Groton will go to Nahant the last of June for the summer. Mr. Lawrence is one of the older summer residents of this resort, as he has been there every season since he was a boy. The present summer will be the 54th season that he has passed in this charming locality.

BASS ROCKS will again be the summer headquarters of the Siamese Legation, which will arrive about the middle of June. This season the legation will make a change in abode and instead of the one cottage, two houses have been secured. Prince Prabandh and Princess Traidos will occupy the large Judge Sherman cottage on the rocks near Good Harbor Beach, now the property of the late Judge Sherman's son, Roland Sherman, Esq., and Edward H. Loftus, the English secretary to the Ambassador, will occupy with his family, the Rev. Ezra L. Taft cottage on Atlantic Road, Bass Rocks.

With the new improvements to Hotel Thorwald, the house is gradually being put in order for the opening the middle of June.

The Moorland Hotel will open early in June. Proprietor E. D. Parsons and wife have arrived from the South and California, where they divided their time during the winter.

Mrs. Ellis Mendell and daughter, Mrs. Henry T. Hall of Brookline are at the Mendell cottage, Atlantic road. They contemplate letting the cottage and going to the Panama-Pacific Exposition to spend the season in California. Mrs. Mendell, daughter and granddaughter, spent the winter at the Lathrop cottage, Rocky Neck, East Gloucester.

Harry B. Warner, the English actor of Jimmy Valentine fame, will arrive soon with his wife at "Alyswyn," the Warner summer estate on Page street. Following the death of his first wife by an automobile accident, Mr. Warner's summer home was not occupied last season.

Miss Myra R. Tutt of Readville has leased the McGuckin cottage on Page street for another season.

Mrs. Margaret Wymond of Louisville, Ky., has leased "Rock View," the C. Granville Way cottage at Bass Rocks, occupied last season by the Siamese Legation.

Mrs. Macomber of Boston, who was Mrs. Price of Baltimore when at Bass Rocks last season, will occupy the Charles P. Smith cottage on Brightside avenue. Mrs. Macomber will arrive early in company with her three children.

The Bass Rocks golf links have received improvements this spring.

The C. A. Way cottage on Page street has been leased to Mrs. Fowler of Baltimore.

The Howard C. Turners of Boston will again occupy the former Way residence now the property of Clif-

Cephus Jackman of Portsmouth, England, is the guest for an extended time of his brother, Eli Jackman of Thorwald cottage, Beach avenue. Both cottages of the Ten Associates at Starknought Heights have been rented for the season.

ANNISQUAM. The outlook for this part of Cape Ann is exceedingly bright and cottagers are beginning to arrive. The hotels Brynmere, By-Water Inn, and Beach Cottages are open for the season.

The George M. Brown cottage on River road, leased by Mr. Richardson, the Boston architect, has received extensive alterations and improvements and the grounds made very attractive. The Richardsons will arrive the last of May.

Mr. and Mrs. Will T. Brundage of Washington, D. C., have arrived at their studio cottage.

Melbourne H. Hardwick, the Boston artist and wife, are at "The Poplars," their studio cottage at Annisquam.

George H. Warner of Tyon, N. C., is occupying the W. B. Griffin homestead on River road, this season.

Miss Grace Wentworth of Boston, is occupying her cottage on Arlington street, for the season.

Miss Constance Rulison of Carlisle, Pa., has arrived at her cottage, Chester square, Annisquam.

The Grand View and overlook hotels will open as usual on June 15.

Tracy Hoppin of New York, is occupying his cottage on Adams Heights.

The thirty or more cottages at Wolf Hill will all be occupied this season. Among the families from out-of-town to arrive early here are the Hammonds of Somerville, Shurtleffs of Belmont, Bergengrens of Lynn, Toothachers of Somerville and the Hudsons of Hudson. The Wednesday afternoon club at this resort has become prominent in the social life and many good times are planned for the approaching season.

ROCKPORT. The new country clubhouse at Land's End, Rockport, will be a great addition to the social life at that resort this season. This new house, which has been building the past winter by I. P. Fears' Sons, contractors, is very nearly completed. It commands a beautiful view of the surrounding country and the expanse of ocean, from its site on the hill near South street. The clubhouse will be open this season to the members. The fine golf course will cover 80 acres.

The Breakers cottage at Straitsmouth, has been open to guests for the entire winter and Mrs. Wilkinson the proprietor of Straitsmouth Inn and "The Breakers," housed a large number of college girls during the spring vacation. The Inn will open the first of June.

Miss Kerr of Malden, has arrived at her cottage on Sandaba avenue.

A beautiful drive down at Land's End along Eden road, to Paradise Cliffs, brings one to the attractive summer residence of Joseph F. Reynolds of St. Botolph st., Boston. Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds have arrived for the season. The Reynolds have been summer residents of Land's End for 15 years. Mr. Reynolds is an artist having a studio on Tremont street, Boston. He loves the sea and the landscape and he has indeed chosen a charming spot for his summer home. Mr. Reynolds' charitable spirit became known when a sign "public path" is seen. This path leads to the rocks, pool and sunken garden, where visitors are allowed the privilege of enjoying nature's charms and the garden's art.

Turk's Head Inn will again be opened by Proprietor C. B. Martin and the house has a good booking for early and permanent guests.

WILSON DID NOT consult with Bryan. They probably had an understanding concerning such crises long before it arose.

GREAT BRITAIN lost the Lusitania, but Germany lost her reputation among the nations of the world.

EDITORIAL

THE PRESENT STRAINED RELATIONS between the United States and Germany demonstrates the folly of believing it will be possible for the government to pursue a laissez faire policy concerning the army and navy. As much as America loves peace it cannot be obtained by crying for peace when there is no peace. The time has not yet come when this nation or any other nation can or will disarm. The barbaric in human nature has not yet been eliminated. Dreams that some are entertaining that this war will result in disarmament of the powers that are now in combat cannot be realized. The necessity of a navy and army is apparent. America may believe in peace, but the weak-kneed, careless, happy-go-lucky way in which it cares for both arms of its military service is an open invitation to well-disciplined and unscrupulous foreign powers to be careless in their endeavors to maintain peace. It is true a large naval and army force in any country presents a serious problem in a political way. Every fighting recruit has a desire to see the equipment used. On the other hand a respectable navy and a workable army commands respect and in itself is a deterrent to a foreign power. In diplomatic "battles" the armed forces must still add "weight" to the skilful maneuverings of the statesmen. The sense of Augustus Peabody Gardner's arraignment of the national naval and military policy is apparent. In Europe when conflict began he was able to see the contest through the eyes of the Europeans and could easily learn such lessons as it might teach America. The present crisis demonstrates the folly of thinking that it is going to be possible for this country to close its eyes to the serious problem of equipping and maintaining the navy and army efficiently.

A NEW YORK PAPER is dismayed because Theodore Roosevelt is not in the chair at the White House. What this country needs at this time is not a pugnacious Theodore, but a cautious and deliberative Wilson. This country has been everything to be grateful for. There is one man who has been obliged to bear the brunt of this terrible problem and he is the President. The country learned his temperament and his spirit in the Mexican crisis. A smaller man would have rushed into war in Mexico and the same temperament would have precipitated a contest now, and in the double fight America would be involved in a world war of unthinkable terrible-ness.

REV. B. R. BULKELEY has concluded a long and successful pastorate at the Unitarian Church in Beverly. He has been a frequent and welcome speaker in Manchester and his removal from the Shore will be a distinct loss.

IT LOOKS AS THOUGH the City Government in a neighboring city were not interested in maintaining the discipline of its police force.

BILLY SUNDAY needed all his vocabulary to give his opinions.

MOTHER'S SUNDAY was fittingly observed.

MANCHESTER IN COMMON with the many towns of the Commonwealth has been prosecuting with vigor a clean-up campaign. Inside and out the broom, the pail, soap, water and paint have been doing their part in the world's work. Clean-up and paint-up has been a slogan that has won. The fight with dirt is a year-round problem; despite the successes of the week it will be a contest along this line all summer to win true success. Nothing is more attractive in a village than to see its streets well cared for, its sidewalks clean and well constructed, with respectable garden plots and home sites and with growing grass carefully cared for. The old-fashioned house cleaning of our grandfathers becomes the revival of a community policy. Everybody has been cleaning up and painting up and now it remains to keep it up.

THE NEW HAVEN RAILROAD has won a partial victory in its fight for relief legislation. This is a good sign, for it indicates a change in public opinion. The railroads have suffered from hostile legislation and the change now means much for the railroads of New England. The attacks which have emanated from certain quarters in the past have not always been made with the sincerest motives. With relief legislation actually voted by the legislature the New England lines can continue their reconstruction work with a possibility of success.

THERE ARE NO GERMAN LINERS being torpedoed. There are none plying between America and Germany. Great Britain has been able to maintain her supremacy of the sea without a first class naval encounter. The sinking of the Lusitania was possible because of Great Britain's freedom on the sea.

THERE WAS IRONY OF FATE in the tragic lost on the Lusitania of Isaac B. Trumbull. The firm which he represented had refused to participate in the manufacture of war materials as a matter of conscience. The brothers, however, are determined to change their policy. What a terrible and relentless human malice is!

AMERICANS who have been travelling to and from Europe with daring and impunity will now act with more caution. Travel to Europe in these days is no child's adventure. The place for Americans is in America. Let the old world fight out its fight to the bitter end.

EVERYONE IS NOW INTERESTED in the mysteries of the garden. What a wonder and revelation spring is with all its glory after the cold and wearisomeness of winter? Nature, cruel and unkind as it is, has nevertheless her comforting and cheering powers.

THE PROPHETS WHO SAW the end of the war in three months have another sad guess. The world is "in" for a long hard contest and it is about time that the seriousness of the situation was realized.

HUMANITY FIRST is Wilson's ideal and America is in accord with him.

AMERICAN MANUFACTURERS are busy making many war materials for the old world. From an ethical point of view the activities in America over such forms of manufactures are deplorable. At first thought one would wish to have our government suppress such manufactures and shipments. This country has established a position of neutrality. Germany and the Allies both have an open door to America and at the present stage of the war the prevention by law in America of such shipments would, in fact, be an act violating neutrality as it would be a distinct help to Germany and a set back to the Allies. The conditions could easily be reversed.

THE GERMAN SUBMARINE, as an act of war, might have been justified in signaling the Lusitania and in permitting all of its crew and passengers to disembark and then torpedo the ship. The Lusitania was a reserve vessel of the Royal Navy and subject to the perils of war. But the sinking of that great vessel with innocent passengers aboard and giving no opportunity for passengers to save their lives is an incredible atrocity. Germany is repeating on the sea some of the atrocities of the army on the land. America may well believe that there is some truth in the stories that come from afar.

A CERTAIN DIPLOMATIC representative is credited with the comment concerning the Lusitania that will become famous,—“Let the Americans think!” Let the American people think? Ah, there is the penalty! Americans will think and think right. Americans know how to think. The Lusitania has made them think,—but not favorably of Germany. American thinkers have been obliged to throw the decision against the German militaristic government. They have no feeling against the people of Germany; it is the German government that has sinned.

THE HORROR OF THE TITANIC was the unexpectedness of the disaster, and men were appalled by the limitations of human ability; but the sinking of the Lusitania is a terrible revelation of the barbarity of human nature. The sinking of the Titanic was a disaster; the torpedoing of the Lusitania was wholesale murder,—a massacre.

THE POWER of the submarine is shown beyond the question of a doubt for the Lusitania was the strongest ship afloat and was the pride of the builders and the owners. It is reasonable to say that no ship afloat could withstand a carefully sent torpedo.

BERLIN HAS FORWARDED an “apology” of mild form for the loss of our citizens, but the acknowledgment of guilt only deepens the plot. The sinking of the Lusitania is now an accredited German Government activity and not the “crazy” move of some irresponsible subaltern.

BECAUSE MANUFACTURERS of contraband of war in America have an opportunity to make money is no reason why the peaceful relations of America with Europe should be imperilled.

THE PLUMBERS are having a war of their own, but the property owner pays the bill. Has the time arrived when a man has no right to run his own business?

AN HONEST DAY'S WORK to do is the best sort of a safety valve for distracted nerves and aroused spirits.

HOW LONG WILL IT TAKE to win a war that makes its gains in yards and sometimes even in feet?

War Notes

J. A. TORREY

It seemeth to me
That War is Hell,
Yea, sooth to tell,
Sadder than Hell
If sadder can be!

Religion is a potent force
That makes for character,
But in man's nature there are depths
Which only War may stir.

Portals there be
That to palm-branches open free,
But never entrance will afford
To flaming sword.

All history proves
War brings a greater curse
Than it removes.

And can it be,
That from Heaven's gallery,
The angels look in sadness or in mirth
Upon this 3-ringed circus of our earth?

While men survive there will be clash of blades:
The blood-red blossom of War is the flower that never fades.

Grim War, for twice a thousand years.
With shout of battle and with clash of spears,
With victory and defeat, with hopes and fears,
The grim array,
The fierce and bloody fray,
Was all for you and me
Who live in peace today!

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE may well ponder Wilson's words spoken in Philadelphia, for America must set the example of Peace for “A man may be too proud to fight, so right that force is not needed to prove he is right.”

THE SPRING HAS BEEN LONG with us now and the gardens are planted. Many summer visitors have opened their houses. The fruit trees have blossomed and the season is on.

THE CUNARD LINE may not be able to say truthfully now that it has never lost a single passenger, but no one would count the Lusitania disaster against the company.

IT TAKES ALL KINDS of nations to make the world, but America condemns the nation that violated the highest code of honor among men in taking human lives.

THE REAL ESTATE MEN report the best season of years. Rentals have been easier and all signs point to a long and successful North Shore season.

AMERICA is a safe place for Americans.

MANCHESTER SPECIAL TOWN MEETING OF MAY 3.

An account of the special town meeting in Manchester on Monday evening of last week, was inadvertently omitted from our last issue.

The meeting was called to order by Town Clerk Jewett at 7.35. Charles C. Dodge was elected moderator by nomination.

Art. 2. Geo. E. Hildreth moved an appropriation of $700 for extension of a six-inch water main on Lincoln avenue. Voted. Voted under Art. 3, on motion of Thomas Baker to appropriate $525 to extend the sewer from School street to the northwest end of Lincoln avenue.

Art. 4. E. P. Stanley moved that the vote under Art. 7 of the meeting held Aug. 13, 1913, and adjourned to Aug. 30, 1913, relative to adoption of sewer rates as made by the sewer commissioners, be rescinded. This was passed by a unanimous vote. This action leaves the town without sewer assessment and the entire expense of sewer maintainance will go into the general tax levy.

Art. 5. E. S. Knight moved that the selectmen be authorized to settle the case of Lord vs. the Town of Manchester for land damage at Lord's cranberry meadow. This is for land taken in connection with building the water works road. The amount involved is $400, to be taken from the general bond issue. Voted.

Art. 6. Harry Hooper moved that $800 be appropriated to provide and maintain a public dump and that the selectmen be authorized to secure a proper place. E. P. Stanley thought we should first find out where a place can be obtained; Geo. Hobbs said the superintendent of streets had furnished a dump for several years and was willing to continue it if the town would provide a man to take care of it; E. S. Knight said the selectmen had about all they could do to take care of the dumps now in use. A dump is a nuisance anywhere you put it. Mr. Stanley remarked that Beverly had a dump almost in the center of the city and everything burnable is put in a cage and burned every day. Mr. Crafts amended the motion to pass over. Mr. Hobbs said there was much complaint about dumps and ought not to pass over. Geo. R. Dean favored a dump. He offered an amendment that a committee of five be appointed to investigate the matter of a public dump and report at adjourned meeting. This was carried and Harry Hooper, G. R. Dean, C. L. Crafts, Albert Sinnicks and E. P. Stanley were appointed as the committee.

Under Art. 7, $300 was appropriated to build a stone wall on the town property on Brook street.

Art. 8. Relative to changing the election of board of selectmen from one to three years, E. P. Stanley moved to pass over. H. T. Bingham said he was convinced that it was the best thing to do to elect for three year terms which would always insure having two men on the board with experience, which was a great advantage. The motion to pass over was put and carried by a very large majority. At 8.10 the meeting dissolved.

WHISPERINGS of THE BREEZES

The death last week of another of Manchester's greatly beloved summer residents of long standing brings vividly before the mind of the Whisperer the efforts of Miss Fannie Bartlett and her sister toward securing Manchester's first pair of fire horses. It was about 15 years ago, a day or two following the gas explosion and fire at the summer home of James Means, on Smith's Point, in which a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Means, Miss Klemm of Philadelphia, was seriously injured. It was the custom then, in case of a fire, to procure a pair of horses from one of several stables near the center of town, and consequently the apparatus was often slow in getting to the scene of the fire. The seriousness of this fire in particular awakened public opinion, especially among the summer cottagers, and the Misses Barlett were the first to take an active move. They talked the matter over with the late Samuel Knight and others, and they decided the best way to get definite action at once was to petition the town to buy a pair of horses and keep them at the engine house all the time. A petition was circulated about town, especially among the summer cottagers, and the writer has always been proud of the part he took in the movement in taking the petition all along the shore from Coolidge's Point to West Manchester. Everybody was anxious to sign it, and it wasn't long before the interior of the engine house was changed over and a pair of horses was installed. The march of progress has since seen the horses disappear from the engine house and an up-to-the-minute motor truck takes their place, though the department still retains the horses for supplementary use, hauling other apparatus, extra hose, etc.

MANCHESTER BURGLARS SENT TO JAIL

In the superior criminal court at Salem before Judge Quinn Monday afternoon Frank Goodwin of Gloucester, 24 years old, and Lemuel West of Manchester, 45 years old, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering North Shore cottages last winter. At the cottage of George L. Hamilton at Magnolia, between $600 and $700 worth of property was taken, while at the cottage of Agnes L. Devens at Manchester, which was entered twice, over $500 worth of property was carried away. Most of this was recovered, but some is still missing.

In searching the defendant's premises, bed sheets stolen from a Gloucester summer house a year ago were found. Goodwin, who had no previous record, was sentenced to the house of correction for two and a half years, while West, who has a previous record, was sentenced to state prison for not less than three and not more than four years.

Chief of Police Sullivan of Manchester, had charge of the case for the town.

MANCHESTER

MANCHESTER BASEBALL

Manchester's baseball season will open Monday, May 31, when the strong Peabody A. A. will be the attraction at the playgrounds. The diamond and outfield has been somewhat improved this spring and ought to prove a much better field for the sport this year. The drop between home plate and second base was formerly two feet; it is now about one foot. The whole grounds have been improved, levelled and smoothed off.

Grover, Manchester's popular left-hander, will be in the box for the home team, and Bond, the crack batter, O'Leary of home-run fame, and Collins will be on hand. Collins may catch, or he may be on second. The full line-up will be given next week. One thing sure—Manchester is going to have a strong team on the field this season—and it is going to start to do things right off the bat, and not wait until the middle of the season, as last year.

BEVERLY FARMS

Beverly Farms is to lose its popular baseball manager—Arthur (Dutch) Holland having just "bid in" a job at Newburyport, which will necessitate his leaving here. Mr. Holland has been an assistant at the Beverly Farms railroad station eight or nine years, serving first under the late Frank Rand as station agent. The new position at Newburyport will be more remunerative and will have shorter hours—from 3 in the afternoon until mid-night, it is understood. While everyone at Beverly Farms and Manchester will be pleased to learn of Mr. Holland's success, they equally regret to have him leave Beverly Farms. He succeeded last year and the year before in putting the best baseball team on the diamond that Beverly Farms ever had and he always stood for fairplay and a square deal the management of his team as well as regarded his opponents.

LUSITANIA VICTIMS

The North Shore had at least two victims on the ill-fated Lusitania, when it was blown up by a German torpedo last Friday,—Miss Elizabeth Secombe of Boston, who summered at "The Lodge," owned by E. A. Boardman, at Beverly Farms, last summer, and Miss Nellie Fenenian, a maid in the employ of Mrs. Wm. B. Walker at West Manchester. The latter was going to her home in England to visit her sick mother, intending to return to Manchester later. Miss Secombe and her brother Percy both lost their lives and nothing has ever been heard from Miss Fenenian.

I always think that the first time one feels pain and hopelessness teaches one a great deal about oneself. It is just yourself that you need to learn about.—Mandell Creighton.

BIG RED MEN CELEBRATION OF JULY 4TH AT GLOUCESTER

The biggest and best Fourth of July celebration Gloucester ever had is the latest plans of the Red Men Cape Ann Day observance committee. At a meeting of the committee Wednesday night, the plans were altered and it was voted to hold this year's celebration on July 4, instead of later in the month.

This has been done to avoid having two holidays in the month, and in making this change, the committee believe they made a move in the right direction. The day will start with a bonfire at Stage Fort Park at 12.01 a. m., and the day's events will include a big parade in the forenoon, and new feature attractions at the Park in the afternoon.

All Red Men Tribes in this reservation have been written to, asking for assistance in the parade and a delegate will be sent to each organization explaining the details to them.

"A PAIR OF SIXES"

After all arrangements had been made for "A Pair of Sixes" to leave the Wilbur on May 15th, at the close of its remarkable run of 20 weeks in Boston, the demand for seats became so great that the management of the theatre realized it would be impossible to accommodate one-half of the people who desired to see this wonderful attraction before it left the city. "A Pair of Sixes" had already been announced for appearance in other cities who were clamoring for it; but by quick action all engagements were cancelled, and announcement is now made by the Wilbur Theatre that "A Pair of Sixes" would remain in Boston for two weeks more.

The fire companies held their annual meeting Monday evening when the following officers were elected: Engine Company—Ellery L. Rogers, captain; Manuel Miguel, lieutenant; Geo. E. Hildreth, clerk. Hook and Ladder Co.—Granville Crombie, capt.; James Murray, lieutenant; Charles W. Fritz, clerk. The companies were having their first "try-out" of the season Monday evening, when the fire alarm sounded for a fire at the large building on Bennett st., formerly used as the Mitchell pattern factory, but now occupied by two families. The engine was at Brook street, and the hook and ladder was on Elm st. The auto chemical was at the engine house. A quick response of the entire equipment and full complement of men resulted when the alarm was sounded. The fire was put out in short order. It was confined to the roof, and is supposed to have resulted from paper being burned in a large fireplace. Geo. C. Leach discovered the fire and pulled in the box at the corner of Bridge and Central streets. The building is occupied by John O'Neil and family, and by Fred L. Smith and family. MEMORIAL DAY PLANS, MANCHESTER

Memorial Day will fall this year on Sunday, but the holiday will be observed on Monday, the 31st. The program as arranged, in Manchester, calls for a parade at 2 o'clock in the afternoon from G. A. R. hall to the various cemeteries and water front and band concert on the common. The Manchester band has been engaged for the day. Patriotic exercises will be held in the Town hall in the evening at 7.30, when the following program will be carried out: Call to order, Post Com. Crombie; selection, Harvard quartet, Boston; invocation, Rev. Chas. A. Hatch; selection, quartet; reading general orders, Post Adjutant Rivers; selection, quartet; reading, Lincoln's Gettysburg address, Abbott Foster; selection, quartet; address, Hon. Chas. D. Smith, Gloucester; selection, quartet; benediction; "America," audience.

Memorial Sunday will be observed May 23d, with union services at the Baptist church at 10.45 a. m.

The G. A. R. and affiliated organizations are invited to participate in these exercises and observances.

An idea quite new to Manchester was given a tryout at the Congregational chapel last Friday afternoon when Mrs. Miller of Boston addressed a large number of girls and young women upon "Dress," her theme being simplicity and appropriateness. She exhibited frocks, hats, suits, and shoes from the stock of a large Boston firm. The wearing apparel, which she used to illustrate her talk, was well calculated to bring out her point that moderation in prices and models may be obtained. There were girls from Magnolia, Beverly Farms, Pride's Crossing, as well as from Manchester, and the plan was an assured success from the first, judging by the enthusiasm with which the idea was received by everyone present. It is planned to hold two such exhibitions each year hereafter, and they will probably be held at Town hall so that a much larger number of invitations may be sent out, and the gowns will be worn by living models.

RESIGNS FROM FIRE DEPARTMENT

Selectman Lyman W. Floyd has resigned as a member of the Manchester Fire department after a continuous service of 26-years. His letter to the fire engineers is as follows:

*Hon. Board of Fire Engineers,
Manchester, Mass.*

Gentlemen:—After a continuous service of twenty-six years as a member of the fire department, I beg to tender herewith my resignation as a member of the same.

It has been with pleasure and no small degree of pride that I have witnessed the department develop in apparatus and general efficiency and I trust that under the management and recommendations of your honorable board such greater degree of effectiveness may be attained as that the department may merit the respect and confidence of the entire community.

With assurance to you, gentlemen, of my most distinguished regard, I remain,

Very respectfully,
LYMAN W. FLOYD.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE NOTES

Editor North Shore Breeze:

A writer, signing herself L. R. S., in the NORTH SHORE BREEZE of April 23, undertakes to correct some "mis-statements that are still going about" and begins by making the flagrant mis-statements that the 30,000 members of the Massachusetts Anti-Suffrage Association include both men and women, and that only about 1% of the women of Massachusetts are opposed to suffrage. To be accurate, the membership of the Anti-Suffrage association is 31,600 and this includes no men, a fact which is constantly being stated in Anti-Suffrage publications—these 31,600 are all women over 21. I regret to learn that it contains the name of one lady who has changed her faith, as such names are not wanted on the list. If this lady will kindly send her name to Anti-Suffrage headquarters 687 Boylston st., it will be taken off within 24 hours. These 31,600 women make 3% of the women over 21 in Massachusetts, not 1% as L. R. S. says. She considers that a small showing, but what can her side show? At the 1915 legislative hearing on the Suffrage question, the suffragists stated that their membership numbered 55,000. This includes men and women if not children. The number of men and women over 21 in this state is approximately 2,270,000, estimating on a normal growth since the census of 1910. 55,000 is less than 2½% of this number. Therefore we have the interesting situation that the antis have 3% of the women over 21 in Massachusetts as members of their organization, while the suffragists who have been working 25 years longer, and take in both men and women have less than 2½% of the adult population enrolled as suffragists.

L. R. S. claims, however, that all the women in the state who are not members of the Anti-suffrage association are Suffragists! If this is the case it is certainly amazing that the suffragists were so bitterly opposed to the Drury Bill which advocated a referendum of the suffrage question to all the women of the state. It is because they know quite well that the great majority of the women do not want to vote that they fought this bill. They are unwilling to have the men learn how few women really wish to enter politics.

L. R. S. speaks of "the overwhelming testimony as to the tremendous numbers of women voting at recent elections in Chicago." Is she not allowing her imagination a little too free rein? The estimated number of women over 21 in Chicago is 725,000. The largest number voting (and it was necessary to arouse bitter race and religious prejudice to get even this number out) was 243,000. This leaves 482,000 who refused to vote in spite of every sort of pressure which could be brought to bear on them. Would it not be more accurate to speak of "the tremendous numbers of women not voting at recent elections in Chicago?" As to the improvement in the orderliness of elections she would better read the Chicago papers; apparently the last election was one of the most riotous and disorderly on record.

L. R. S. says that the National and International Teachers Congress have endorsed woman suffrage. The Massachusetts Federation of Labor has recently endorsed the movement against Prohibition. Does L. R. S. think this signifies that the rank and file of the laboring men in Massachusetts are in favor of the saloon? These "endorsements" sound impressive until one learns of the methods by which they are frequently put through. A certain labor union not far from Boston was said last winter to have passed resolutions endorsing woman suffrage. As it happens, nearly all the members of this union are anti-suffragists, but at a very small meeting a few suffragists put the resolution through. This same thing was attempted recently at a Grange meeting after most of the members had left, but failed. At Wellesley College for years, girls both suffragists and antis, were invited to join a club for the purposes of discussion of woman suffrage, and then all were counted as members of the College Equal Suffrage League. Knowing a few facts of this kind leads one to discount these "endorsements." In Michigan the suffragists had "endorsements" from about everything in sight, and were defeated after a six weeks' Anti-Suffrage educational campaign by 96,000!

L. R. S. credits Gov. Walsh with being a suffragist. An inquiry of Excellency's Secretary at the State House brought the reply that this statement is entirely erroneous. The Governor's position is an absolutely neutral one. He supports the plank in his party platform which advocates the submission of the question to the people in the form of a constitutional amendment. This, however, is quite a different proposition from supporting Woman Suffrage itself, which according to his secretary, the Governor has no intention of doing.

L. R. S. is surely right in saying

EQUAL SUFFRAGE NOTES

On Saturday, May 15th, which is "Suffrage Day" in Mass., the Manchester League will hold a "Spring Tea" at the house of Mrs. Charles A. Hatch, at 3.30 o'clock. There will be a brief business meeting, with speaking and a report of the Campaign Convention in Boston, and this will be followed by music and tea. These "Suffrage spring teas" have become quite the fashion in New York and Boston this season.

On that same afternoon in Boston the day will be observed with open-air speaking and a band concert on the Common in the afternoon. All men are specially invited to this demonstration.

The Annual Meeting and Campaign Convention of the Mass. Suffragists began on Thursday in Boston, and continues through Friday and Saturday morning. The delegates from Manchester were Miss Stanwood and Miss Florence Leach, and other North Shore leagues represented there were Lynn, Salem, Swampscott, Beverly, Gloucester, Ipswich, Newburyport, etc. The New England Conference came on Friday morning, and the great banquet at the Hotel Somerset came off on Thursday evening with brilliant success. The large ball-room was over-filled, and many were unable to obtain places at all. The scene was beautiful with spring flowers, yellow and white, and among the fine speakers were Hon. Sam. Powers and Miss Helen Todd, of California, the latter making perhaps the deepest impression of all. Miss Todd will speak on the Common Saturday.

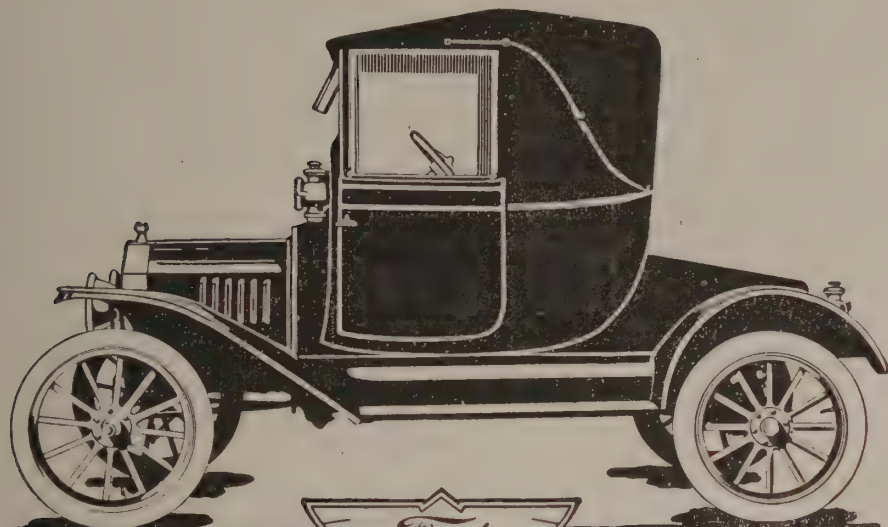

The general reports at the convention showed steady increase of interest and work. In spite of the dark clouds hanging over the world at this time, Suffragists remain cheerful and hopeful, because they are by nature the cheerful and hopeful element of the community, and because they believe that better times are coming in the near future. We hope and believe that our country will not be drawn into the war. War always interrupts civilization. But it is said in England that this war has "proved the worth of women as citizens." Must we wait for that, to enfranchise our women citizens? Men of Massachusetts, do it now! —L. R. S.

that "there are still some mis-statements going about." —J. W.

The last meeting of the year of the the Parent-Teacher association was held Tuesday evening at the Blynman Grammar school when the election of officers and annual meeting was held. The same officers who have served during the last year were re-elected with the exception of Mrs. D. C. Ballou, who was elected vice-president, and Mrs. George Adams, who was elected to the executive committee. Mrs. Foster, the president, spoke a few words about what has been accomplished during the year, and what has been planned for the year to come, when the Magnolia association will take a more active interest in the state and national organizations. A committee was formed to send flowers to the members of the branch who are at present ill, and Mrs. Frederick Dunbar was appointed chairman of this committee. A vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Foster for her unfailing interest in Parent-Teacher work, and to Mr. Dunbar for his kindness in caring for the school before and after meetings. There was some discussion of the plan of having school and home gardens at Magnolia this summer, and Mrs. Dagle of Gloucester read a comprehensive report of the progress, which has been made along this line in Gloucester this year. A social program, which was one of the most enjoyable of the year, was given as follows: Reading, "In the Catacombs," Miss Flaherty, encore, "The Foreigners' Views of the Statue of Liberty"; vocal duet, "The Harp that Once Through Tara's Hall," Miss O'Neil and Mrs. Adams; readings, "Entertaining Sister's Beau," "The Fashionable Girl from School," Miss Dagle; solos, "Mother Machree" and "Come Back to Me," Miss O'Neil; readings, "Haunted by a Song," "Little Girl's Composition on Boys," and "Asleep at the Switch," Miss Murphy; song, Mrs. Walter Marchant; anecdote, Miss Flaherty; songs, "Resignation," and "Daddy Has a Sweetheart," Mr. Adams; readings, "Selling the Farm," and "An Incident of '98," Miss Dagle; readings, "Old Ace," "The Hindu," and "The Smack in School," Miss Murphy.

The Foster club is planning to produce the comedy, "Breezy Point," at the Women's clubhouse, Friday evening, May 29, at eight o'clock. Admission is 25 cents. The performance promises to be especially good and everyone is interested in the project, especially as it has a worthy object, the Blynman school piano

A pretty arbor and gardens are being made on Vine street on the grounds of the Tunipoo Inn, and with the pretty, numerous cedar and evergreen trees, which have been already planted there, the place is due to become quite a pretty little beauty spot.

Preston W. R. Corps has changed its plans somewhat for the observance of Flag Day, June 14. The Corps now plans to invite the public to come to the Beverly Farms School assembly hall in the evening when an appropriate program will be presented.

Quite extensive alterations are now going on upon the building in Central square owned by the Marshall estate and to be occupied by the Beverly Trust Company branch bank. The improvements are to the extent that hardly any of the old structure will be recognizable when completed. The work is being looked after by Eben Day of Hardy & Day.

John Trowt of Pride's Crossing is ill with the measles.

Among the real estate transfers recorded on Tuesday is the following: John H. Linehan conveys to Bridie M. Ring, land and buildings on High street, Beverly Farms, 138.83 by 259 feet. This estate has been occupied for several years past by George Wyness and is known as the Horatio Haskell estate.

Monday afternoon quite a little excitement was caused by a lively runaway of a horse belonging to J. L. Thorndike, which became frightened at a passing auto on Hale street. The animal bolted, the wheel of the carriage being smashed, throwing out the coachman, injuring his ankle and giving him a good shaking up. The runaway with the carriage on three wheels continued down Hale street through Depot square, across the railroad platform and tracks to the back entrance to the Bemis gardens where the horse fell and was stopped; the animal was not injured to any extent, but the carriage was badly damaged.

Station Agent William H. Gerrish of the Pride's Crossing Depot is taking his annual vacation and plans with Mrs. Gerrish to spend it at his former home at Kittery, Me. During Mr. Gerrish's absence, the station will be in charge of Charles Elliott of Gloucester.

The mayor has re-appointed John M. Publicover as second assistant engineer of the Fire Department, an appointment of general satisfaction to the Beverly Farms people.

Patrolman Timothy Hayes has been selected to be the motor-cycle cop about Beverly Farms this summer.

Oliver Wendell Holmes Council, K. of C., was represented at Tuesday's convention, held in Boston, by Daniel J. Neville, Lawrence J. Watson, 2d, and Homer Callahan as delegates.

The Girls' club of St. John's Episcopal church will hold a private social in Marshall's hall this evening.

Wednesday evening—on some pretext—Francis Lawlor, a popular Beverly Farms young man, was induced to spend the evening at home. Upon answering the ring of the door-bell, he was very much surprised to have 20 or more of his friends rush into the house. They had come to tell him that it was his 20th birthday and to help him celebrate it, and also to show their intentions in a material way, presented him with a handsome Knights of Columbus watch charm. The evening was happily spent in music and a social way, including the serving of refreshments.

BOSTON THEATRE

A revolution in motion pictures is being offered at the famous Boston Theatre. This is nothing more or less than the most stupendous array of feature pictures and comedies ever offered on one bill, presented in a continuous performance from ten a. m. to ten-thirty p. m. for the admission scale of 15 and 25 cents. It is the intention of the management to convert the Boston Theatre into a gigantic picture palace, presenting the biggest and longest show for the money ever offered.

BIRD DAY! WHAT NEXT?

Winthrop Packard, secretary of the Mass. Audubon society, has sent out the following invitation:

"You are invited to join with the Massachusetts Audubon Society and the State Grange in celebrating Bird Day this year by field meetings in three beauty spots of the State. The first will be on Saturday, May 15th, at Forest Park, Springfield, the second on Saturday, May 22d, at Franklin Park, Boston (near the Refectory) and the third on Saturday, June 12th, at Greenfield, on the Agricultural Society grounds. All day meetings, exhibition of bird-houses and prizes awarded to school children for best construction at 12 M. Formal exercises with distinguished speakers at 2 P. M. Bird walks later. Basket lunch. Coffee and sandwiches may be bought on the grounds."

It is often better not to see an insult than to avoid it.—Seneca.

Happiness lies in the consciousness we have of it, and by no means in the way the future keeps its promise.—George Sand.

Tunipoo Inn, Beverly Farms' new hotel, will open tomorrow for guests and will have for a three days' stay, a party of 30 young women from Wellesley college. A number of other guests are also booked for an early arrival. Mrs. Bernard J. Wood of Boston has become a co-proprietor with Messrs. Connolly and McDonald and will give her personal attention to the management of the new Inn.

Miss May Collins is back at her desk at the North Shore Fish Co. again after a short vacation spent at Plymouth, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Barney of Williamstown have spent the past week at Beverly Farms visiting friends.

George Manent, age 78 years, 9 months, died on Saturday last at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William H. Gerrish, 693 Hale street, after an illness of considerable length. The deceased for years resided at Kittery, Maine, coming to live with his daughter, Mrs. Wm. H. Gerrish, at Beverly Farms a number of years ago. He was well liked and had quite a large circle of friends. Funeral services were held at his late residence Monday afternoon, and burial was at Kittery, Maine.

Many of the cottages at Beverly Farms and Pride's Crossing have been opened for the season. There may be a few that are still to be rented, but nearly every day there are prospective renters visiting here, so that it is very likely that this season nearly every cottage will be taken by early June.

The Ladies' Sewing circle met yesterday afternoon at the Baptist church chapel; after the time spent at work, the ladies were joined by members of their families and at six o'clock the whole party sat down to a fine supper.

The auto 'bus between Beverly and Beverly Farms started running Wednesday, much to the pleasure of the Beverly Farms people, who find it a great convenience. It is hoped that it will be kept running according to its schedule.

New sign posts have been put up around Beverly Farms on the various street corners. This will be a decided advantage, especially to strangers, and is being carried out at the suggestion made by a number of people at a recent public meeting.

Edgar Thibault of Arichat, N. S., is at Beverly Farms and will remain here until next fall.

A large number of those who do not favor the extension of suffrage to women from Ward six will attend the Anti-Suffrage meeting to be held in the Parish house, Federal st., Beverly, next Tuesday evening. The speakers are to be Mrs. A. J. George of Brookline, who is one of the best known speakers on this subject in the country and who has a nation wide reputation, and Rept. Elbridge Anderson of Wenham.

The question has been asked of the advisability of having the space left open for travel where the flag pole is in Central square, should the pole be taken to the library lot. The desirability of putting a grass plot there seems to be out of the question to many, as the space is so small that a grass plot would not be much of a beauty spot and would more or less obstruct travel.

St. JOHN'S CHURCH (Episcopal). The Rev. Neilson Poe Carey, Rector. First Sunday in each month, at 11 a. m., Celebration of the Holy Communion, with sermon. All other Sundays, at 11 a. m., Morning Prayer and Sermon. Sunday School every Sunday at 10 a. m.

A Sunday evening service, at 7.30, has been added to the program of services at St. John's Episcopal church.

The Girl's club of the St. John's Episcopal church will give a public entertainment in Marshall's hall this evening. There will be instrumental and vocal music, including solos by Misses Leach and Hawes; also a sketch given in costume by Miss Helen Hodgkins, Miss Louise Standley and Vibert Publicover; a pantomime given by ten young men and women of Beverly Farms. The big feature of the evening will be the presentation of a drama, "A Pan of Fudge." This is being given under the direction of Miss Florence Leach of Manchester and through the courtesy of Miss Leach and her associates from Manchester. After the entertainment refreshments will be served free of charge and candy and cake will be for sale. Dancing will follow, the music being in charge of Mrs. Sadie Low.

The Bible Institute of the various Baptist churches from Rockport to Lynn, under the direction of the Mass. Baptist Bible School association, are to meet at the Beverly Farms church commencing on Sunday, June 20, and continuing on the following Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

WENHAM

Those who thronged the village church in 1913 to hear the Topsfield choir conduct a choral service are rejoicing to know that the same band of singers, with their organist, Mr. Lyman Perkins, are to be in Wenham once more, on Sunday evening, May 23, at 7 o'clock. They will render the cantata of the Resurrection, with the aid of capable soloists. This visit is entirely a labor of friendship on their part. But to defray transportation expenses a silver collection is requested.

The Massachusetts State Conference of churches meets in Pittsfield May 18, and Rev. Mr. Cutler expects to attend as representative of Wenham.

New boys are becoming members of the scout troop, as the season for summer camping draws near. The boys look forward to an inter-town scout contest on May 29, and to helping the veterans celebrate Memorial Day on the 31st.

Wenham's tea room will reopen for the season May 29.

The Y. P. S. C. E. will meet at 7 p. m. with the regular evening congregation attending. The latter part of the hour Rev. Don Ivan Patch of North Beverly will deliver an address on "The Call to Bible Study."

Immediately following this, there will be a meeting (the annual meeting) of the department of Bible study to which all are invited. Mr. Patch comes as speaker for this department, of which Dea. Albert A. Tracy is chairman.

Junior Christian Endeavorers are keen in their "red and blue" contest. Last Sunday the reds won by five points. But the blues are yet three points in the lead.

At the village church Sunday morning, May 16, the minister, Rev. F. M. Cutler, will be the preacher. Sunday School at noon. J. C. E. at 5.

Social service was under deliberation Tuesday evening, when the department held its annual meeting. The feeling was expressed that results had been achieved in bettering local conditions, while some influence has undeniably been exerted on the right side at the State House. After three years of trial the experiment of conducting such work in the village church seems to be fully approved. Chairman H. W. Porter presided, committees were chosen, and plans were formed for the ensuing year.

Albert W. Dodge, Chas. H. Leach, Rev. F. M. Cutler and G. W. Wilson, were the delegates representing the village church at the Essex South association in North Beverly, Wednesday.

CREAM FOR CATARRH
OPENS UP NOSTRILS

Tells How To Get Quick Relief from Head-Colds. It's Splendid!

In one minute your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh will be gone.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh—Relief comes so quickly.

NO WOMAN WOULD WEAR LISLE IF SHE COULD SEE THESE SILK STOCKINGS

They are not only beautiful to see and touch but remarkable for their satisfaction-giving qualities.
Like all

McCALLUM SILK HOSIERY

they have that fine, even weave which distinguishes the superior hosiery. That is why they appeal to the most particular of our patrons.

Some styles are of cobweb sheerness, while others are of medium and heavy weights for general wearing. Ask for any of the following in women's hose:

No. 113 in black, No. 153 in colors, will give you the most service of any silk hose, at the price—pure Silk Thread, woven extra fine, with deep silk garter welt. No. 153 made to match any sample, if a few days' time is allowed. $2 pair.

No. 122 in black for general wear. Pure Silk Thread Hose, deep silk garter welt and lisle-lined; lisle inner-lined sole, heel, toe; medium, heavy weight, fine gauge. Also No. 152 in colors, same quality, a marvel at the price. $1.50.

AMONG our popular grades are the No. 164 in black and No. 630 in white and colors, all have lisle soles and high spliced heel, garter top of lisle in the colors; their exquisite texture and even sheerness distinguish them from any other moderate priced silk Hosiery $1.00 per pair.

If you wish to secure the best service from Silk Hose buy a size larger than you buy in lisle, they will not wrinkle as silk shapes itself to the surface, yet if too small they draw and the delicate threads easily cut. Wear Silk Stocking only once before having them laundered.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE— DRINK HOT TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking up a cold.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

Stop "dosing" Rheumatism.

It's pain only; not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" right on the "tender spot," and by the time you say Jack Robinson—out comes the rheumatic pain. "St. Jacob's Oil" is a harmless rheumatism cure which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache, neuralgia.

Limber up! Get a .25 cent bottle of old-time, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store, and in a moment you'll be free from pains, aches and stiffness. Don't suffer! Rub rheumatism away.

Women Working for Women

By ETHEL M. JOHNSON

TO many Bostonians, the Women's Educational and Industrial Union stands simply for the shop where the most delicious cakes and candies in the city may be purchased, or for the lunch rooms where one may enjoy the finest of home cooking. The fact that these and the other industrial departments, the Handwork Shop, the Hat and Gown Shop, and the New England Kitchen are all part of an important educational movement comes as a surprise to many people who believe they are well acquainted with the Union.

The business departments, in addition to assisting in the financial support, contribute directly to the educational activities by providing an opportunity for properly qualified students to secure practical experience under actual business conditions. In the present year, for instance, 95 young women, chiefly seniors from Simmons College, are receiving such training in the Union's Financial and Secretarial Officers, Appointment Bureau, Lunch Rooms, New England Kitchen and Food Shop.

The wide range of activities embraced can be better understood from a description of actual work in some of the different departments. Perhaps the least familiar to the throngs that daily pass the building at 264 Boylston street and pause to look at the tempting viands or the arts and crafts work displayed in the show case windows, is the Department of Research. Yet its work is recognized by social experts throughout the country as a vital contribution to the study of women in industrial life. Organized in 1906 as an attempt to arouse public opinion and securing legislation for the protection of women employed in factories in the state, it has become a school for training college graduates who wish to become investigators, as well as one of the leading agencies in the country for collecting data regarding conditions of women's work.

As another phase of its educational work the Union in connection with Simmons College is conducting a normal class to train teachers for trade and industrial schools. Courses in sewing with allied academic work are taken at the College while the Union gives trade experience in the manufacture of children's clothing, dress-making and millinery. Teachers who want to enter the field of industrial education and trade workers who desire to teach will find the course adapted to their needs.

Quite distinct from the educational departments, yet doing important educational work along its own lines, is the Department of Law and Thrift. The original purpose of the department, the investigation of cases of injustice done to women, has led to a study of protective measures, of principles of thrift and of institutions especially adapted to promote the habit of saving, and of wisely borrowing in time of pressure. Hence the significance of its title. Free legal advice and aid is given to both working men and women. Four hundred and sixty-nine legal aid cases were handled by the department last year. These represented the most varied problems, such as assignment of wages, conditional sales, domestic relations, fraudulent advertising and the labor laws. This department has done especially successful work in dealing with the small loans situation.

A side of the Union's social work is represented by the Room Registry, which is engaged in helping to solve the lodging house problem, by improving rooming standards and securing safe and attractive lodgings for students and for business women. Still another is the work done in the befriending and placement of handicapped or untrained women. Nearly nineteen hundred cases of this sort were handled by the Social Service Agent last year. Many of these applicants are elderly women who through the death of a relative or financial reverses have been thrown for the first time upon their own resources; some are widows with young children; others are practically incapacitated through physical infirmity; nearly all are inexperienced as wage earners. A number of students who are trying to earn their own expenses while gaining an education are each year assisted in securing part-time employment.

Representative of the business departments, at once industrial and educational in character, is the Handwork Shop and Sales Room, where most distinctive arts and crafts work is displayed; handwrought jewelry, metal work, pottery, baskets quaint and beautiful in design, furnishings for country houses, and toys for children. In the Baby Room are shown dainty hand-made frocks for children, outfits for infants and jaunty coats and hats for boys and girls, all made in one of the Union's model work rooms where the best sanitary standards and labor conditions are maintained. The shop serves both to train apprentices in the needle arts, and to afford laboratory practice for the students in the normal course for trade school teachers. The work is conducted on a business basis under the direction of an expert forewoman. Every model is designed by the Union's designer for this shop alone. Clean, attractive work-rooms with pay for over-time, paid holidays and vacations, sick benefit and steady employment throughout the year irrespective of slack seasons,—these are the standards set by the Union for all the industrial departments.

The students that come for training are required to conform to the working standards and thus acquaint themselves with actual trade conditions. In addition to the training offered in its work shop, the Handwork Department through its sales-room affords an opportunity for young women who are preparing to start an exchange or gift shop. Other phases of the department's educational work are shown in the annual exhibit conducted for the benefit of art school students, and the fellowship awarded to a young woman who is studying silversmithing.

During the present year the Union has offered to the public a course of free lectures for students on professional opportunities for women; and conducted a full time course for vocational counsellors which will be repeated in 1915-1916. A summer course in Salesmanship is to be given in July and August in cooperation with Simmons College.

Points of Historic Interest in Salem

THE other day Julian Hawthorne, son of the great romancer, with his niece paid a visit to the scenes of his father's life in Salem and in the Sunday American he described the visit and expressed the feelings that arose in his mind as he wandered about. He seemed most impressed with the Dr. Grimshaw House on Charter street and said:

"I found myself, however, in livelier sympathy with the old Grimshaw house on Charter street overlooking 'Burying Point.' There lived the young girl who was to be my mother, with her sisters and brothers, a large family; and in the sitting room looking on the graveyard she first saw and spoke with the man whom God had made for her."

Of the House of Seven Gables he wrote: "Here you may see seven gables, and by the payment of a quarter of a dollar, usable strictly for the upkeep of the garden, and a well crub which must designate Maule's Well; and many other interesting things appertaining to the period.

"It is all entertaining and curious, and the fact that Hawthorne declared, both in writing and in speech, that his 'House' was 'built of materials long since in use for constructing castles in the air' makes no difference; nor does it matter that the present house had but three gables in Hawthorne's time, or that antiquarian dissection recently discovered that it was originally possessed of eight. History is not only written, but occasionally it is made, in this way."

The Seven Gables Settlement Association is doing good work among the foreign element in old Salem,

ALONG the SHORE

NEW-COMERS to the Manchester shore this season will include the Samuel Feltons of Boston, who have leased the Proctor cottage on Sea street, occupied for so many seasons by Mr. and Mrs. Russell Tyson. Mr. Felton is the famous Sam Felton of fade-away-Felton football fame of Harvard of several seasons ago and this will be his first season as a cottager on the North Shore.

Col. and Mrs. H. E. Russell have rented their cottage at Manchester Cove to E. R. Campbell of New York, who will take occupancy early in June. The Campbells were at Manchester seven or eight years ago, occupying the Hood cottage on Norton's Point. Both of the above rentals were made through the Boardman office of Manchester and Boston.

Russell Codman and family of Boston, have opened their summer home on Proctor st., Manchester, for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gray Foster and family of 175 W. 72d St., New York city, are closing their town residence the last of next week and are opening "Crown-cliff," their attractive summer home on Coolidge's Point, Manchester, the first of June. Mrs. Foster's father, A. F. Southerland, will pass part of the summer with them as usual, especially during the golfing season at the Essex County club.

Chas. W. Ward and family of 67 Colchester st., Brookline, are settled at their summer home on Old Neck Road, Manchester.

Several cottages have been rented at Beverly Farms the past week, but we will have to withhold the names of tenants until next issue. Among them are the Seabury, Wilkins and Preston estates.

PREPARATIONS are going on merrily for the wedding of Miss Hope Norman and Elliott Bacon, which will be one of the events of early June on the North Shore. Owing to the limited capacity of the little church at Beverly Farms, the cards to be issued for the ceremony will be abbreviated, but the subsequent breakfast at "Bee Rock," the seashore home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Norman, at Beverly Cove, will be extremely large. The date of the wedding, Saturday, June 5, has already been given. "Bee Rock" is certain to prove a picturesque back-ground for the wedding gayeties. The grounds are laid out in Sicilian style, and are unlike anything along the shore. Boston is destined to lose Miss Norman after the wedding, since Mr. Bacon's business interests are in New York, where he is in the employ of J. Pierpont Morgan.

The marriage of Joseph Blake Thaxter, Jr., to Marion Jeanette Traiser will take place at "Cresthaven," Clifton, on Wednesday evening, June 13.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Palmer Gavit and young daughter of Albany, N. Y., are among the week's arrivals at Manchester. They moved down yesterday, and are at the F. C. Stevens estate on the outer edge of Smith's Point for the season. They are new-comers to Manchester, but not to the North Shore, as they had a cottage at Bass Rocks for a month last summer.

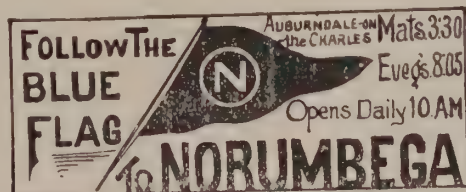

Charles S. Rackemann has sold to Mrs. Annie E. Robinson, owner of Edgehill at Nahant, an estate, with house on Nahant road, which she will lease in connection with Edgehill. Mr. Rackemann has sold to Mrs. Margaret F. Motley an estate in Summer street, Nahant, comprising two houses and land. One of the houses she will occupy and the other will be for lease. These sales were negotiated through the office of T. Dennie Boardman, Reginald and R. deB. Boardman.

Mrs. S. Reed Anthony and daughter, Miss Ruth Anthony of 125 Beacon st., Boston, have arrived at "Rose Ledge," their summer home at Beverly Farms.

Wm. S. Spaulding and family of 99 Beacon st., Boston have opened their summer home at Pride's Crossing for the season.

Mrs. Charles A. Munn returned last Saturday from spending the winter in Florida, and is now settled at her cottage near Singing Beach, Manchester, for a long season, as usual. Mrs. Munn's eldest son, Charles A., Jr., and family, will come on from Radner, Pa., to spend part of the summer with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. S. Porter, Jr., whose cottage at Manchester has been open since early in April, are expected to settle there permanently next week.

S. V. R. Crosby and family of Boston, are among the week's arrivals at West Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. George Robinson Alley of 139 Marlboro st., Boston, will go next month to their bungalow in Norwood. They will spend the mid-summer in Magnolia, as usual, where they have apartments at the Ocean-side hotel.

"Buena Vista," the summer home at Manchester, of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Baer, of Bay State Road, Boston, was opened this week for the season and the family arrived yesterday.

SNYDER-CURE HAMS AND BACON—SMOKED WITH CORNCOBS

We endeavor to secure for our North Shore Customers Supplies of Distinctive Quality

With this in view, we carefully investigated the different brands of ham and bacon, and found that in the last four years one brand had shot into prominence because of an unusual cure, which appears to be an improved form of a formula used for ham curing in Vermont. The process results in a ham which is entirely free from superfluous salt and unusually tender. Its exceptional tenderness is said to be due to the mild curing system, which permits the meat to age properly and during this process its delicious flavor is developed. This is supplemented by smoking in the old-fashioned way with corncobs.

The bacon, following the same general process, is cured in its own juices in air-sealed containers. We supply it in the strip, in wide or narrow form, or SLICED READY TO USE in one and five-pound boxes.

In hams we recommend the family sizes, from ten to fourteen pounds, or sliced to your order.

Jordan Marsh Company BOSTON

THERE is local interest in the announcement of the engagement of Miss Marie Louise Wanamaker of Philadelphia to Gurnee Munn of Washington and Manchester, Harvard 1911. Miss Wanamaker is the daughter of Rodman Wanamaker by his first marriage to Miss Henry, a daughter of Charles Ferdinand Henry of Philadelphia. Miss Wanamaker's father and her step-mother (formerly Violet Cruger) announced the engagement at a dinner which they gave on Thursday evening last week. Miss Wanamaker, who has been one of the leaders in the younger society set at Palm Beach, Fla., the past season, is a granddaughter of John Wanamaker. Miss Wanamaker's sister, Fernanda Wanamaker, married Arturo de Heeren of Paris, a son of Count de Hereen. A brother is named in honor of his grandfather, John Wanamaker. Mr. Munn is one of the sons of Mrs. Charles A. Munn of Washington, who for many years has been a summer resident of Manchester. His brother, Charles A. Munn, married Mary Astor Paul of Philadelphia. Another brother is Ector O. Munn. One of Mr. Munn's sisters, Carrie Munn, married Reginald Boardman of Boston, and they now live at West Manchester. Another sister, Gladys Munn, became the wife of Charles M. Amory of Boston. They make their home at Beverly, where Mr. Amory's father, Francis I. Amory, has an attractive summer residence near Chapman's Corner, overlooking Beverly Cove. No time has been set for the marriage of Miss Wanamaker to Mr. Munn.

Mrs. Wm. H. Howard arrived at her bungalow at West Manchester yesterday afternoon for the season, after a winter in California. She has been stopping at the Copley-Plaza, Boston, the past week. Her large house at West Manchester has been leased for the season to the Charles Burrall Pikes of Chicago, who moved on some week or so ago. Mrs. Howard's son, Kenneth, is still in Harvard. His marriage to Miss Ruth Gaston is to take place June 26th.

In the last number of House Beautiful we find an article on "The House by the Ocean," the house referred to being that of Henry P. Benson of Salem, at Nane-pashemet. Also, in the same issue are beautiful pictures of the Searle house and garden at Ipswich. This same garden is shown in Harper's Bazaar, while in American Homes and Gardens may be found pictures of the Roland Lincoln house at Manchester Cove. All of these are the work of Mary H. Northend of Salem, so well known along the North Shore for her fine work in depicting the houses and estates of the summer visitors. In Miss Northend's new book, "Remodelled Farm Houses," which will appear in September, there will be several of the North Shore summer homes, including Roland Lincoln's at Manchester and George Barnard's at Ipswich. The book will be published by Little & Brown of Boston, who have brought out two former books by Miss Northend,—"Colonial Homes and Their Furnishings," and "Historic Homes of New England."

THE Sign of the Crane tea room and industrial exchange, which met with such popular favor immediately after it was opened last year, in Manchester, will open for its second season on the Seventeenth of June. So successful was the venture last year as far as the "exchange" idea was carried out, that it is proposed to make an even more active endeavor this year. The twenty or more women of Manchester who did cooking and handiwork last year felt amply repaid for their efforts, and Mrs. Dean, the promoter of the Sign of the Crane, proved all that she undertook—that she could provide a ready outlet for all that was brought to her both in the line of food and handiwork. The Tea Room idea will also be carried along this year, and the luncheons and afternoon teas will undoubtedly meet the same popular demand from the North Shore people and motorists as they did last season.

Lively objection was registered by Magnolia residents at the hearing on the petition of the Green Gables club for license to dispense liquors to its members, before the Gloucester license commissioners. The objectors opposed the sale of liquors in Magnolia by the club on the ground of the nearness of the premises to the surrounding estates and properties, which would affect their value and renting, it was claimed. There was some general objection to allowing the sale of liquors at all in Magnolia, although no specific opposition was made at the hearing against the Grille of the North Shore, which had also applied. Among those who appeared were Jonathan May, representing Mrs. William R. Nelson, George A. Upton, the Kennards, Edward Foster, and several others. At the meeting of the Commissioners Monday of this week the Green Gables club was given leave to withdraw. A license was granted to the Grille, however. The latter club is the original Tea Room and Grille and will be conducted this year under the same management as last year—Edward Stone Wiltbank. The building has been improved and added dining and dancing facilities have been provided.

ANNISQUAM. The most interesting event this week was the informal reception given to women of Annisquam by Miss Nancy Flagg, at "The Barnacle" tea house, over 100 guests hearing addresses for the cause of Equal Suffrage by three prominent women, Mrs. Ralph McDaniel of Boston, Mrs. Charles A. Briggs of Norwood and Miss Florence H. Luscomb of Boston. The color scheme for decorations was yellow, the League color. Yellow flowers were used and yellow butterflies, the emblems of progress were suspended from the ceiling, while a bouquet of buttercups graced the tea tables. The cool atmosphere was much of a disappointment as it was planned to serve tea on the verandas, but the spacious living-room with its cheerful blaze in the fire-place was very much enjoyed. Mrs. Elliott C. Rogers and Miss Transcita Pevear poured and those assisting were Mrs. John Clark, Mrs. William H. Ricker, Mrs. Carleton E. Crittenden, Miss Florence Green, Miss Carmelita T. Latimer, Miss Arianna Olson and Mrs. Charles A. Soch of Watertown. The refreshments were kept in the yellow color, marmalade and egg sandwiches, cakes with yellow frosting and yellow peppermints. The Equal Suffrage League Campaign lasted three days in Gloucester.

Miss Loring on the Early History of Manchester

The lecture by Miss Katharine Loring on "The History of Manchester," which was given at the Baptist vestry, Manchester, Tuesday evening was largely attended and greatly enjoyed. The paper was very comprehensive, including much of the history of the North Shore region as well as of Manchester.

The desire for fishing was the first thing that brought people to Manchester, said Miss Loring, as the codfish were very plentiful, as well as other kinds. In passing Miss Loring made an interesting statement that salmon have been caught in the weirs near the Miserie this year after many seasons during which they were not seen here. In 1492 ships came as far west as Cape Ann, Captain John Smith sailed the waters of Massachusetts Bay in 1614 and Roger Conant came to "the Cove" in 1628. The story of Gov. Winthrop's ship, "Arbella," and of the landing of the crew and humble passengers at West Manchester, where they found wild strawberries, gooseberries and roses in abundance, was well told. The first houses were built at what is now known as Coolidge's Point, but the present town of Manchester became the more important site, and was known as Jeffrey's Creek until 1645, when the name was changed to Manchester. The reason for the choice of the name is still obscure, as the early settlers here did not come from Manchester in England.

The first care of the Manchester settlers was to build a church. The first religious meeting was held where the yacht club now stands, and the first meeting-house was built on the site of the present Congregational church. After many changes and improvements, the present building was erected in 1809. In those early days a great fear of fire was felt, so that the church was unheated for some time. When the first small stove was put in, there were two strong factions, one for and one against the innovation, and on the first Sunday those who had been against fanned themselves throughout the service and two young ladies fainted. The other members of the congregation professed themselves much more comfortable than before. The next day the sexton confessed that he had been unable to get fuel so that there was no fire in the stove.

School-houses were the next consideration and the high school was built very soon after the common school. All the buildings of that period were crude and cold, but the people lived quite well upon turkey and other wild fowl and Indian corn.

The Indians of this section were friendly and in order to keep them so Gov. Endicott paid the £6 19s. for Manchester. This was about $40.00, or at present day values, $200.

The town meeting was the first form of government. As the colony grew the vote was extended to all classes until in 1864 the negroes were given the vote. The only slave of whom there is any record in Manchester was a negro boy, Pomp, who made the white boys and girls laugh in church.

During the Revolutionary period, Manchester sent men to fight against the English, and there were 45 Manchester soldiers at the Battle of Lexington. Manchester and other North Shore men made up the crew that rowed Gen. Washington across the Delaware. Miss Loring told of some of the amusing incidents of the war in which this neighborhood and its men figured.

After the War of 1812 Manchester men interested themselves in fishing, although there were never many ship owners here. The fishing at Grand Banks was complemented by the trading with the West Indies.

In furniture-making Manchester once had a reputation never excelled except, perhaps, by Grand Rapids today. Captain Allen produced a saw which could cut veneer more finely than any other in the United States. Ebenezer Tappan was another of the famous cabinet-makers and his fire engines were widely known. In fact, he supplied the town of Manchester with an engine which lasted until about ten years ago. This interesting and profitable industry died out during the Civil War when the Manchester soldiers gave up everything for their love of country. Manchester was one of the first towns to declare against slavery, and anti-slavery prayer meetings, which were never held elsewhere, were held here. Manchester has also been a strong prohibition town since the days when Maine was a district of Massachusetts. Manchester's commerce was largely with Maine which may have had some bearing on the sentiment here as Maine has ever been strongly in favor of prohibition.

The Baptist church was established in 1845 under Deacon Burnham of Essex.

In 1845, also, the first summer residence was built at Manchester. This was the home of Richard Henry Dana, the author, and it was the beginning of a summer resort of importance. At about the same time Miss Loring's grandfather built at Pride's Crossing. Since then, the principle business here has been the support of the summer colonists. There have been famous ambassadors and writers making their summer quarters here. Among the latter none has been more widely known and loved than the late Mrs. James T. Fields, and, in closing, Miss Loring paid her a high tribute, and expressed the hope that the present cordial relations between the summer visitors and the year-round inhabitants might always endure.

The address was quite enthusiastically received and Miss Loring was given a short but cordial reception before she was obliged to leave. The program, which had been opened by a piano duet by Mrs. J. Davis Baker and Mrs. Henrietta Calderwood, was brought to a close by the singing of "The Manchester Hymn" by the assembly.

"Everybody has his faults," said Uncle Eben, "but some folks seems proud of 'em."

If you mean to profit learn to please.

Mistress—Are you married?

Applicant—No, ma'am. I bumped into a door.

MARBLEHEAD is showing signs of returning life to a remarkable degree in its summer colony. While there is a lethargic atmosphere of quietness hovering about the hotels and yacht clubs, the cottages are being enlivened by many visitors who have come to the Neck and to the Point section.

The Eastern Yacht club opens for the season at noon a week from this Friday, the 28th.

Commodore Charles B. Wheelock of Brookline of the Corinthian Yacht club is at his summer home on the Neck on Nashua avenue. He was one of this week's arrivals.

General Elbert Wheeler of Nashua, N. H., with his family, arrived at his cottage on Nanepashemet street this week. They were accompanied by Mrs. S. L. Swartz and daughter also of Nashua, who plan to make a stay of a fortnight on the Neck.

Wendell Weston has been at Peach's point the last few days superintending the improvements which are being made on his cottage there preparatory to opening it for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McQuesten of Brookline have arrived at their estate, "Questenmere," on the Neck for the season. Already the McQuesten gardens, which are the pride of the Neck, are in excellent condition and the estate itself on the tip end of the Neck is glowing with its green-carpeted lawns and freshly painted residence.

The finishing touches have been put on the new Henry A. Morss home on the harbor side of the Neck and show it to be one of the prettiest estates on the whole upper shore. Of stucco exterior, with a red tile roof, it shows up admirably along the shore and is one of the first beacons which greets visitors to Marblehead and the Neck. Mr. Morss intends to occupy his new home within a short time.

William T. Ulman of Boston, at the Manning cottage and Geo. L. Batchelder were among the arrivals at the Neck this week.

Guy Lowell, the prominent Boston architect, and an ardent yachtsman, has chosen Marblehead Neck as his summer home in the future. He has purchased the Hunt cottage off Ocean avenue and will occupy it this season. Mr. Lowell is the owner of the fast sonder boat Cima which has always shown up to advantage in the races along the Marblehead shore.

Rev. Charles L. Wells of Macon, Ga., is ill at his summer home on the Neck. He was taken sick in the south and was removed to the North Shore at his own request.

A dredger has been at work making ready for a new retaining wall at the dock of the Boston Yacht club on the land side of the harbor for the past fortnight and the wall itself will be finished in another week.

The New York Yacht club is planning an annual cruise this summer, coming to Marblehead through the new Cape Cod canal.

Summer visitors to Marblehead will be interested to note the continual improvement which is being made in the roads of that town for motorists. This spring Clifton and Rockaway avenues have been re-surfaced and State street is now being covered with a tarvia-bound macadam top.

Manager Brackett of the Hotel Rock-Mere has purchased the power-cabin launch Scamp and has re-christened it the Martha.

CLIFTON is assuming a normal growth in its summer population, several of the every-year-residents making their presence known the last few days.

Summerfield Hagerty of New York expects to occupy "Gun Rock Point," his Clifton summer home, on the Shore road shortly.

Among those who have started the season at Clifton are Dr. Frederick E. Jones of Roxbury, at "Red Blinds" cottage on Surf street; Ferdinand Strauss of Boston, at "Grey Knoll," the former North cottage on Atlantic ave.; H. W. Habich of Roxbury at the Trull cottage on Ocean Spray avenue; and Charles H. Traiser of Boston, at Rockaway and Ocean Spray avenues.

D. R. Macaffe is a new comer to Clifton; he is at the Hall cottage.

At Clifton Heights are Mrs. H. A. Jones, George A. Richards, Mrs. Grace Bristol and R. L. Baker.

SWAMPSCOTT is a trifle slow at getting into the summer stride, although most of the residences there are being put in readiness for opening. The hotels will not open until about the middle of June, which means that the season in Swampscott will hardly be officially on before that time.

The Tedesco Country club at Swampscott is about the only place that finds anything "stirring" these days. Over the last week-end there was considerable life at the club. A week ago this Friday evening a party of 36 members of the Budget club of Lynn were entertained at the club with dinner and a dance following. On Saturday there were 60 persons present at a dinner and dance. Toy's orchestra of Boston furnished music for the dancers. Golf will not be on in full swing until May 30, when the links will be dotted here and there with enthusiasts of both sexes.

The Oakland house at Swampscott is undergoing a thorough renovation in expectancy of opening up the first of next week, probably on Monday. The entire house is being renovated and Manager Mason promises some New York features in the line of amusement for the coming summer months.

The Lincoln house will be run as last year by Roy F. and Charles Bergengren of Lynn. This year they will have no resident manager, they having announced that they will run the house themselves. The Lincoln will open about the 20th of June.

There is much speculation as to the real meaning of an immense ten-foot brick wall which now separates the Vorenberg estate on Lincoln road from the Marshall property. It has been constructed this spring and stretches clear down to the water's edge, thereby eliminating the former unsurpassed view which the Vorenbergs enjoyed from their charming new summer home. Neighbors of the Marshalls and Vorenbergs smile when they speak of the wall, for they claim to know the real reason for its existence.

Galloupe's Point, Swampscott, saw an old-time summer visitor this week in the person of Dr. S. J. Mixter, with Mrs. Mixter and family, who have just moved down from their Boston winter residence. Their Marlboro street house is expected to be kept open for a time, however.

THE EARLY SPRING RUSH usually in evidence about this time of year at the offices of the trans-Atlantic steamship lines where globe-trotters have been wont to secure desirable accommodations for a trip abroad has this season been transferred to the offices of agents with summer cottages to let. In the latter places of business the "hire now" movement is on with a degree of earnestness that was hardly to have been anticipated even with the unusual conditions that are now prevailing. Year by year the out-of-town-for-the-summer movement has been gaining in volume. And not only do more people go to the seashore and the country with each returning season, but they go earlier and stay later than was formerly the custom. To this normal annual increase in the number wishing to secure cottages or other out-of-town accommodations for the summer must this year be added the many who are prevented by the war from following their usual habit of spending the season abroad. Already the people of the nations at war, as well as those of the neutral countries of Europe, are lamenting the prospect of the loss of the large amounts of money which American tourists have been carrying to them every summer. But what is Europe's loss will, to a large degree, be America's gain. And since New England with her mountains and her great line of matchless sea coast is truly "the summer playground" of the United States, doubtless she will profit more than will any other section because of the conditions abroad which will compel so many Americans this summer to spend their time and their money at home.

—The Boston Traveler.

R. L. Baker and family were visitors at Clifton this week; they have rented a cottage for the season.

THE historic old Pickering House in Salem was the scene of a very successful garden party last Saturday afternoon, given for the benefit of the North Church Alliance and the Fresh Air Fund of the Associated Charities, whose funds have been very much depleted this year on account of relief work done during the weeks following the big Salem fire.

Tea and ice-cream were served at prettily decorated tables placed on the lawn and there were games for young and old, and a shooting gallery in the rear of the garden under the charge of Richard Wheatland. A pony provided riding for the very young people and a canvas-covered tennis court furnished an excellent opportunity for dancing to the lively tunes played by the Cadet Band. Among the dancers were noticed many of the season's debutantes, including Miss Elizabeth Benson, Miss Eleanor Rantoul, Miss Mary Harris, Miss Elizabeth White, Miss Wardwell, Miss Rebecca Pickering and Miss Rosamond Benson.

EAST GLOUCESTER cottage rentals have been most encouraging for the past two weeks and many of the best houses along the waterfront are being taken both at Bass Rocks and Eastern Point. One of the largest show places on the ocean front not yet taken is "Felsenmeer," the fine estate of ex-Congressman Sloat T. Fassett of Elmira, N. Y., located at Grape Vine Cove. This large stucco house which commands a magnificent view of the coast and sea, contains forty or more rooms and there are also two cottages on the grounds, a big garage with chauffeurs' living apartments and a studio cottage containing a commodious studio and accompanying rooms. There is a beautiful tennis court. The Fassetts will not come to East Gloucester this season, expecting to spend the summer in California and attending the Panama-Pacific Exposition. It is a matter of interest in the East Gloucester colony to learn who the occupants of the Fassett mansion will be, as the rental figure is placed at several thousand dollars for the season and two of the most hustling agencies on the North Shore, one in Gloucester and the other in Boston and Manchester are trying to rent it.

Miss Ayune MacCready of New York City has arrived at her cottage on Grape Vine Cove Road for the season.

The Waterman A. Tafts will take early occupancy of their big estate near the Eastern Point golf clubhouse. The Tafts frequently motor down from Arlington, directing work about their place previous to their locating here for the season.

Ex-Mayor Isaac Patch of Gloucester, is having an addition built to his fine stucco residence on Eastern Point Road. The added rooms will be on the harbor front of the estate.

AT BASS ROCKS the lights in the many cottages at night show that the residents of that colony are coming along earlier than usual. The golf links have been improved considerably and players are daily increasing on the velvety-green course.

H. B. Warner and his recent bride (Rita Stanwood) both whom have been playing in "Under Cover" in Chicago and the West the past season, are now at Mr. Warner's fine estate "Alyswyn," Page street, Bass Rocks.

Extensive improvements have been made the past winter about the estate of Mrs. E. Bradley Currier of New York, at Page street, Bass Rocks. A fine new roadway and path leading to the house are picturesque, besides the long, stonewall frontage. Now the house is being repainted and repairs are being made to the huge chimney on the side of the structure. Mrs. Currier has one of the finest outlooks at Bass Rocks.

Dr. William Jarvies' family of Montclair, N. J., among the first arrivals each season, besides the latest to remain at that resort, are now occupying "Craigmoor," the attractive Jarvie mansion, which is located on one of the most valuable and sightly hills at Bass Rocks.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Souther expect to be in California this season to witness the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Roland H. Sherman and family of Winchester will not spend the summer at Bass Rocks. They have rented their place "Lea Cottage," on Nautilus Road.

AT ROCKPORT work on the Country Club's golf clubhouse and the links is progressing finely. The club's real estate holdings are increasing, some valuable acres having recently been acquired. The purchase of the Smith and Arens orchards gives a fine frontage of 500 feet on South street. The large barn at the entrance will for the present be fitted up for a garage for Timothy Sheehan who will manage it for the golf links patrons. Sometime later this building will be renovated. The small cottage formerly owned by Frank Smith has been moved to a locality down on the links and will be utilized for a caddy house. The number one green of the golf links is situated on South street, a short distance from the barn or garage-to-be. On the Pool field, a golf course has been laid out for children under 14 years of age, as they will not be allowed to play on the main links. The new clubhouse is completed and the view of the shore and ocean from the rooms and veranda will be keenly appreciated by all who associate themselves with the club and the links.

PIGEON COVE'S leading hotel,—the Edward—opens on June 12th for the season and there is a fine booking for early guests. Louis Wilson, the manager of Pittsburgh and Pigeon Cove arrived the first of the week to get the hostelry in readiness for a most promising summer business.

Mr. and Mrs. William Nash of Brookline are at their summer home for the season.

Miss Emily A. Moulton of Charlestown, has arrived "Meadowcliff," her beautiful summer estate on Phillips avenue, Pigeon Cove.

WEST GLOUCESTER. There are many week-end parties at various cottages, including people from Boston and vicinity and citizens of Gloucester who own cottages in the delightful section of Fernwood, Riverview and spots in the woodland along the river. Cottages have been renting well since the first of the month and there are some building operations. John H. Coleman of Essex avenue, is building a summer cottage on the Lawrence Mountain road for Charles Le Seur, of Gloucester. Extensive improvements are being made to the summer residences of Parker W. Whittemore of Newton Highlands, at Cole's Island. The work is in charge of M. D. Betts, contractor and builder. The whole upper story is to be remodeled, two new open stairways will be added and also a sunparlor will add to the attractiveness of the cottage. An addition has been built onto the garage, two rooms and bath being added for the servants.

The Sinclairs of New York have arrived at their attractive summer estate at West Gloucester.

The J. C. Spauldings are occupying their fine cottage off Concord street this season. Mr. Spaulding formerly had a cottage at Pride's Crossing.

Miss Bertha Stephenson of Boston is at her pleasant summer home on Concord street for the season, as are also the Misses Adelaide, Alice and Elizabeth McLellan. Miss Alice McLellan of Montreal is a student in domestic science, in a course in connection with Harvard college. Miss Stephenson's mother is at West Gloucester, recuperating after a serious operation performed at a Boston hospital and is improving nicely.

EDITORIAL

THE NOTE WHICH PRESIDENT WILSON sent to the Imperial German Empire was a masterpiece of diplomacy and reveals the hand of a strong mind and a determined will asserting the rights and demands of a great republic. The message was simple and its simplicity is one of its marks of strength. The President stated the grievances which this government was enduring, the attacks upon the Falaba, the Gulflight and the Lusitania. He then asserted the principle of the freedom of the seas and made a protest against submarine warfare as irregular and certain to arouse international complications. He clearly announced the American demands of the freedom of the seas. The warning which had been received against foreign travel he claimed was irregular. He appealed to the German government to disclaim the attack as official and appealed to the treaty of 1828 as the basis for giving the difficulties that had arisen careful consideration. As a party to that treaty the German Imperial Government had offended, if the sinking of the Lusitania were an avowed Imperial German Government act. The document throughout was courteous and strong, but the last clause leaves nothing to be desired when the President speaking for the Republic writes, "The Imperial German Government will not expect the government of the United States to omit any word or any act necessary to the performance of its sacred duty of maintaining the rights of the United States and its citizens and of safeguarding their free exercise and enjoyment."

THE SAFE ARRIVAL of the Transylvania was not unexpected, yet the unthinkable atrocities of the war made it not unlikely that the Transylvania might be torpedoed also. The results of the Lusitania catastrophe were so terrible that the world was aroused and it may be assumed that Germany did not reckon on a protest from America. Pending the settlement of the differences over the Lusitania it was not probable that the Transylvania would have been sunk. At first thought the sinking of the Transylvania would have been considered Germany's reply to America's note in the negative. Whether the captain of the Transylvania was adroit in avoiding submarines or whether Germans determined to leave the sea free for her, it is nothing short of a providence that the Transylvania made port. The torpedoing of the Transylvania would have aroused American people to a fever heat.

BOSTON UNIVERSITY will not find it an easy task to find an able man to succeed Professor Bowne in the chair of philosophy. Dr. Bowne had a world-wide reputation and his studies in philosophy and metaphysics were in the lead in America. It is unfortunate that any difficulties should have arisen in the University over the successor to the chair of philosophy.

THE SOUTH AMERICAN NATIONS are neutral and the press has been sustaining the United States in the position taken over the Lusitania catastrophe. America is not only protecting its own rights, but is voicing the protest of every neutral power.

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE have not believed all of the stories of outrages, atrocities and inhumanities that have come from Belgium because it seemed unthinkable that a nation of the pretended culture of Germany could have been so shortsighted as to have countenanced such wrongs. Now the American people must believe. The commission headed by the former Ambassador to this country, Bryce, has made a thorough investigation and its report has been filed and the public may read. The facts attested to by the commission are beyond description and the unparalleled brutality of German soldiers butchering men, women and children is now established beyond the peradventure of a doubt. Lust, rapine and cruelty reigned and terror was king. Eventually the German people themselves will be obliged to pay the bitter penalties in national degradation for their sins.

DESPITE THE HATRED and malice of the present day and the terrible war across the seas there is progress being made in the interests of peace. The principle of arbitration has been established and despite the fact that the Imperial German Government has considered its treaties as so much "scrap paper" the world is beginning to realize the folly of war and the good sense and sound judgment of arbitration. President Wilson opened the door for arbitration in the Lusitania difficulty instead of closing it. A hot-headed irresponsible ruler could have undone all that the world has gained in the interests of peace.

THE CONTINUAL NUMBER of automobile accidents ought to make the pedestrians who walk and the motorists who ride, more careful. The Monday morning papers regularly print a column of automobile accidents. Unfortunately many of these are unavoidable and not due to the lack of care or oversight, but there are many accidents which are avoidable and the number that are due to carelessness is appalling. Pedestrians should mark their paths and be careful. Motorists should remember that pedestrians have rights also. Eternal vigilance is the price of safety.

KING GEORGE KNOWS the wisdom of guarded action! Can a King afford to spend his hours in Derby events? Can he find opportunities to think of the race track? He has "scratched" his entries in the Derby and all England understands him well.

HARVARD HAS DEMONSTRATED the advantage of having all of the commencement events in one week and the plan which was tried out last year will be continued this year. Harvard Week this year will begin on June 20.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS on the Flag in New York City was worthy of the man and the occasion. A blunderer could have made a serious mistake in an unguarded speech at that time.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S DEFENCE of Secretary Daniels was appropriate and just.

THE SITUATION IN ITALY has remained unchanged as far as an ultimatum is concerned, but it is now quite certain that something will soon happen. Italy is not neutral by choice. Italy is neutral from policy. It now appears that the time is not yet at hand to abandon the policy. It does not take a seer, however, to read the Italian feeling. The retention of Salandra's cabinet and the approval with which it was received by the public tells its own story. It is a pity there is a war and that Italy must enter, but the sooner they are in and the war is over the better it will be for the peace of Europe in the coming century.

THE FIGARO in an editorial says, "a careful reading of the note quickly shows that it is, properly speaking, an ultimatum addressed to Germany. The dilemma is plainly posed; viz., either renounce your proceedings immediately or we will take the necessary measures to compel you to do so. No other interpretation can be given to the last paragraph and Berlin will understand. If doubt exist, the countermanding of the plan for the departure of the fleet for San Francisco will dissipate it." This is the French interpretation of President Wilson's note. Americans have not called it an ultimatum; the Figaro does, and the Figaro is not far from right.

THE GERMAN PAPERS announce "heartfelt sympathy is expressed by the German press and public for the victims of the catastrophe and their relatives." There are, of course, in Germany thousands of choice spirits to whom such an act as the sinking of the Lusitania must appear as atrocious as it does to Americans, but the unfortunate thing is that such opinions are not given much weight in America alongside a news item narrating the findings of the Bryce commission. Americans do not wish sympathy; they want justice and immunity from evil aggression.

DR. DERNBURG has evidently intended to serve his Fatherland well, but he has been unfortunate in his efforts. If he had been a little more tactful and understood Americans better he would have been able to have aided Germany, not hindered her. As it is Dr. Dernburg has made a failure of his mission and America is glad that he has gone.

THERE HAS BEEN very little change in ownership of the New Haven stock during the year. This is an indication of progress and of restored public confidence. Those who own great blocks of stock have faith in the enterprise. The New Haven has seen dark days, but the future spells opportunity.

THERE IS NO DOUBT that the Lusitania was a reserved vessel of the British Navy and it was a prize worthy of being taken. But that does not justify an attack by a torpedo. There were ways of taking the Lusitania. The boat could have been paroled.

MEMORIAL DAY WILL be observed on Monday, May 31st., and owners of flowers should remember the post and send a generous contribution for their memorial decorations in the cemetery. The post can always use flowers to advantage.

THE AMERICAN FLEET is ready for the emergency and it is worth while thinking that we have such a great defensive arm. The jackies are doubtless itching for a "scrap," but school master Wilson will take care least that happens.

THE ESTABLISHMENT of "jitney" arouses a spirit of commercial jealousy and the railways have made their protest against the disadvantages under which they are placed. Liable for suits and obliged to pay, the railways constantly bear heavy expenses. This is, indeed, a serious problem. In case of an accident who is responsible in "jitney" service? If the owner of the "jitney" cannot pay what redress has the victim? The jitney has come and evidently to stay, but who will pay the damages? One New England town has refused one individual a "jitney" right on these very grounds. A test case is being tried in a Massachusetts court and the issue will be watched with interest.

MEMORIAL SUNDAY will be observed in some places next Sunday and in other places on Sunday, May 30. On these Sabbath days of rest one may well consider the debt which this generation owes to the generation that is past. The days that we now enjoy are in no large degree due to the work which the men of '61 did. Honor these men of the great war by going with them to the church on Memorial Sunday.

IF ONE WERE TO VIEW the incidents of our American enterprises from without how strange they could be made to appear and how sinister an interpretation could be put upon them. The Lusitania is sunk. The President has cancelled the sailing orders of the fleet through the Panama Canal. The President pens an ultimatum to Germany and then boards the Mayflower to view the naval fleet in New York harbor. It does not take much skill as an alarmist to write up a "war scare."

IF GERMANY SHOULD Do the gallant thing and accede to President Wilson's demands it will make gains in America and these gains will be somewhat disconcerting to the cause of Allies. Germany has made many catastrophic diplomatic blunders and it is about time that sense and good judgment were exercised in relations with America.

GERMANY WAS 'hoist by its own petard.' Fighting as it claims for the freedom of the sea it has violated one of the first fundamentals of that freedom in injuring neutrals. President Wilson showed his keenness in falling back upon this fundamental principle in making out his case against the German Imperial Government.

WHILE ALL EUROPE is at war Portugal is having an internal turmoil of her own. During the week a new government has been set up and the old government displaced. Wars and rumors of wars! There was trouble enough in Europe without this little war. Mexico is not the only land having governmental difficulties.

A MEMORIAL is being planned for former Governor Curtis Guild. He had many friends on the North Shore who will be pleased to forward a cheque to the Memorial Association treasurer, Mr. Allan Forbes, State Street Trust Company, Boston.

THE MAYOR OF BOSTON is endeavoring to pave the city "with promises to pay" and the G. G. A. does not like it. Boston already has a large outstanding debt and a little matter of a half a million might be embarrassing.

THE TURKS HAVE MASSACRED six thousand Armenians. Somehow one expects to read such items, but for Germany to torpedo a vessel with one hundred infants in arms is tragic, inhuman and contemptible.

Crafts pitched a good game; not passing a single man. Baker caught, and he and Francis lead in batting, the latter being good for three hits and Baker for four. The team played the Essex High at Essex Wednesday afternoon, and Saturday afternoon they will play the Swampscott High at Swampscott. A large 'bus will leave Central sq. at 12.30. The Manchester boys won from Essex Wednesday, 17-2.

IDEAL Dandelion Killer

TO kill the dandelion or other weeds simply fill the tube with gasoline, place the plunger of the valve on the heart of the plant and push down on the tube a very little—just enough to open the valve. About one teaspoonful of gasoline will be dropped on the heart of the plant, which kills it roots and all. The leaves will begin to wither and the root turn dark in twenty-four hours and the entire plant will die and dry up in a few days. Grass will soon grow in the scar where the dandelion stood.

Very easy to operate and the price in only $1.00.

PARENT-TEACHER MEETING

The last meeting of the Manchester Parent-Teacher association for this season, was held Wednesday evening at the Price School. Miss Emily Gilbert of Worcester was the speaker of the evening, her subject being, "The School-House as a Social Center." Miss Gilbert has been connected with social welfare work for a number of years and is now with Mrs. Higgins, the State president of the Parent-Teacher association, and she speaks easily and pleasantly, with her subject well defined and arranged. She said in part:

"School-houses are the most expensive plants in any town, and, when opened for school sessions only, are in use only five hours of the day. The citizens of the town or city must support the building by taxes,—why not get their money's worth? Thus, the greatest and first argument in favor of using the school-house as a social center is the economic reason. At very little extra expense, it may be made to serve an almost unending list of purposes. As a club-house, where the men and women of the neighborhood may meet for friendly discussion and recreation it is invaluable.

"Encouragement of neighborliness. This second reason, for opening the school buildings after school hours is no small consideration, especially in cities where one seldom knows one's neighbors. City conditions are not conducive to neighborliness, and this lack of interest is undesirable, and people more and more are taking up the subject seriously. The latest statistics on the subject are nearly two years old, but they prove that there were in 1913, 207 cities in the United States which had opened their schools for recreational and social purposes, and of course there are now many more than that number. In industrial centers, where there is a large foreign population, this encouragement of a neighborly spirit is particularly necessary. How, otherwise, can these people from other lands absorb our standards and traditions of government and self-government? These foreigners have, also, so much to give us in the way of folk songs, legends and wonderful material for pageantry.

"Another great reason for the growing popularity of this movement is the flexibility of the carrying out of the plans. The needs of the neighborhood, and then the facilities of the school-house must be taken into consideration. Often the building may be utilized for political purposes.

In other cases it may be adapted to concerts, moving picture shows, exhibits, etc."

Miss Gilbert made particular mention of the Washington Irving school in New York, which was designed for social uses. The entrance hall, or lobby, has been used for an art gallery, the construction and lighting being suited to this use, and pictures from the Metropolitan Art Museum are sent down for exhibition. The hall has, also, a large fire-place just across from the door, and that helps to give a homelike atmosphere to the place. For the girls who attend evening school after their day's work, the lunch counter is open at night so that they may not have to go to their homes, but may get their supper and have half an hour's recreation in the gymnasium in the building before going to classes. Many of the school-houses have a definite program, with certain evenings for certain purposes, and with some of the rooms open every night in the week,—one for a quiet game room, one for a reading room, etc. In the quiet game room checkers, chess and other games, which may be played upon the desks, are furnished and in the reading room are periodicals and papers.

"There are three classes of social centers," continued the speaker, "the first one being for the discussion of civic questions. At such a center the members of the neighborhood feel perfect freedom to talk of the things that interest them, and many ideas, never otherwise discussed, find expression. The second type is educational, and is a forum for the encouragement of new plans for the advancement of new ideas in school life. The third, and largest, is the purely recreational class, which furnishes good, wholesome good times for the young people. Emphasis must be laid upon the fact that if the school does not supply this need, commercial recreation will take its place. Dance halls, moving picture shows, pool-rooms, and amusement beaches and parks are in the class of commercial recreations and even under the best of supervision, which is the exception rather than the rule, they are undesirable for two reasons. First, they divide the family; second they are no encouragement to neighborhood spirit."

Miss Gilbert spoke at some length of a social center, which she helped to organize in New Jersey and of the difficulties which were overcome, and of another, where circumstances were quite different, at Nantasket. The latter was quite interesting to Manchester people because of the similarity of conditions in Manchester and Nantasket, both towns being primarily summer resorts with very little provision for the amusement of the young people in the winter months. The Parent-Teacher association was the promotor of the idea, and to this fact Miss Gilbert attributed much of the immediate success of the plan. At the November meeting a committee was appointed to look into the possibility of utilizing the school-house as a social center; at the December meeting, the committee reported; at the January meeting Miss Gilbert spoke on social centers, and work was started at once. The city donated the light, heat and janitor service, and members of the association volunteered to be at the school on certain evenings for supervision. There were social dances, plays, minstrel shows, embroidery and other classes, and games throughout the winter. The reasons for the rapid growth of this comparatively new idea, Miss Gilbert said, at the close of her address, are that it is never stereotyped, programs may be adapted to suit the needs of the community; there is a feeling of freedom and ownership, because the movement is in no sense charitable or philanthropical; and no educational program is thrust upon the people.

Miss Gilbert's address reached more people directly than any other at the Parent-Teacher meetings this year, probably, as the hall was packed to the doors many being obliged to stand. Miss Green's class, Grade VIII, sang "The Morning Ramble," "The Oars Are Splashing Lightly," and as an encore, "Evenings's Twilight" very well, and were generously applauded. The exhibition of manual art and drawings was of interest to nearly everyone present, and some particularly good work was shown. The social committee served punch and crackers at the close of the meeting.

morn. You'd hardly know the old place now, for Dad is up-to-date and the farm is scientific, from the back lot to the gate. The house and barn are lighted with bright acetyline, the engine in the laundry is run by gaso-

we have dynamos and things, a telethat sings. The hired man has left us—we miss his homely face—a lot of college graduates are working in his place. There's an engineer and fireman, a chauffeur and a vet., 'lecat morn now brightens up a bath room that cost Dad a car of corn.

Our milkmaid is pneumatic and she's sanitary, too, but Dad gets fifteen

BOSTON THEATRE.

The transformation of the historic Boston Theatre into a gigantic motion picture palace has been voted by all who have visited this great playhouse during the past two weeks, to be a complete and amazing success. It is worth mentioning in this connection that the Boston Theatre was the only photoplay theatre in the city to show the motion pictures of the S.S. "Lusitania" sailing from New York on her last voyage.

EDITH TALIAFERRO AT B. F. KEITH'S.

Edith Taliaferro, the charming star of "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," "Young Wisdom," and "Polly of the Circus," will head the bill announced for B. F. Keith's Theatre the week of May 24th. Miss Taliaferro will appear in a one-act dramatic playlet of the days of '61 entitled "A Breath of Old Virginia." This sketch, written by Tom Barry, employs the visualization of a dream made famous in "On Trial" and "Romance." Miss Taliaferro is a delightful Southern girl who masquerades as a soldier boy, and narrowly escapes death at the hands of the Union soldiery. Miss Taliaferro is supported by a large and excellent company, and beautiful scenic equipment.

MANCHESTER*Manchester, May 18, 1915.Editor North Shore Breeze,
Dear Sir:*

In this day of agitation in our surrounding cities and towns what to do with their public dump and collection of ashes, waste material, etc., it will not be amiss to write a few words in regard to our Town's vexed problem. "Where to have our dump." At the Special Town Meeting a few weeks ago a committee was appointed to look into the matter, and procure a site for the Town Dump. They have worked hard no doubt to procure same; but is the site selected the best that can be obtained? From the writer's viewpoint, No! Anyone who travels on the train can well recollect when they have gazed on the unsightly refuse heap at Beverly. Certainly Manchester can ill afford to have this unsightly plague spot at its very entrance. Think of the thousands of travelers on the Gloucester branch of the B. & M. R. R.—strangers to our North Shore—who have read and have been told that this part of New England is the Mecca of the richest of our American families, that nature has bestowed with a lavish hand more than at any other point of beautiful New England. They have read and been told that our drives, woods and coast are unsurpassed.—only to have their ideal anticipation rudely awakened when at Manchester depot they gaze out the car windows. What will they see? Manchester's beautiful park that we are expending thousands of dollars on to beautify; our basin in the inner harbor, where floats and boats are gay with summer life? No, the vision will be broken by Manchester's dump, where all the waste, rubbish and garbage of our town is accumulated to assail both vision and nostrils. A few years ago a great hue and cry went abroad that Powder House Hill was to fall before the woodman's axe. The town bought the spot so as to save it from despoiling the scenic view. Are we now going to despoil our very entrance with a dump? We hope not and the writer has confidence in the committee that their final choice will be in some obscure plot, isolated from view—at least a half a mile from any residence, and then our citizens or guests when speaking of our beautiful village can do so without feeling that the reply will come back: "What! Manchester-by-the-Sea? Where is your Sea? You ought to call it Manchester-by-the-Dump." In conclusion let me add that I think I voice the sentiment of the larger percentage of the citizens of our beautiful Manchester. If so, let us keep the town beautiful and not despoil it.

MANCHESTER BROTHERHOOD

The Manchester Brotherhood met, as usual, last Monday evening at the Baptist church. The meeting was opened with the usual song service followed by the reading of the minutes of the two previous meetings. The business before the meetings included an invitation from the Fourth of July Committee to join in the parade in a body. As a greater part of the Brotherhood members are also members of local fraternity organizations it was rather doubtful whether the Brotherhood could be represented as a body.

Announcement was made of the annual entertainment which is to take place Wednesday evening May 26. The Brotherhood has been fortunate in securing "The Eastern Girls" of Boston, as entertainers. They are members of the Eastern Lyceum Bureau and come highly endorsed. The form of entertainment will consist of vocal solos, mandolin, banjo and piano selections, also readings. Tickets are now on sale at 25 cents.

The annual outing will take place in July at Tuck's Point, date to be decided at a later meeting.

Owing to the fact that the speaker for the evening was unable to be present Rev. Mr. Warner read a lecture on Ireland, which was illustrated by the stereopticon. The many views which were shown gave one a general conception of that country. The view of the harbor of Queenstown with a picture of a modern liner in the fore-ground brought to memory the recent disaster of the ill-fated Lusitania, this being the port for which she was bound. Youghai, the home of Raleigh, was also a feast for the eyes, with its quaint architecture and ivy-covered walls. The various pictures of the mountains, valleys, rivers and lakes, showed that nature had deposited a great deal of her beauty on this isle. The buildings were very picturesque from the poor dwellers' thatched hut to the modern buildings of the cities. Ireland is bountiful in her ancient ruins of castles and monasteries. Although they are covered with ivy and vines the architecture is visible to some extent.

The lecture proved most interesting and was quite beneficial.

Rev. Mr. Bulkeley, former pastor of the Unitarian church of Beverly, will be the speaker at the next meeting of the Brotherhood. The usual collation was served at the close of the lecture.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE NOTES.

To the Editor:

L. R. S. appears to have been deceived, like many other suffragists, by the report sent out from suffrage headquarters about the Faneuil Hall anti-suffrage-anti-socialist mass meeting. It was not written, as she says, by a Boston newspaper man, but by a paid suffrage worker, a publicity hack who was refused employment by the anti-suffrage committee. The real story of the Faneuil Hall meeting was told in the Sunday newspapers of Boston, not one of which has any anti-suffrage bias; and the anti-suffragists can easily afford to allow the matter to rest between those newspapers and the disappointed suffrage worker whose report the suffragists are sending broadcast in the hope of deceiving the public.

There is evidence, however, that this attempt at deception has not succeeded as well as was hoped. Honest suffragists who were at the meeting, and others who read the reports in the Sunday newspapers, are indignant at the suffrage leaders for attempting to belittle it as they have. One suffragist has written to the Cambridge Standard asking what suffragists expect to gain by circulating such falsehoods.

Judging from their outcry, the Faneuil Hall meeting must have hit the suffragists pretty hard. L. R. S. says "there was not one representative person among the speakers." What does she mean by "a representative person?" Mrs. George represents 31,600 adult women of Massachusetts, all actively opposed to woman suffrage, and several hundred thousands adult women of Massachusetts who do not want to vote, although taking no public part in the fight against suffrage. Mr. Matthews is a prominent member of the bar in Newark, N. J., who has served as a member of the New Jersey Legislature. Mr. Galvin was for years city clerk of Boston and his name is a household word among all who are interested in work for the betterment of their city. If he is not a representative citizen, then no man in Boston is. Mr. Sullivan served two terms in Congress, where he achieved a national reputation for ability and integrity, was for several years chairman of the Boston Finance Commission, and is now corporation counsel of the city of Boston. In his work as finance commissioner, Mr. Sullivan incurred the undying enmity of every crook and grafter in the city. He is loved for the enemies he has made.

The suffrage cause must be in desperate straits, when the suffragists are forced to descend to personalities in the effort to cloud the issue.

It is a touching picture L. R. S. gives of the poor suffragists, who she says cannot afford to spend money on meetings! Do they have the large theatres where they have countless meetings given to them rent free? Among the poor struggling suffragists whose names are constantly in suffrage columns are Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont of Marble Palace, Newport, Mrs. Havemeyer, Mrs. Jay Gould, Mrs. Medill McCormick, Mrs. Stanley McCormick, Mrs. Quincy Shaw, and many other of like poverty. The suffragists are constantly spending thousands of dollars for their futile endeavors—$20,000 for their black list campaign, which was completely a failure; $53,000 for their unsuccessful work in Congress last winter; $20,000 for Mrs. Pankhurst campaign of destruction in England; many thousands in campaigns in Ohio, Missouri, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, where they were overwhelmingly defeated. Where does the money come from? In their appeal for money which they are send-broadcast through Massachusetts they say "We need $100,000. Do not put us off because of the demands made upon you by the Red Cross and Relief Funds for the sufferers from the war." They were willing to give Mrs. Pankhurst many thousands to carry on her work of destruction in England, but they begrudge money spent to relieve human suffering caused by this terrible war, because they want it for suffrage!

What is the real reason that the suffragists are so bitter about the Anti-suffrage, Anti-socialist meeting? It is because they realize, too late, what a mistake they have made in allying themselves so closely with the socialist movement. There has been heretofore little attempt on the part of leading suffragists to conceal this fact. Many of those leaders are socialists as well as suffragists, and to them the alliance seems wholly natural and desirable. But the rank and file of suffragists who have not realized where their cause was leading them are beginning to wake up. Their first emotion is not indignation at the charge that an alliance exists between the two movements, and they accuse the Antis of mixing these issues. But it is not the Antis who have mixed the two. It is the suffragists themselves.

On May first in New York, the yellow banners of the suffragists and the red flags of the socialists intermingled as the two organizations moved simultaneously up Fifth ave., in their annual parade. In the suffrage parade at Philadelphia, which was led by the Rev. Anna Shaw, twelve hundred socialists were expected to march in line. Suffragists chose May first as Suffrage Day because it was known all over Europe and America as Socialist Day. Alice Stone Blackwell, the President of the Massachusetts Suffrage association is an avowed socialist. Every socialist is a suffragist. Dr. Anna Shaw "welcomes every socialist vote."

Socialism is rampant in foreign countries which have woman suffrage,—Finland, Norway, New Zealand, and Australia. "We have the opinions of hundreds in those nations where women vote," says a pamphlet issued by the Men's League for Woman Suffrage, which was organized in 1912, "which support our reasonable expectations that their influence will favor rather than retard socialism." Mrs. Vickery, a prominent worker in New South Wales, says: "Woman suffrage has simply forwarded the most socialistic form of legislation. Socialism is the only gainer." The Socialists are working with might and main to bring about woman suffrage knowing how greatly it will help their cause.

A despatch from Reno to the New York Call, the organ of the socialists on Nov. 5, the day after woman suffrage went through in Nevada, says:

"The victory is due to the united socialist vote which went solidly for suffrage. The socialists campaigned steadily and effectively for suffrage, and to them goes the credit for its victory."

Socialism has already made great gains in the Western states since women have voted, as the socialists fully expected. The New York Call, commenting with amusement on the fact that suffrage has become a fashionable fad, says:

"How many a society belle would tremble if she knew with what mighty forces she had put her feet in line, and what was the ultimate goal of her latest fad!"

The socialist-woman suffrage alliance is a public menace. Socialists openly avow the connection; suffragists in denying it merely show their ignorance of the situation, and confirm the opinion that they are being used as tools by their clever allies.

Boston, May 14, 1915.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE NOTES.

Last week was an epoch in the history of Massachusetts Suffrage, when the Annual Convention and Campaign Conference, was held,—probably for the last time! The delegates came from all over the state and crowded the hall of the New England Woman's club. There four work conferences were held, a great banquet was held at the Hotel Somerset, and the whole ended on Saturday with a monster rally on Boston Common. The key-notes of the whole convention were enthusiasm, hope and patriotism. Two hundred leagues reported increased membership and a large number of voters' cards already signed. Miss Alice Stone Blackwell, who is also the Editor of the Woman's Journal, was re-elected President of the Mass. W. Suff. Ass'n, also of the New England Ass'n. Among the speakers at the banquet, Dr. Hugh Cabot of Boston, speaking from the scientific point of view, said that co-operation of the sexes is the key-note of life and that the Equal Suffrage means co-operation (Dr. Cabot is one of the highest medical authorities in Boston); ex-Gov. Bass of New Hampshire, said that his political experience had made him a Suffragist, though he used to be opposed; and Miss Helen Todd of California, telling of the Suffrage campaign in that state, said that every vicious and corrupt interest worked against the Woman's Cause in San Francisco, but the great vote which gave the women their victory came from all over the state,—from the little towns and country districts,—in short from the real men of California who were not influenced by the vice of the city. We expect it will be much the same here, and we look to the real Massachusetts men, the men of the towns and rural districts, for our big vote in November.

I should like to mention that some of the beautiful flowers used at the big banquet were donated by Mr. Axel Magnuson of Manchester.

It should be reported also that the Mass. Suff. Ass'n, in convention, passed a resolution of respectful sympathy with President Wilson in his attitude toward war and peace and expressing their loyalty to the Administration at this time of crisis. The same was sent to the President.

The Manchester League had a quiet but very charming observance of Suffrage Day on Saturday last, at the house of Rev. and Mrs. Charles A. Hatch. Reports of the Convention and plans for more work were brightened by a social hour, with tea, spring flowers and music, Miss Florence Leach singing two beautiful songs.

The season of open-air meetings has now begun, both in Boston and in the towns. The first ones in this district came on Tuesday evening in Gloucester, with a big crowd, and on Wednesday afternoon in Magnolia village. Miss Luscomb and Mrs. McDaniel spoke at both of these meetings, and will come to Manchester later.

I have been asked to reply to the attack by "J. W." in last week's BREEZE, also to the outrageous remarks of Mr. Robert Luce at the Anti-Suffrage meeting in Boston last Saturday night. I really have not the time or space to waste in answering all the nonsense that the Antis (or some of them) continue to repeat, regardless of our corrections, our appeal for truth and fair play. They have been answered again and again,—as you can find by looking up back numbers of the BREEZE! But it is better to go forward than back, so we cheerfully continue our good work in spite of the falsehoods about the "failure" of equal suffrage in Colorado, about legislation for women and children in this state and New York being better than in the Suffrage states, and all the rest of it. Both the tone and details of J. W.'s letter were false and misleading. One cannot answer that sort of thing. And Mr. Luce insulted American woman with every word he spoke,—how can self-respecting women allow him to be their spokesman? The truth seems to be that the Antis are hard pressed for speakers and for arguments and so they resort to at-

POSTAL SAVINGS

Every person in the United States ten years old or over may open an account in a postal savings bank after July 1st, according to an instructive leaflet on the Postal Savings System just issued by Postmaster General Burleson. This important extension of the service will be made possible by permitting persons living in communities so sparsely settled as not to justify the designation of their local post offices as regular postal savings banks to open accounts by mail.

Postal savings receipts have broken all records the past year. During the eight months prior to April 1st there was a net gain in deposits of $19,000,000, as against a gain of $8,000,000 for the same months the year before. Thousands of new accounts have been opened and the millions made up largely of hidden savings have been turned back into the channels of trade just at a time when there was pressing demand for every dollar.

A party of six young ladies from Holbrook are booked for a week-end visit at the Tunipoo Inn. Other bookings have been made for early arrivals.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ring, who have resided in the Lomasney cottage on Vine st., have moved to their new home on High st., the "Horatio Haskell" estate, recently purchased by them from John H. Linehan.

A large audience was present at the school house assembly hall Tuesday evening to listen to Mrs. E. W. Eastward of Boston, who spoke on "Gardens." Her talk was very interesting. A fine entertaining program was also given in connection with Mrs. Eastman's address.

The next meeting of the Beverly Farms Improvement society will be held on Wednesday afternoon, June 2nd, with Mrs. Edwin F. Campbell, Vine st.

Theatres

BOSTON

"THE THREE OF HEARTS"

"The Three of Hearts," a new play by Martha Morton, author of "The Senator Keeps House," "A Bachelor's Romance," "The Diplomat" and other well-known plays, will be presented at the Wilbur Theatre next week, beginning Monday evening, May 24th, with Mr. George Nash as a star, and a supporting company including Julia Hay, Blanche Yurka, Ethel Winthrop, Sylvester Ladd, William Devereau, Robert Rogers, G. M. Takahash, Cecil Magnue and others. Miss Morton has written a play of love and adventure, which is unique not only as far as the story is concerned, but the manner in which she deploys the various characters.

"ALIAS JIMMY VALENTINE."

The attraction to be presented next week, beginning Monday, May 24, by the Lonergan Players, who have already so firmly entrenched themselves as a popular factor in Boston theatricals with their summer star stock season at the Majestic Theatre, will be H. B. Warner in his original stellar role of Jimmy Valentine in Paul Armstrong's notable success, "Alias Jimmy Valentine."

"Alias Jimmy Valentine" is a well-balanced play; its climaxes are shrewdly constructed, while its dialogue is natural and occasionally racy. There are four acts and as many scenes, all specially built for this presentation.

The role of Jimmy is a good acting part, and Henry B. Warner so completely absorbs it that it is difficult to think of any other interpretation. The full strength of the Lonergan Players, including Lester Lonergan himself, will be seen in the splendid cast. "Alias Jimmy Valentine" will be given for next week only.

CORT THEATRE, BOSTON.

The delightful laughing play "The Last Laugh" with that excellent and consistent actor, Edward Abeles as the star, will begin the third week of its limited engagement at the Cort Theatre Monday night.

In this cleverly comedy, which has been built for laughing purposes only, there is an element of surprise that is continuous with the unfolding of the story, for the tang of a play is the unexpected that holds and causes the keenest enjoyment.

The novel theme of "The Last Laugh" is most cleverly treated without resorting to trickery, every possible angle of its whimsicalities being taken advantage of, with unexpected turns and twists that are provocative of splendid comedy effects and continuous and convulsing laughter.

Crabshaw—You always told me you hated motor cars. Now, why in the world do you insist on one?

Mrs. Crabshaw—That woman next door asked her husband for one and he said they couldn't afford it.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin E. Goodwin of Ellsworth, Me., have been among the visitors at Beverly Farms the past week.

Arthur Holland ("Dutchy" to his friends), last Monday concluded his duties as ticket agent and operator at the Beverly Farms railroad station, which position he has occupied for the past nine years, to accept a position which he bid off at the Newburyport station, the new berth carrying with it an advance of salary and less hours. Mr. Holland was a great favorite with Beverly Farms people, who are sorry to see him go and who will miss him very much. Raymond Farley of Rockport is at present substituting at the Beverly Farms station. The position will be bid off later on, however.

The Girls' club of St. John's Episcopal church, will be entertained Thursday evening of next week at the home of the pastor, Rev. Neilson Poe Carey on Valley st.

Tunipoo Inn, Beverly Farms' new hotel, opened to the public last Saturday and had for guests over the week-end twenty-two young ladies, students at Wellesley college. They were: Ruth G. Patridge, Wellesley, Mass.; Florian A. Shepherd, Wellesley, Mass.; Ruth H. Lindsay, Milwaukee, Wis.; Christine L. Beck, Clinton, Mass.; Elizabeth Patch, Framingham, Mass.; Mabel A. Stone, Wellesley, Mass.; Alice M. Ottley, Seneca Castle, N. Y.; Dorothy H. Murphy, Montclair, N. J.; Charlotte C. Wychoff, Vellore, India; Ruth K. Beaton, Providence, R. I.; Mariani Vedder, Schnectady, N. Y.; Elsa Disbrou, Newark, N. J.; Katharine E. Adams, Phila., Pa.; Mildred C. Stone, Providence, R. I.; Ruth Norton, Attica, N. Y.; Harriett F. Holt, Arlington, Mass.; Lyle W. Trainor, Woodstock, Conn.; Alice E. Ceny, Kyoto, Japan; Jessie Fairbank, Middletown, Conn.; Mary A. Knap, Wellesley, Mass.; Elizabeth Rosp, Upland, Pa.; Jennie R. Hall, Wellesley, Mass. The young ladies will no doubt look back with much pleasure to their visit at Beverly Farms for they enjoyed every minute of their stay and in leaving could not say enough in there praise of the attractions of Beverly Farms and the excellent hospitality of the Inn. The walks in the woods and on the beach, yacht sailing and automobile rides were a part of there recreations.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Norris of Bridgeport, Conn., have been visiting friends at Beverly Farms the past week.

THOUGHT is the MAINSPRING of LIFE

IF you want something good or don't feel that you are getting just what you would like for your table—We have it—Think of us. We began business in a small way 8 years ago, have enlarged our store three times,—and now we have the largest floor space and most complete food stock on the North Shore. The West Beach pavilion opened last Saturday for the season and is in charge of Supt. James Fitch who was in charge last year. George Medcalf will also be employed this year as he has the past few years and will look after the grounds and the pier. Both men will be busy for a time getting things in readiness for the warm weather.

Miss Mary Creesy Pickett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas W. Pickett of 371 Cabot st., Beverly, well known at Beverly Farms and for a long time the night telephone operator at the local exchange, was united in marriage last Friday evening to Charles A. Holland of Malden. The ceremony took place at the Maplewood Catholic church and was performed by Rev. C. H. Holland, pastor of the church and a cousin of the groom. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents which was attended by a number of the young friends of the bride from Beverly Farms. After a short honeymoon they will reside in Malden.

The magnificent St. Bernard dog, Barry III, owned by the Swift estate, was struck by the engine on the 6.16 train at the West st. railroad crossing last Saturday evening. He was so badly injured that officer Murphy was obliged to shoot him. The dog was imported directly from the Monastery kennels of the Alps, Switzerland, at a large expense. He was enormous in size, very kind and Pentecost or Whitsunday will be observed at the Village church by special service Sunday morning and evening. The morning preacher will be Rev. William Warren of Beverly, assistant moderator of the Essex South Association of Churches. Sunday school at noon. The Junior C. E. society will change the hour of their meeting to 5.30, and will have a program of unusual interest, to which they invite the fathers and mothers of the members.

At 7 p. m. there will be a choral service conducted by the well-known Topsfield choir and soloists, under the direction of Lyman Perkins organist. At this service a silver collection will be asked, to defray transportation expenses. The musicians come wholly as a labor of friendship.

Monday evening the Salem C. E. Union will hold its monthly meeting in the auditorium of the village church, with a program of general interest. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Benjamin H. Conant recently discovered in the archives an old directory of the village parish, prepared and printed during the pastorate of Rev. Will C. Wood in 1871. Rev. Mr. Wood seems to have been instrumental in naming so many of the Wenham streets after trees. He published this directory in order to encourage friendly visiting amongst the parishioners, and as is today the case he listed in the parish practically all the families west of the railroad. Soldiers and sailors are designated, and it is interesting to see how large a proportion of Wenham men had served their country. Vocations are also indicated, with farming and shoemaking well in the lead. Wenham's population must have declined with the transfer of shoe manufacturing to Beverly, for the number of families in the parish, now only 200, was then 271. The Village church seems always to have had a membership small in comparison with the parish and the attendance. Whereas now it numbers 82, then the figure was only 85.

Bible study came to the front last Sunday, when the department held its annual meeting. Plans were made for the coming months, and the following executive committee chosen: Chairman, Dea. Albert A. Tracy; secretary, Miss Helen Conant; other members, Perley Cummings, Miss Ruth Perkins and Mrs. C. J. Trott.

Wenham boy scouts happened to bivouac last Friday in a section of woodland which had apparently been overlooked by the moth gang during the winter. Nests of gypsy moths

OPEN NOSTRILS! END A COLD OR CATARRH

How To Get Relief When Head and Nose are Stuffed Up.

Count fifty! Your cold in head or catarrh disappears. Your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more snuffling, hawking, mucous discharge, dryness or headache; no struggling for breath at night.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothing and healing the swollen or inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable. Relief is sure.

were found in the very process of hatching. The boys did their good turn for that day by exterminating some three dozen colonies of the pests.

Rosalind—Now, dear, wait here a minute while I go into Madame Dupe's and select a hat.

Hubert—A minute, eh? Well it's very cold, I've got to keep my engine running, you know, and there's only ten gallons of gasoline.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus driving a cold from the system.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB BACKACHE AND LUMBAGO RIGHT OUT

Rub Pain and Stiffness away with a small bottle of old honest
St. Jacobs Oil

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a 25 cent bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right into the pain or ache, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the ache and pain right out of your back and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica and lame back misery so promptly!

Packard Cars for Hire FOR 1915 SUMMER SEASON.

SEVEN passenger up-to-date Packard Touring cars and limousines, to let by monthly contract, or by day or week, as desired. Owner-driver, insuring care and safety on road. Rates reasonable. Satisfaction my first consideration. Families coming to the North Shore from the South or West this summer will be relieved of the shipping of their car to and from their homes, and the upkeep of it, which is a large item at a summer resort. By hiring a car they are relieved of all these details, as I furnish everything. Can refer to parties to whom I have furnished cars in seasons past.

Society's Real Summer Capital—The North Shore

More People will be Here This Season Than Ever Before

LIVINGSTON WRIGHT

"OH, Jack, do stop a minute! You're hugging me to pieces!" exclaimed Valma, her cheek-roses deep as fire. (But she liked it. Sly thing!) "I want you to be sensible. I——." I made another lunge and helped myself to some more. "Please—oh please—silly boy—I, I do positively want you to listen to me. I——."

"Is'nt that just what I've rashly bound myself to do?—And for a life job?" I reminded My Pretty Young Dowager.

"I'm advocating a Publicity and Promotion Campaign for the North Shore! I——"

"What?" And I sat bolt up.

"There now! Didn't I try to tell you I had something? But you wouldn't give me breath to tell. Nincompoop!"

I confess I was ready now to listen; for when Valma calls me "Nincompoop," I know something interesting is due.

"You see, it's just this way," and her plump, dainty little hands plumped themselves down on her plump lap. "There is a rare opening for the North Shore this summer——"

"Valma, have you been studying the ways of those ir-repressible Press Agents?" I asked in alarm. "So-o?" I recalled that, the other evening, she had been in what seemed to me a slightly prolonged, in fact, unnecessarily elongated conference with Ruthven, the Standard Oil Publicity Department man after the bridge broke up.

"It is such opportunity that there's no knowing when we'll have the like again," continued Valma. For when she wants to, you can depend upon it, Valma can "stick to her subject" like Gloucester glue. (I have informed you previously, I believe, that My Pretty Young Dowager really is a most remarkably accomplished woman. Not at all like some women whom I've met!)

"In the first place, people just cannot mosey about on the ocean if they want to. It's not only over-exciting, but it's positively unhealthful!"

"Actually septic," I grinned back at her.

"And anti-septics are not so popular that one cares to provide more than the ordered quota.—You are a vicious wretch, Jack, but, my goodness, I couldn't get along without you!—There'd be no one to tie my oxfords!" she made haste to add.

"Thus, why not let us try to make the most of the profound attractions and delights of our own country——"

"Thunderation, Valma! Where—where did you get it? You beat a Cook-ist drafting a quarter-page adv. for the Panama Fair excursions!"

"Now, there is no place in America that for an ideal summer headquarters equals the North Shore! To begin with, we not only have the grandeur for stately summer palaces, but we have the nooks for bungalows and above all—that grade of society which befits the true Summer Capitol. The foreign ambassadors, attachés and those who are capable of judging the summer havens of the world, come to the North Shore because they aptly consider that the society atmosphere to be found here more thoroughly comports with the proper combination of dignified gayety, real relaxation and yet, absence of utter mental torpor than any other portion of America! They——"

"Arise, my soul and shine, and shine!

Let all Na-a-ations pay a heed!"

—I began in the nasal twang of revivalism.

Valma gave me such a sudden and vigorous pinch that I jumped, but before I could even say "Ouch!" she was riding right along:

"They select this region for their summer embassies because they are expert judges of what their summer-office locations should be!

"Now, these people make a small colony in themselves and become one of the foremost factors, together with the numerous notables of American industrial, commercial, legal and scientific life, in creating a Summer Capitol that cannot be approached anywhere else on this continent! It——"

"Gosh, Valma! I didn't think you had it in you!—I can readily believe that your grandfather was some preacher! I bet you he could preach 'till the cows came home,' all right, all right!"

But she merely gave me another vicious dig and rode onward, ever onward:

"I'm coming now to the point of my discourse, which is: We have, in the North Shore, the scenery, the air, the innumerable 'places to go,' (and you well know that is the one fatality of many, otherwise charming resorts: Once there, you seem to have 'no place to go to'); while on the North Shore, you have the New Hampshire hills and mountains, the Maine woods, Boston, Portland—Fernecroft—" (Valma gave me her most deliciously guilty grin!) "and—well, you can get almost any species of revelry or deviltry you seek to inspect or enjoy if you motor out from the North Shore country to some of 'the suburbs'!" she added ingeniously.

"Hence, with The Time, The Place and, this case The

No one has seen
America who has not seen the North Shore : : : : :

Girl, which is the throng of desirable people who don't know the lure and satisfactions of the North Shore, yet ought know them and would be such a choice addition to the colony used to being here,—I am organizing a regular propaganda to this aim of bringing desirable folk here to meet other desirable folk! and I propose:

"That every individual of the North Shore Summer Colony make himself a committee of 1 to herald the project of urging desirables to come without fail, this season, to the North Shore! Let us think up those whom we wish would come and write 'em! Let us tell 'em! Let us resolve that none of us will consider he's 'seen his duty 'n done it' unless we have each written a dozen or twenty Letters of Urgement and put out numerous, word-of-mouth praisements and urgements for the North Shore! moreover, let us get this thing into organized system. Have some meetings, get suggestions, exchange ideas and work it on the old-fashioned, enthusiastic pull, everyone! pull, altogether!—To prove my own sincerity" —and Valma pointed to a heap of freshly inscribed envelopes—"I have already written thirty letters and I'm sending them today. They are to persons and families whom I just know should consider it their duty to come up here this year and have the satisfaction of their lives! I know them to be delightful people. I want others to know them. I want them to enjoy the society of my friends here.—Why," and Valma's face was fairly transfigured with enthusiasm—"if we just—just—well 'get on to ourselves'! as you uncultured men-savages call it, we can make things just—just sizzle with joy, this summer!"

"There! I'm through!" and Valma snuggled right over into my arms for the kisses and pettings she knew were in that quarter.

"My Pretty Young Dowager," I pronounced sagely. "You never would starve, were such a contingency to ever come, for you could literally preach the wherewithal out of them! I'll see an Editor friend this very afternoon and 'start something.'"

Articles of Historic Value

Rare Specimens of Glass, Pewter and China

PERHAPS in all the United States there is no section of the country richer in articles of historical value than that included in the vicinity of Essex County, Massachusetts. The early history of this thickly settled area was such as to allow of great possibilities in the matter of china and other wares imported by the colonists from the Mother Country, and to this day in many of the homes in this region are carefully preserved specimens of glass, pewter and china the equal of which cannot be found elsewhere.

Recently the unique collection owned by Mrs. Thorndike Hawkes, who lives in the charming town of Danvers, once called Salem Village, was visited and many articles of priceless value were examined. Mrs. Hawkes plans in the very near future to open a private museum in her home so that visitors may have the pleasure of seeing her treasures, most of them family heirlooms.

Mrs. Hawkes has a most valuable collection of silhouettes, over two hundred in number, including many famous people, native and visitors to this part of the country. A very rare old machine for making these silhouettes is in her possession and is one of the few now in existence. Near it is an old melodeon, one of the first made, which gives forth a sweet, although trifle wheezy tune when played, and piled up near it are old song-books, many filled in by hand. One music book of local interest was done with pen and ink by John Pearson with the dedication service for the Salem Branch meeting houses in Salem Village in 1800.

Another most noticeable piece is a "clock reel," with dial and arms of wood, which answers with a snap when the skein of yarn is wound and the hand has travelled once around the face of the dial. This machine is not at all common among collectors, and is of much value. Nearby the eye alights upon a curious collection of flat irons of all sizes and shapes, from the tiny little one with which grandmother ironed her cap borders, to the large and heavy irons which were used in the days when the homespun suits of the men folk were made and pressed in the old farmhouse by the deft fingers of the women.

Such dear little glass cup plates as grace a corner of the shelf in the recess of the door, with their fluted edges and quaint designs in the centers, and not only glass ones, but still older are the daintiest of Staffordshire blue with little landscapes which are the charm of this ware. And in close touch with these are infinite numbers of glasses, in all kinds known to man. Dainty little wine and cordial glasses which our grandparents used and the old time goblets, hobnobbing with the large and plain "flip glass" and the tumbler of a little later date, and the oldest of all a glass with a tear drop in the stem.

High up on an adjoining shelf are rare bottles, of all sorts,—tall ones and short ones, bottles square, round and fluted in overwhelming variety. One can see the old brown bottle so early associated with the medicine closet and the flat green one which used to stand therein filled with camphor and which often emerged from its hiding place to be welcomed as containing panacea for all ills.

Blue, red, and brown Staffordshire, are side by side with exquisite pink lustre and the softly tinted Wedgewood potteries. One very large platter of the "Salt Glaze" variety, not commonly found in such a large size, with its creamy coloring and graceful pattern proclaims it as a rare specimen of the potter's art. On the top shelves are mugs and cups of the famous Liverpool ware, with its printed figures or its historic legends. Leeds and Chelsea ware is well represented and a vase of real "Bow" tops off the collection. Various old "casters" such as used to grace the tables when our mothers were young, and which, with their numerous bottles furnished condiments for the noonday meal have been preserved in this collection.

Mrs. Hawkes has also an interesting assortment of old wall paper; some of this had once graced the walls of the old Roger Williams House in Salem, now known as the "Witch House," and there are other varieties, including the landscape pattern, one curious specimen of which has a remarkable representation of a ship sailing a bright yellow sea, and close at hand a house upon whose steps gaily dressed ladies and gentlemen go up and down to the over-hanging balcony. Suspended from the ceiling are quaint and curious canes, with varying histories. Some are gnarled and twisted, and others are so straight and fine that one can almost see the Dandy, who, in his Sunday best, walked abroad, carrying the self-same stick.

The owner of this varied and valuable collection is a well known authority on antiques.

Gallons of trouble may come out of a pint flask.

MAY closes this week with the North Shore entering upon the busiest season of its career—busy because there are more families here, and because people are settling at their sea-shore and country homes earlier, and because there are less, if any, people traveling elsewhere, and busy because the beauties and attractions of the North Shore are drawing people from far and near to the charms of this delightful climate and nature's beauty spot. The cold weather the past few days did not deter the influx of cottage arrivals. Every day there have been a score or more families settle at their homes along the shore, and a few warm days will set the wheels of life and gayety a-humming for the season of 1915.

Mrs. Richard J. Monks has rented her cottage "Edgewood," at Manchester Cove for July and August to Mr. and Mrs. Lowell M. Chapin (Elizabeth Chalfoux) of Chicago. Mrs. Monks and her daughter, Miss Grace Monks, who has just returned from a visit to Philadelphia, and Mrs. Monks' mother, Mrs. Page, will go to Northeast Harbor, Me., the last of June for a two months' stay. The Chapins were on the North Shore last summer for a visit with relatives at Magnolia. They are spending June at Harbor Point, Mich.

The Allyn Ryans of New York have just leased at Magnolia, the Shaw cottage on Norman ave., the lease being made through the office of Jonathan May of Magnolia.

Among the week's arrivals at Magnolia are Dr. Freeman H. Hibben and family of Brookline, who are settled in the MacDonald shore cottage.

John Harvey Wright and family of 617 Boylston st., Boston, who are to have Mrs. H. R. Dalton's cottage at Beverly Farms this summer, plan to move down next Saturday, June 5.

RENTALS of the past week include that of the Morrill estate at Magnolia to the Jerome K. Remicks of Detroit. Last year, and for several seasons back, in fact, Mr. and Mrs. Remick have had a cottage at Bass Rocks, on the Gloucester shore, but this season they decided to join the busy and lively colony at Magnolia. The Morrill house is near the Curry estate, just off Hesperus ave., and not far from the Oceanside hotel where many Detroit people spend the summer. Mr. Remick is the head of the well-known music publishing house by that name. There is one grown up daughter, Miss Katherine Remick, and two younger children, Jerome H., Jr., and James A. Remick. The lease was made through the Boardman office of Boston and Manchester.

At Beverly Farms there have been several rentals the past week, including the Frank Seabury cottage, to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hunnewell, Jr. (Minna Lyman) of Wellesley. Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Amory (Glady's Munn) are to have the Wilkins cottage, commonly called the Pump cottage, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Strauss of Boston have taken the Preston cottage. Last year they were at Swampscott. They have already settled at Beverly Farms. All of the above rentals were made through the Boardman office of Boston and Manchester.

Hon. and Mrs. R. S. Reynolds Hitt and family of Washington are to have the Arthur Little cottage at Beverly Farms, occupied last year by the J. A. Lowell Blakes. The latter have bought the Morse property at Malt Hill, between Manchester and Beverly Farms, and are preparing to occupy it shortly.

It is understood the Dresel cottage on Mingo Beach hill will be rented for the early part of the season, as Miss Louisa L. Dresel is to take a trip to the exposition in California the early part of the summer, and her brother Ellis L. Dresel is still in the diplomatic service in Europe.

THE wedding on Saturday of next week, June 5, of Miss Hope Norman and Elliott Cowdin Bacon, will be the particular social function of the opening week of June on the North Shore. The ceremony will be at noon at St. Peter's church, in Beverly proper, the Rev. J. P. Franks officiating. A reception will follow at "Bee Rock," the Beverly home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Norman, the parents of the bride-elect. The attendants are to be the Misses Josephine Rantoul, Olivia Ames, Phyllis Sears and Ruth Gaston, who is to be a bride later in the month, of Boston, and Miss Elaine Denégre and Miss Margaret Perin of Washington and the North Shore summer colony, all sister debutantes of two years ago. Robert Low Bacon, who married Miss Virginia Murray, will be his brother's best man, and among the ushers will be Gaspar Bacon, the other brother, and William Fellowes Morgan, Jr., of New York, Gilbert Mather of Philadelphia, Thomas S. Blumer of Providence and George Peabody Gardner, Jr., John E. Thayer, Jr., John Revere Chapin, Roger Amory and Sullivan Sargent, Jr., of Boston, all of them classmates of Mr. Bacon, Harvard '10.

The Manchester Yacht club will open on Memorial Day for the season.

"Swiftmoor," the attractive estate of Mrs. E. C. Swift at Pride's Crossing has been opened this week for the season. Mrs. Swift, who is now in New York, will arrive the first of next week. Her daughter, Mrs. A. C. P. Wichfeld (Mrs. Clarence Moore), is honeymooning in California, and is not expected on the North Shore until about the middle of June. Miss Frances Moore, Preston Moore, and Mrs. Wichfeld's younger sons, Jasper, Clarence and Lloyd Moore, will come on from Washington next week also.

Miss Katherine Loring of Pride's Crossing has gone to Peterboro, N. H., for a short stay. While there she will speak on the work of the American Red Cross before the Guild of All Saints Church at the summer home of Mrs. John H. Morison, The Bleakhouse, at three o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brattle Gannett (Dorothy Draper) are among the week's arrivals in Manchester. They are at the Clark cottage on Blossom lane, which is across the way from their own attractive villa is fast nearing completion, and which they hope to occupy early in July.

SNYDER-CURE HAMS AND BACON—SMOKED WITH CORNCOBS

We endeavor to secure for our North Shore Customers Supplies of Distinctive Quality

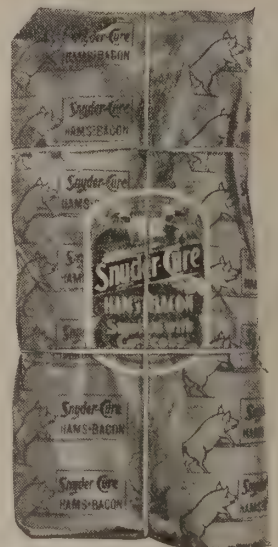

With this in view, we carefully investigated the different brands of ham and bacon, and found that in the last four years one brand had shot into prominence because of an unusual cure, which appears to be an improved form of a formula used for ham curing in Vermont. The process results in a ham which is entirely free from superfluous salt and unusually tender. Its exceptional tenderness is said to be due to the mild curing system, which permits the meat to age properly and during this process its delicious flavor is developed. This is supplemented by smoking in the old-fashioned way with corncocks.

The bacon, following the same general process, is cured in its own juices in air-sealed containers. We supply it in the strip, in wide or narrow form, or SLICED READY TO USE in one and five-pound boxes.

In hams we recommend the family sizes, from ten to fourteen pounds, or sliced to your order.

Every mail or telephone order for goods is given the immediate attention of one of our experienced house shoppers, who selects the merchandise carefully and forwards it promptly. Our telephone number is Oxford 3200.

¶The efficiency and promptness of our Order Department have proven of especial interest to the many from other parts of the country who annually spend a portion of the summer in New England and who recognize the buying advantages which have made this house the largest and most popular store in all New England.

We deliver free of charge in Massachusetts anything we sell.

Jordan Marsh Company BOSTON

ONE of the gala out-door affairs planned for the summer on the North Shore will be an open-air bazaar in aid of the Boston branch of the Navy Young Men's Christian association, to be held on Miss Haven's field at Beverly Farms on July 21. Companies of marines and bluejackets will give exhibition drills, and the band from the Charlestown Navy Yard will play during the day, and for dancing in the afternoon and evening. There will be booths for the sale of flowers, fruit, candy, pottery, lamp shades, children's toys and other things attractive to young and old. The Navy Young Men's Christian association is doing a useful work for sailors all over the country, and it is hoped at this bazaar to raise a large sum of money toward a new building in Charlestown.

North Shore friends of Miss Annie Pemberton of Philadelphia will be glad to hear that she is coming in early June, to spend that month at "Pompey's Garden," Pride's Crossing, with her sister, Mrs. Quincy Shaw, and her nephew, Quincy A. Shaw, Jr., to whom she is devoted. At the conclusion of her visit Miss Pemberton is to go to Annisquam for the remainder of the summer. Mr. Shaw is still on the invalid list, in consequence of which Mrs. Shaw's season promises to be extremely quiet.

The ambassador of Italy and Contessa Macchi di Callere expect to leave Washington next week for Beverly Farms, where they will spend the summer. The first secretary of the embassy and Marchesa Tacoli and their children have left Washington for Manchester, where they will remain during the summer. The embassy will be established at "Pitch Pine Hall," owned by Arthur F. Luke at Beverly Farms, while the Secretary will have a cottage on Sea street, Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sturgis Grew and family—Agnes H., Henry S., Jr., James and Ethel H.—of 254 Marlboro st., Boston, have arrived at their summer home in West Manchester. Mrs. Edward S. Grew and son Randolph C. Grew of 185 Marlboro st., have also arrived at West Manchester, joining Mr. Grew, who has been there all winter. Mrs. Grew, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grew and their older daughter, plan to leave next week for a trip to the exposition in California to be gone a month.

Mrs. Henry C. Weston of 177 Beacon st., Boston, is established at her Beverly Farms summer home, "The Uplands," for the season.

Mrs. J. Theodore Heard of 20 Louisburg square, Boston, is settled at her summer home, Norman's Woe road, Magnolia, for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Warren Mason and family of 14 Gloucester st., Boston, have moved to their country estate, "Candlewood Farm," at Ipswich for a long season as usual.

Mrs. George Lee and daughter Miss Florence Lee, after a winter in the South and a month's stay at Lake-wood, have been spending a fortnight at the Copley-Plaza, Boston, where Mr. Lee has been all winter. The summer home, "Villa al Mare," at Beverly Farms, is being put in readiness for the family to move down next week.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Jefferson Newbold (Katherine Hubbard) were passengers on the St. Paul on her last trip to New York, from Liverpool.

ARTISTIC MEMORIALS

THE WESTERLY GRANITE COMPANY 270 BOYLSTON STREET, BOSTON

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Curtis of 191 Beacon st., Boston, have arrived at "Sunfield," their estate at Beverly Farms, for the season,—a month earlier than usual, as it has been their custom for years to spend the spring and early summer motoring in Europe. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis received word Monday of the death of their son-in-law, Second Lieutenant Harry Gustav Byng, who was an English officer fighting in France. A message received last week told of his having been wounded, but Monday's cablegram did not even mention the time and place of his death. Lieutenant Byng was the third son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Byng of London. During the absence of her husband in France, Mrs. Byng, who was Miss Evelyn Curtis, made her home with some of his relatives in London. Lieutenant Byng's marriage to Miss Curtis took place on March 22 in St. Mary's Church, Bryanstone square, London, which is near the home of Lieutenant Byng's family. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Edgar Strydom. Lieutenant Byng and Miss Curtis became acquainted while the former was a student at Harvard during the years 1910, 1911 and 1912, when he took a course in electrical engineering. Miss Curtis's engagement was announced in May of last year.

Senator and Mrs. Henry Lippitt (Mrs. Thomas K. Laughlin) are expected at Beverly Farms next week for a summer at the Simpkins cottage, off Hale st., which Mrs. Lippitt had last season. After their honeymoon at Senator Lippitt's farm in Cumberland, R. I., they left last week for Washington, for a short stay prior to moving to the North Shore.

Hon. Albert J. Beveridge, who recently returned from the European war zone, was given a banquet by the Twilight Club of New York at the Prince George Hotel, New York city, last evening. Mr. Beveridge has recently bought the former McKee estate at Beverly Farms and will join the North Shore colony this summer. The family is already established here. The toastmaster at the banquet was Irvin S. Cobb, the war correspondent; and the speakers were Hon. Charles L. Guy, Democratic State senator; Hon. Bainbridge Colby, member of the New York Assembly, and Hon. Job E. Hedges, deputy attorney general.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Kent Arnold (L. Pearl Butler) of Boston are opening "Ledgeside," their summer home at 38 Sea street, Manchester, tomorrow, to remain until October as usual.

George R. Agassiz' yacht "Teva" has been put overboard at Manchester this week and is moored in the inner harbor ready to be taken to North Haven, Me., where the Agassiz' are to spend the summer. The "Teva" is a handsome looking boat of the yawl type; she has been overhauled at the David Fenton Co. yard the past winter and more or less work has been done on her, such as rejoining, new deck, etc. A mast with top-mast takes the place of the pole-mast, which means the 60-footer will have added speed this year.

NORUMBEGA PARK, which overlooks the Charles River at Auburndale, entered upon its nineteenth season this week. The occasion also marked the nineteenth season that Carl Alberte, the manager, has been in charge. Especially attractive are the beautiful floral displays and gardening effects for which the park has become noted. Other attractions are the grape arbor restaurant, which commands a beautiful view of the river, the chalet, merry-go-round, bowling alleys, launches and canoes. The zoo, considered one of the best in the country, has been enlarged and boasts of having the only baby wild-cats ever born in captivity. The car service both to and from Norumbega has been improved since last year, and motorists find the roads to Auburndale in their characteristic splendid condition from all points.

An excellent vaudeville bill is presented afternoon and evening. Heading the bill this week are Monohan and Dolly, introducing original skating novelties. Port and DeLacy, in an old time comedy sketch, are entertaining, and Burns and Foran give an interesting dancing exhibition.

It is said that the British embassy will arrive at Beverly Cove the 7th of June.

HAM VERSUS HAM.

How dear to my heart were the hams of my childhood,
What fond recollections now bring them to view,—
The corn-cobs, the barrel and chips from the beech-wood,
That gave the fine flavor naught else seemed to do.

The corn-cobs, the barrel, the ham that hung in it,
The smoke slowly curling for days at a time,
Made a flavor so fine, no one could resist it,
E'en from the rude barrel where smoke used to climb.

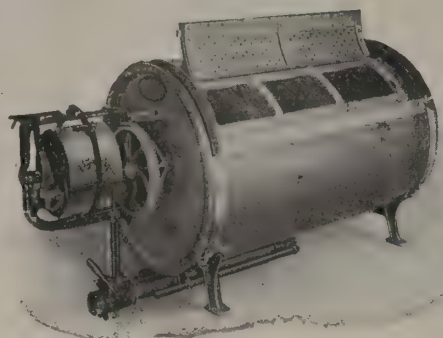

The hams of the present are not half as pleasant,
They seem soaked full of salt, and are dry as a bone,
Excepting one brand that is known as the "Snyder,"
And that in its class is now standing alone.

For it tastes of the corn-cobs and chips of the beech-wood,
(That bacon of Snyder's partakes of it, too)
So 'phone to your market, before you forget it,
And have them send Snyder's that's smoked thru and thru.

MARBLEHEAD will literally jump right into the summer season from now on. The regular summer residents of this section will practically all be leaving their winter homes this week or within the next ten days and with the yacht clubs open and the hotels and boarding houses getting ready for their opening dates, everything will be assuming a busy aspect.

W. H. Cheever of Nashua, N. H., is at the Neck preparing to open his cottage.

Mrs. L. P. Hollander of Boston is on the Neck for a short visit.

W. H. Rothwell of Brookline was an arrival this week. He is at his usual summer place, "All View," on Harbor avenue, the Neck.

The new garage of Frank E. Peabody of Boston at Foster and Valley streets is nearly completed. It is fire-proof throughout and will accommodate four cars.

The new cottage which F. C. Fletcher of Boston is making out of the "Redgate" property is being plastered. Mr. Fletcher intends to occupy it this summer instead of stopping at the White cottage on Foster street.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bowden are at their cottage for a few weeks' stay.

Mrs. Edwin Arthur Shuman of Beacon street, Boston, who has been making a short visit in New York at the Ritz-Carlton, comes this week to "Mollhurst," her summer home at Marblehead Neck.

Dr. Gay's schooner Sunshine is at its summer mooring in Marblehead harbor, coming up from Maine last week.

CLIFTON'S summer colony has been a trifle tardy in augmenting its numbers the past week on account of the cool weather but a number of new faces were noted in the arrivals of the last few days.

Sydney Dreyfus of Brookline, who usually summers at Stearns beach will not come to Clifton this year. He has not decided on this summer sojourning point as yet.

Mrs. D. E. Ware is another who will not come to Clifton this year. The lure of the exposition in California has beckoned her to the sunny climes of the Golden state. She will leave for the west coast early in June. She has rented her Clifton cottage.

Ferdinand Strauss of Brookline and family came down to "Grey Knoll" on Atlantic avenue, Clifton, this week.

The last week-end saw Sydney Conrad of Boston at "Maplewood," Stearns beach, for the season.

Another family opening their summer residence this week was that of Simon E. Hecht of Boston, at the Locke cottage on Hathaway road. Mr. Hecht is chairman of the ground committee at the new Kernwood Country club in Salem and his presence on the North Shore for the season gives him an opportunity to motor over to the new course to see how things are progressing.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. West of Pittsfield were added to the Clifton Heights colony this week.

SWAMPSCOTT summer residents will learn with regret of the death of a most familiar figure of the past two generations and one well known by all the hotel and cottage visitors of long standing.

Capt. Theophilus W. Brackett, said to be the oldest active fisherman in the country and inventor of the famous Swampscott dory, died last Monday at the age of 95 at his home, 32 Orient street. Captain Brackett was born in Wellfleet, Jan. 16, 1820, and had always gained his living from the sea. His outdoor life, though full of hardship, had kept him in the pink of physical condition. He followed his vocation until a short time ago and made regular trips to the fishing grounds. It was his boast that he was better able to withstand rough weather than many men of half his years. It was said of him that he had pulled more fish from the sea than any man in the world.

Summer visitors delighted to visit Captain Brackett as he mended his nets on the beach or was returning from his daily task of fishing off the shore. He always had some interesting tale to relate or amusing incident or anecdote of the days when Swampscott was a mere fishing village and before it had developed into the attractive summer resort it is today. To visit the fishing grounds off the shore with Captain Brackett was to be assured of a good morning's catch, for he knew all the "holes" where cod or other fish could be found, and the summer visitors who liked that kind of sport—and there are many such—were always eager to be under his care. He will be greatly missed by all at Swampscott.

SWAMPSCOTT has suffered somewhat as a summer resort the past ten days from cool weather and intermittent rain, but the shore-front homes there are filling up quite rapidly. The hotels will not open until the middle of June. When they do open it appears that they will be well filled with guests from the start; advance bookings at present look decidedly encouraging, say the hotel men.

William E. Schrafft and family of Boston, who have summered at Marblehead Neck in previous years, will occupy the Denton cottage between Swampscott and Clifton this year.

Edward S. Goulston and family of Brookline have arrived at their summer estate on Puritan road, Swampscott, for the season. Considerable minor improvements have been made on the property the last few weeks and the grounds are looking exceedingly well.

Simon Vorenberg and family have been down from their winter home in Boston for the last ten days. Although the Vorenberg home was finished only in the middle of last season the grounds about it have been developed to such a degree that one would not know it was the newest estate on Puritan road. It is located just on the outside sweep of Puritan road at the corner of Lincoln House road and makes a fitting entrance to the Swampscott colony from the boulevard.

Dr. George A. Craigin of Boston was among the arrivals at Swampscott this week. He is quartered, as usual, on Beach Bluff avenue.

The Samuel G. Adamses of Boston are down at "Miramar" cottage for the summer on Beach Bluff ave.

The two Williams families, those of Jeremiah Williams of Boston, and that of Joseph S. Williams of Jamaica Plain, are at Swampscott for the season.

THE BEACHCROFT and Cottages Eastern Point, GLOUCESTER

Delightfully situated, right on the water. Bathing facilities unexcelled. Sailing, fishing and golf. Modern conveniences; comfortable rooms; cuisine and service the best; refined patronage. Special rate for June. Open June 15th. Booklet. J. E. PHILLIPS, Prop.

EAST GLOUCESTER is now a scene of loveliness, for orchards are whitened with the apple-bloom and the vast moors are magnificent with the young green and the pink blossoms of wild growth.

At Eastern Point during the past week there have been numerous arrivals and the atmosphere is beginning to be real "summerish." The Delphine hotel, Harbor View, Fairview and Mailman House all have several guests. The Rockaway hotel at Rocky Neck has about twenty guests and on the holiday the hotel will receive a large number of people, many of whom will stay permanently for the season. Several days hence and the Hawthorne Inn will be open with early arrivals. The Beachcroft will open permanently on June 15th, and J. E. Phillips is the proprietor of this hostelry on the fascinating Niles Beach Boulevard.

The latest building operation in the East Gloucester colony, in addition to the many new houses recently mentioned in the NORTH SHORE BREEZE, is the fine new bungalow being erected for Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Taylor of Morristown, N. J. The Taylors have purchased the former cottage of Ralph Henry Barbour, the author, located on Mt. Pleasant avenue and the new bungalow is being built on a lot adjoining the latter property. Charles R. MacDonald, contractor, of Gloucester has the work in charge. There are to be five comfortable rooms, a living room, kitchen, three chambers and bath. The bungalow will be completed about the middle of June.

The H. B. Taylors of Morristown, N. J., are occupying their beautiful estate on Grape Vine road, Eastern Point, for the season.

The old farmhouse, in which The Sign of the Rudder tea house is located, is receiving exterior improvements. The Misses Morrill of Boston who conduct the tea house have arrived for the season.

Miss M. L. Davison and Miss T. de R. Hawley of New York are at "Villa Latomia," Eastern Point, a very picturesque Spanish house. Both Miss Davison and Miss Hawley have spent the past winter in Boston.

Dr. and Mrs. James H. Knowles (Frances Serrill) of Philadelphia, recently opened their summer home "Lowcroft" situated on the beach boulevard.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Jay Little, who were in Boston all winter are occupying their home "On-the-Hill," which

The John Clays of Chicago, who are generally among the first comers to Eastern Point, will not occupy their beautiful summer home "Finisterre," Eastern Point, as soon as was expected owing to the illness of Mrs. Clay. The servants are placing the house in order. Mrs. Clay is active in social affairs held here for philanthropic purposes and the townspeople regret to hear of her indisposition, and hope for a speedy recovery.

The John Proctors of Brookline are expected to arrive at their cottage at Eastern Point on May 29.

The Henry Davis Sleepers of Boston are at "Beaumont," their charming Eastern Point estate.

It is uncertain whether Hon. A. Piatt Andrew, former assistant secretary of the United States Treasury, will be at his estate at Eastern Point this summer. Mr. Andrew is connected with the United States Ambulance Corps in France and he is witnessing many thrilling scenes in the European conflict. Several weeks ago Mr. Andrew narrowly escaped death, when a shell came crashing down through the ambulance in which he was driving. Mr. Andrew's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Andrew of La Porte, Ind., anticipate their coming for the summer as usual at their son's cottage "Red Roof," at Eastern Point.

The Gloucester Yacht club-house located on Rocky Neck, has opened this week for the season.

Mr. Wilson, the musical critic for the Boston Globe and also a music teacher in Boston, expects to make his summer headquarters at Hotel Rockaway, Rocky Neck. He will occupy the unique cabin studio on Pagoda Rocks. Many of Mr. Wilson's pupils will also stop at the Rockaway.

Miss Eleanor Weare Peason of New York, an artist who has been coming to East Gloucester for a great many seasons and has the "Old Barn Studio" on East Main street, is at the Harbor View hotel for the season.

BASS ROCKS cottage arrivals increase daily and on the holiday there will be many residents settled in their summer homes. The large bath-house at Good Harbor Beach has received improvements and carpenters and painters have cleared the place of paraphernalia, while shutters are removed. The bath-house is one of the finest along the shore, being built of stone with a wood roof. It is planned to have extensive additions, possibly for another season, when a casino and tea house will be a source of attraction for the hundreds of North Shore people who gather here daily.

The Dodges of Toledo, Ohio, Bass Rock's summer residents for a great many years, are now at their cottage "Under-the-Cliff," Atlantic Road, for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Chandler of San Antonio, Texas, have added considerable property to their estate "Casa Del Mar" on Beach Road, Bass Rocks. The Chandlers have purchased of the Souther estate, a lot, 120 feet by 147 feet, situated on Harbor Road in the vicinity of Hotel Thorwald. This desirable stretch of land which connects the Chandler estate on the north and west, will be arranged into an attractive garden lot.

Dr. and Mrs. Octavius T. Howe of Lawrence are late arrivals at Bass Rocks, occupying their big cottage on Souther road.

Dr. and Mrs. Silas N. Ayer of Jamaica Plain are at their cottage on Atlantic Road near the Thorwald. The Ayers contemplated sailing for Europe, but they were unable to secure passports, so plans are directed towards attending the Panama-Pacific exposition in California. Hibbard Ayer, one of the sons of Dr. and Mrs. Ayer is at present in Belgium. Nat Ayer the actor, another son, is playing successfully in vaudeville in Aberdeen, Scotland.

The E. H. Eatons of Lawrence are at their cottage on Souther Road.

The Carrolls of Louisville, Ky., will arrive in a few days at "Brown Boulders," the Williamson cottage at Bass Rocks, located on a unique site, directly out on the mammoth cliffs. The Carroll family had the same cottage last season.

Yearly subscription to North Shore Breeze, $2.00.

AT BRIER NECK, to the eastward of Bass Rocks and Good Harbor Beach, where a large number of fine cottages and bungalows have been erected in the past five years, all the rentable houses have been secured by wealthy tenants, excepting four.

Good Harbor Beach Inn, the only hotel at the Neck, will open for the season June 10.

The family of Benjamin Elsas, of Atlanta, Ga., which formerly occupied the Gates cottage, Beach road, Bass Rocks, have arrived at the Folk cottage, Brier Neck, for the season.

ANNISQUAM. Mrs. Harriet Meyer has arrived at her summer home for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Fred Simpson of Newton are at their cottage, located on Lane road.

Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Ferguson of Salem entertained a house party, last week-end at their cottage, "Rockledge" at Norwood's Heights.

Late arrivals at Annisquam are Mr. and Mrs. Walter O. Adams of Boston, who will remain for a portion of the season at their cottage.

Miss Susan B. White is at her Norwood Heights summer home. Miss White has been spending the winter in Brooklyn, N. Y.

ROCKPORT cottagers already located, as well as the week-end parties, are enjoying the harbor scene, that of the anchored five torpedo boat destroyers and two submarines. It is hoped that Cape Ann will be the landing point from which the fleet of the "enemy" may invade New England and attack Boston, in the naval war game now in progress along the North Atlantic coast.

The Arthur W. Hales of Winchester are at their South End cottage for several days.

Mrs. R. W. Fracker of Providence, R. I., is at her cottage at the Headlands.

PIGEON COVE. The family of Clarence W. Seamans of New York, has arrived at the Seamans shore place at Pigeon Cove, for the season.

One of Pigeon Cove's pioneer summer residents, Mrs. Jessie M. H. Brewer, wife of David Homer Brewer, died on Wednesday of last week at her home in Brookline. Mrs. Brewer with her husband, the deceased had been coming to Pigeon Cove for 25 years. Her age was 54 years. The deceased was a sister-in-law to Chauncy Brewer, Esq., the well-known Boston attorney, who has an estate at Bass Rocks. Besides her husband, the deceased leaves a son, daughter and several grandchildren.

THERE is a depiction on page 11 that is especially noteworthy at this season of the year when one's thoughts revert to the contemplation of family memorials in stone and marble. The feature to which we refer is an excellent representation of a sarcophagus discovered in 1780, on the Appian Way, in a vineyard belonging to the Sassi family, and in a tomb that was known as Scipio's. When found the Scipio sarcophagus was taken to the Vatican and placed in the square vestibule near the Hall of Meleager. The next year, several thousand years after the death of Scipio, it was opened, and in it was found the skeleton of Scipio Barbatus, one of the ancestors of Scipio Africanus. His bones were removed to a monument near Padua, the sarcophagus remaining in the Vatican. This sarcophagus of early Doric design, is cut from coarse grey Perperino stone, and as may be seen, it is in the form of an altar, decorated with a frieze of triglyphs and metopes. Each metope is decorated with a rosette in relief, the rosettes varying in pattern. The idea of using the triglyphs for a decoration, may have had its origin in the projection of the ceiling beams, in the older wooden temples. If this is true the guttae probably represent pins. The frieze is surmounted by an Ionic cornice, and the top finishing at both ends, with a roll on which Ionic volutes are carved, permits the placing of a bust or vase on the space between. An inscription giving the titles of the deceased, may be traced on the lid of the sarcophagus. Among the notable modern modifications, variations, or elaborations of the Scipio design, are the memorials of Henry C. Payne and Charles Fletcher, but Linius Elisha Fuller—one of New York's most distinguished citizens, lately held strictly to the original style. Aside from the so-called improvements the Scipio design is in the great Roman class by itself, and will probably remain popular for countless generations to come. —FRANCIS M. CHASE.

EDITORIAL

MEMORIAL DAY has come once more freighted with its precious memories and patriotic meaning. The nation at peace may well pause to consider its blessings and consider what these men did. What if America had been broken up into several states by that war? Would the animosities of the strife ever have been healed? Could peace have been maintained? Suppose that either the North or South had been forced to welcome the assistance of a European nation? Then to the new land would have been transferred the struggles of the old world. Every year only adds to the glory of the men who fought in that war and who saved the nation. It is the one outstanding war for conscience sake! America need not be ashamed of that conflict even though it ought never to have occurred.

THE NORTH SHORE has begun its season of work and pleasure, and although early it is now evident that the season is to be as promising as it was forethought in late winter. Those who own houses are going to come early and stay late. Within a week there are many people who will arrive and open their houses who have never come so early in the season. The war has stopped all European travel and American tourists are now seeking the charms of the North Shore and other watering places.

DO NOT FORGET that the Grand Army posts in Manchester and Beverly Farms can use to advantage the flowers you may be able to send to them from your greenhouse or garden. Memorial Day and its work will be made much easier for them if you will just be thoughtful and give of your abundance if you own a greenhouse or have an outdoor garden.

AUTOMOBILISTS should be grateful now that the Wellington bridge in Somerville is open for traffic. With a safe broad road through Salem and the bridge reconstructed the trip to Boston is short and easy. Permit has been given by the legislature for a good highway through Salem.

THE NOTE WHICH President Wilson sent to Germany stands out as one of the great state papers. While not in the class with the Declaration of Independence or the Emancipation Proclamation it ranks high among American state papers.

EVERY TRUE AMERICAN lifts his hat as the American flag passes in procession borne by the steady hands of a Grand Army veteran. Everyone should remember this on Memorial Day!

A PEDESTRIAN SHOULD LEARN three simple rules in crossing highways: Go where you are looking, look where you are going and look both ways before crossing the street.

THE UNITARIANS have captured Boston, but the Salvation Army laddies and lassies were a week ahead of them.

THE CAPE COD CANAL COMPANY demonstrated last Friday the advantage of that waterway beyond a doubt. The canal has been constructed, but it has not yet come into its own. A freighter bound from Boston to New York passed through the canal with a great saving in time and money. Eventually that waterway will be the accepted all-the-way-by-water route to New York. There will be an advantage in another direction; travelers who so desire could leave Boston and go by rail to Buzzards Bay and embark there for the remaining trip to New York by water. The importance of the Cape Cod Canal has been dwarfed somewhat by the completion of the Panama Canal and its importance has not been realized by the public. But the day must come when the importance of this waterway will be fully appreciated by the traveling public.

THE JOURNALS that report accurately the automobile accidents which occur are rendering a valuable service to the public. To eliminate the automobile from the road is unthinkable, but much can be done to minimize the accidents upon the highways. In these accidents it is easily seen that both pedestrians and automobilists have been careless in their habits. Everyone should read with care the causes of accidents. Instruction is valuable, but experience is the best teacher and it is a wise man or woman who profits by the experiences of others.

WALTER RALEIGH SAW the dilemma in which the Queen was placed and with the truest spirit of chivalry lay his own coat on the ground and the Queen passed over dry shod and the act of gallantry made him Sir Walter Raleigh. A chauffeur to avoid destroying the automobile in which the Queen rode in Madrid, drove his own machine into a stone wall. The press did not even record his name. Heroism and courtesy have become commonplace.

OUR AMATEUR FLEET is trying to capture the Cape Cod Canal and the toy submarine squadron is endeavoring to defend it. When will America be willing to develop a reasonable naval program and a navy worthy of the Great Republic. It takes two to make peace as well as to make war.

DESPITE THE FACT that the war correspondents have been excluded from the armies and the navies the news works its way into the journals of the date with surprising accuracy. The thirst for news is insatiable and the newspapers are using every subterfuge that they can to gain an advantage over the censors.

WAR HAS SOME ADVANTAGES, for the surgeons of the old world are acquiring skill that could not have been gained otherwise without long years of service, if it ever could have been attained.

THE PATTERSON PEOPLE have given a very tangible expression to their interests in Billy Sunday. He has made several small fortunes during the winter.

THE ENTRANCE OF ITALY has been expected since September. Now it is the first of June. Austria and Germany accuse her of treachery and consider her activities a betrayal. Italy has been shrewd to wait until her forces were equipped for the field. The entire nation has been steadily preparing for the inevitable since last August and now the die is cast and the inevitable has come. Italy is now determined to wrest from the power of Austria the territorial additions that it has long wished. War has been declared by Italy on Austria. Italy has not declared war on Germany, but the alliance that now exists between Germany and Austria will bring forth before the week is out a declaration of war from Germany. Then Italy will declare war with Germany and the formalities will be over with. But the declaration against Austria is virtually a declaration of war against the German-Austrian alliance. The entrance of Italy into the fray on the side of the Allies adds another force that ought to mean an earlier peace. An earlier peace does not necessarily mean an early peace. How Germany can master the nations that answered her call to arms seems impossible and yet Germany has been able to hold for months the long battle-line through Belgium with its wedge thrust down into France. The Russians have not been able to accomplish all that was thought of them in the eastern campaign. There is a long war on and no one can see light.

POOR LITTLE SWITZERLAND is suffering beyond words because of the war, despite its neutrality. Surrounded on all sides by hostile forces and without a seaport of its own and raising but little, comparatively speaking, their plight is lamentable. Negotiations are being made whereby they can obtain supplies through Italy and its ports on condition that the goods so obtained are not re-exported. However Switzerland may succeed in these negotiations, its condition is pitiable. What if "military necessity" should demand a passage through their homeland, would anything defer the enemies? Will Switzerland's neutrality be of any more value than Belgium's?

IN THESE DAYS OF CONFLICT it is efficiency and not bravery that counts. Warfare is a highly specialized science nowadays and it requires discipline of mind and hand. Such discipline must go with bravery. It takes time for a nation to develop a class of trained men. The time has gone by when the preacher may leave his study, the clerk his desk, the journalist his inkpots and seize a musket and then return after driving back an invader.

STILL ANOTHER ACCIDENT in Beverly Cove at the crossing of East Lothrop and Corning streets. Automobilists and cyclists should beware. The corner is a treacherous one, but anyone using due care can easily avoid a collision.

THE CITY OF SALEM catastrophe has raised the fire loss in Massachusetts this year to an unusually high figure. That fire was a terrible lesson to the North Shore, but the lesson was well learned.

THE SUFFRAGISTS are busy answering the anti-suffragists and the antis are busy framing answers to them, —and the world rolls merrily on.

ITALY HAS OBTAINED without a shot millions of dollars worth of Austrian and German ships interned in Italy. What a strike!

GERMANY IS "WINNING" so fast it is finding it to be an advantage "to acknowledge" the extent of its losses.

CONGRESSMAN HOBSON dealt with two of the most vital questions before the American people today in his speeches on national prohibition and on national defence, made in the House of Representatives recently. In his national defense speech he says our naval policy should be based on a philosophy of our national life and our manifest destiny, a naval policy that would insure peace as long as honorable peace is possible and would insure victory if war must come, a policy that would insure the peaceful observance of the Monroe Doctrine in the Western Hemisphere, and the Open Door Policy in China and the Pacific, establishing over the earth respect for the rights of the weak and universal acceptance of the principle of equal opportunity and justice for all in the commercial rivalries of the world, a policy that would insure respect for our rights as a neutral and enable us to avoid the turmoils of belligerency between the nations, a policy that would insure our security at home and promote the general cause of peace in the world. In his temperance speech he urges federal Constitutional prohibition only against the "sales" for beverage purposes, and leave to the taxing power of Congress and to the reserved rights of the states the whole question of controlling personal use and the question of use for other than beverage purposes. This distribution of authority is in accord with the genius of our institutions. He does not underestimate the importance of other issues in saying that these two questions are the most vital questions before our nation today.

WAR MAY JUSTIFY all forms of conflict including the use of poisonous gases, but it is hard to make America believe that poisonous gases and submarine warfare are worthy weapons for nations supposed to be civilized.

CONSIDERING THE OFFICE of President from a personal side what a care that man in the White House has had to bear this year, considering his home life, his personal sorrow and the Mexican and European situations!

THE FOLLY AND BLINDNESS of war is realized when one thinks that there are thousands of innocent men and women fighting for they know not what.

Every kind word you say to a dumb animal or bird will make you happier.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Flowers sweet and fragrant we offer today
To the memory of men who nobly have bled,
To men who fell in the midst of the fray,
And men who have since joined the ranks of the dead.

From the last narrow trench near the City's bright gates,
They've charged o'er the ramparts to glory and peace,
While an unsevered union of prosperous States,
And millions of freed men rejoice at release.

The din of the battle gives place to a hush,
As the white wing of peace o'er-shadows our land,
And the men who with the sabres led cavalry's rush,
Now bear sweet garlands of flow'rs in their hand.

While the men who have heard the last tap of the drum,
Have enlisted again in the army above,
And they shout a glad welcome to the boys as they come,
To the army of God where the watchword is love.

—GEORGE E. WILLMONTON.

Manchester, May 20, 1915.

MANCHESTER SECTION

Friday, May 28, 1915.

Walter Howe has a position as cashier at the Manchester office of the American Express for the summer.

A dance is to be held in the Town hall next Friday evening, June 4, for the benefit of the Manchester Baseball association.

Mrs. Gilbert C. Lamb of Boston, is spending the week with her parents Mr. and Mrs. E. Elmer Allen, Summer st.

Mrs. L. W. Floyd returned yesterday from a visit to Cambridge, where her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Harry R. Floyd has been quite ill.

Albert Cunningham returned the latter part of last week from a month's trip across the continent to the Exposition at San Francisco.

The work of installing a metal ceiling in the Town hall, as the outcome of the upper hall being flooded the first of March, is completed and the hall will be ready for use on Memorial Day. It is to be painted white on the outside right away.

The Allen Relief Corps has cordially invited the members of the Arbella club to assist them in their exercises at the water, in memory of the unknown sailor dead, on Memorial Day. As many of the Arbella girls as possible will please form in line at the head of Chapel lane. Each girl is requested to bring flowers.

The High School team is to officially open the baseball season on the new diamond this afternoon, when it is planned to have Chairman Raymond C. Allen of the school committee throw out the ball for the opening of the game with the Burdett Business College nine of Lynn. The High School has one of the fastest school nines here about this year.

Frank P. Knight returned last week from a trip to his mine (Iron Cap Copper Co.) in Arizona, several weeks earlier than originally planned, owing to the great boom in copper and the consequent raise in market prices. Mrs. Knight remained with her two sons, Samuel and Frank, on their cattle ranch, and after a trip to the coast and the expositions in San Diego and San Francisco, will arrive home the middle of next week.

IDEAL Dandelion Killer

TO kill the dandelion or other weeds simply fill the tube with gasoline, place the plunger of the valve on the heart of the plant and push down on the tube a very little—just enough to open the valve. About one teaspoonful of gasoline will be dropped on the heart of the plant, which kills it roots and all. The leaves will begin to wither and the root turn dark in twenty-four hours and the entire plant will die and dry up in a few days. Grass will soon grow in the scar where the dandelion stood.

Very easy to operate and the price in only $1.00.

MANCHESTER BASEBALL

Manchester's baseball season will open next Monday forenoon—Memorial Day, with a game at the newly constructed diamond at the playgrounds with the Peabody A. A., at 10 o'clock sharp.

Grover will be in the box for Manchester and "Cy" Perkins of last year's Beverly Farms team will be behind the bat. There will be at least two new men besides Perkins in the line-up,—O'Connell of Lawrence on 2d base and McGlone, for three years captain of the Peabody High at short. O'Leary will be at his old position on third, and Bond, Gray and McCarthy, will cover the outfield. Collins is booked for first and Wale and Crafts will be on the bench.

Everybody should turn out and see this opening game of the year, filled with the same enthusiasm—only more of it—that sent last year's team to victory.

The Boy Scouts have received and have accepted an invitation from the G. A. R. to take part in the Memorial Day parade.

WHISPERINGS of THE BREEZES

The question of a public dump at Manchester seems to be the prevailing subject of discussion in the matter of town affairs at the present time. At a special town meeting to be called shortly a committee is to report as to a suitable location for a public dump and the town will be asked to appropriate a few hundred dollars for the maintenance and care of same after it is established. We understand a majority of the committee favors the flats and low land off Beach street in the rear of the B. & M. freight house as a most favorable place. People are objecting to this, saying it is too near the center of town, that it would be a nuisance, etc. Others ask, how it is possible for this place to be any more of a nuisance than it is today. Part of the place is used as a dump now and has been for two or three years, especially in the rear of some of the property along Beach st. Why not continue it as a dump, but have a man employed there and thus regulate it? The mud hole is certainly of no use now to anybody and is more or less of a nuisance on general principles as the water privileges are of no avail to anybody. The man who objects to this on the ground that the town doesn't own the land and the filling in of it makes land for somebody else, is of the type of narrow-minded citizen that always retards progress in any community. Isn't it just as practical to "make land" for a man on Beach st. where the property is of some use, as to find a hole off in the woods where it is of no use to anybody? We believe it is a pretty good scheme to regulate this particular dump—already in use—and accomplish some good at the same time. The property owners on the other side of Tappan st. and residents on Smith's Point have said they would welcome any such proposition, for then the place would be taken care of.

It is a contemptible trick that somebody is pulling off at the Tuck's Point picnic grounds every now and then—cutting the halyards from the flag-pole. They did it last year, and again this week. The flag-pole was painted and the top-mast was raised into position, with a new rope for the flag. Tuesday morning when caretaker Crombie arrived at the Point he noticed the rope was gone. To the Town it means a loss of five or six dollars for lowering the top-mast and putting it in position again, besides the price of new halyards. Whoever steals the rope must be small of mind and principle—as the 125 feet of rope isn't worth more than two or three dollars. The selectmen would gladly present them with the rope, rather than be forced to the great inconvenience of lowering the pole for the purpose of putting in new halyards.

LETHBRIDGE-KELLIGREW

Edmund Lethbridge and Miss Sarah Kelligrew were united in marriage Wednesday evening, May 26, at 7:30 o'clock, by Rev. A. G. Warner of the Baptist church, at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ezekiel Lethbridge, 53 Summer st. Miss Mary L. Lethbridge, a cousin of the groom was bridesmaid and Harry Mercer was best man. The bride wore a gown of white embroidered voile and a long veil, and she carried a bouquet of white flowers. The young couple left on the 9.06 train for New York. Mr. Lethbridge is one of the popular clerks at Bullock's grocery.

MANCHESTER BROTHERHOOD

The annual entertainment of the Manchester Brotherhood on Wednesday evening, at the Baptist church was a decided success. "The Eastern Girls" of Boston were the entertainers of the evening. The program opened with a duet, "Whispering Hope," by the Misses King and Brown. They also sang, "The Rosarie," and "Mother Macree," which was the closing number, in a way that charmed the audience. Miss Brown made a decided hit when she gave a reading, "Cuban Tea," written by herself. She gave as an encore a stuttering poem by a bashful country lad which brought down the house. She also sang, with banjo accompaniment, a repertoire of southern songs. Much praise must be given Miss Barry in governing her voice in her imitation of children talking when she read, "The Pettiston Twins at Miss Millie's Kindergarten," and "Her First Appearance."

LA TENA'S CIRCUS OF MUCH INTEREST

La Tena's Circus will come to Gloucester next Friday, June 4, and will give a performance in the afternoon and evening. The circus consists of three rings and several side-shows. The exhibition of wild animals is of special merit. In fact, the circus features its wild animals. The performance of these animals is inside of large steel cage. Another feature of great interest is Captain Wesley's troupe of trained seals, which appeared for a year at the London Hippodrome. The most exciting act is that of Mlle. Eugenie's troupe of seven performing lions.

Other features are Walter Allen and the famous herd of Downie elephants. Herman Griggs and Olga Reid, equestrians; the Powel family of five wire artists, Captain Wilson and his riding tiger, Nemo. There are 28 acts in all. The circus has three bands and a calliope and eight tents. For a circus of its size it is of high quality and thoroughly enjoyable for old and young.

THE COWARD

"Has that young man given you any encouragement, daughter?"

"Oh, yes, mother."

"What did he say?"

"He asked be to tell him what sort of a disposition father had."—Yonkers Statesman.

THE BEADY VINE

Singing was just over in the kindergarten, and immediately a small hand flew up.

"What is it Alice?" asked the teacher.

"I want to know what is a beady vine," asked the little girl timidly. "I always wonder what kind of a vine it is when we sing that song, 'Little lives may beady vine' (be divine).

MANCHESTER

Mr. and Mrs. George Blanchard Northrup, Bridge st., announce the engagement of their daughter Elsie Elizabeth, to Mr. Otis A. Ward of Worcester.

Friends of Robert Gordon, a young man employed by John F. Scott, the plumber, sympathize with him in the misfortune of his brother in the British army. The young man was paralyzed in the trenches at Ypres by the deadly gas bombs from the German guns.

Congratulations are being extended to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Martin Hamrick (Florence Mylin) on the birth of a 9 lb. son, Andrew Martin Hamrick, 2d, Sunday, May 23. Mrs. Hamrick will be with her mother, Mrs. Emma S. Mylin, at 1410 M st. N. W., Washington, until July 1st, when she and her son will go to Portland, Oregon, where Mr. Hamrick has a position with the U. S. Weather Bureau. Mrs. Mylin expects to spend the summer at Manchester, and hopes to meet her friends and patients. She will live with Mrs. Campbell, School st.

Manchester High school will meet the Burdett College nine on the Brook street playgrounds this afternoon, at baseball. In the game at Swampscott last Saturday, with the score 4 to 4 in the 9th inning, Manchester forfeited the game, because of a rank decision. The Globe said Sunday: "A dispute over the interpretation of a ground rule caused Manchester High to leave the field in the ninth inning of today's game with Swampscott High. Each team had scored four runs. With one down, W. Walsh hit to rightfield and the ball rolled to the street. He tried to make two bases, but was retired at second on a fine throw by Mulligan to Morrill. The Manchester team claimed that under the ground rules Walsh was entitled to two bases, but when the umpire disagreed the visiting players left the field." Manchester's side of the dispute is that the ground rules called for two bases when the ball went into the road among the spectators. In this case Walsh's ball hit an automobile in the road and bounded back, but the umpire refused to allow it. Coach McCarthy of Manchester and Supt. Mackin and other Manchester spectators agree that Manchester was right in leaving the field under the circumstances.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rabardy Floyd have taken a cottage at Annisquam for the summer and will move there from Cambridge early in June, as soon as Mrs. Floyd recovers sufficiently from a recent operation.

Allen Post 67, G. A. R., will be very grateful for contributions of flowers for the decoration of soldiers' graves on Memorial Day, May 31. Kindly have them left at the Post headquarters on the morning of that day as early as convenient.

Word was received Saturday, May 22, from Pagosa Springs, Colo., of the birth on that day of an 8½ lb. son, Rabardy Floyd, to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Floyd, next to the youngest of the four sons of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Floyd. By singular co-incidence the great-grandfather of the new-born babe—Mr. Julius F. Rabardy—was quietly and informally celebrating his 82d birthday at his home on Central street on that same day.

NEW COMMERCIAL LINK

That the present situation promises well for a closer relation between manufacturers in the United States and the Russian Empire, is indicated today by George C. Taylor, President of the American Express Co. in announcing the extension of the company's activities to that country by the appointment of Edward F. Wales-Smith, for many years traffic agent for the express company at Paris, France, as Commercial Agent at Petrograd.

"Our present step in this important field," said Mr. Taylor, "is taken after full conference with the Honorable C. J. Medzikhovsky, Commercial Attaché of the Imperial Russian Embassy in the United States. Our plans not only have his cordial approval, but are distinctly in harmony with his earnest desire to stimulate the interchange of traffic between the United States and Russia by improving the conditions under which such transactions are handled.

"Already the undercurrents of trade point to new and well defined connections between the commercial interests of Russia and our own country and in view of the cordial feelings which have always existed between the two governments, the time seems expedient for progressive action on our part.

"To further the mutual enterprises already existing and to reinforce the activities of our representatives at Petrograd we sent A. C. Spencer of our Export Freight Department, New York City, to Russia on May 22nd with instructions to visit Petrograd, Libau, Riga, Moscow, Archangel, and other Russian cities for the purposes of placing Russian importers in touch with American suppliers and to put in operation arrangements that will simplify the methods now employed in shipping between the respective countries."

Cross Country By Telephone

This company can connect with over 700 central offices in Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Vermont.

Over 3,100 named localities connected with those central offices can be reached by a toll call.

There are 189,000 telephones in Boston and its vicinity; there are 193,500 stations in the remainder of Massachusetts; Vermont has 35,000 stations; New Hampshire has 50,000 stations; and there are 78,000 stations in Maine.

From any one of those nearly 550,000 telephones you can talk to any other telephone in New England.

New England is not the limit of your communication, however; just tell the toll operator where you want to send your voice.

There will be no charge on a particular party toll call if you are not connected with the person whose name you have given to the toll operator.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE NOTES.

In the first place, may I explain what we mean by "representative" men and women, for the benefit of the Anti-Suffrage readers who have asked about it?

Rev. Anna Howard Shaw, Pres. of the National American Woman Suffrage Ass'n, an M. D. a D. D. and a great orator; Miss Jane Addams, of Hull House, Pres. of the Women's Peace Party, who has been called "the first citizen of America"; Miss Julia Lathrop, head of the National Children's Welfare Bureau; Mr. Owen Lovejoy, Secretary of the Child Labor Commission; Bishop Sumner of Oregon, formerly famous as Dean Sumner of Chicago; Prof.

Albert Bushnell Hart of Harvard, leading authority on constitutional history; Mr. Robert A. Woods of South End House, Boston, beloved social worker; Dr. Katherine B. Davis, Commissioner of Corrections in New York; Mrs. Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale, actress, writer, lecturer, wife and mother; Miss Helen Todd, formerly a factory inspector in Illinois, now representing the women voters of California; Mrs. William Codman Sturgis, representing at once a fine old family and the women voters of Colorado; Mrs. Josephine Peabody Marks, poet and mother; Rev. Samuel McComb, scholar, writer and preacher; Dr. Samuel Crothers, first essayist of the day; Dr. Hugh Cabot, distinguished specialist; Hon. Samuel McCall, Republican leader in this state; ex-Gov. Bass of New Hampshire; the Mayor of Boston; Mr. Ignatius McNulty, representing Labor; Senator Helen Ring Robinson of Colorado; Margaret Foley, Children's Bureau Dept., City of Boston; Mrs. Lister Watson, representing the women voters of Australia; Mrs. Pethick Lawrence, representing the Women's Emergency Corps of England and the Peace Movement,—this we call a list of representative people, and every one of these has recently spoken in Boston for Equal Suffrage.

At the luncheon in Boston last Saturday in honor of Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, Miss Shaw made a brilliant speech amid great enthusiasm, and she took this occasion to answer the statement recently seen in a Boston paper, (quoted from the New York Times) supposed to come from Mrs. Cranmer of Colorado, to the effect that Woman Suffrage is a failure there, as shown in the latest election. In reply to a telegram from Dr. Shaw, Mrs. Cranmer telegraphed back that the pretended "interview" with her was "an absolute falsehood," she never said anything of the sort, and that at the election referred to a record-breaking storm kept many voters, men and women, away from the polls, but the women did better than the men! This illustrates the kind of thing we are up against all the time, and even our local league cannot hope to escape from such misrepresentation and such wild tales. But again I would ask my friends and readers to be patient, though prepared for slanders and false alarms.

There will be no political activity on the part of Mass. Suffragists on Memorial Day. Mrs. Leonard, of the Mass. Board, has sent a letter to that effect to Commander Knowles, Mass. Department G. A. R. and she has so instructed all local leagues. Memorial Day means very much to Suffragists, when they remember the men who died that "Government by the People and for the People might not perish."

The next important date for Mass. Suffragists will be June 7, which will be called "Sacrifice Day." On that day every Suffragist is asked to send to Headquarters some article which she values, to add to the collection which will be sold at auction on June 8th, 9th and 10th.

(Somebody asks "who is L. R.S.?" so I sign my name in full.)

Mrs. Theresa Knowles spent Wednesday at Lynn with Mrs. C. Emery.

Mrs. John V. Carr is spending the week-end at Newburyport with Mr. and Mrs. George Dean.

Sunday will be observed at the Magnolia church as Memorial Sunday and the pastor, Rev. Dr. Walter S. Eaton, will preach at the morning service to the veterans, who will attend in a body. In the evening Rev. Dr. Eaton's subject will be "General Grant." Special attention is called to the fact that owing to the repairing and cleaning, which is not yet completed at the Village church, both the morning and the evening services will be held at the little chapel on Magnolia avenue. Everyone is cordially invited to be present.

Clifford J. Wolfe has a position as chauffeur on the Greenwood & Story bus line.

Miss Susan Symonds has returned from the Cobb Hospital at Cambridge, where she recently underwent an operation.

The Women's club will be opened for the season Tuesday, June 1, under the direction of Miss Helene Sherman. The clubhouse will be open to members from that date until the 30th of September. The membership fee is 75 cents for the season, and includes the use of the large assembly room with its hospitable fireplace and its piano, the roomy porch overlooking the beach, and the sewing-room and library. There will be the usual whist and dancing parties during the season and, it is hoped, some other forms of amusement. Classes in embroidery, dressmaking, etc., will be held. All the women who are interested are cordially invited to join the club. There will probably be the usual number of resident members, and the pleasant, little rooms will be rented for $5.00 for the week, or $50.00 for the season.

Miss Ruth Scott has been obliged to give up her college studies in Ohio for a time because of her health, and is at present with Mr. and Mrs. Willard Boyd, Summer st.

The Men's club will be opened Memorial Day for the first time, and the first dance of the season will be held there the same evening; dancing from 8.30 until eleven o'clock with music by Carey's orchestra. Admission is 25c. for gentlemen and 15c. for ladies, and ice-cream will be on sale. Frederick Dunbar is in charge, and Mr. Libby will come on for his second season about July 5, but will come down from Exeter, N. H., for a day or two about the 18th of this month. The restaurant will be opened June 17, and board will be $10.00 a week; rooms will be $7.00 a week, or $60.00 for the season. Membership fee will be $1.00 for the season, which includes the use of the clubhouse, the reading room and writing materials, etc. A new plan will be tried out this year. Upon payment of $5.00, members will be entitled to free use of the pool room and bowling alleys for the season, or as soon as $5.00 has been paid into the club for the use of these privileges, they will be free for the remainder of the season. The club is planning for a busy season, and there are several new schemes afoot for the pleasure of the members. Moving pictures will also be shown here during the summer, upon stated evenings to be announced later.

BEVERLY FARMS

Plans have been made for starting at once the improvement of Central square. The removal of the flag-pole last week was the first move in this direction. At the present time the road surface is about one-half Bermudoz mixture construction. This will be extended so that the whole area in the square will be the same, giving a neat appearance and easy to keep clean. In about the space where the flag-pole stood will be built an oval island of white concrete about three to four feet, in the center of which will be placed a "white way" light. Other minor improvements are to be made in connection with carrying out the plans to make an attractive Central square in Beverly Farms business center. Much credit is due to Mayor MacDonald and Alderman Loring, who have done very much indeed to give this as well as other important improvements to Beverly Farms.

The wedding of Miss Ruth Hardy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hardy, and August Heffeneffer of Jamaica Plain will take place at the home of the bride's parents on June 23. The invitations will be extended only to relatives and close friends.

The North Shore club, composed of a party of Beverly Farms young men, will give a public dance in Neighbor's hall next Thursday evening, June 3. Long's orchestra will furnish the music.

The St. Mary's Dramatic club of Beverly has been invited to repeat in Neighbor's hall the two plays,—"The Cafe Chantant" and "A Little Touch of Spring," which they recently presented at the Beverly City hall before a crowded house. It is very likely that the invitation will be accepted and the plays given here next month.

The committee on Public Service has recommended the adoption of an order providing for the laying of 2085 feet of curbing at Beverly Farms at an estimated cost of $1709.70. The order was passed to a second reading by the aldermen at last Monday's meeting.

Miss Anna Connolly, who has been in Boston since last fall, is now at Beverly Farms for the summer.

John A. Morrison will open his summer hotel, "The Colonial Inn," at Kennebunkport, Me., June 3.

Augustine Callahan has entered into the plumbing business with a young man from Hamilton. Mr. Callahan has been employed by local master plumbers in this vicinity and is the president of the local plumber's union.

BEVERLY TRUST COMPANY

John Toomey has been unanimously elected captain of this year's Beverly High school football team. Last year he played a good game at left tackle and the fact that he is now selected as captain, unopposed, is evidence of his popularity and his ability for the position. He is also a baseball player and is doing most of the catching for this year's Beverly High baseball team. He graduates next year.

Beverly Farms' new jitney service is proving to be very popular. A latest model Ford touring car, John J. Bresnahan, chauffeur, is now filling a long felt want.

Mrs. Joseph B. Harlow of Hart st., who has been ill at the Beverly hospital, is reported to be getting along very nicely.

Tunipoo Inn entertained a number of guest during the past week. Parties from Philadelphia and Chicago have in departing engaged rooms for later in the summer. The Inn has a party of eight young ladies and a number of other guests for this week-end and over the holiday.

Letters remaining unclaimed at Pride's Crossing postoffice May 26, 1915:—Mr. Harold Beardmore, Miss Edith McEwen, Mrs. Wm. A. Russell (2).—Elisha S. Pride, Postmaster.

PROGRAM FOR MEMORIAL DAY.

Preston Post, 188, G. A. R., Andrew Standley Camp, S. of V., and the Spanish War Veterans will meet in G. A. R. hall at 1 o'clock. At 1.30 the line will be formed, and headed by Chief Marshall George S. Williams, the police, Beverly Farms Band and the members of the Beverly Farms fire dept. as escorts, will march to the square opposite St. Margaret's church; then counter-march to Central square where members of the City Govt. and invited guests will be received. Line of march then will be through Hale and High sts. to the cemetery, where members of Preston W. R. Corps and the school children will join the procession. At the cemetery the regular memorial services will be held and the graves of 26 soldiers will be decorated with flowers. The line will then proceed through Hart, Hale and West sts. to West Beach where Preston W. R. Corps will conduct the services of those "buried beneath the deep," and flowers will be strewn upon the waters. Thence the line will proceed through West st. to Central square and be dismissed.

In the evening Preston Post, 188, cordially invites all to attend the memorial services at the Beverly Farms Baptist church and listen to the address of Rev. Frank P. Cressy of Cambridge. All Veterans of the Civil War, Sons of Veterans and Spanish War veterans are invited to join in the ranks with the organizations in the march.

BEVERLY FARMS

John M. Publicover was reminded of its being the turning point of the half century mile stone in life's journey Wednesday evening when in answer to the door bell he was astonished to see what appeared to be about half the population of Beverly Farms. Friends from Beverly and Gloucester marched into his home shaking hands with him and offering their congratulations and best wishes. Mr. Publicover's surprise was complete when later in the evening his friends gathered around him and Rev. Neilson P. Carey, in behalf of the gathering, gave a humorous speech and presented him with a handsome gold watch chain and a gold pen-knife for a charm. Upon the latter was inscribed,—“Presented to John M. Publicover by his friends, May 26th, 1915.” Mr. Publicover expressed his sincere thanks and deep appreciation for the token which would be a reminder of a happy occasion. Music and speeches with refreshments closed the evening.

The Girls' club of the Baptist church held its annual “at home” in the chapel and club rooms last Tuesday evening. They also entertained many friends from out of town. An informal reception was held, followed by an excellent entertainment. During the evening refreshments were served.

The widening of Hart st., commencing near the residence of Dr. Tyler and continuing on the north side to the estate of Henry Nolan, is an improvement soon to be made. The street at this particular section is much too narrow for the travel of today and has a rather sharp turn which makes it more or less dangerous to travel. This is another improvement which Mayor MacDonald has been much interested in and has finally brought about.

The annual Memorial day for the Beverly Firemen will be on Sunday, June 6. On that day the members of the Beverly Farms fire dept. will join with the firemen from other sections of the city, attend divine services at a Beverly church and then visit the different cemeteries where the graves of departed firemen will be decorated with flowers.

It is understood that “Hop” McNair and “Cy” Perkins, Beverly Farms' crack battery of last year's baseball team, has been signed up to play this year with the new Beverly ball team. McNair is booked to pitch on Memorial Day morning at the High school athletic field when Beverly plays Newburyport.

THE PASSING OF THE FLAG-STAFF Beverly Farms, May 27, 1915.

The passing of the flag-staff from Central square has caused regret and sadness in many hearts. There was great rejoicing when the citizens of Ward six raised money enough to purchase and erect the pole. The dedication exercises were to have taken place out of doors, but rain caused an adjournment to Neighbors Hall, when great enthusiasm was shown by all present. Since then Old Glory has been flung to the breeze on all holidays; it has hung at half mast to honor the public men who have passed from this life. It hung in sorrowful recognition of the destruction of the battleship, Maine, and it waved in the breeze all through the Spanish war. Those of us who lived under its shadow, felt an affection for the old pole. We saw it placed,—we have seen it taken down.

Thus—“The old order changeth, yielding place to new.”

The flag-pole has been removed from Central square and has been put in storage for the present on the Crusher lot. It is now understood that the Library commissioners are not yet decided that they want it. About fifteen years ago the flag pole was erected with proper ceremonies. It was a gift by popular subscription of citizens of Beverly Farms.

The gift of flowers to the soldiers to decorate the graves of their comrades will be appreciated. Flowers should be sent to Preston post, 188, at the G. A. R. hall next Monday morning.

The street dept. has commenced to oil the streets at Beverly Farms this week. Hart, Haskell, Hale and Everett sts. have received an application.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester S. Bartlett of Newington, Conn., have spent the past week at Beverly Farms visiting friends.

WENHAM

Wenham scouts are looking forward to the joint meet which they are to hold with Beverly and Topsfield on Saturday, May 29, at 2 p. m. The races will be of novel and interesting character, intended to show the competitive possibilities of scoutcraft. The place is the Wenham school grounds. Walter Knowlton was admitted as a tenderfoot scout last week.

The teachers of the junior department in the Congregational Sunday School rewarded their pupils with a social last Friday evening. The boys and girls who had done good work spent two hours in games, ice-cream-eating, and other things dear to the heart and stomach. Mrs. Amos Gould, Miss Louise Patch and Miss Dorothy Libby were the hostess.

A new bulb house is rapidly replacing the one burned last fall at cedar Acres, the unique estate where B. H. Tracy produces gladioli. This edifice, of solid concrete and thoroughly fire proof, is the largest of its kind in the United States, if not in the world. It is not only commodious, but also sightly and attractive.

Trinity Sunday will be observed at the Congregational church Sunday with an appropriate sermon by the minister, Rev. F. M. Cutler at 10.30 a. m. Sunday School at noon. Junior C. E. at 5. There will be a combination service of the church and Christian Endeavor society at 7. Following the C. E. portion of the service, Mr. Cutler will speak briefly upon "Exploring the Bible—Jonah."

BIG CIRCUS BOUND THIS WAY ON FIVE GREAT TRAINS LOADED WITH WONDERS.

Children are now on their best behavior in anticipation of a real holiday treat on Tuesday, June 8, when Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Shows will exhibit in Salem. It is expected that the North Shore towns will send more than its usual number of "sawdust fans" to welcome this popular circus.

Ringling Brothers promise many novelties and innovations and a "bigger and better everything" is the slogan. Preceding the regular circus performance the new spectacle of "Solomon and the Queen of Sheba" will be enacted on the largest stage in the world. This mammoth 1,250-character pageant cost $1,000,000 and the costumes, scenery and stage properties are said to be a revelation in gorgeousness. Among the 385 arenic acts, are scores of equestrians including the Lloyds, famous English rid-

OLD-TIME COLD CURE— DRINK HOT TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking up a cold.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

Stop "dosing" Rheumatism.

It's pain only; not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" right on the "tender spot," and by the time you say Jack Robinson—out comes the rheumatic pain. "St. Jacob's Oil" is a harmless rheumatism cure which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache, neuralgia.

Limber up! Get a 25 cent bottle of old-time, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store, and in a moment you'll be free from pains, aches and stiffness. Don't suffer! Rub rheumatism away.

WILL promptly gratify all musical impulses, vocal or instrumental, and ranging from the Cherished Old Grand Operas, down to Modern Ethiopian Syncopation. The Cabinets are plain, or ornate, but—all are made of resonant materials, arranged to reproduce the acme of harmony, varying in volume from pianissimo for private music rooms, to forte for public halls. The temperamental devices are simple and may be adjusted instantly. There are no ludicrous hesitations or tedious delays in renewing the needles. With consistent care one needle will last for two or more generations. Our records are classified by experts, minimizing the possibility of delay in getting perfect satisfaction in every respect.

The Essex County Club's New House

(Article and Illustration, Reprinted from Boston Evening Transcript)

By CHARLES E. ALEXANDER

COMPLETION of the new Essex County Club House at Manchester is expected to give considerable impetus to events at that place the coming season with far more adequate facilities and accommodations than were provided in the former clubhouse, which was burned. The new building to replace it is a fine example of a country clubhouse which will fully meet the requirements of the members. It is practically ready to be turned over to the club by the building committee, George E. Warren and Wallace Goodrich, with whom the late Arthur Lithgow Devens also was appointed, and he served as chairman of the committee. Since his death last year Mr. Warren and Mr. Goodrich have undertaken the responsibilities of supervision and have kept closely in touch with the architects, Parker, Thomas & Rice of Boston, and the contractors who have erected the clubhouse, J. T. Wilson & Son, Inc., of Nahant.

The building committee is prepared to formally turn the building over to the club at the annual meeting of the members, which takes place on Saturday, June 12, and which will be followed by a dinner. The annual election of officers will be held and the nominating committee has fixed upon the following ballot: For president, William Hooper; secretary, Dudley L. Pickman, Jr.; treasurer, Henry S. Grew, all of whom are named also as members of the board of governors, together with Colonel Henry E. Russell, Walter D. Denégre, George E. Warren, Wallace Goodrich, Amory Eliot, George R. White, George F. Willett and Edward C. Fitz.

Although plans as yet are not in definite shape, there will be tennis and golf tournaments this season, also band concerts as in past years, with dinners, dances and other entertainments. Dudley Pickman, Jr., is expected to take an active part in planning some of the entertainments. It is possible that the first dinner dance will be on Friday, July 2, although this has not been definitely determined. There probably will be four dinner-dances this season. It has been suggested that the band concerts on the lawn be given on Thursday afternoons in the future, as the mixed foursomes are planned for that day and there will be double interest in visiting the club at that time. In past years Wednesday has been concert day. The change to Thursday is to be fully considered, with announcement later as to the decision.

Charles M. Amory is planning the golf events and Philip Stockton the tennis tournaments, as chairmen respectively of the golf and the tennis committees. The golf course has been greatly improved since last season and new holes have been opened. Two of the four dirt tennis courts had to be sacrificed for the site of the building, but this has left two similar courts and there are eight grass courts. Eventually, additional dirt courts will be made. George F. Willett is chairman of the committee on the grounds, which have been under improvement and development from plans by Arthur A. Shurtleff, the Boston landscape architect.

The house committee, Wallace Goodrich, George E. Warren and Frank B. Bemis, has worked to good purpose in the matter of interior furnishings and while these are not now complete, the clubhouse is practically ready and is likely to be fully so by the time the season has really begun to show activity. The committee has been handicapped in its work because of the failure of some materials, intended for hangings and the like, coming from the other side and delayed because of the war in Europe. All furniture throughout the house was especially designed for the club.

When the contract for building was awarded, a fairly good impression of the clubhouse and its plan was given in these columns. The building, constructed of Harvard brick, is English in type, of three stories with slated pitched roof and it is as nearly fireproof in construction as it could be made. The main entrance is marked by a series of columns supporting an ornamental pediment and balcony. This is on the west side. On the east frontage an octagonal clock tower is placed at the intersection of the main house with a projecting wing. The house is amply provided with spacious piazzas, so planned as to afford comfortable, well-shaded lounging places. The piazzas of the old clubhouse were at times uncomfortably warm, on fine summer days, and this condition was remembered and avoided by the architects and house committee, in planning the new building.

The first floor contains the entrance hall and stairway, from which the office and men's rooms are at the left, and those intended for ladies' use have been placed at the right end of the house. From the hall is the big living-room, 43 by 24 feet in dimensions, and directly behind this, in a wing, is the dining-room, about the same dimensions as those of the living-room. The tower-room, which forms a means of connection between these two big rooms, probably will be used, in part, by musicians, as music could then easily be heard in the living and dining-rooms. The walls of the living-room have been decorated by George P. Fernald, of Boston, and show classic scenes introducing temples amid surroundings which are Italian in character. These wall decorations are not unlike those found in some of the stately old-time mansions in Salem and elsewhere in Essex County. The second and third floors of the clubhouse have been well planned to insure the entire comfort of the members and those privileged to be guests there at any time. The service department is thoroughly modern in its plan and equipment.

The North Shore in Colonial Days

How Nahant, Swampscott, Beverly, Etc., Obtained Their Names

By HELENE SHERMAN

THE North Shore of Massachusetts Bay may be said to begin at the two high rock-engirdled elevations called Great Nahant and Little Nahant, a highly picturesque spot and one which has aroused the admiration and the desire of the white man from times immemorial. Truly, that inveterate explorer, Captain John Smith may well have called the impressive cliffs of Nahant, "The Pieramides of Egypt," away back in 1614 during his visit to "North Virginia" as the colonists of those days had named New England. They may well have seemed a piece from another land, more verdant, more luxurious than our stern coast with their wooded hills, majestic rocks and sandy beaches. That John Smith was not the only man of that remote period, who appreciated the possibilities of Nahant, as well as its beauties, seems to be proved by the far-famed purchase of one Thomas Dexter, who bought the place from Manatahqua, better known as Black William, for a suit of clothes, costing Lynn an expensive lawsuit later in the city's history. Captain Smith in his records mentions the place as Mattahunt Isles, but in the other Colonial records of about the time of Governor Winthrop, it is called by its present name, Nahant. Authorities differ as to the derivation of the word, some declaring that it is taken from an Indian chief, Nahanton, and others holding it to be the original Indian word signifying island.

However that may be, there is a pretty legend of a much earlier period which many writers think settles about Nahant. The story has it that in the year, 1004, an intrepid Norseman, Thorwald, son of Eric the Red, landed upon the North Shore near the bit of land which we know as Nahant. He, too, was enchanted with the picturesque cliffs and he said to his followers, "Here it is beautiful! And here I should like to fix my dwelling." The impetuous wish was fulfilled in a manner little dreamed of by the Norseman, for a few hours after he had chosen the wonderful spot for his home, he was wounded by a hostile arrow in an encounter with a band of Indians. When Thorwald realized that his wound was fatal, he called his men about him and breathed his last command, "I now advise you to prepare for your departure as soon as possible; but me ye shall bring to the promontory where I thought it good to dwell. It may be that it was a prophetic word which fell from my mouth about my abiding there a season. There ye shall bury me, and plant a cross at my head and call the place Krossanes (the Cape of the Cross) in all time coming." In obedience to his wish his followers buried the fearless old Norseman in the most beautiful spot his eyes had rested on this side of Paradise. We may imagine that the sadness of their home-sailing was lightened somewhat by the thought that their chief had indeed "made his dwelling" in the place he loved so well.

The Scandinavian records of that early period are vague and, at best, unsatisfactory, to the practical researcher, but the lover of romances likes to believe that beautiful Nahant was, indeed, Thorwald's Krossanes. Historians such as Lewis of Lynn support this theory, too, giving some authority for the belief.

Swampscott, the name, has changed from the original Indian only in the addition of a final t, but Swampscott, the town, has undergone a complete metamorphosis since its primitive days as a humble fishing village. It was then part of Saugus, now called Lynn, a thriving fishing community, but otherwise unimportant in the annals of the old colony days. The beautiful harbor of Swampscott, which has been compared to the Bay of Naples in point of beauty and general outline, did not long allow the little town to remain undiscovered as a spot ideal for summer homes. There are still a few old fisherman, who go down to the sea in—dories, but for the most part the blue waters of Swampscott Bay are dotted with the triggest and the newest of pleasure craft.

Swampscott's neighbor, Marblehead, has been the darling of the Gods in the matter of beauty and tradition. Nowhere is the indefinable charm of the North Shore to be felt more strongly than at quaint, little, crooked old Marblehead. It, too, was originally a fishing village of no mean repute for actual records show its fishing industry to have been considerable and poetry and history have made it immortal. Poetry has also made the old dialect of Marblehead immortal, but that is a fact much less pleasing to the inhabitants of the dear old place, who still resent any implication that the women of Marblehead gave Skipper Ireson the well-deserved, if somewhat unwelcome, ride "for his horrd hearrrt." The village is a place of delightful surprises in unexpectedly crooked streets and funny, little "doughtnut" houses. From earliest colonial times this old town has figured in the history of the white settlers. Under the jurisdiction of the Squaw Sachem of Saugus, widow of Nanepashemet, the place was called, with the rest of the district, Naumkeag, but as early as 1629, it bore in the records of Rev. Francis Higginson a name quite similar to the one it has today. The Rev. Mr. Higginson speaks of the variegated porphyry-colored stones as "marble stone, that we have great rocks of it, and a harbor hard by. Our plantation is from thence called Marble Harbor." At about the same time it was referred to by Wood and Josselyn as Marvil Head.

Mr. Lewis, in his "The History of Lynn" is the only authority as far as we know to give to this particular section of Naumkeag, the Indian name, Massabequash, which means Forest River. The anglicized version of the name has come down to us, however, in the stream which flows near the Salem boundary and which is still called Forest River.

The name, Marblehead, is first mentioned in the colonial records under most unflattering circumstances in 1633 on the second of July when, they say, "James White is fined for drunkenness by him comitted att Marblehead on the Sabbath Day." While the names of better men have been lost in the shuffle of the years, this one of James White comes down to us in black and white, but it is only fair to give the sturdy old village the benefit of the doubt and to hope that he was, perhaps, one of the roving fishermen, who "blew in" to Marblehead, being in no sense identified with the life of the village.

Beverly is another of the representative old New England towns and has played besides an important part in the history of the North Shore. Its unsurpassed beauty has won for it fame from the great sea at its doors to the other sea across the continent, and the title of The Garden City. Conjectures about the origin of the name, Beverly, are made the more interesting because of the doubt that hangs about it. This we know, that on May 26, 1668, a petition was received at the session of the General Court at Salem from "the inhabitants of ye part of Salem, commonly called Bass River," praying for certain privileges belonging to town government. At the General court session of the seventh of November in that same year, the vote of the town of Salem consenting to the separation was presented and the Court grant that "Bass River be henceforth a township of themselves.... and that it be called Beverly."

Leaving the realm of prosaic court records for the more interesting fields of tradition and history, we must go back a little in the history of Bass River to the building of the old meeting house, which was also used for school and church purposes, before the taking of Port Royal. The building was in sad need of a bell and Major-General Robert Sedgwick came to the rescue with one which he had captured at St. John that same year, 1654. Sometime between Major-General Sedgwick's taking of Port Royal on the sixteenth of August and his departure from Boston for England in November, he and his lieutenant, John Leverett, stopped at William Dixey's tavern (the supposed location of which is the high ground at the junction of what are now Cabot and Davis streets) in Beverly and sat long refreshing themselves. The following excerpts from the documents used in the trial for the possession of the meeting-house bell in 1679 seem to throw some light on the naming of the town. They are taken from the testimony of William Dixey.

"Among other things, Major Leverett asked mee what our town's name was: I answered him that wee wear no town as yet; then sayd hee you may doe well to let Major Sedgwick have the honor of nameing the town when it is made a town, for hee hath given Captain Lawthrop a bell for your place."

In those old days when soldiery counted for everything in our rough, new country, and of all the brave men of the time, none was more worthy to have the honor of naming one of the most promising settlements in Massachusetts than was Governor Sedgwick, who attained the highest possible military honor in New England, Johnson said of him that he was "nursed up in London's Artillery Garden" and that he was "stout and active in all feats of war," and Carlyle called him "a very brave zealous and pious man."

Granting, then, that Sedgwick was a man dear to the hearts of the colonists and generally respected, what more natural than that Bass River would be proud to have such a man bestow a name upon the newly independent community? His suggestion would carry great weight with both Lothrop and Dixey, both of them soldiers of the highest order, and Leverett was his son-in-law and a man of some importance, having been deputy for many years, Speaker of the House of Deputies, Assistant to Governor Bellingham, Deputy Governor under that magistrate, and his successor as Governor.

If, indeed, Major-General Sedgwick was singled out for this honor there appear many reasons why he should have chosen the name of Beverly. He was of fine old Yorkshire stock, and his family once intermarried with the Percys of that neighborhood, among whose family titles was that of Earl of Beverly; Barbara, daughter of Robert Percy of Scotton, married "Robert Sedgwick, gentleman," who may have been the grandfather of our Sedgwick, his namesake. The Borough of Beverly has ever been conspicuous in the history of Yorkshire, particularly as a refuge to Charles I in his waning fortunes, and at Patery Bridge, near Ripley in the West Riding of Yorkshire, where there are numerous Percy and Sedgwick families, there was a fine old place, Beverly or Baverly Manor. The name may well have become further endeared to Sedgwick through association with a certain beautiful Beverly Park under the shadow of the Cathedral at Canterbury, where he once lived, and with Beverly Bridge near Cambridge, to which the University crews take their evening pulls in boating. The name is one of old-time dignity and in history and in beauty, Beverly has ever borne it well.

Thus it is the length of the Shore; each town and beach and island has its legend or its history more or less authentic, more or less interesting. Some of them are fast passing into that oblivion from which no man may rescue them and it has been my task and my pleasure to almost literally "dig them up." In a later issue we shall continue up the coast to the Tip of Cape Ann, finding many a half-forgotten story in the names of the old places.

Beverly Magic

Amethyst gleams in a mist of gray
On Beverly shore,
While April breezes murmur at play
Their deep sea-lore,
And ships that go sailing over the sea,
Keep beckoning white wings to the soul of me,—
Still chanting their foam-tossed melody
To Beverly shore!

The evening shadows gather fast
On Beverly shore,
The cold, dark waves come rolling past
With vibrant roar;
I sit and see them come and go,
I watch the great tides ebb or flow,
And breathe the mighty winds that blow
On Beverly shore.

What wonder that the hearts of men
To Beverly shore,
Turn back through storied years again
And still adore!
The spell thy dawning beauty cast
Grows strong with Time. Thy charm binds fast!—
Holding our love—while life shall last—
To Beverly shore!

THIS week has seen a big influx of cottagers to the North Shore. Scores of families have been settling at estates all along the coast every day this week and everything has assumed a decided summer-like aspect. The opening of the clubs and the hotels at some of the towns are added evidences of the approach of the busy season.

The E. R. Campbells of New York, who have the H. E. Russell house at Manchester Cove this year, are expected tomorrow. Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Dewart and family are also opening their house at Manchester Cove within a few days.

Rev. Roland Cotton Smith and Mrs. Smith of Washington have leased their country estate at Ipswich to Robert H. Reece of Commonwealth ave., Boston, for the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Smith are leaving in July for California to visit the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Mrs. Andrew J. Peters and her children have come on from Washington to visit Mrs. Peters' mother, Mrs. John C. Phillips, at her summer home, Moraine Farm, Wenham Lake.

Ezra C. Fitch has sailed on his yacht Chanticleer for Labrador, where he goes every year on a hunting and fishing trip. Before departing on her cruise the Chanticleer was anchored at Manchester, where Mr. Fitch has a summer home.

Mrs. Robert D. Evans opened her summer place, Dawson Hall, at Burgess Point, Beverly, Wednesday, for the season. The Evans estate is one of the most attractive on the Beverly shore with its velvety lawns, beautiful gardens and other interesting features.

Col. William D. Sohier and family are at their summer home at Burgess Point, Beverly, for the season.

COTTAGE rentals of the past week, include the following, all made through the Boardman office of Boston and Manchester: Charles J. Canfield of Chicago, the E. H. Furman house (former Channing place) on University lane, Manchester; Charles P. Curtis of Boston, the Bartlett homestead at Pride's Crossing; Isaac R. Thomas of Boston, the S. Dacre Bush house at Hamilton; Edgar L. Newhouse, Jr., of New York, the Williams house, off Magnolia ave., Magnolia; Mrs. J. L. Chalifoux of Lowell, the Underwood cottage, also at Magnolia.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver W. Mink are among the week's arrivals at Manchester.

John Fox, the author, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Norman at their summer home "Bee Rock" at Beverly Cove.

Miss Sarah Bremer has arrived at the Bremer summer home on Smith's Point, Manchester. Mrs. J. L. Bremer has not yet arrived.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Munn, Jr., came to Manchester yesterday for a brief stay, from their home in Radnor, Pa. They plan to come to the North Shore later in the summer for a visit.

Announcement is made of the opening on Wednesday, June 16, of the North Shore Grill at Magnolia. The club will be run under the same management as last year. The dining room and floor space for dancing has been enlarged the past spring, in fact it has been practically doubled. The excellent French cuisine, which was a feature of the Grill last year, will be continued this season. The outdoor tea garden and dancing floor, will be as popular as ever, we venture to say, as Mr. Wiltbank knows what appeals to the popular fancy and he intends to do to everything possible to cater to the desires of the exclusive North Shore patronage.

THE annual meeting of the Essex County club will be held at the new clubhouse in Manchester on Saturday, June 12, at 7 o'clock in the evening, following which at 8 o'clock the annual dinner will be held. The clubhouse will be open for inspection—for members only—after the dinner which will be informal.

Mr. and Mrs. Conover Fitch (Gladys Bogert) of Chestnut Hill came to Manchester last Saturday and are located at the Churchman cottage, Proctor street. The other brother, E. C. Fitch, Jr., has been at Manchester for more than a month, and Mr. and Mrs. Fitch, Sr., are settled at their summer home on Norton's Point. Mrs. Julian Fairchild of Brooklyn, the younger of the daughters, with Mr. Fairchild, will come to Manchester later in the summer, but the other daughter, Mrs. Frank Northen of Stouts Hill, Uley, Dursley, Gloucestershire, will not venture across from England this year. Mr. Northen has three brothers at the front, and he is of the so-called tower guard, protecting London from the much-dreaded attack of the hostile aerial fleet.

Mr. and Mrs. Eben D. Jordan are at "The Rocks," their summer home at West Manchester after a sojourn of several weeks at the Virginia Hot Springs, making the return trip by motor, stopping here and there along the way. Miss Dorothy Jordan has been back for some time, and is at her farm house in Wenham. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jordan have taken a camp in Maine for the summer.

Mrs. Rufus F. Greeley and daughter, Miss Marion Greeley of the Hotel Victoria, Boston, will be among the first of the Brownland Cottages contingent to arrive at Manchester. After a short motor trip they will come to Manchester on the 15th of this month.

Mrs. James McMillan of Washington is settled at "Eaglehead," her summer estate at Manchester, for the season. Her granddaughter, Mrs. Preston Gibson and two children will come to Manchester about the tenth of June to spend most of the summer.

Mrs. Jere Abbott of 406 Beacon st., Boston, has arrived at the Tibbitts cottage, Harbor st., West Manchester, for the season.

The Misses Amy and Clara Curtis are still in France engaged in hospital work and they probably will not return to America for the summer; consequently their beautiful estate, "Little Crow Island," at Manchester Cove, will be unoccupied this season.

Pigeon Cove is mourning the loss of one of its summer residents of long standing—Clarence W. Seamans of Brooklyn, N. Y., who passed away last Sunday at his country home there. Mr. Seamans was the head of the Remington Typewriter Co., and was largely interested in other companies. He was 61 years of age. He had been ill only a short time. The body was taken to Brooklyn for burial Tuesday.

SNYDER-CURE HAMS AND BACON—SMOKED WITH CORNCOBS

We endeavor to secure for our North Shore Customers Supplies of Distinctive Quality

With this in view, we carefully investigated the different brands of ham and bacon, and found that in the last four years one brand had shot into prominence because of an unusual cure, which appears to be an improved form of a formula used for ham curing in Vermont. The process results in a ham which is entirely free from superfluous salt and unusually tender. Its exceptional tenderness is said to be due to the mild curing system, which permits the meat to age properly and during this process its delicious flavor is developed. This is supplemented by smoking in the old-fashioned way with corncobs.

The bacon, following the same general process, is cured in its own juices in air-sealed containers. We supply it in the strip, in wide or narrow form, or SLICED READY TO USE in one and five-pound boxes.

In hams we recommend the family sizes, from ten to fourteen pounds, or sliced to your order.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hayes Hammond are expected on from New York to their summer home at Freshwater Cove this week, but to remain for only a few weeks, as they start shortly for the Exposition at San Francisco to be gone two months. Mrs. Hammond is chairman of one of the commissions, and she plans to be there for Massachusetts Day.

Mrs. Franklin Haven has closed her house on Beacon Hill, Boston, and opened her summer residence at Beverly Farms, on the Haven estate.

Mr. and Mrs. George S. Mandell have been away from their country home at Brown's Hill, Hamilton, for a few days this week, on a motor trip to Newport.

Among the Americans that have cast their lot with the Allies in the European war are two well-known North Shore young men,—Frazier Curtis, one of the sons of Mrs. Greeley S. Curtis of 28 Mt. Vernon st., Boston, and Manchester, and Norman Prince son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Prince of Hamilton. Both have become air scouts.

Town Topics is cruel in its insinuations that "North Shore summer residents are disturbed. They are to be investigated. All because of a notion the mayor of Gloucester has that the rich are usurping all the beaches and shore front from Boston to Gloucester to the exclusion of the poor people. The conservative North Shore was never known to seize anything. They usually get it by contagion."

GREEN GABLES at Magnolia will open for the season on Tuesday, June 15th, under new management. The customary club license was not granted this year, but that was just as pleasing to the new manager, Alexandre J. Dueth, whose idea of conducting a rendezvous for North Shore families and their friends, and for exclusive auto parties, does not call for the use of liquors. Mr. Dueth is to conduct a refined place, strictly first class in service and appointments and withal just such a delightful spot as one would drop in with members of their family for afternoon tea or for meals. Paul Jones Chute, the dancer, well remembered for his beautiful execution of the new dances last season, will be at Green Gables this summer. The beautiful open-air dining room and pergola will be made a feature of the place.

Mrs. George D. Howe is still at her Boston home, having been forced to delay her coming to the North Shore several times because of poor health. Her house at Manchester has been ready for some weeks, but it is now thought Mrs. Howe will not come until late June.

The golf tournaments at the Essex County club start this week, and will continue on Saturdays throughout the season, until Sept. 11. Mixed foursomes will be played on Thursdays during July and August and the first two

There will also be tournaments on Wednesdays, July 7 and 21, and August 4 and 18 for the senior members, and special sweepstake tournaments are announced for Mondays—July 4 and Sept. 6. The ladies golf fixtures are scheduled for Tuesday forenoons, June 17, July 13, July 27, Aug. 10 and Aug. 17, and on Aug. 24 there will be a foursome handicap medal play competition. The championship tourney will be on Sept. 7.

THE OCEANSIDE HOTEL at Magnolia will open its season on Thursday, June 17th, when it expects the biggest summer in its career. If advance bookings count for anything, the hotel and its score of cottages will be the busiest of the many hotel properties along the North Shore this season. The Oceanside is unique among resort hotels anyway, in that it is a family hotel, numbering among its clientele people who have been coming here for more than a generation. It has very little transient business. When running to capacity it can take care of about 750 people. Among those who are booked for the summer, are the following, in addition to the more complete list published in the issue of May 7:

Miss Rosalinda di Pietro, Billing, Cambridge; Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Blum, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Bradshaw, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Brainerd and family, Pittsburgh, Pa.; William Butterworth, mother and sister, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. C. D. Callery and son of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Alfred Costello and family, New York City; Ganson Depew and Miss Lucia Depew, Buffalo, N. Y.; Miss F. Dodd, N. Y. City; Dr. Wm. R. P. Emerson and wife, Boston; W. F. Etherington and family, N. Y. City; Miss Gilmer, Boston; Miss Ellen M. Harris, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hewitt, and Miss Pugh, Burlington, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Howe, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Hussey and family, St. Louis, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Johnson and family, Spuyten Duyvil, N. Y. City; A. W. Kennard, Boston; Hon. Marcus P. Knowlton, wife and family,

Springfield, Mass.; Mrs. John E. Lancaster and family, Worcester; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lee, Jr., Philadelphia, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Leicht and family, Chicago, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Matthews, Baltimore, Md.; Dr. and Mrs. Perry, Boston; Miss Mary A. Sawyer, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Smith, Boston; Mrs. J. E. Smith and daughter, Cambridge; Mrs. Laroche Jacqueline Smith, N. Y. City; Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Tams, Staunton, Va.

Guests at the Oceanside as well as cottagers along the North Shore, especially those who have come in touch with him during the past winter in Boston and New York, will be pleased to learn that Mr. Albert Latscha, of New York, the popular dancing instructor, will return to the Oceanside this summer.

J. Warren Keeland, who was of last year's office force at the Oceanside, has been advanced to the position of room clerk this season.

Among the recent arrivals at the Shore have been two Boston families, the Otis W. Richardsons and the E. C. Richardsons, both of whom summer at Magnolia.

The beautiful estate of the late Mrs. H. G. Curry at Magnolia will be opened by the heirs this season for the first time since Mrs. Curry's death.

CLIFTON has been quietly, but steadily, augmenting its summer colony. The weather is getting into its real summery atmosphere and this in itself is a magnet which is drawing people to the shore homes.

Frederic W. Thomas of Melrose has been entertaining a party of friends from his city the last few days.

Morris Rosenthal of Boston, who had the Guppy cottage last season, is this year at the Thompson cottage. He has been on the shore for the last ten days.

William C. Chick of Boston is again at the Hartshorn cottage, otherwise known as "Dike Rock," on Shore road.

Max Brummel of Boston is said to have taken a long lease on the F. S. High cottage at Clifton. It has been entirely re-modeled this spring and will be ready for occupancy within a few days.

Stanley Sinsheimer of Boston is down at Clifton again this summer; he is at one of the Locke cottages.

Ex-GOVERNOR FOSS does not seem to know just what he wants to do and no one seems to know just what he is going to do, or—wants him to do it.

NAHANT is swinging into the summer stride in good style, now that the first holiday has passed and a number of families have gotten down to the upper bend of the shore. The Nahant club opened up informally on Memorial Day and the week-end and many summer residents paid their first visit to the club and participated in golf or tennis for the day.

Mrs. Curtis Guild is expected at her Nahant home about the last of this month, with her sister, Mrs. Lavelle. She is sojourning in the country for a fortnight before coming to the shore.

Among the new faces in the Nahant colony this season are Mr. and Mrs. Harris Livermore.

New Yorkers on the Nahant shore this year are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Thorn King, who with their children will spend the first season for several years on the North Shore. They usually stop in Pau or in the suburbs of Paris, where they have always had a beautiful home.

Philip Beebe, son of the late J. Arthur Beebe, will be found at Nahant this year. He has been in the West for several years, but the call of old acquaintances is bringing him back to the old Bay State. This is the first time any of the Beebes have been in Nahant as all their estates are at Falmouth.

Edward Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Orlandini and children have opened their summer place at Nahant for the season.

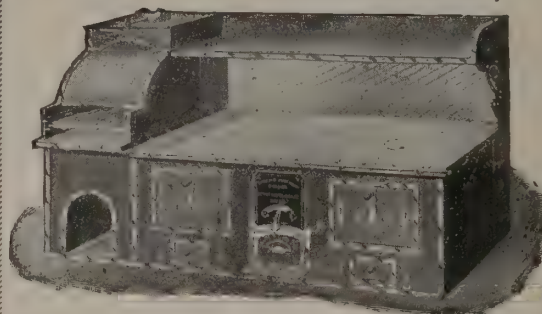

Mrs. A. Forbes Conant, her sister, Miss MacNichol and Mrs. Archibald MacNichol of Boston are down at "Maisonette," their Nahant summer home. Mrs. Conant is convalescing from a recent operation.

SWAMPSCOTT summer residents are deserting their winter homes and coming to the seashore. Practically every summer estate has every evidence of being open for the season and hotels are already to open a week from today. The Oakland house is already open and receiving guests. Advance hotel bookings for Swampscott are very encouraging, say the managers.

"Briar Gate" at Phillips Beach, Swampscott, again houses this season John Mason Little, with his daughters, Misses Grace and Helen Little. With them for a part of the season will be Mr. and Mrs. George Lemist Clark and their young son.

MARBLEHEAD greeted the last week-end with a large assemblage of summer residents within its borders. Over on the Neck practically everything was opened for at least three days starting with Saturday last. There were many house parties over the holiday and many of the cottages which had not been opened up to that time had their shutters removed, the grounds about them put in mid-summer shape and everything assumed a most summery appearance. The yacht clubs were busy places. The pleasant weather of Monday brought many motor parties down to both the Corinthian and the Eastern and although the yachting was forgotten, being too early in the season, a pleasant day was had at both club-houses. On the inland side of the harbor the Boston Yacht club opened its doors to many members. The hotels were open; the Rock-Mere and the New Clover Inn on the mainland and the Oceanside on the tip end of the Neck saw many guests.

The Corinthian Yacht club has announced its program for this season. It includes a number of races for the Marblehead course, including the mid-summer series, which starts on August 12. The season for the boats starts on June 19, when there will be an open race. Open races are also scheduled for Saturday, July 3 and Monday, July 5. A club race will be on Saturday, July 10 and a week following will come another open race. On July 31, a Saturday race will be open. The second club race of the season is scheduled for Saturday, August 7. From then on there will be nothing official until the mid-summer series starts on August 12. This continues for three days, ending Saturday, the 14th. The remainder of the schedule is as follows: Saturday, Aug. 21, club race; Saturday, Sept. 4, open race; Monday, Sept 6, open race; and Saturday, Sept. 18, grand handicap, open. Commodore Charles B. Wheelock has given the cups for the grand handicap race and Capt. C. H. W. Foster has presented the Corinthian with a trophy for Class R, winner of the mid-summer series.

The Hotel Rock-Mere opened last Saturday under auspicious conditions. About 50 students from Bradford Academy spent the three days over Memorial Day at the Rock-Mere. They have been to this hotel several times on their Memorial Day outing, and this one was as pleasant and enjoyable as others have been. The music room was given over for dancing and the evenings made merry. A large number of other guests from Springfield, Worcester and Boston were at Rock-Mere, many of whom have been coming there over Memorial Day for several years. On Tuesday of this week 100 school teachers from Boston held a banquet at the Rock-Mere, and it was a most enjoyable occasion. The afternoon was given to dancing in the music room. A banquet was held at 5 o'clock with speech-making and music. Bookings have been heavy at the Rock-Mere the past week or two and the season bids fair to be the most prosperous one for many years.

Several guests came down to the Oceanside, on the Neck, over the holiday and many others motored over to look the hotel over with a view to engaging apartments for stays later in the season. In a new booklet which the Oceanside has just issued is the following apt description of a Marblehead sunset: "Sunset over the harbor, viewed from the lighthouse grounds, with old Marblehead for a horizon, is indeed beautiful. The afterglow softens, twilight slowly fades, shadows deepen, the twinkling colored lights on the pleasure boats spring up. With darkness, the evening illumination is complete, suggestive of fairyland. One lingers and comes again."

D. T. Kennedy of Haverhill is occupying the Jaynes cottage on the Neck, which was moved from the present site of the new Morss house.

C. H. Farnsworth and family of Brookline are down at their cottage on the Neck near the causeway.

Henry A. Morss of Brookline occupied his new summer home on the harbor side of the Neck for the first time over the last week-end. It was finished only this spring and is the most palatial summer home on the Marblehead shore.

The Samoset house on the Neck opens for the season on June 15.

Charles A. Curtis of Boston and family are again at the Dunlop cottage on Ferry lane. They arrived on the holiday.

Misses Constance Urquhart and Katherine Mather were guests at the Sea Gull on the Neck over the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Childs of Boston are at the Estes cottage on Ocean avenue, the Neck for the summer.

David C. Percival of the Neck has chartered his yacht, the Rondina, to a Providence family for the season.

DUBLDIPT CHOCOLATES

THESE chocolates are made by a method of our own origination. This process has created a great sensation among chocolate manufacturers all over the country, as it produces the best chocolate possible to make.

The chief ingredient of the chocolate is the coating and this double dipping provides just twice the chocolate, hence the superior quality of the "DUBLDIPT." The "DUBLDIPT" process, as the name indicates, provides that each piece shall be dipped in the chocolate mixture twice.

These chocolates are now being offered at the cost to manufacture, 80c. the pound, as we want the public to try these new, high quality confections. The permanent price will be announced later and we hope everyone will try them at this cost price of 80c. the pound.

E. G. Sleeper, for several years assistant at the Tennis and Racquet club in Boston, is the new steward at the Eastern Yacht club this season. For the last four years he has had charge of the Portage Country club at Akron, O.

The work of repairing the Boston Yacht club sea wall and wharf has been completed, being the last of several improvements at that house the past few weeks.

The Oceanside hotel on the Neck opened over the holiday and had quite a few guests over that day and the week-end, considering the cool weather. There was an informal dance on Monday evening, to which many of the cottagers were invited. Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Owen entertained a house party in one of the Oceanside cottages over the holiday. Included among the guests were Miss Anna Louise Kittelle, daughter of Capt. S. E. W. Kittelle of the U. S. S. Maryland, which is now stationed at Honolulu, raising the F-4 submarine. Miss Kittelle also has other naval lineage, her grandfather being Rear Admiral Charles Sigsbee. F. O. Fish and family of Winchester dined at the Oceanside Sunday. Mr. Fish is a member of the Corinthian Yacht club and during the week-end had his yacht Iroquois out in the harbor.

The Corinthian Yacht club on the Neck opened with many guests for luncheon and dinner on both Sunday and Monday, but there was no formal program. The entertainments and dances do not start before the first of July.

Brinda Bond and Stewart Forbes were among the young guests at a children's house party Sunday at the Weston cottage, near the Oceanside. Stillman Weston was the host.

EAST GLOUCESTER. The holiday brought along many permanent cottage residents and hotel guests. The fine weather was enjoyed by the people who were so anxious to be in the environment of this picturesque locality once more. The golf links were used extensively and there were many boating parties.

The Henry Ware Eliots of St. Louis, who for so many years have been coming to Eastern Point, are at their fine estate "The Downs," located on the hill, overlooking the Niles Beach and harbor.

General Anson Mills and family of Washington, D. C., are not at their estate "Bayberry Ledge," Eastern Point, as early this season, although Mrs. Mills was here about two weeks ago directing some exterior improvements on the house. The Mills will arrive soon.

The John H. Procters of Brookline have arrived at their cottage near Eastern Point Lighthouse.

The John Clay retinue of servants arrived at the Clay estate, near the Eastern Point Lighthouse, from Chicago the first of this week. Mrs. Clay, son Jack and maids come this Friday for the season. "Finisterre," the Clay estate, is one of the most attractive along the North Shore. The big house is located on a point overlooking the Dog Bar Breakwater and outer harbor. While the facilities for boating and bathing are unsurpassed. The gardens about the estate are magnificent. Mr. Clay is the millionaire ranch owner and packer of Chicago. He is a member of the Gloucester Yacht club and sails a speedy knockabout in the races and owns besides a steam yacht and gasoline power boats.

Alexander Pearson and family of Lexington, Ky., have arrived this week at Beach End cottage, at the end of Niles Beach. The Pearsons are summer residents of long standing at East Gloucester and previous to occupying the Stacy cottage, where the family is now located, they were annual guests at the Hawthorne Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Greenough of New York arrived a few days ago at their summer residence on Eastern Point Boulevard, West, for the season.

Mrs. Juliette Kessler of Boston, who has been spending a few weeks at the Rockaway was joined on Monday by her husband, who is a member of the Boston Symphony orchestra, and has been playing at the Exposition in San Francisco. The Kesslers departed the first of the week for their summer home in Newport, Vt.

Bramble Ledge Cottage at Eastern Point, owned by Proprietor George O. Stacy of Hawthorne Inn and which is located just beyond the Colonial Arms hotel site, has been taken for the season by Edgar M. Leventritt of New York City. The house contains 40 rooms and is attractively furnished, many valuable colonial pieces giving charm to the interior. The view from every room in the house is extraordinary, the harbor, moor and ocean giving enchantment to the person within. The coast all along Magnolia, Manchester and Beverly to Nahant can easily be seen, while the city of Boston looms up a pale blue on the horizon on a clear day. The great stretch of Massachusetts Bay lies in the background of the scene, at the rear of Bramble Ledge cottage.

The Eastern Point Golf Clubhouse, which is a mecca for card and tea parties for the summer folk in that section will open for the season on June 15. Some interior improvements have been made.

The Delphine and Harbor View hotels entertained many guests over the holiday, several parties motoring here from Boston and inland cities. Some permanent guests registered.

The Rockaway hotel at Rocky Neck entertained the largest number of people over the week-end and holiday. 80 guests were registered and 10 persons are stopping permanently.

BASS ROCKS welcomed several cottage-residents on Memorial Day, but the hotel life in this exclusive section of the North Shore will not begin until June 20, when the Moorland hotel will open. The Thorwald hotel will open its doors officially to guests on June 25.

C. C. Long of Washington, D. C., has taken a lease of the W. T. Harding cottage on Page street, Bass Rocks. Mr. Long is a friend of Secretary E. H. Loftus of the Siamese Legation.

The Dearborns of Marlboro street, Boston, are now located at their estate on Page street, Bass Rocks.

Miss Myra R. Tutt of New York City arrived this week at the picturesque McGuckin cottage on Page street.

Mrs. E. Bradley Currier and daughter are at the Currier estate, Page street, Bass Rocks, for the season.

The Arthur L. Springs of Brighton, are at their cottage on Brier road, Bass Rocks, until their house will be occupied by a party for the greater part of the season.

At Graduation Time

YOU can best please the boy or girl with a suitable gift of jewelry. Its durability, beauty, and intrinsic value will cause it to be treasured long after a less serviceable article has been worn out and cast aside.

We have many things which will make attractive gifts for the boy or girl graduate at prices to suit your purse.

The family of Auguste Chouteau of St. Louis will occupy the Baldwin cottage on Atlantic road this summer. Mrs. F. C. McDuffie of Lawrence opened her cottage on Atlantic road, beyond the Moorland, this week.

The family of Jerome Remick, the music publisher of Detroit, Mich., will not be at Bass Rocks this summer as is the annual custom. The large Stacy colonial cottage on Atlantic road, at present stands unoccupied. The Remicks will spend the season in Magnolia.

At Grape Vine Cove, the colonists in that delightful section are beginning to take occupancy of their fine houses. At the Rotan mansion, directly facing the Cove, the family of Lewis A. Thebaud of Morristown, N. J., are located for the season.

The Bowlers are expected at their show places at Grape Vine Cove the latter part of the present week.

The Howe cottage, situated near the Rotan property is to be occupied soon by the Misses Lena S. Be San Marzano and Helena L. Gillender Asiniri, both of New York City.

ROCKPORT and Pigeon Cove. Dr. C. A. Peters of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, Amherst, has secured the cottage of Mrs. Herbert Knowlton, located off Marmion Way, Rockport.

The Straitsmouth Inn, at Straitsmouth has opened for the season, having some guests. Mrs. E. S. Wilkin-son is proprietor, as usual.

Pigeon Cove citizens as well as the household of the C. W. Seamanses of Brooklyn, N. Y., have been saddened by the death of Clarence W. Seamans, one of the leading summer residents of this place. Mr. Seamans died last Sunday at his beautiful summer home, death being due to hardening of the arteries. Mr. Seamans arrived at Pigeon Cove about two weeks ago, accom-panied by trained nurses and doctors, although Dr. A. M. Tupper of Rockport had been in attendance up to the time of his death. The deceased was the head of the Union Typewriter Company and one of the men chiefly responsible for the universal use of the typewriter. In 1882, he organized the firm of Wyckoff, Seamans and Benedict. In 1893 it was incorporated as the Remington Typewriter Company and Mr. Seamans became treasurer and later general manager. He had a notable business career. Mr. Seamans came to Pigeon Cove 26 years ago and was held in high esteem. He was a member of the Essex County Club and a charter member of the new Rockport Golf Club. He is survived by his widow and two daughters, Mrs. Mabel W. Seamans, wife of Robert Payson Loomis, and Miss Dorothy Seamans, beside two brothers. The funeral was held from the summer home of the deceased on Monday afternoon and the remains ANNISQUAM was the center of pleasure the past week-end, as well as headquarters for the Field and Forest club of Boston, the members and friends stop-ping at the Grand View hotel for three days. Saturday, Sunday and the holiday. The club will again visit the Cape Ann section of the North Shore, when an excur-sion will be held at Rocky Neck, East Gloucester, the Hotel Rockaway to be the headquarters.

Albert Insley of New York is a late arrival at Diamond Cove, Annisquam, for the season, having taken one of the Sargent cottages.

Mrs. M. E. Feather and Miss Carrie Munster of Waltham are occupying Munster cottage at Diamond Cove, Annisquam.

Kilby W. Shute and family of Gloucester are at their summer home in Annisquam for the season.

Professor Charles F. Bradley and family of Boston are occupying their cottage near Hermit Ledge, Annis-quam, for the season.

The John P. Bartletts of New York City have ar-rived at their summer home, "Chenycroft," on Adams Hill, Annisquam.

By-Water Inn, Annisquam, has a number of guests. Miss Mary Nichols of Boston is spending several weeks at the Inn.

LANESVILLE. Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Moody of East Northfield, will spend the season in Lanesville, to oc-cupy the large cottage of Mrs. E. C. Butler. Mr. Moody is a son of the late famous evangelist Dwight L. Moody and is principal of Mt. Hermon School.

EDITORIAL

AN ANALYSIS has been made by a New York expert of the export trade of the United States during these war days with surprising findings. While there has been a marked reduction in the exports of lumber, steel, iron, oils, copper, agricultural implements and cotton there has been an unprecedented increase in the exports of harness, gasoline, firearms, explosives, dairy products, corn, bread-stuffs, barley, automobiles, wheat, sugar, leather, meat, horses and mules and horseshoes and that the value of the shipments have increased faster than the quantity of exports. The trade with Germany and Austria has diminished and the trade with France, Great Britain, Russia and Italy has increased, so that when the balance is struck the States have gained more than they have lost. When the war broke out the trade between the United States and South America came to an abrupt end, but this was due to the fact that that trade was financed by English capital. A change has taken place and now the trade with the South American states has begun. Apparently this was America's great opportunity with the South American countries and the opportunity has been seized. The war has worked havoc with business relations with the old world that have continued for years, but it will mean, doubtless, the beginning of new business relations with South America which will mean much for both halves of the American continent.

MR. THEODORE ROOSEVELT has been vindicated by the jury and he is happy. It has been, however, at a loss of time, energy and money. Altogether the public has been served well by the vindication and public opinion has been created in favor of the ex-President. Roosevelt has done many things which have merited rebuke, but no one has accused him of perfidy, treachery or dishonesty. The American people are interested in the vindication of an ex-President. Roosevelt's incrimination by the evidence presented to that jury would have been a blow to the entire nation. He has been the President of the United States and, in view of the exalted position he has held, his reputation and honor are a part of the life of the community. The BREEZE has never felt the same interest in Roosevelt since his attacks on Taft, which have never been justified, but despite that it is glad that Roosevelt has won his case and that he comes out of it unsmirched.

THE IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY of Beverly Farms completed their year this week and their record of work is of a high order. New sign boards have been placed all over the town and on their petition the City of Beverly has agreed to plant trees on both sides of Vine street. On this street the new library will be placed. The line of trees on both sides of the street will improve its appearance materially. An improvement society has its place in the life of a community.

THE MEMORIAL DAY ORATORS have had the opportunity of their lives this year and the good sense and restraint universally shown in the addresses all over the country is a testimony to the good judgment of the leading Americans.

THE VETERANS HAVE OBSERVED with decorum and fitting ceremonies their simple memorial rites once more. There are many of the men who served during the war who have been spared to us, but the ranks are growing thin. One has only to think back a generation and compare the number of Grand Army men who were in line then to the number in line last Monday, all over the land, to realize that time is doing its work. In a few years the last comrade will be laid at rest and the work must be continued. The Sons of Veterans may well serve this end. The lessons of the Civil War were bitter and earned at a serve cost and their import may best be kept in mind by the proper observance of Memorial Day. In the coming year the Grand Army will have another encampment at Washington and for the last time. Many comrades of the war will meet there for the last time. There is something noble and pathetic in the thinning ranks, but those who remain must ever remember that the work they did in those cruel years cannot be forgotten.

A MASTER GARDENER at Pride's Crossing had a severe problem thrown in his way. A large rock formation marred the beauty of the rear of the garden and presented a serious problem. To remove it would have been costly and then all that could have been gained would have been a new level grass plot. But difficulties are opportunities and the master of garden arts instead of leveling the rocky formation constructed in the open a rough stone fountain, had a miniature rock bridge cover a beautiful artificial lake and in among the rocks of the hillock were planted hardy plants and a miniature fall of water arranged skilfully using town water as a supply and the unsightly spot is now a joy to the eyes.

THE ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS SOCIETY of Massachusetts is doing an exceptionally good work; but the lethargy of the people is one of the surprises of the hour. The ravages of tuberculosis are terrible and yet communities hesitate about the slightest precautions. The State passed laws requiring the construction of tuberculosis hospitals and yet many communities have been so delinquent, criminally delinquent, that the very power of the law has had to be used. Tuberculosis is a terrible disease and the sooner the public awakens to its perils the better it will be for everyone.

THE WORLD NEEDS YOUNG MEN and the young men need the world. Graduates are now being turned out of our institutions by the hundreds. It is a wise youth who realizes that the open sesame to success in the world is not his diploma but himself. Success is a personal factor. Opportunity counts, environment means much, but it is a shrewd youth that awakens to the knowledge that the individual can often make his opportunities.

IT ISN'T LIKELY that Mr. Bryan worried much about the fact that little Miss Clark will not see him at the wedding. Germany and Mexico are keeping him from worrying over social snubs.

ITALY HAS BEEN ACCUSED of perfidy and treachery in her course. A year ago Germany, Austria and Italy were bound by the conditions of the Triple Alliance. But Germany was also bound to maintain the neutrality of Belgium. The German Government gave no consideration to their agreement concerning Belgium, but the moment Italy takes up arms against Austria the cry of perfidy and treachery is heard. An analysis of the situation is not inadvisable before a judgment should be made against Italy. Italy united with Austria and Germany with one purpose and that purpose was entirely defensive. All three powers agreed to hasten to the assistance of the other in the event of an attack being made by an enemy. To the letter of the agreement Italy would, doubtlessly, have acted if Austria and Germany were attacked. But this alliance was one of policy and not of interests and Germany and Austria knew this. Austria and Italy have been entertaining feelings of national antipathy for years and it was impossible for either Italy or Austria to overcome them. As far as the interests of Italy and Austria were concerned the Triple Alliance was a compromise made in the interests of mutual protection in the event of an attack by an outside foe. Neither Austria nor Italy understood the alliance in any other way. Austria and Italy for years have known that eventually their differences would have to be adjusted in some way. Italy did not join the Alliance because Germany and Austria were the attacking forces. For seven months Italy kept out of the fray. The conditions of the Alliance were made null and void by the conduct of Austria and Germany. The moment the attack was made by Germany and Austria, Italy was released from the conditions of the Alliance and she stood on her old time footing, but with strong enmity to Austria, and neutral. War has now been declared by Italy on Austria. Italy has not yet declared war on Germany. Such a course will probably follow the German declaration of war due to her alliance with Austria and then Italy will declare war against Germany. Nothing else will be in order. Germany can ill afford to cry treachery in the light of all the facts of Belgium. Whatever the underlying moral motives of Italy may be and whatever the judgment history may put upon her activities the terrible atrocities of Belgium and the necessities of self preservation are mighty moving forces and it is not surprising Italy is in. The surprise is that the leaders of the nation have been able to maintain their leadership and the neutrality of the State. Italy has had a hard six months, but the Government has been cautious and successful. Perfidy! Belgium is the world's answer to Germany's cry.

THE SPANISH WAR taught the people of America how ill-prepared we were for war. It was months before incompetency was overcome and the army and navy put into fighting trim. The present efficiency of the navy is due to the war with Spain. This war ought to teach us something, but Captain Gardner is having a hard time convincing the people of the necessity for reasonable preparedness. America should be prepared against war not for war. There is no better way to avoid war than to be thoroughly prepared for it.

THE CHEERY TREES this year have been unusually full of blossoms and in fact fruit trees of all sorts have been deeply laden with blossoms. If everything continues favorably the fruitage should be heavy in the fall.

ALL ROADS will lead to Beverly Farms this month. The leading Sunday School workers from all over the county are to gather for a three-day institute.

BOSTON UNIVERSITY has been making rapid strides during the last decade. It began its work under the very eaves of an old established institution and has been able to achieve its purpose. Under the direction of the Methodists, but non-denominational in its policy, it has come into its own. The College of Liberal Arts is co-educational and has demonstrated the feasibility of maintaining co-educational schools of higher learning. The Law School has made an enviable record and its nearness to the law centre in Boston has made its work convenient, effective and successful. The Theological School is the largest in the country and the Medical School has won a place for itself among the leading institutions of medical science in the country. Looking back over the short time in which the university has developed it seems nothing short of wonderful that such progress could have been made.

THE ELECTION of James J. Storrow to fill the vacancy in the Council of the City of Boston was a step in progress. His election was made possible by the provisions of the charter. The revision of the charter has meant much to Boston, but it has never meant more than in making possible Mr. Storrow's election. The leading spirit in the work was George W. Coleman. Mr. Coleman is an able, conscientious man seeking with all his ability to serve the city of his nativity and he is succeeding. In throwing his influence toward Mr. Storrow he has honored himself. Mr. Storrow will bring to the council the rich experience of his life and the City of Boston is fortunate to have his service. It is an honor which Mr. Storrow may well appreciate, but Boston is fortunate in having such a man to select for service.

DR. VAN ALLEN has uttered no uncertain sound in his ministry in the City of Boston. Having a strong personality and with religious and denominational prejudices that have been pronounced he has been the accepted leader of the high church wing. The cause of the allies he has espoused with his accustomed vigor. Withal he has been one of Boston's leading figures. The appointment as the Bishop-Coadjutor of the Central New York diocese, is in the line of progress and may Dr. Van Allen rejoice in his promotion, but it is an open question whether Dr. Van Allen as the Parish Priest could have in the future as large an influence as a Bishop-Coadjutor. Boston will lose a strong man with a will and impeachable courage.

NOW THAT THE COURT CASES have been favorably disposed of the United Shoe Machinery Company is ready to continue its prosperous business. The attacks upon this corporation is but another illustration of the American folly of abusing and persecuting large business enterprises. It gave the attorneys opportunities to win large fees.

WAR NOTES

Today we see, in a world cataclysm,
Culture reduced to barbarism.

It is wisdom and strength to know your foe
And to let him know that you know you know.

Who at this time would con the holy Book
And turn his sword into a pruning hook,
May live a life unnext,
Not in this world, but possibly in the next.

Arbitration is good, no doubt,
Excellent to think about;
When this war of ours is through Arbitration will be due:
Then we'll arbitrate, we and you.

Kindness, cruelty,
Brotherhood, tyranny,
Philosophy, poetry:
War and brutality,
Made in Germany.

Would to God,
America would arm herself,
(All other navies on the shelf,)
And o'er refractory nations hold a rod,
To keep the fretful realms in awe
And bind them to the moral law;
Be self-appointed world-police,
Ensuring world-wide peace.

—Joseph A. Torrey.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE NOTES

Editor North Shore Breeze,

Dear Sir:

In a recent issue of your paper the statement was made by a leading suffragist that the "Interests" so-called are working for the cause of anti-suffrage. In a private letter I asked this lady for proof of her statement; she gave me none, simply reaffirming her previous assertion. This was quite natural considering that the statement was not true, though I have no doubt that the writer entirely believed what she said. The alliance is rather the other way. The facts are these:

With regard to vice, Denver is notoriously the most immoral city in the Union, and yet women have voted in Colorado for over twenty years. The investigator for the Florence Crittendon Homes (which are homes where women with illegitimate children are cared for) found more very young girls in these homes in Denver than anywhere else, and this is not likely to be remedied, for the recent child labor law, of which Colorado is so proud, permits girls over ten years of age to ply any street trade.

As to the liquor dealers the statement of your correspondent is equally contrary to the facts. "The Vigilance Committee of the United States Brewers Association at Atlantic City on October 4th, 1912, went on record in regard to woman's suffrage as saying that the attitude of voting women has proved beneficial to the brewers' trade."

"California, with more women voting last fall than ever before, gave an enormous majority against prohibition. San Francisco according to Senator Weeks, has 3500 saloons, while Boston, which is one and a half times as large, has less than 700. In the recent campaign in Nevada the suffragists acknowledge in print that the saloon men were helping them, and that in the recent election the majority of women in Reno voted against reducing the number of saloons."

In Illinois, with woman's suffrage, in the recent election, only three counties went dry, while in Michigan with male suffrage nine counties went dry. In Springfield, Illinois, at the first election after women got partial suffrage 4800 women voted for saloons, 4300 against, while Lansing, the capital of Michigan, with only men voting went dry. Los Angeles was dry before women got the vote and immediately afterwards went wet. "Pasadena, which had been practically dry for its entire history went wet when women got the vote." The "Woman Citizen," edited by California suffragists, waged a vigorous campaign against the Anti-Saloon League. In Ohio, Frau Schwimmer spoke in a saloon for suffrage, and it was the anti-saloon people who defeated suffrage in Ohio. (See the "Woman Voter," February, 1915, p. 14). Testimony could be multiplied indefinitely, but I believe I have given enough to show that the "Interests" are certainly not working with the anti-suffragists. On the contrary "the suffragists are ignorantly playing straight into the hands of the forces of evil," as was lately said by one of the most well-informed people whom I know.

MRS. WILLIAM LOWELL PUTNAM.
Boston, June 1, 1915.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE NOTES

On Memorial Day the Manchester League sent a large contribution of flowers for the graves to be decorated by our local G. A. R. post. A committee of the Mass. Suffrage Ass'n carried a beautiful wreath to the grave of Mrs. Julia Ward Howe. Memorial Day has a very deep significance for Suffragists, who are now fighting a bloodless battle for freedom. And we note with great appreciation that the women of the Relief Corps celebrate the solemn holiday together with the Grand Army men. This co-operation of men and women in patriotic work is exactly what we are asking for, in fuller measure; and we hope that the women of the patriotic organizations will realize that patriotism is not only a thing of the dead past but also of the living present,—a thing of daily life,—and that they will all come into the Suffrage ranks, as so many of them have already. (Both men and women.)

Last week Thursday, Essex Co. had a visit from the National President, Rev. Anna Howard Shaw, who spoke in Lawrence that evening. Mrs. Robert G. Shaw took Dr. Shaw to Lawrence where they were met by a band of music and a great crowd who escorted them to the City Hall, and here Dr. Shaw gave one of his brilliant orations to an enormous audience. The Essex Co. chairman, Mrs. Mahany of Lawrence, presided. It is hoped that we can arrange to have Dr. Shaw come to Manchester when she visits Massachusetts again in the autumn.

Suffragists are urged to remember that June 7 is "sacrifice day," that gifts should be sent to the Mass. headquarters (585 Boylston St.) before that day, and that the auction

(a fine collection) will take place at Leonard's auction rooms on the 8th, 9th, and 10th.

The most attractive money-raising function of the season will take place at Mrs. Robert Gould Shaw's estate in Wellesley, "The Pines," on June 14th in the afternoon. Here an English Village Festival will be given under the auspices of the Ways and Means Comm. of the Mass. W. Suffrage Ass'n, who gave the Ballet of Sylvia with such brilliant success. The great feature of the occasion will be the old English folk dances, and to direct these Mr. Sharp will come over from England, while the committee have also had the assistance of Prof. Baker of Harvard and Mrs. J. J. Storrow of Boston, both authorities on folk dancing. The efficiency of this group of people, the famous beauty of Mrs. Shaw's place and the great interest in folk dancing at present, all ensure that this festival will be with the exception of the Class Day functions at Harvard, the chief social and artistic event of the month of June. Many North Shore people will take part in this event, and Mrs. Shaw says that "The Pines" is easily reached from the Shore by motor-cars. Tickets may be obtained at Herrick's on and after June 7.

This English Festival was announced some weeks ago, at the time of the Mass. Suffrage Convention. Immediately afterwards the Antis announced a somewhat similar affair to come off, before ours, in Brookline. We acknowledge the quickness of this move, and fully appreciate the compliment paid us by this imitation! They have also paid us the compliment of copying our banquet and our canvassing campaign as well as they can. Now these rivalries are not unfriendly, and there is room for all. But,—very seriously—since the Opponents so faithfully follow us in all that we do, and will at last follow us to the polls, would it not be more worth while and less wasteful to co-operate with us? We urge them to come with us right now, instead of taking the indirect way to the same end.

MANCHESTER SECTION

Friday, June 4, 1915.

Do not forget the Baseball dance in the Town hall tonight—Friday.

Mrs. James Crocker, Bennett st., has gone to Jaffrey, N. H., for a sojourn.

Alex. Robertson has purchased on private terms, the estate of the late Jeffrey T. Stanley, School street.

A dance is to held in the Manchester Town hall next Friday evening, June 11, under the auspices of the W. R. C.

Archie Peters has a position as chauffeur with the Mass. Suffrage association, starting his work last week.

Miss Emma F. Prest started Tuesday on a three-year course of training in the Lawrence General Hospital.

Forest Warden Sheahan and a gang of some 38 men had a stubborn woods fire to fight yesterday on the Devens estate off Forest st. On Memorial Day there was a bad fire off Pine st., which took nearly a day to fight.

The Fourth of July committee report an active interest in the program for this year. Entries are already coming in for the athletic events in the center of town in morning and for the parade. The hose-coupling contest at 1.30 in the afternoon will be one of the feature events of the day.

Memorial Day passed off most pleasantly in Manchester. Nature was good to the veterans and gave them a beautiful day with medium temperature. The program as formerly printed in these columns was carried out. The afternoon was given over to the Grand Army, the exercises starting a little after two at the Post headquarters. The police headed the line of march, and they certainly looked natly in their new caps and dress blouses. The Manchester Brass band furnished good music for the parade and also for the concert on the Common. The Boy Scouts turned out in large numbers and did great work in assisting the veterans in various ways. The Sons of Veterans were out in good order and the W. R. C. and Arbella club had charge of the exercises at the town wharf. A splendid patriotic program was offered in the Town hall in the evening.

TO THE TOWNS-PEOPLE

A committee of the Woman's Club is sending out circular letters to those interested in the welfare of our young people. Following the receipt of these letter collectors appointed by the club (names to be published next week) will call for contributions.

PROGRAM FOR THE FOURTH

The Fourth of July committee has arranged a program for Manchester somewhat as follows:

5 A. M.—Flag raising on the Common by color squad of Boy Scouts.

6.30 A. M.—Parade in three divisions, antique, civic and floral.

9.30 A. M.—Races and sports in Central square—100-yard dash for girls; 100 yard dash for boys under 12; sack race, 220-yard dash, doughnut race, shoe race, quarter mile run, potato race for boys, potato race for girls. Entries will close June 30. Prizes in each event will be cups and bronze medals.

1.30 P. M.—Hose coupling contest by members of the fire department.

3.15 P. M.—Ball game. Semics of Dorchester vs. Manchester.

8 P. M.—Band concert on Common by Clark's military band of Gloucester; display of fireworks.

The Manchester Launch club will have their first outing and fish race Saturday at Tuck's Point.

Mrs. Helen L. Willmonton leaves today with Miss Nellie Perley of Andover for a month's visit with friends and relatives in New Hampshire.

The graduation exercises of the Story High School will be held in the Town hall on Thursday, June 24, at 7.45 p. m. Professor Otis E. Randall, Dean of Brown University, will be the orator of the evening. The valedictorian is Esther S. Carroll, the salutatorian, William Angus, and the first essayist, Thesbe Galanie. The following fourteen students graduate: William Angus, Harry D. Baker, Esther S. Carroll, Gordon B. Crafts, Ethel B. Edgecomb, George W. Fleming, Thesbe Galanie, Margaret L. McNeary, H. Elizabeth Merson, Francis I. Norie, Esther L. Northrup, Antoinette Vidal, William H. Walsh and Anna T. White.

Miss Ruth Waters and her mother of Portsmouth were in Manchester over the week-end, visiting their cousin, Prof. A. L. Sabin and family, School st. Miss Waters is a teacher in the Portsmouth High school.

About noon on Memorial Day a new Overland automobile coming down Central street opposite the residence of L. A. Dunn struck the rear wheels of one of Smith's Express Co. wagons, driven by Albert Johnson. The horse bolted to the sidewalk, the wheels striking a large elm tree on one side and a lamp post on the other, then galloping off down street toward its stable on Elm st. John Gillis jumped from one of S. Knight Sons Co.'s coal wagons and caught the runaway horse before much damage was done, though the lamp-post at the corner of Elm street was also put out of commission. Johnson was thrown from his seat when the wagon was struck, but escaped with a few minor bruises. The auto was damaged to the extent of breaking a rear spring and denting in the radiator. Fortunately no one was injured.

MANCHESTER BASEBALL

START SEASON WITH A STRONG TEAM—GROVER IN GREAT PITCHING FORM

Manchester started its 1915 baseball season Monday with a grand slam victory to her credit, running up a total of 25 runs against the Peabody A. A., and not allowing one of the visitors to cross home plate. Grover, Manchester's popular left-handed pitcher, maintained the reputation established last year by mowing down his men at will, striking out a total of 16. And at the bat—well, there was nothing to it. The very first ball pitched him he caught on the nose and sent far over the fence in right field, that would have been good for a home run but for the ground rules, and twice later in the game he landed the ball in the same spot getting two bases each time. It was in the third inning that he caught one square and sent it way out over the brook, almost out of sight, for a home run, sending in a couple of other runs. In the 6th he singled. But Grover wasn't the only one to get a home run. Jackie Gray picked a beauty off in the sixth and hoofed it around the four sacks for a home-run. The ball fell in the brook as it dropped from the sky but Jackie was half way around by that time. Frankie O'Leary—who covered 3rd base in grand style, also dropped one in the brook for a homer, and O'Connell, the new man at 2d, tipped one into the same place for a four-bagger.

Manchester was credited with two errors, while the Peabody boys had 9 to their discredit. Peabody's two pitchers struck out 6 men, but passed 10.

THE QUESTION OF A PUBLIC DUMP IN MANCHESTER

Editor North Shore Breeze,

Dear Sir:

Would it not be possible for Manchester to take a little more pride in its personal appearance now that we have accomplished the far more important matter of providing for the disposal of our sewage, for which I give most hearty thanks. In the neighborhood of the railroad station there are several very unsightly places where refuse is dumped and rubbish is allowed to accumulate to a degree which is a serious menace to health in that flies breed in the old garbage which has been brought there mixed with ashes and other mess. The town could wisely spend a small sum of money in providing a dump far enough away to be an eye-sore to no one and with a care-taker whose business it should be to burn all papers and bury or destroy all refuse which might putrify or act as a breeding ground to insects, or a harbour for rats. The good work should begin with a clearing up of our present temporary messes before providing for our permanent protected one.

FRITZI SCHEFF AT B. F. KEITH'S
Fritzi Scheff, the queen of light opera favorites, whose runs in "Mlle. Modiste" and similar pieces gave her a tremendous vogue on the legitimate stage, will head the big bill offered at B. F. Keith's Theatre the week of June 7th. Miss Scheff will offer a series of her greatest song successes. She will wear some wonderful gowns. Miss Scheff is one of the biggest stars offered in Boston vaudeville this season. Blessed with a beautiful voice, a delightful personality, and a chic air which endears her to her audiences instantly, she enjoys a niche all her own upon the operatic and musical comedy stage. Clifton Webb, the Back Bay society dancer, assisted by Gloria Goodwin and the Imperial Russian Balaiklia orchestra, will present the very newest dances, and there will be other big features.

ANNIE McNAMARA O'BRIEN

Mrs. Annie McNamara O'Brien, wife of Patrick O'Brien of Manchester, passed away Monday, at the Beverly Hospital, where she had been for treatment, after a long illness.

Mrs. O'Brien was a native of Mayo, Ireland, but had lived in this country since she was eight years old. She had been in the household of Mrs. Charles A. Munn for the last twenty-six years. Three years ago she was married to Patrick O'Brien, also a member of Mrs. Munn's household, and they bought a cottage on Lincoln st., making their home in it for a while.

Funeral services were held Thursday at the Crowell Memorial chapel, the Rev. Dr. Huiginn of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Beverly, officiating. Burial was in Rosedale cemetery.

She is survived by two sisters—Mrs. M. W. Toomey of Southington, Conn., and Mrs. J. Cullough of Manchester, also by a mother and brother in Ireland. Another brother went to the front last fall.

Mrs. O'Brien was loved and respected by a large circle of friends and acquaintances. She bore her prolonged illness with true Christian fortitude and kept her courage even to the last. The bearers at the funeral were the three sons of Mrs. Munn—Charles A., Jr., who came on from Radnor, Pa., Gurnee and Ector Munn, and Chas. M. Amory, who married Miss Gladys Munn.

Letters remaining unclaimed at the Manchester, Mass., P. O., for week ending June 3, 1915:—A. F. Berry, Mrs. John Dyman, A. W. Gottschalk, Harry Hodgkins, Mrs. Geo. S. Mayer, Miss Sadie MacNeill, Ernest Smith, Gyilio Taboni, Joseph Taverly, Miss Gertrude L. Robins.—F. A. Foster, P. M.

MET AT MANCHESTER

ESSEX SOUTH BOARD MISSIONS IN SESSION WEDNESDAY

The 37th semi-annual meeting of the Essex South branch, Woman's Board of Missions, was held in the Manchester Congregational church Wednesday. The Essex South Branch is represented by 43 societies and about 200 members were present at the convention.

The morning session opened at 10 o'clock with devotional services by Mrs. James L. Hill of Salem. In her speech of welcome Miss Martha C. Knight said in part: "Madame President, officers and members of the Branch: We are very glad to see you all here and not only pleased but proud that having once tested one's hospitality, you should desire to come again. We do not refer to the attractions of our town, for you are no strangers, and it is evident to one who walks or rides the North Shore that we are citizens of no mean country, whose beauties and privileges are always open to you; but today you are the especial guests of the Manchester Auxiliary of the Essex South branch of the woman's Board of Missions and I am privileged in its name to give you a hearty welcome.

"Do you remember the first meeting of the branch in this church when Miss Abbie Childs from this desk brought for our consideration the advisability of replacing the Morning Star, a sailing vessel wrecked while taking comfort and cheer to the missions in the South Sea Islands, by a steamer better fitted to brave the storms and perils of those seas without waiting for favoring gales and seasons, and how, notwithstanding the increased expense of building and support which she faithfully represented to us, we unanimously voted the steamer, and I dare say many of you, like myself, had the pleasure of inspecting that steamer as she lay at her dock in Boston, before starting on her errands of love and mercy.

"Today you bring us no such question, but we feel sure your hearts are filled with the desire that we, as a branch, may be strong and quick to meet every call, emergency or trial that these perilous times may bring us, an encouragement and uplift in inspiration that our auxiliary so much needs.

"George Herbert said: 'There is no joy like the one of doing kindnesses,' and I well remember our honored president, in her first speech, saying: 'I am with you as one that serves.' In the same spirit we receive you today. I repeat, welcome, thrice welcome to our town, our church, our table."

Mrs. Edward A. Chase said in response: "There is only one Manchester-by-the-Sea. Its breadth seems to symbolize your broad hospitality and its depth to indicate your loyalty so deep and abiding. We come to you not only to get what we can but to bring something to you, and to leave something with you. We bring the thought of our work in obedience to the command of Christ, and we leave with you the promise, 'Lo! I am with you always—even unto the end.'"

Mrs. Henry M. Melcher read the minutes of the last meeting and Miss Daisy Raymond, the treasurer, made a statement. Two-minute reports were given by the auxiliary secretaries. Mrs. Hill here spoke of her work, and of her many years of service, and asked to be relieved from further service as president. The mid-day devotions were conducted by Mrs. Patch of North Beverly. Luncheon was served at 12.30 by the ladies of the entertaining church to the delegates and their friends.

The afternoon services opened at 1.50 with an organ voluntary by Miss Jessie Hoare, followed by devotional services by Rev. Charles A. Hatch. Mrs. T. C. Langdale here extended a cordial welcome to the branch, to meet in the South church, Salem, in November. Mrs. Henry French, Mrs. Hill and others spoke briefly. Mrs. Hill was presented with a beautiful bouquet of flowers. Mrs. Carolyn Allen sang two solos, Mrs. E. M. Fisher spoke on "A test of loyalty."

Rev. Hubert C. Herring, D. D., secretary of the National Council, spoke on "Mission work in the midst of a world war." He said in part: "Everything these days bears on the mission field. The non-Christian world is able to point the finger of scorn at the Christian world as they never could before and say 'How these Christians love one another!'" These are dark days. One thing that has been vividly brought out as never before is that the tyranny of the Moslem faith is broken, the bounds of caste are cast aside. 'Go ye therefore and teach all nations.' The world's magnetic heartbeat is felt by those who are trying to find the people. The supreme thing to lead us is the Lord's own life. Our fathers broke a path in the foreign field. I am glad that we have not lost all ground."

The officers elected are: President, Mrs. James L. Hill, Salem; vice presidents, Mrs. Harry R. French, Lynn; Mrs. Albert Robinson, Peabody; Mrs.

Edward Chase, Beverly; recording secretary, Mrs. Henry M. Melcher, Danvers; corresponding secretary, Miss Mary Brooks, Gloucester; home secretary, Mrs. John W. Perkins, Lynnfield Centre; treasurer, Miss Daisy Raymond, Beverly; secretary of Young Ladies' work, Miss Maidee P. Polleys, Essex; secretary of mission circles, Miss S. Caroline Woodberry, Beverly; auditor, Calvin R. Washburn, Salem.

Telephone By-Ways

Hundreds of small villages, away from main-travelled roads, are readily accessible to salesmen who know how inexpensive and how easy it is to telephone these places from convenient junction points.

Sometimes it is impossible to "make" all these places each trip, or personally to visit each customer oftener than once a year.

A telephone call is the best known substitute for a personal visit. It keeps one's personality alive. It gratifies the customer. And frequently it pays for itself a hundred-fold by the casual re-orders it induces.

There will be no toll charge on a Particular Party Call if you are not connected with the person whose name you have given to the Toll Operator.

RICHARD CARLE IN "THE DICTATOR"

Following out its policy of presenting each week through the summer a different star in an established success, supported by that excellent stock company, the Lonergan Players at the Majestic Theatre, the management announces Richard Carle in Richard Harding Davis' screaming farce, "The Dictator" (which was presented some years ago in this city, with William Collier in the leading role), as the attraction for the coming week, beginning Monday, June 7. Mr. Carle is well known to Bostonians as a star comedian who has headed his own companies many times in this city in popular musical comedy successes.

BOSTON THEATRE

Another stupendous array of startling features, the very biggest and best obtainable in the world of films, will be offered at the Boston Theatre the week of June 7th. Caroline B. Nichols and her Boston Fadettes, the great ladies orchestra which has created a furore among motion picture fans in Boston, will offer an entirely new concert program before the regular performance, in addition to supplying the orchestral accompaniment for the motion picture plays. The great dramatic attraction will be the multiple reel production, "On the Night Stage," with W. S. Hart in the star role.

MAGNOLIA

A very pretty home wedding was that of Miss Josephine G. Brown, the youngest daughter of Mrs. Christina Brown, to Harlow H. Halliday of New York City Wednesday afternoon at the bride's home on Magnolia avenue. Rev. Walter S. Eaton, Ph.D., pastor of the Village church here, officiated, using the single ring service. The bride was more than usually pretty in a blue travelling gown with hat to match, and she was attended by her niece, Miss Anna Sampson, who also wore blue. Henry Brown of Gloucester, was best man. After the ceremony, luncheon was served to the company and the bridal couple, with their attendants, left by motor for a wedding trip of about three weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Halliday were accompanied as far as Salem, where they changed for New York City, from which place they will go to Canada, returning to Magnolia about the 22d of June in time for the groom to take up his work as one of the managers of the summer shop of Ovington Bros., Lexington avenue. The couple will reside at the Mallard House for the summer and will make their winter home in New York.

The school year of the Congregational Sunday School closed last week with the following members particularly mentioned in regard to attendance for the year: Mary Burke, Mona Height, Alice Height, and Agnes Cromey, perfect attendance; Marion Scott, Jennie McKay, Laura Abbott, Abbie May, Edith Height, and Victor Nelson, absent once; Bessie Abbott, Walter Harvey, Leslie Wilkins, and Henry Sampson, absent twice.

If conditions permit, the services will be held at the Village church this week, both Sunday morning and evening. At the morning service, Rev. Dr. Eaton will have for his subject, "A Great Doxology," and in the evening, "Punishment."

Mrs. Abbie Story returned Tuesday evening after a short visit with relatives in Winchester.

Miss Julia Cook of Gloucester spent Tuesday with Mrs. Effie Foster.

Miss Gertrude Dick of Lawrence was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Butler, for Sunday.

Henry Seaburg was down from Boston to spend the holiday with his mother, Mrs. Johanna Seaburg, who came down a number of weeks ago for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith and family of Roxbury spent Sunday here with the D. C. Ballous, Magnolia ave.

SUCCESSFUL PRESENTATION OF PLAY AT WOMEN'S CLUB

Tuesday evening the Foster club gave the comedy, "Breezy Point," at the clubhouse for the benefit of the Blynman Grammar school Piano Fund. The hall was packed to the doors, many being obliged to stand throughout the performance. The cast was as follows: Ashrael Grant, Miss Elizabeth A. Brown; Eleanor Pearl, Miss Beatrice Story; Aunt Debby Dexter, Miss Gertrude West; boarding school girls—Clarice Fenley—Miss Eleanor Commerford, Edith Norton—Miss Rose Nelson, Laura Leigh, Bernice Vernon—Azubah Mullen; Fantine, Miss Vernon's French maid, Mrs. J. V. Carr; Mrs. Hardscratch, Miss Dorothy Story; Sophia Zenia Hardscratch, Miss Alice Swanson; Bethia Maria Hardscratch, Miss Elizabeth Abbott; Miss Mehitable Doolittle, Miss Maybelle Sampson; Old Clem, Miss Edna Symonds; Other Gipsies, Miss Agnes Murphy, Miss Edith Height, and Miss Mildred Commerford.

The selection of characters was well made, and the girls entered into their parts with vim and enthusiasm. Miss Elizabeth Brown, as Ashrael, the poorhouse waif, was the hit of the evening, and her Yankee drawl and quaint sayings brought down the house. Mrs. Carr took the difficult character part of the French maid to perfection and was very chic in appearance as well. Miss Gertrude West was a success as Aunt Debby, and her niece, whose part was taken by Miss Beatrice Story, was attractive and pleasing. The boarding school girls were all so good that it was impossible to make any distinction, and the Hardscratch mother and twin daughters were extremely funny, and they were well received. Miss Symonds was very good in the part of the old gipsy woman, Clem, and her makeup and costume were exceptionally good.

The gipsy camp scene was quite effective, and the committee in charge made the most of their facilities. It was during this scene that Miss Murphy gave a solo gipsy dance, followed by two encores, that were vastly successful. Miss Murphy has studied under the best of teachers, and is very graceful and untiringly vigorous in her dancing. She was rewarded Tuesday evening by round after round of applause and masses of roses and carnations. Miss Height and Miss Commerford danced a pleasing little prelude to Miss Murphy's dance and they were recalled. Mrs. Arthur Homans accompanied the dancers on the piano.

The affair netted a substantial sum toward the fund, and was in every way a success. Mrs. Foster, who has been in charge, is to be congratulated upon the management of the play.

FROM MASSACHUSETTS RED CROSS HEADQUARTERS

Miss Louisa P. Loring, Red Cross Emergency Secretary for Mass. has received the following from Washington:

"Telegram: Great number unfortunate Mexican people largely women and children facing death by starvation. The President and the American Red Cross appeal most urgently to people of United States not to let sufferers at our own door die for lack of food.

C. A. DEVOL, *Acting Chairman,
American Red Cross.*"

Already the American Red Cross has a carload of corn and one of beans on the way from Laredo, Texas, to Consul General Hanna at Monterey. Free freight and free duties have been arranged for, and the military authorities guarantee safe conduct. The Red Cross cannot continue to send assistance with-

IDEAL Dandelion Killer

TO kill the dandelion or other weeds simply fill the tube with gasoline, place the plunger of the valve on the heart of the plant and push down on the tube a very little—just enough to open the valve. About one teaspoonful of gasoline will be dropped on the heart of the plant, which kills it roots and all. The leaves will begin to wither and the root turn dark in twenty-four hours and the entire plant will die and dry up in a few days. Grass will soon grow in the scar where the dandelion stood.

Very easy to operate and the price in only $1.00.

out public contributions. In scores of Mexican towns the same terrible conditions exist. Here we have in our western hemisphere people face to face with absolute starvation. The Red Cross will place its own agent in Mexico and through the State Department in co-operation with the United States Consuls there such supplies as may be purchased with the contributions or given in kind will be distributed among the suffering non-combatants.

All contributions of money will be gratefully received by the Mass. Treas., F. L. HIGGINSON, JR., at 44 State st., Boston.

WHY HE WENT TO A CONCERT

Josef Hofmann has a story which illustrates the attitude of many people toward recitals of piano music.

A pianist was to give a concert, and as the audience was filing in the ticket taker stopped a man who presented two tickets.

"You can't go in," the official said. "You're not in fit condition."

"Didn't I pay for my tickets?" questioned the would-be auditor. "Aren't they in order?"

"They're perfectly in order," was the reply, "but the truth is you're drunk."

"Drunk? Drunk?" mused the other, solemnly placing the passports in his pocket. "Of course I'm drunk. If I weren't drunk would I come to a piano recital?"

Many people take your advice—but few ever use it.

DIED SUDDENLY AT MANCHESTER

James Gillis, age 63 years, 8 months, of 95 Haskell st., one of Beverly Farms' respected residents, passed away suddenly last Monday afternoon, his death being due to heart failure. He was a blacksmith by trade and had been employed for years by Austin Morley the Manchester contractor. Being taken suddenly ill he was removed to Dr. Blaisdell's office in that town and later removed to his home in Beverly Farms, passing away soon after his arrival. The deceased was a hard working man of retiring disposition and quiet in his manners. He had many friends and was very popular with his fellow workmen. He was a charter member of the O. W. Holmes council, K. of C. Besides a widow he left seven children,—five sons and two daughters—Hugh, John and James Gillis of New York, Joseph and Alex. Gillis of Beverly Farms, Mrs. Margaret Parker of Boston and Miss Annie Gillis of the Beverly Farms telephone exchange. Funeral services were held on Wednesday morning at St. Margaret's church and interment made at St. Mary's cemetery of Montserrat.

HORACE LOVETT PIERCE

Horace Lovett Pierce, a well known resident of Pride's Crossing, son of the late Thomas L. and Abbie A. Pierce, passed away last Monday after a long illness. He attended the Beverly High school and later took an interest in theatricals. For a time he was a member of the Castle Square Theatre Co. in Boston and filled many roles. Later he was employed at the Hovey store in Boston at which time ill-health compelled him to seek a rest. He was popular with his companions and was of a happy disposition. Besides a widow and one son he leaves a sister, Mrs. Steele of Middleton, and three brothers, Edward W. and Samuel Pierce of Beverly Farms, and William L. Pierce of Bar Harbor, Me. Funeral services were held Thursday and interment made at the Beverly Farms cemetery.

FRENCH WOUNDED EMERGENCY FUND.

The committee of the New England branch of the French Wounded Emergency fund, with headquarters at 351 Boylston st., Boston, is calling for help to carry on its merited work in the small hospitals of France. A letter sent out by Mrs. Jasper Whiting, chairman of the committee, says: "The French wounded are, of course, greatly in excess of the English as their armies are so much larger. Their resources have been taxed to the utmost, for they must care, not only for their own men, but for the more seriously wounded of the British who cannot be taken across the Channel.

"All the small towns are full to overflowing with refugees and prisoners as well. Schools, hotels, stations, churches and private houses have been hastily equipped but are very much handicapped as it is literally impossible to get even the simplest hospital supplies in France, the northern manufacturing district being occupied by the Germans.

"The French Wounded Emergency Fund is extensively organized and through volunteer agents keeps in close touch with over 225 of the small provincial hospitals. Orders are filled in London and delivered where required within a week.

"It is for us in America to see that the Central Bureau in Lowndes square is kept well supplied so that the frightful suffering so cheerfully borne by the soldiers may be somewhat alleviated. All articles sent from the Boston headquarters will be stamped with the name of the New England Branch of the French Wounded Emergency Fund, so that

WORLD'S GREATEST SHOWS AND SPECTACLE "SOLOMON AND THE QUEEN OF SHEBA" NOW ON WAY.

Official information confirms the announcement that on Tuesday, June 8, Ringling Brothers' circus will give two performances in Salem.

Many new features have been added this year, the most notable of which is the spectacle "Solomon and the Queen of Sheba." This colossal production is presented with a cast of 1,250 people, a ballet of 300 dancing girls, 735 horses, and a trainload of scenery, costumes and properties on the biggest stage in the world.

Following the spectacle, a circus program of unusual brilliancy will be presented, including an array of foreign and American acts new to the circus world. The menagerie contains 1,003 wild animals, 41 elephants, and a "baby zoo." The circus is transported on 89 double length cars. Special arrangements have been made by the railroads to accommodate the crowds that will visit the circus from this vicinity.

BEVERLY FARMS

Wednesday evening in Marshall's hall, St. Margaret's Court of Foresters gave a public social and dance the proceeds of which is to be devoted to the fund for paying for the new addition to the St. John's Preparatory school at Danvers. Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. John Hallisey gave a whist party at their home on Haskell st., the funds received from which will be used for the same purpose.

Thomas Larson, a former well known Pride's Crossing young man, has been reported as quite ill in Chicago, his present residence.

Last evening at the Centerville church an entertainment was given under the auspices of the Young Men's Class. One of the features of the program was a talk by Ralph W. Osborne, on his recent trip to the Panama Exposition.

From appearances at the present time Beverly Farms is not likely to have a baseball team such as it has had the past few years. This is due to the inability of financing such a team. Last year the baseball committee received such poor support that it was a personal financial loss to each member and it is doubtful if they will care again this year to carry on a losing proposition. It seems too bad that this is the case because Beverly Farms certainly enjoys a good ball game, but the place is hardly large enough to pay the bills as such a team as has represented Beverly Farms in the past will ensue. However, there is a movement on foot to form a team composed of local talent with a few from the outside. This team, if started, will be in practically the same class as a High school team.

Miss Mary White, proprietor of the local dry goods store on West st., has been ill the past week and was ordered to the Beverly Hospital for treatment, where she has been reported to be getting along quite nicely.

Preston Post, 188, G. A. R., wishes to thank all who aided them in carrying out the Memorial Day exercises and also for the liberal contribution of flowers.

The Beverly Farms Branch of the Improvement Society held its monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edwin F. Campbell, Vine st. Matters pertaining to the general improvement and beautifying of the village was gone into and arrangements made for carrying out the work. Following the business session there was a social hour and refreshments were served.

THOUGHT is the MAINSPRING of LIFE

IF you want something good or don't feel that you are getting just what you would like for your table—We have it—Think of us. We began business in a small way 8 years ago, have enlarged our store three times,—and now we have the largest floor space and most complete food stock on the North Shore. There's a reason. Think it over! Foresight and Thought lead to Health and Happiness.

Services at Beverly Farms on Memorial Day were carried out as per program printed in last week's BREEZE. Nature was kind to the veterans for the day was one of the best. Preston Post, 188, G. A. R., headed by the police, Beverly Farms band and the Beverly Farms firemen as escorts, with Andrew Standley camp, S. of V., marched over the route to the cemetery where they were joined by Preston, W. R. C., and the school children. The ritual service was carried out at the cemetery as was the usual exercises at West Beach. In the evening there was a large attendance at the Baptist church when Rev. Frank P. Cressey of Cambridge delivered a most excellent address.

Miss Sophia Bennett of Greenwood ave. left Wednesday for a trip to California and the Panama exposition. She is one of a party of out of town young ladies who are making the trip.

Howard P. Williams has been on a vacation trip, by the Merchants & Miners line, to Newport News and Norfolk, Va.

The Boys choir of St. John's church will give an entertainment in Neighbor's hall at 8 o'clock, June 10th, for the benefit of the camp fund. Vocal and instrumental music will be given. Glees sung by the choir and a farce entitled, "The Tramps Convention," will be part of the program. Admission 35 and 50c.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank X. Gaudreau was reminded of its being their 10th wedding anniversary last Sunday by receiving many calls from neighbors and friends, quite a party coming from Salem to offer their congratulations and best wishes. A pleasing feature was a number of presents which they received as a material reminder in the future of this happy occasion.

NORUMBEGA PARK

For refined outdoor amusement, this famous resort at Auburndale on the Charles is the best appointed of all the pleasure resorts of Greater Boston. Renowed for its beautiful landscape gardening the early summer floral display, this year, is more luxuriant than ever before. Every care is taken by the management, in the protection of its trees and shrubs, so that the pest annoyance of many public resorts is not found here.

The baby animals in the Zoological Gardens attract thousands of visitors, who find the baby bears of constant amusement with their almost childish antics and frolics. The monkey house is also a source of much interest.

Next week Mat Ott's latest musical success, under the very appropriate military title "On the March" will be presented every afternoon and evening at the open-air theatre.

An attractive sign, "Tunipoo Inn," has been placed at the junction of Oak and West sts., calling the attention of passers-by to this most attractive and hospitable inn. An electric sign has also been installed upon the Inn itself. There is quite an encouraging booking ahead for guests and the prosperity of the future of Beverly Farms' new hotel. The Tunipoo Inn seems to be a very bright spot.

Preston W. R. C. has planned a very nice entertainment to take place in the assembly hall of the Beverly Farms school for the observance of Flag Day, on the evening of June 14th. The public is cordially invited to be present.

John West colony, Pilgrim Fathers, will hold its regular business meeting in Marshall's hall this evening.

The oiling of the various streets at Beverly Farms during the past week has kept Foreman George F. Wood and his men pretty well on the jump in preparing the surfaces and covering the oil with sand.

Members of Preston, W. R. C., plan to attend the quarterly meeting of the Essex County W. R. C. in Gloucester next Wednesday. They are to go by the auto bus line from Manchester.

8 PERFORMING POLAR BEARS

The opening of Paragon Park and its famous Palm Garden last Saturday was most auspicious and patrons who, in former years, have made this their favorite sea-side resort greeted with acclamation the many improvements and innovations in amusement features inaugurated this season. For ten years the success of Paragon Park has been due to the policy of the management to offer only the very latest and best idea in Cabaret, for their guests. Following out the very latest idea in Cabaret now in vogue in the famous Broadway restaurants, this feature of the Palm Garden this season will comprise the Broadway Musical Revue with 25 stunning show girls direct from the Great White Way, under the direction of the Broadway favorite, Mr. Martin Brennan. Thé Dansants will be conducted along the same lines as last season, but this year guests may witness both entertainments without leaving their tables.

NOVELTY

"Were you in the Easter parade?" "No," replied Mr. Meekton. "I stood off and looked on. I kind of enjoyed seeing Henrietta engaged in a hike that didn't look like some kind of a political procession."

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffing, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils; let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly.

It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable.

ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE FOR THE TROOPS.

Over 100,000 packages of Allen's Foot-Ease, the antiseptic powder to Shake into your Shoes or dissolve in the foot-bath, are being used by the German and Allied troops at the front. It rests the feet, prevents friction of the shoe and makes walking easy. Sold everywhere, 25c. Sample sent FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus driving a cold from the system.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB BACKACHE AND LUMBAGO RIGHT OUT

Rub Pain and Stiffness away with a small bottle of old honest
St. Jacobs Oil

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a 25 cent bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right into the pain or ache, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the ache and pain right out of your back and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica and lame back misery so promptly!

This wide-base Mahogany Clock is one of the most popular that has ever been brought out. It is an aristocrat among Clocks. When placed upon a mantle it has the appearance of being "built in".

Briefly this clock may be described as follows :

Base measures 10 1-2 inches ; height 5 1-2 inches ; dial 3 1-2 inches in diameter, white porcelain with black figures ; carved solid Mahogany case ; fine eight-day, quick-beat movement. No. Q205, price $7.50.

Q209 Same style Clock, 8-inch base, 4 1-2 inches high, 2-inch dial, $5.50.

Q210 Same style as Q209, fitted with one-day time and intermittent alarm movement. Alarms every twenty seconds for five minutes. Has shut-off switch. $5.50.

One of these clocks makes a handsome and useful wedding gift. They are guaranteed time-pieces.

The prices include delivery anywhere within the United States.

The North Shore in Colonial Days

How Montserrat, Pride's Crossing, Manchester, Etc., Obtained Their Names

By HELENE SHERMAN

II.

LAST week our article on "History and Tradition along the North Shore" closed with an account of Beverly, the Garden City, and this week we are concerned with the various bits of story which are charmingly interwoven with the development of Beverly's outskirts, which are among the most popular and most beautiful of all the North Shore resorts. The first of these is Montserrat which within such a comparatively short time has been built up with pretty, modest little cottages that seem to grow out of the woods and rocks of Prospect Hill. The name, Montserrat, is very old, appearing in the biblical histories in its present form, as Mons Serratus in the Latin, as Monte Serrado in Spanish and as Montserrat in Switzerland and other mountainous countries of Europe. All of this gives a wealth of material from which to select the origin of the name as it appears in New England and the most plausible, as well as the most interesting account takes us back through the years of our early trade with the South, through the discoveries of Columbus to the period of religious fervor as early as 717.

It seems probable that in this instance the name, Montserrat, was borrowed at an unknown date from one of the islets of the Lesser Antilles from a group called Leeward Islands. One, which bears the name of Montserrat, is about equally distant from Nevis, the birth-place of Alexander Hamilton; from Antiqua, where our own Governor Winthrop's son, Samuel, lived and died as deputy-governor; from Guadeloupe and from other points where we have traded since earliest days. May not some hardy skipper, a man of no small respect in his own community, who spent the summer in perilous fishing off Grand Menan and Georges Banks and the winter supplying the catholic tables of the Carribean with salt cod, bringing back to our New England distilleries the juice of the cane, have named his section Montserrat. Early trade between Beverly and the Sugar Islands is an established fact which seems to give some authority for this supposition.

This one of the Leeward Islands, from which we believe Montserrat to have been named, was discovered by Columbus just one year after his discovery of America, and he called it Montserrat because its towering, jagged face to the East reminded him of a strongly fortified crag, called Monte Serrado, near Barcelona in the Mediterranean. Monte Serrado is a rocky elevation about 4000 feet above sea level and at the hour of the Crucifixion it was cleft into pinnacles and peaks of terrifying grandeur. On one of the loftest peaks Charles V spent the latter part of his life at the famous old Benedictine Abbey, which is visited by pilgrims from all parts of the world on account of the incomparable and wonderful old altar plate, candlesticks and vestments. It is a monastic shrine of refuge dedicated to the Virgin and it was the hiding place for the sacred ebon image of the Virgin from the Moors in 717. In 1881 Pope Leo XIII blessed the image and honored it with a silver crown.

There is a brief, and rather sad story connected with Pride's Crossing, where the most beautiful estates and homes the length of the North Shore are to be found. Years ago Peter Pride received the grant of an immense tract of land and built his home near the spot where the postoffice now stands. The grant was made to him on the condition that he direct all travellers passing by, and he did this for many years until the place came to be known as Pride's Crossing. The property there passed from one Pride to another until the beginning of the halcyon days when the place was first developed as a summer resort. Perhaps the Pride who held the land at that time was less "canny" than the Prides that had gone before; at any rate he sold his birthright for a mere song and the story says that, being later overcome with remorse, he hanged himself.

Not far from Pride's Crossing is a pretty little beach, which is called Mingo Beach, and there is a story about it and the man for whom it is named that is, perhaps, a little happier than the Pride's Crossing tradition. The beach is near the supposed site of the humble cottage of one Robin Mingo, a negro slave, the property of Thomas Woodbury. Mingo married an Indian woman, Deborah Tailor, and they agreed to remain in the service of Mr. Woodbury until his death when they were to be released with only two suits of clothes suitable to such persons. Small recompense for a lifetime of faithful service, we think, but not so hard a bargain according to the times, perhaps. On July 15, 1722, Robin Mingo was baptised and admitted to the church in which faith he continued until he died in 1773. His master, it is said, promised him that he should have his freedom when the ebbing tide should leave a dry passage between Mingo beach and the rocky island promontory called Becky's Ridge. This has happened only once, on the day of his death, and Robin Mingo received a truer freedom than any his earthly master could grant.

Another part of Beverly that has even more important a section of that city since losing its identity as a village in the summer resort is Beverly Farms, where beautiful West Beach is a favored rendezvous for fashionable folk from June until October. In the early days this place was first called the Farms because it was comprised of two large farms, the property of John Black-leach, freeman, who received a grant of three hundred and more acres in 1635, later selling part of this land to John West of Ipswich. West's parcel of land extended from the Woodbury (or Paine) estate westerly to Jeffrey's Creek, now known as Manchester. John West's name still lingers about Beverly Farms in the families of his descendants and in the beautiful beach which bears his name because it bordered on his property.

Manchester, as has been suggested, was known as "Jeofferye's Creek" in colonial times. The place seems to have been named from a William Jeffreys, concerning whom surprisingly little is known, especially in consideration of the fact that the name still exists in the neighborhood. Jeffreys is supposed to have been a fisherman, who cast his lot with the Allens and the Normans when they abandoned the fishing station at Cape Ann in favor of newer fields. The sheltered situation of Manchester made it admirably adapted to their purposes and it became known as Jeffrey's Creek. The name is still applied to a ledge not far from the town. Jeffreys himself disappeared from the settlement in about the year 1633, but whether he returned to his old haunts at Plymouth, from which colony he is supposed to have come, or whether he was the William Jeffreys afterwards heard of at Ipswich, is not known. Certain it is that on May 14, 1645, the settlers of Jeffrey's Creek petitioned the Great and General Court at Salem to allow the village to be incorporated as a separate town and to take the name, Manchester, from old Manchester in England. For many years Manchester was allowed to remain quiet in the midst of her hidden charms but in 1845 Richard Henry Dana built the first summer residence there, thus discovering the picturesque little village to the outer world. The late James T. Fields, the publisher, who, also, had a summer home at Manchester, was the first to call the place Manchester-by-the-Sea.

The first settlers at Manchester landed at the sheltered beach, which afterwards received from the leader of the band, John Kettle, the name of Kettle Cove. This picturesque little bit of coast was called by the inhabitants Kettle Cove until about forty years ago when it became one of the most fashionable watering places of the Shore, which is only another way of saying, in the country. Then the late Andrew Fuller, a large property holder with more than the average amount of far-sightedness and fitness, named the place Magnolia from the beautiful Magnolia trees, which the initiated may find there in the depths of the woods. The flower magnolia is found nowhere else in Massachusetts and, some say, nowhere else north of Virginia. It was a Virginian, Christopher Bearse Cranch, who wrote the following lines about the graceful blossom:

"Majestic flower! How purely beautiful
Thou art, as rising from thy bower of green,
Those dark and glossy leaves so thick and full,

Thou standest like a high-born forest queen
Among thy maidens clustering round so fair;—
I love to watch thy sculptured form unfolding,
And look into thy depths to image there
A fairy cavern; and while thus beholding,
And while thy breeze floats o'er thee, matchless flower,
I breathe the perfume, delicate and strong,
That comes like incense from thy petal bower;
My fancy roams those southern woods along Beneath that glorious tree, where deep among
The unsunned leaves thy large white flower-cups hung."

Although the credit of naming the town is due to Mr. Fuller, the title, Magnolia, had been used in the community at a much earlier period. In the old stage-coach days there was a tavern at the corner of Magnolia avenue and Western avenue, which was called the Magnolia House or the Magnolia Hotel, being the first time so far as we know, that the name was used in the village. The house is now known as the Stanley cottage.

We hear of Captain John Smith again at Gloucester, for it was he who named the cape in honor of a Turkish lady, Tragabizanda, whom he had reason to remember for her kindness to him. His sovereign, Prince Charles of England, however, changed the name and called the place Cape Anne for his mother, Anne of Denmark. Cape Ann, as we spell it now, was one community and it included Gloucester, Rockport and the other cape towns vex before, all of which served to save oil. Captain and was bounded by Ipswich and Jeffrey's Creek. It was under the jurisdiction of Salem and in May of the year 1642, the residents of the prospering fishing village petitioned the General Court that they be incorporated as a separate town, bearing the name Gloucester, as many of them had come from the place of that name in England.

Wenham was settled at about the same time as Gloucester and was named Enon by the first settlers. It bore that name for only a few years, however, and on September 7, 1643, the Great and General Court at Salem ordered that "Enon shall be called Wennam. Wennam is granted to be a town and hath liberty to send a deputy." The town was doubtless named from the parish of Wenham in England.

The settlement of Ipswich is unique in the history of

Baker's Island—Some Interesting Facts

Concerning This Island and its Beacons, off the North Shore.

By KATHERINE GAUSS

THE growth of Baker's Island, as a summer resort has attracted a good deal of attention in the past few years. Only one new house is building this year, a pretty little cottage house for Henry R. Newcomb of New York, a leading man in the Fleischmann yeast organization, but others are in prospect so that the island will doubtless be pretty well covered with summer homes in a few years. It is certainly a delightful place, easily reached by a steamer line from Salem Willows, and many Salem and Boston business men find here at the end of the day a pleasant resting place and always a good night's sleep, for no matter how warm it may be on the mainland blankets are needed at night on the island five miles off at sea.

In early days Baker's Island was covered with heavy timber, which was all cut down, and now it is difficult to make a tree grow to any considerable size. Doctor Bentley, the pastor of the old East Church, who kept that wonderful diary of his times, which has just been published in four volumes, was a frequent visitor to Baker's Island going down frequently in the custom house boat. In 1791, long, of course, before the present lighthouses were built, he tells in his diary, that "the Marine Society proposes to build a beacon on the island" for the guidance of seamen entering port, and on the 29th of July the same year he says: "Yesterday the intended Beacon at Baker's Island was raised by a large and jovial party of our mariners. It is to be forty feet in height. Every exertion of this nature is to be considered as favorable to the public happiness and as a source of our good hopes for the improvement of our navigation."

In the eighteenth century Baker's Island was owned by a family of Irvings of England and an agent living in Salem was authorized to dispose of the land as he thought best. At that time there was one house near the wooden light house, enclosed in a square, with a garden running down to "a living spring." Fine Indian corn and garden vegetables were raised in this enclosure, but outside of it all was pasture land save for the few Juniper bushes scattered here and there. Rabbits were raised for many years in great abundance and their fur was sold to a ready market. In August, 1797, General and Dr. Bentley were among those who went to Baker's to see the breaking of ground for the new light-house, and he says on January of the following year that "as we returned upon the bridge from Beverly for the first time the Lights at the Light-House on Baker's Island were lighted" and describes it as "a very plain building." Besides important events of the day Dr. Bentley recorded various lighter scenes and in September speaks of rowing to the island, and on the way "saw the seals sporting in the offing and the porpoises playing. On the island was brought the dog fish taken near its shore. Upon our return the loon was entertaining us with its squalling," thus giving a pleasant picture of ordinary life.

In 1811 a story gained circulation that ore had been found on Baker's Island and General Dearborn, collector of Boston, with Dr. Bentley and others examined every part of the island with great care and found the whole island, like other islets round Salem, to be seated upon a mass of mixed and hard rock, and none of them promised any mineral substances which could be collected for use. It was suspected that the tale of the minerals arose from what had been heard at Plum Island, that a negro pretended to have found mineral substances of value and engaged several persons from Newburyport in the search and had borrowed a horse to go to the southward to find the man who promised to analyze them, but neither negro nor horse were ever heard of again. On the southeast side of the island was found a long vein of white rock which passed for a long distance, as a vein, in the bed of rocks in which it was found, never of a foot in width and near at hand were freshly dug excavations for money. While examining these rocks the party also visited the new light-house that had been erected and which had been made in conical shape from stone with patent lamps fitted with metallic reflectors behind and glass plano con-

THE annual meeting of the Essex County club at 7 o'clock Saturday evening will draw together the largest gathering of the year at that popular club, not particularly because it is the annual meeting—for annual meetings are sometimes postponed for lack of a quorum—but because the new club-house is open for inspection on that evening—for members only. A dinner, which will be informal, will follow the business meeting and the inspection will follow the dinner.

The First Unitarian church on Masconomo st., Manchester, will open for the summer Sunday, June 13, when Dr. Francis G. Peabody of Harvard College will preach.

Mrs. Frederic L. W. Richardson of "Laneside," Charles River, has been spending a few days on the North Shore this week with Mrs. Boylston A. Beal, at Manchester.

The Misses Rhoades of 38 Lime st., Boston, have closed their town residence and are on the North Shore for the summer. At present they are at West Manchester, at the house on Boardman hill occupied by their neice, Mrs. C. Howard Clark, Jr., and family of Philadelphia. Mr. and Mrs. Clark will not come to the North Shore until the last of June, when the Misses Rhoades will probably go elsewhere for the balance of the summer.

The John Chess Ellsworths of South Bend, Indiana, have arrived at their new home in Manchester Cove. The Ellsworths have spent the past ten years in various places along the coast, but in choosing a permanent summer home, they found no more charming place than in the heart of the North Shore. Mrs. Ellsworth was Alice Chalifoux of Lowell. Mr. Ellsworth is connected with the dry goods business in the west, and is also vitally interested in the Chalifoux store of Lowell. They bought Dr. Tenney's house at Manchester Cove last autumn.

THE North Shore sesason is getting into its usual lively swing, despite the cool and backward weather. All along the coast the cottages have been opened up and already there is more or less entertaining. With the opening of the big hotels and clubs at Magnolia, Swampscott and Gloucester the coming week, nothing will be lacking to put the final touch on the social activities of the 1915 season for mid-June.

Mrs. E. A. Whipple and son, George N. Whipple of Boston, have arrived at their summer home in West Manchester this week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Higginson of Lincoln, plan to occupy their bungalow on the Higginson estate at West Manchester early in July.

The Quincy A. Shaw, Jr., of 11 Exeter st., Boston, are settled at their North Shore home, "Pompey's Garden," Pride's Crossing, for the season.

The Misses Paine of 21 Brimmer st., Boston, are among the week's arrivals at Pride's Crossing.

Mrs. John T. Willets and son Howard Willets of New York city are among the cottage arrivals at Magnolia this week. They have the Hayden cottage, so delightfully located back from the village on the edge of the shore.

Captain and Mrs. Charles W. Littlefield of Kansas City, Mo., who are among the new-comers to Manchester this year, will arrive at the Bradbury cottage, Smith's Point, next Monday or Tuesday. The house has already been opened and made ready for occupancy. Captain and Mrs. Littlefield have been spending their summers at Magnolia, with mid-season visits to Europe. They were in Europe last summer when the war broke out.

NOTABLE among the numerous June weddings was that last Saturday of Miss Hope Norman and Elliot Cowdin Bacon, which took place at St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Beverly. It was of widespread interest as it united two families prominent in Boston and New York, in Newport and at the North Shore. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Norman (Louisa Palfrey) of Boston, who have a wonderfully attractive estate, "Bee Rock," on Prince street at Beverly Cove, and who spend their midsummer seasons at Newport. Mr. Bacon is the youngest son of Robert Bacon, former ambassador to France, and of Mrs. Bacon, who before her marriage was Miss Martha Cowdin. He was graduated from Harvard with the class of 1910. He is a member of various leading clubs. His only sister, Martha Bacon, married George Whitney of New York. One of his brothers, Gaspar G. Bacon, of Jamaica Plain, Harvard, '08, married Miss Priscilla Toland of Philadelphia, and another, Robert L. Bacon, Harvard, '07, married Miss Virginia Murray of New York. The bride is a niece of Maxwell and Reginald Norman, as she is of Mrs. Bryce J. Allan, whose summer estate, "Allanbank," on Hale street, almost overlooks the Norman estate, "Bee Rock." Mrs. Frederick H. Prince of Boston and Wenhams Neck, and Mrs. E. Preble Motley are other aunts of the bride, as is Mrs. William R. Hunter of New York and Newport. The engagement of Miss Norman to Mr. Bacon was announced the last part of March, while she was in Aiken, S. C., with her parents. The limited seating capacity of St. Peter's Church made it impossible to invite, to witness the ceremony, many people other than the numerous relatives on both sides, and intimate friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. James P. Franks, rector of Grace Church, Salem, who was assisted by Rev. Eugene J. V. Huiginn of St. Peter's. Mr. Norman gave his daughter in marriage. The bride's attendants formed an interesting group, made up of Miss Phyllis Sears and Miss Olivia Ames, both of Boston and Pride's Crossing; Miss Josephine Rantoul of Beverly Farms; Miss Ruth Gaston of Boston; Miss Elaine Denégre of New Orleans and West Manchester, and Miss Margaret Perin of Washington, D. C. The bridesmaids were all dressed alike in striped mauve and blue gowns, with which hats to match were worn. They each carried a bunch of old-fashioned stock, of mauve and pink shades. Robert Low Bacon was his brother's best man, and the ushers were his other brother, Gaspar Bacon, together with John E. Thayer, Jr., George Peabody Gardner, Jr., Roger Amory, Sullivan A. Sargent, Jr., and John Revere Chapin, all of Boston; William Fellowes Morgan, Jr., of New York; Gilbert Mather of Philadelphia, and Thomas S. Blumer of Providence, R. I., all exception of Gaspar Bacon. After the ceremony at the classmates of the bridegroom at Harvard, 1910, with the little church, a reception was held at "Bee Rock," where a wedding breakfast was served. For the reception a far larger number of guests had been invited than it was possible to ask to the church, and the occasion was largely al fresco, the attractively planned gardens, Italian in character, lending themselves admirably to an out-of-doors gathering at this season. A string orchestra furnished music for dancing, in which diversion many guests indulged. Mr. Bacon and his bride are to live in New York city, where he has his business interests. Mr. and Mrs. Norman, the bride's parents, will soon go to their summer place in Newport, for the season, returning in the fall to "Bee Rock," which is kept open throughout the season for occasional visits to the North Shore. Miss Norman proved a most distinguished and attractive bride. One could not help noting the great resemblance between she and her aunt, Mrs. Bryce J. Allan. Her graceful gown of white duchesse satin was almost covered with rare old applique lace, which has been long in the family. The bodice had a V-shaped neck and was fashioned with long tulle sleeves. The skirt was flounced with lace, and there was an overdrapery of the same material, while the court train was more than ordinarily long. The veil was becomingly arranged with orange blossoms. The costumes worn at the church were most attractive. While the younger element was much in evidence, and the girls in their exquisite frocks created no little attention, the older set was especially worthy of admiration. Noticeably charming was Mrs. Frederick H. Prince, in her gown of taffeta in the new tobacco shade, which was almost veiled with real lace, and Mrs. Charles P. Curtis was at her best in a fascinating frock of white organdie with a corded skirt, and flounces. As is always the case Mrs. Francis L. Higginson was beautifully attired, her gown being of white embroidered lace, to which her sash of rose pink gave a pleasing note of color, and Mrs. Henry E. Russell looked especially well in brown taffeta, with corded skirt and flounces. Mrs. Thomas S. Bradlee presented a picturesque appearance in a quaint frock made with a big skirt, which suggested an old-time portrait, and there were effective touches of pink and a fetching little berthe of dotted muslin. Then there were Mrs. Charles G. Rice in a beautiful creation of gray embroidered satin, which became her especially well; Mrs. McMichael, in a chic suit of tan colored crepe, and Mrs. George Mandell, who selected for her costume changeable taffeta in tones of champagne and gray, elaborated with lace. Among the frocks donned by the young girls were exquisite lingerie affairs, several of the prettiest having coats of rose and blue taffeta, done with white fox fur.

THE LURE OF THE NORTH SHORE FOR WESTERNERS! Never before has the fashionable world made such a discovery, survey and settlement of America as it has undertaken this season. And never before has it so believed that no one has seen America who has not seen the North Shore. And never before has the charm of the North Shore and its immediate vicinity lured hither so many Chicagoans who were seemingly confirmed Lake Forest habitues. But that delightful and most exclusive of western resorts has been deserted this summer by many of the most prominent families who are either renting their estates or keeping them partially open in readiness for the early fall.

Prominent among the arrivals on the North Shore are the Arthur Meekers of Chicago and Lake Forest who have taken the Kerr bungalow at Marblehead Neck. Mr. Meeker is at the head of the Armour plant in the stock yards. Recently they have moved into their immense new house on the Lake Shore drive, designed by Charles C. Platt of New York. The architect has said of it that he knew of no residence in any great city to touch it for beauty and commanding location. The Meekers are very active in the social and philanthropic life of Chicago. They are keenly interested in the Garden club which supports an expert farmer to supervise a large tract of vacant property being worked by the unemployed. This is the largest work of its kind in this country and is modeled after the municipal gardens in Germany. Prominent in raising funds for the cause are Mrs. Joseph Cudahy, Mrs. Hugh McBirney and Mrs. Charles Burrall Pike. The Meekers formerly summered at Beverly Farms for several years.

The Charles Burrall Pikes are among the new-comers to the Shore having taken a house in West Manchester. The Pikes formerly summered in Lake Forest where the remains of their once lovely house now saddens the view on the bluff high above the lake. Mr. Pike is a prominent banker of Chicago.

Among other Chicagoans who are wedded to the North Shore and have spent their summers here for some time until this season are the Russell Tysons of the north side. Mrs. Tyson has been busily engaged all winter with the Red Cross sewing shop movement in Chicago which gave daily employment to destitute women. She had special charge of the shop at the Eli Bates settlement house. They are to summer at Brattleboro, Vt.

Another prominent north side family who come regularly are the James B. Wallers. They are intensely interested just now in the French Flying Field hospital work and it was through their efforts largely that one of the prettiest garden fetes ever given on the Lake Shore drive was held in May and netted a considerable amount for that worthy cause. Mr. Waller is a member of the Lake Forest Onwentsia club, Saddle and Cycle, University and Chicago Golf clubs. Mrs. Waller holds a prominent office in the Fortnightly, Chicago's most exclusive club.

The Lowell M. Chapins of Chicago will also be among the Manchester cottagers at "Edgewood," Mrs. Chapin (Elizabeth Chalifoux) has spent former seasons here with her mother, Mrs. J. L. Chalifoux of Lowell and Magnolia. The Chapins have recently purchased a beautiful Chicago home on Astor street, adjoining the famous "castle" residence of Mrs. Potter Palmer, which fronts on Lake Shore drive in the midst of the north side section. Mr. Chapin is connected with mining and iron works in the West.

In Magnolia at "Sun Dial" cottage is where the John B. Drake family and the H. W. Farnums of the south side have spent some time. Mrs. Farnum was Lillian Drake. Mr. Drake is connected with the Blackstone hotel, his brother Tracy C. Drake being president of the Blackstone Hotel Co.—the most ultra-modern of the Chicago hotels.

Pride's Crossing also has a Chicago connection in the William H. Moore family of New York, formerly of Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Small Moore make their home at Lake Forest, not far from Highland Park, the home of the late Mrs. Small, the mother of Mrs. W. H. Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Hewitt of No. State street, Chicago, who spent some time at the Plaza Hotel, New York, before going on to Marblehead, are occupying "Raycroft," the summer home of Mrs. S. B. Raymond of Chicago. The cottage is an attractive one located on Peach's point.

Over in the charming North Beverly and Wenham lake region the Hendricks H. Whitmans of Boston are summering on Bulrush Farm. Mrs. Whitman was Adelaide Chatfield-Taylor of Chicago. She was the matron of honor at the Ayer-Rice wedding last summer. During May Mrs. Whitman and the little Rose Farwell Whitman visited in her former Lake Forest home, "Fairlawn," which was opened early in the season by the H. C. Chatfield-Taylors. Mrs. Chatfield-Taylor is a frequent visitor on the North Shore.

Mrs. Joseph S. Ford of Chicago and Highland Park spent May at her cottage in Magnolia. She has rented the cottage here and will stay in Highland Park this summer.

At Ipswich, Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Crane, Jr., of 1550 Lake Shore Drive have one of the most showy and interesting places in the summer colony. Their Chicago home is situated in the most exclusive part of the famous drive with a wonderful outlook upon Lake Michigan and Lincoln Park, the finest of all Chicago's parks. They had planned an extensive trip to the south, but abandoned it on account of Mr. Crane's poor health and came on to their home "Castle Hill" early in the season. Mrs. Crane's brother, Harlow H. D. Higinbotham and family also live on the Ipswich estate. Mrs. Higinbotham and children came two months earlier than usual and opened the Crane house. The Higinbothams live in a beautiful country home at Joliet, Ill., on the banks of Hickory Creek. The Lincoln Highway runs a long distance past the various Higinbotham estates, as much of the land in the vicinity is owned by Mrs. Crane's father, H. N. Higinbotham, who makes his home with the Cranes. Mr. Higinbotham has always been actively interested in the charities of Chicago, taking a prominent part in many organizations helping needy children. Mr. Crane is a member of several prominent clubs in the city, among them being the Onwentsia at Lake Forest, the Saddle and Cycle, South Shore Country and Chicago Athletic club. Charles R. Crane, brother of R. T. Crane, Jr., of the Ipswich colony, who has until the past few months been a resident of Chicago, now claims New York and Wood's Hole, Mass., as his permanent abodes. At Wood's Hole is the family summer home. Here Mr. Crane has become greatly interested in the biological laboratories and has given liberally in their support. His daughter, Frances R. Crafe, who married R. W. Leatherbee is living on a large farm in Lake Forest. Mr. Leatherbee was former superintendent of the immense Crane plant in Chicago and is working out in a very unique way factory efficiency methods applied to farm work in regard to food eaten by man and beast and compared to amount of work done.

On Cape Ann, at Annisquam, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene A. Bournique of Highland Park have taken a house for the summer. They will be joined by their son Joy Curtis Bournique, who is at Yale.

Another Chicago home on the Cape is over on Eastern Point at the extreme tip of the point. Here the John Clays of Chicago have a beautiful place called "Finisterre." If there is any place on the Cape where there is always a house full of guests it is here. Mrs. Clay is very prominent in the social life of East Gloucester and always spends a long season on the shore. Mr. Clay is a member of the Midlothian club of Chicago. Next to the Clays is the home of Arthur G. Leonard prominently connected with the Union Stock Yards of Chicago. The Leonards represent the south side social life of Chicago and Mr. Leonard is connected with the South Shore Country club, Chicago and Kenwood clubs.

Although the exodus eastward has been larger than usual Lake Forest will still have a very fashionable colony. The place boasts of extensive and beautiful estates, many having a charming old-world air, great ravines and high bluffs from which a magnificent view of the lake is obtained.

Lake Forest this summer are Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Field, 3d. It will be recalled that their marriage took place last winter in New York and that after an extended trip to the Pacific coast they visited Mrs. Maldwin Drummond, Mr. Field's mother, who is living in London, and also spent several weeks with Mrs. Field's mother, Mrs. Charles Marshall of New York who was engaged in hospital work in Paris. The Fields have taken one of the handsome new apartment houses at 1200 Lake Shore drive for the present. Others occupying the house are Mr. and Mrs. A. Watson Armour and Mr. and Mrs. Philip D. Armour, 3d. The Philip D. Armours returned from their wedding trip in May and will also be in Lake Forest. Mrs. Armour's mother, Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine of New York will spend an unusually long time this summer at her western home, Danforth lodge, located in Oconomowoc, a beautiful resort region near Chicago. Mrs. Armour, who was before her marriage in January the beautiful Miss Gwendolin Condon of New York, will occupy an enviable position among the new matrons of Lake Forest this summer.

The Armours also have connections in Manchester, at "Crowhurst" where the F. Meredith Whitehouses make their home. Mrs. Whitehouse was Mary G. Armour, sister to Allison V. Armour. In Lake Forest is located the extensive farms and estate of the J. Ogden Armours.

THE DAY OF THE SUBMARINE has come when efficiency is considered. It is a question now if the use of the submarine in warfare will not be one of the great questions of the War Council. The Lusitania has taught the world the effectiveness of a single torpedo. Considered purely as a scientific incident that event was a great one in the history of the science of war.

THE visit of one of the divisions of the Atlantic fleet of the U. S. N. to Rockport the latter part of July will give added life to the social doings along the North Shore for that week. Naval balls at the hotels and functions of greater or less importance will mark the event, which is always of great importance socially. The division will probably arrive July 20 and will remain until July 30, according to present plans.

Mrs. John W. Blodgett of Grand Rapids, Mich., has arrived on the North Shore for the summer, and is again located at the attractive Saltonstall house, overlooking the bay near Mingo Beach, Pride's Crossing. Mr. Blodgett is on a trip to the Exposition in California.

Mrs. Donovan of St. Joseph, Mo., widow of the late Col. John Donovan has hired the Fuller cottage at Magnolia for the season, and is already settled there to remain until the last of September.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Groves and daughter Sallie of Kansas City are on the way East and expect to arrive at Manchester the first of next week, to remain until late September as usual.

Owing to illness the E. R. Campbells of New York have cancelled their summer plans. They had leased the Col. H. E. Russell house at Manchester Cove, but it is understood they will not come to the North Shore this year. Col. and Mrs. Russell had planned to take a camp in Maine, but they will now probably spend the summer here.

A LOST FRIEND

Lines written at Hexham, England, in 1911, on loosing my bead-embroidered, sealskin tobacco pouch, which was given to me in Labrador in 1906 by my Eskimo guide.

Farewell, farewell, my pocket friend,
Wide hast thou roamed with me,
From distant Bradore's dreary shore
To Iceland's combing sea.

In nights of toil I've sharde thy cheer,
In sorrows bitter hour,
A friend, when other friends have failed
To hold me with their power.

When angling in New England glens,
Or tracking Scottish heather,
From ridge and klegg thou kepst me free
In every kind of weather,—

Or, where Jan Mayen blocks the ice
Within the Polar main;
Or Hekla rears his fiery crown
O'er Iceland's blistered plain.

On lone Iona's sacred pile,
In Melrose's haunted tower,
Came visions of the stirring past
Through thy enchanting power.

Where Romans laid their massive wall
'Twixt Solway and the Tyne,—
Or, in the musty Saxon crypt
Of Wilfred's chiseled shrine.

Some Circe summoned thee from me
To fair Aegian shore;
Or, Wyrd, to vales of mystic north,
To roam with me no more.

A Spot of Rare Beauty Worth Visiting

ONE of the beauty spots of Essex County, in the month of June, may be found in the old historic town of West Newbury, where are located the famous Cherry Hill Nurseries, known all over the country. Like many another thing worth seeing, if they were located several hundreds of miles away Essex County people would make pilgrimages there to enjoy their beauties, but being almost at our very doors, few people, comparatively, even know such a place exists.

Established nearly a century ago by George Thurlow, the grandfather of the present generation, and continued and improved by T. C. Thurlow, a genius in the growth of tree and plant life, and still continued in the family, the Cherry Hill Nurseries are known from the Atlantic to the Pacific for the superiority of their productions. At the great exposition at San Francisco, now in full swing, is a display of "iris" in which the Cherry Hill Nurseries specializes, that has attracted country-wide attention.

But one does not need to cross the continent to enjoy the glories of these beautiful flowering plants, for at West Newbury, on top of a hill is a great field of blue, in which there are thousands and thousands of flowers that reflect the azure of the skies. It is a wonderful sight and reminds one of the glory of the fields in Holland, the great bulb raising country across the sea. The wonderful beauty of the "Fleur-de-lis" is not the only attraction at the Thurlow farm, for there are four hundred and more named varieties of peonies in the ground and in the next week or two they will be in full flower and it is worth the ride to see these blossom, if for nothing more.

Some day run down in your machine through Ipswich and Rowley, or over through Topsfield and Boxford, to the Cherry Hill Nurseries, and you will be repaid for your ride. The roads are plainly marked with directions how to get there and the wonderful hedges, twenty-eight feet high, of Norway spruces, forty years old and the other stately and shapely trees upon the place, will delight your soul, even if the flowers do not excite your raptures.

As Peonies Grow at Cherry Hill

Incidentally it is perhaps interesting to note that the Cherry Hill Nurseries are going to make a new departure this year and will hold flower shows about the county, the first being announced for Wednesday at Haverhill and later, in the month, the 24th, 25th and 26th, a fine showing of peonies will be made at Almy, Bigelow & Washburn's store in Beverly.

THE OCEANSIDE HOTEL at Magnolia will open for the season next Thursday—June 17th—with a large advance booking, the biggest in the history of the big hostelry. If hot weather prevails next week there is no doubt but that the hotel will start with a full quota for June. The hotel proper, with its score of cottages and Annex (the former Hesperus House) will be filled to overflowing by the first of July, unless something goes amiss.

The big plant is in prime condition for the summer. The hotel proper and connections have been put in trim with minor improvements and alterations all along the line. The grounds are already showing the result of careful work and painstaking efforts, and the tennis courts are ready for use.

Among those who have been at the Magnolia Inn for visits of varied duration have been Mrs. D. O. Marshall, Mrs. A. S. Burnham, Mrs. C. E. Fisher, Miss Ida Tappan, Mrs. A. W. Proctor, Mrs. Elias Burnham, Mrs. Edward B. Hallett, Miss Ella L. Proctor, and Mrs. Nathaniel Babson, all of Gloucester, who were guests at a luncheon given by Mrs. T. H. Hunt; Mrs. J. H. Walker and Miss Walker of Detroit, who have opened their own cottage here for the season; D. B. Brown of New York City; E. B. Howell, New York; Miss Himebaugh, New York; and Mrs. Emmons of Newton.

EXCELLENT GARAGE SERVICE

IPSWICH is preparing for a busy season. The Tea Houses are open or are preparing to open soon. Y^e Rose Tree Tea Room on the old Bay road to Rowley, will be open June 17th. Y^e Burnham House Tea Room, under the management of Mrs. Martha Murray, the same as in former years, has been opened one week. A large party was given at the Burnham House, June 7th, by Miss Dorothy Z. Biddle of Amesbury. Mrs. Fred E. Smith, wife of the editor of the Newburyport News, entertained Tuesday, at a bridge party. Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Smith of Brookline, who are summering in Gloucester also gave a luncheon for seven this week. Frequent visitors from Boston have been Mr. and Mrs. George Paraschos.

Y^e Rogers House Manse, one of the most beautiful Inns along the North Shore has been opened in Ipswich this spring. The Manse has all the conveniences of a first class hotel, and one is charmed by the cool looking rooms which are all furnished in quaint old Colonial style. The old house was built in 1728 by Nathaniel Rogers. One of the most interesting features of the place is the dancing casino which resembles a Swiss chalet. Exhibitions in dancing are given every afternoon by Mrs. James C. White of New York and Boston and Souther Mead of Brookline. Social dancing and lessons in modern dancing are given also. Last Sunday Hon. A. Shuman of Boston entertained a party of ten in honor of his daughter, Mrs. I. A. Ratshesky, who is summering at Clifton. It was the twenty-first wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ratshesky.

Mrs. Albert Kohn and children of New York will come to the Underhill Farm to spend the summer with her mother, Mrs. N. R. Underhill. They will arrive about June 16th.

Moritz B. Philipp and family have arrived at their summer home, "Heartbreak Terrace" in Ipswich. Mr. Philipp is a prominent corporation lawyer in New York.

ROWLEY, that quaint little village on Newburyport Road, has an interesting and unique place for the summer visitor to pass an hour in which he will see the village children being entertained and instructed in many useful arts. Here may be seen a kindergarten of about twenty little tots meeting in a fine old room; several large sewing rooms; handsomely equipped sloyd and domestic science rooms; and an inviting reading room. There are also rooms for social use, the boys of the village having been organized into clubs and a scout brigade and the girls having several social clubs. The mothers meet once a week, and the older girls who work in the factory have an evening meeting for sewing. But the most unique thing about the place is the salesroom, where garments made by the various teachers and classes are for sale at moderate prices. Many of these garments have been sent to the Belgians and an order is being planned to send to Labrador this year. The stamp-saving for children is also one of the features of the place. The building is a fine old mansion standing near the Commons, built one hundred and forty years ago. The rooms have a very attractive appearance with the many modern equipments and touches of old time furnishings. There is a beautiful garden in the rear. The guiding spirit of the place is Mrs. M. D. Burlingame of Brookline, who oversees the settlement work with genuine love and sympathy. The settlement is known as "Fairview," and is open to visitors at any time. It is supported by one of the prominent residents in the vicinity.

RYE BEACH has fallen under the spell of the "See America first" season, and nowhere will this favorite slogan be more rapturously responded to than on the North Shore and the famous New Hampshire beaches. The season will find many from the far and middle west at Rye this year. This beach has always been a favorite resort for St. Louis people.

Mrs. David Calhoun of the St. Louis colony has decided to spend the summer in California and has rented her attractive cottage to the Ned Arden Floods of 970 Park ave., New York. This is the fifth season for the Floods, who are very prominent in the social life of the place. Their former seasons have been spent at the Farragut House, but this season Col. Flood has sought the quiet of a cottage home as he is engaged in political research work. He is connected with the banking house of Goldman Sachs & Co. on Wall street and is a promoter of various interests with more than local renown in New York. He gained early prominence as the publisher of the Chautauqua Magazine. The Floods took possession of the cottage early in June and will be joined later by their daughter, Miss Josephine, who has been a student at Dana Hall this year.

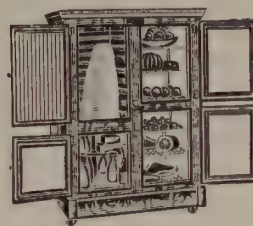

The Clement Studebaker, Jr., family of South Bend, Ind., will occupy the Farragut House bungalow. They will arrive the last of the month for their seventh season and will be joined by their children, Miss Esther of Dana Hall, and Clement, 3d, who is taking a course in Wentworth Institute, Boston. Mr. Studebaker has many manufacturing interests in the west and their home, "Elmcourt," on the outskirts of South Bend is one of the fairest and most picturesque places in the west. The garden covers acres of ground and the house, which is an immense gray pile, stands amidst a wonderfully beautiful architectural garden plan. Mrs. Studebaker was Alice Rhawn of Philadelphia. Mr. Studebaker is promiment in club life in Indiana, Chicago and Detroit. A brother's family, Col. and Mrs. George M. Studebaker of South Bend, arrived early in the month for their sixth season at their beautiful home "Breaknolle," at Little Boar's Head. Here Mrs. Studebaker spends a long and pleasant season and her home is always the hospitable rendezvous for many prominent westerners in their trips to the coast. Over the Fourth she will entertain Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Oliver of South Bend who are planning an extended motor trip through the east. Col. Charles Arthur Carlisle of Indiana, who with his charming family spent about ten seasons on the North Shore with homes at Gloucester, Magnolia and later at Swampscott, will doubtless spend part of this season with Col. and Mrs. Studebaker, notwithstanding the fact that Col. Carlisle is the Business Man's candidate for Governor of Indiana on the Republican ticket, and is making a vigorous state-wide campaign under the slogan "More Business and Less Politics." Mrs. Carlisle is a sister to the Studebaker brothers who have their homes at Rye. In the west the Col. Studebakers live at "Tippecanoe Place," the home of the late Clem Studebaker, in whose time it was the scene of a great many gatherings of national importance. Mrs. Clem Studebaker of "Tippecanoe Place" always spends part of the season at Rye with her sons.

The E. G. Eberhart family of South Bend and Mishawaka always spend the greater part of the season at the Farragut House. Their daughter Miss Myrna, who is attending Vassar college, will also be with them.

ALONG the New Hampshire and Maine coast, just outside the immediate North Shore region, but with the North Shore as the pivot about which they all revolve, are many western families already settled for the season.

At Biddeford Pool, Me., are some of Chicago's most noted society leaders. Mrs. C. Morse Ely of 909 Lake Shore drive who is so prominent in all of the social and philanthropic life of the city has rented her Lake Forest house to try a summer there. Also, the Charles Garfields have given up their house in Lake Forest to go to the Pool. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gillette of North State street, will occupy their cottage at this delightful resort during the summer.

At York Harbor, Me., is where Mrs. Bryan Lathrop of 120 Bellevue place has her summer home. Here she will be joined for a while this summer by Mrs. Thomas Lindsay of Boston, who visited at the Lathrop home in Chicago the past winter. Added to Mrs. Lathrop's many philanthropies has been the recent request of Paderewski that she organize the Chicago movement for the relief of the Poles.

At Bar Harbor, Me., is the beautiful home of the Robert Hall McCormicks of Chicago. The various McCormick families live in the heart of that noted region of the city known as the "north side" to which the charms of the lake are continually luring so many of the seemingly south siders, once the most fashionable part of the city. Mrs. McCormick is a sister to Mrs. Charles Thorn-dyke Parker of "Cotshabbie" in the Wenham colony. Mr. and Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick of the Virginia hotel, Chicago, will spend part of the summer at Bar Harbor. They have spent the last ten or fifteen years in England where their three sons were educated, but are now planning to remain in Chicago. The Harold McCormicks who are so prominent in connection with the grand opera life of Chicago will return from Switzerland in July and go to their Lake Forest home where they will be busy with grand opera till the season opens.

The Countess Gizycka has taken a house in Newport for the summer while her mother, Mrs. Robert W. Patterson, will occupy the countess' house in Lake Forest.

Mrs. John Marshall Clark of Lincoln Parkway has opened her country home at Marion, Mass. Her daughter, Mrs. Cecil Clark Davis, the artist will join her later in the season.

Many Chicagoans have discovered the beauties of the Berkshires around Pittsfield, Lenox and Stockbridge. At Pittsfield, Mr. and Mrs. Cobb Coleman have an extensive estate, "Highland House," which they are making an almost permanent home. Their neighbors are the Frederick Wests, Mrs. Henry W. Bishop and her daughter, Mrs. Spenser Turner. The "Blythewood" estate belongs to John A. Spoor, and "Tor Court" to Warren Salisbury. The Misses Buckingham have a pretty place at Lenox. Mrs. W. W. Augur and her daughters of the north side also are in the Berkshires.

The Franklin MacVeaghs of Chicago and Washington are spending the season at their home in Dublin, N. H. At Newcastle, N. H., is where Mrs. Samuel E. Barrett of 1412 Lake Shore drive is spending the summer.

The Charles L. Bingham of the Chicago Beach Hotel spend their summers at Intervale, N. H. Early this spring, they announced the engagement of their daughter Eleanor Elizabeth to John Albert Proctor of Boston. The wedding will be a September event at the summer home of the Bingham.

WENHAM'S Tea House opened as usual May 31st.

An unusual innovation is planned for the season. This new feature will take the shape of the most delicious sponge cakes, chocolate fudge, and other delicacies, which will be for sale along with the many other pretty articles which have always been for sale at the tea house. This new departure has been brought about by the Tea House securing the culinary artist Mrs. Phillip Downes, of Boston, who will be in charge for the summer. Another departure for Wenham will be the Saturday Night Assemblies in Wenham Hall. Mrs. Downes' daughter, Miss Frances, who has been a pupil of Miss Fannie Fowlhaber of Boston, and who has also studied English Folk Dances under Mrs. James J. Storrow of Lincoln, will have general charge of the dancing. She will also take private pupils in dancing. The younger set of Wenham and Hamilton are looking forward eagerly to the assemblies, more particulars of which will be announced later.

Mrs. Charles W. Taintor of Topsfield gave a children's party at the Tea House this Thursday.

Mrs. Charles Thorndike Parker has spent most of the winter at her ideal country home, "Cotshabbie." In July, Mrs. Parker will leave for Bar Harbor to visit her sister, Mrs. Robert Hall McCormick of Chicago. She will also spend some time with her nephew, Robert H. McCormick, also of Chicago, who is occupying the Archibald cottage. Mrs. McCormick was Miss Eleanor Morris of New York.

The summer colony in Wenham is looking forward to the opening of Mrs. Ward's class in current events, which will hold the first meeting of the season, June 23rd, at the home of Miss Helen Burnham.

The Amos Lawrences have opened their home at Beaver Pond for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald C. Robbins have rented a camp on the Maine coast for the summer. Their place in Hamilton will be occupied by the H. C. Perkinses of Washington this summer. Last summer the Perkinses occupied the Nathan Matthews place.

Mrs. Wolcott Howe Johnson is spending the early season at her home in Wenham. Later in the season, she is planning to take an extended water trip, with her family to the Exposition, and will spend about six weeks in the West.

The House of the Iron Railing at Wenham Neck, which is maintained by Miss Helen Frick of Pride's Crossing as a vacation house for girls, is now open for the season. About twenty girls are enjoying Miss Frick's hospitality this week.

Mrs. C. D. Sias arrived in May at her beautiful home, Sunny Slope Farm, which is located at Wenham Neck is one of the most attractive places hereabouts. It, and a magnificent view of the surrounding country is obtained from the house, which stands on the highest point of the farm.

The T. C. Hollander estate "Craigstone" at Wenham Neck is one of the most attractive places hereabouts. Mr. Hollander, whose winter home is on Bay State Road, and who is connected with the well-known L. P. Hollander store of Boston, has been spending part of his summers for the past twenty-five years at Wenham Neck.

Mrs. John C. Phillips of Washington has also arrived at her summer home.

About July Fourth, he will go to his Hill Top Cottage on Mystery Island for the remainder of the summer. "Craigstone" is noted for the hospitality extended by its owner. Here Mr. Hollander entertains many week-end parties in a handsome Gothic ballroom which is one of the most attractive features of the house.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Hutchinson of Lynn, will spend their second season in the Hollander cottage, "Craigstone," at Wenham.

Mrs. A. M. Kidder of New York has arrived at her home at Wenham Neck.

Mrs. Thomas P. Pingree of Main street is very ill at her home in Wenham.

HAMILTON'S summer colony is nearly all settled on their beautiful estates for the summer.

The Jonathan Browns have arrived at "Red Top Farm," for the season. They have spent the greater part of the winter in Boston.

The old Brown House, which was purchased a year ago by the Hon. Nathan Matthews, and which has had extensive repairs made upon it, is nearing completion. The house is over two hundred years old and was at one time a famous old historical tavern. The house is nearly ready for occupancy and the grounds are being made attractive by beautiful shrubbery which is being artistically planted.

The Houston A. Thomas family of Boston, have opened their summer home, "The Locusts," in the Hamilton colony.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. von L. Meyer entertained Mr. and Mrs. McGee of Aiken, S. C., who were guests at the wedding of Miss Hope Norman last Saturday.

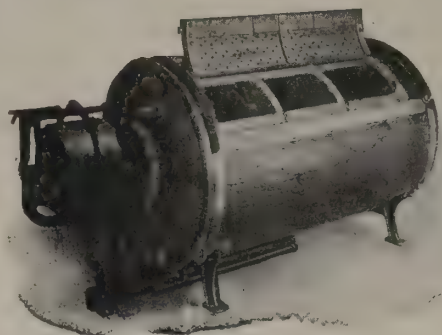

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Winthrop have arrived at Groton House for the season. Mrs. Winthrop's mother, Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer of Boston, who came down for the wedding of Miss Hope Norman, has spent the last few days with her daughter.

The marriage of Miss Mary Child Nickerson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nickerson of Boston and Cohasset, to Edward Holyoke Osgood of Salem, son of Mrs. Chas. Stuart Osgood, was solemnized Saturday at "Wildacres," Walpole, at the home of the bride's cousin Mrs. Clarence Burrage. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Guy Bancroft of Cambridge, as matron of honor, and the Misses Katherine Clark of Northampton, Josephine Wingate of Winchester, Lucia G. Russell of Somersworth, N. H., Almy L. Waterbury of Oriskany, N. Y., Josephine Dole of Evanston, Ill., Mrs. Emmett Finucane of Rochester, N. Y., as bridesmaids. The last four mentioned are classmates of the bride, who attended Smith college. Miss Ruth Nichols of Salem was flower girl and Malcolm Bancroft of Cambridge was the page. The best man was Henry Osgood of Salem, while the ushers were Rodman A. Nichols of Salem, Richard H. Harris of Manchester, N. H.; Guy Bancroft, Cambridge; Eugene J. Fabens, Salem; Francis Brown, Salem; Douglass L. Furness, Salem; J. Osborne Safford, Salem, and Harold V. Hovey, Winchester. The Rev. William I. Lawrance, formerly of Winchester, officiated. After a wedding trip to the camp of the bride's father at Grand Lake Stream, Maine, Mr. and Mrs. Osgood will live at Wenham, Mass.

MARBLEHEAD may now be termed "settled down" to its regular summer season, for the colony both on the mainland and at the Neck is practically intact for the season and everything is open and alive with an early season busy-ness. While things at the yacht clubs are yet a little tardy because of the fact that the countless social diversions there are not scheduled to start before the last of this month, the hotels are "looking up" and the cottagers are making up for any particular quietness in other directions.

In the recent South Boston Yacht club regatta Commodore Charles B. Wheelock of the Corinthian Yacht club sailed his Class P boat "Britomart;" he was the only starter in that class.

Miss Helen Allen of the Harris's beach summer colony is a graduate from Boston University in this year's class.

In a severe northeaster a few days ago the yacht "Cigarette" dragged her anchor in Marblehead harbor and her crew had a lively few minutes to get her back to her moorings. This was accomplished, however, before any damage had been done to the big steamer.

A real estate transaction of interest to summer folk is that at Gerry island in Salem bay, where is rumored three or four new summer residences will be erected.

Mrs. G. H. Brackett of the Marblehead Woman's club entertained its members to the number of one hundred at the Hotel Rock-Mere on Thursday afternoon. The spacious music room was most attractive. Mrs. Burr Merriam, president of the club, made an address at the opening, and Mrs. Robert Barr of Winchester, rendered most pleasing solos. Two fancy dances under the direction of Miss Ella Ballard were introduced during the afternoon. Ices and tea were served, and the occasion was an enjoyable one.

Guy Lowell, who will come to Marblehead Neck this summer, and the architect of the new clubhouse at Piping Rock, was a visitor at the recent opening of the spring meeting of the Piping Rock Racing association at Long Island. He plans to come to this shore within a few days.

Cyrus O. Baker of Newark, N. J., has taken the Palmer cottage at Collier's cove on Marblehead Neck for the season through the Gardner R. Hathaway agency.

The Boylston house on the Neck is open for the season.

Mrs. G. H. Brackett gave a welfare tea to the Marblehead Woman's club at the Rock-Mere hotel yesterday afternoon.

CLIFTON cottagers are arriving daily and the colony is fast assuming a mid-summer appearance. In its verdure-clad shore line Clifton is easily one of the prettiest places on the entire North Shore at just this time and those who are coming to this section early evidently realize this fact.

Benjamin F. Dutton, head of the Boston firm of Houghton & Dutton, who died last week, has been a summer resident of Clifton for 15 years. He had not planned to come to the shore this season and had rented his cottage.

Miss Marion Jeanette Traiser, daughter of Charles H. Traiser of Boston and Clifton, who was married last week to Joseph Blake Thaxter, Jr., of Hingham, intends to spend the summer at "Cresthaven," the Traiser summer home after returning from a short wedding tour. The Traisers have summered at Clifton for a number of years and have one of the prettiest estates on this bend of the shore.

SWAMPSCOTT is beginning to jump into the 1915 season the past week with more vim than has been shown this season. Another week will see nearly every estate opened for the summer and the hotels will also be ready to cater to the hundreds of persons who each year make Swampscott their objective point.

The New Ocean House will open on either the 19th or the 21st of this month. It has not yet been decided which. The improvements which have been made about this large hotel this year have been many. The grounds are in unusually good shape owing to the frequent rains of the past fortnight. Among the changes this year is the moving of the Dutch room to downstairs for the convenience of its frequenters. Bookings are very encouraging for the New Ocean House thus far.

The Lincoln House will probably open its doors to the summer public on the 18th. Roy F. and Charles Bergengren of Lynn, the owners, will manage the house this summer.

The Oakland House is already open and enters upon its third week of business next Monday. Joseph Bradley, the dancing instructor, who was at the Oakland last summer, comes down to the shore next week. Mr. Bradley is a New Yorker and had many pupils last season at the hotel. Recent arrivals at the Oakland include: Miss Edith Payne Schoepperle and Victor Schoepperle of Maplewood, N. J.; Misses Mabel M. and Sarah H. Spencer of Morristown, N. J.; Daniel E. Boyer of Boyertown, Pa.; E. M. Burnham of Wallaston; Charles Wadsworth, 3rd, of Overbrook, Pa.; and Henry H. Hay of Portland, Me.

The Tedesco Country club is keeping quite busy for so early in the season. Golf and tennis are the magnets which bring devotees of the outdoor sports there. The excellent cuisine of the club is also an added reason why a trip to the Tedesco is fraught with pleasure.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Grabow and children are down at one of the Ocean House cottages for the season. They have moved down from the Hotel Empire, Boston, which is one of Mr. Grabow's hotel possessions.

Eugene Buckley, of the editorial staff of the Boston Globe, has engaged an apartment at the Oakland house for July.

The Charles H. Remicks of Boston are among the most recently arrived summer residents of Swampscott.

NAHANT, although conservatively quiet, is getting akin to nature and the summer contagion is beginning to tell on its regular summer residents. They are arriving on nearly every train to the shore and the roads are already alive with the hum of Nahant summer motors.

Mrs. Thomas F. Edmands and Miss Annie Warren of Boston, are down at the "Edgehill," Nahant. Mrs. Edmands plans to remain at Nahant during June and for the mid-summer will go to York Harbor.

Thomas Motley, one of Nahant's prominent summer residents, is convalescing rapidly from a recent operation for appendicitis at the Corey Hill hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Lyman of Beacon street, Boston, who summer at Nahant, are at Grey House, Lenox, for a short stay before coming to the shore.

NORTH SHORE IN COLONIAL DAYS

Perkins, then in charge of the light, was building a new house of only one story with two rooms on a floor, cellar and garret, the side facing the light house being left without windows that the mariners might not become confused. Captain Perkins in addition to his government work, mowed his fields, weeded his garden and tended his cows, pigs and sheep to great advantage to himself.

In February, 1855, Jones' Fog Bell was erected on the northeastern extremity of the island by the officers of the cutter "Captain Caleb Cushing," it weighed 1500 pounds and was cast at Henry Hooper's foundry. The machinery which made the hammers strike the outer rim was constructed by the Lowell machine shop. After a short while it was found that the full advantage of the bell was not realized because it had been placed at the water's edge instead of on high ground, and ships going through Eagle Island Channel could not hear the sound of the bell, which a few years ago gave way to a gasoline-run fog horn plainly heard for miles in all directions.

In 1820 Congress was petitioned to grant $7000 for a new lighthouse and on the following Fourth of July Captain H. A. S. Dearborn, superintendent of light houses in Massachusetts, sent out notices for proposals for the building of a new stone lighthouse. In December of that year the new stone lighthouse was lighted, making the two that are now on the island. The base of both are forty-five feet from the sea level, one being 25 feet in height and the other 56½ feet high, visible for 6½ or 7 leagues away.

The next most important thing to happen at Baker's Island was the starting of the North Shore Babies Hospital at the old Morse cottages on the top of the island in 1905. For three seasons the babies were cared for and a day camp was an especial feature. Continuous successful tag days and private subscriptions have made possible a larger and more permanent building, however, and the camp moved at the end of three years to North Salem, where it is now located.

North Shore towns, most of which were established for material profit, whereas there was a quite different reason for the colonization of this pleasant, fertile place. Twelve years after the occupation of Plymouth, four and a half years after Governor Endicott's coming to Salem and three years after the establishment of the Massachusetts Bay colony by Governor John Winthrop, a rumor became current in Boston that the Jesuits were about to establish a mission, probably at Ipswich. This, the government must prevent at all costs; accordingly in March, 1633, a band of thirteen men under the leadership of John Winthrop was organized to settle Ipswich. Besides Winthrop there were John Thorndyke, William Clark, John Biggs, Robert Cole, John Gage, Thomas Hardy, Thomas Howlett, William Perkins, William Sargeant and three others whose names have become lost in the shuffle of the years. The colony prospered and has become one of the most beautiful of the farming sections in this part of the state.

Ipswich has had many names applied to it, or rather many variations of one name. It was generally called Agawam, from a tribe of Indians, the Agawames, who resided there, according to some authorities, and from the original Indian word signifying a place where fish of passage resort, according to others. The spelling varies greatly. In 1614 Captain John Smith referred to it as Agawam; in 1620 the company settled at Plymouth "urged greatly the going to Auguam, or Augoun;" and in 1633, before the settlement of the place by John Winthrop's band, it was called Agawamme. One year after the thirteen had organized a community there, the General Court of Salem ordered that "Aggawam shall be called Ipswich" from old Ipswich, near Wenham in Suffolk, England, where some of the Thorndykes, Gages, Coles and Howletts had lived.

The North Shore has a wealth of poetry and tradition, barely touched upon in these two articles. Poets and artists have made their homes upon these shores, masterpieces have been written about the tragedies of those who have met their fates in the angry waters about the rocky coast; the very islands, which extend from Marblehead Neck to the tip of Cape Ann in an unbroken line, must have had histories to fill us with wonder if we only knew the meaning of the names; everywhere the hills, rocks and beaches are saturated with that atmosphere of the long ago, which is the choicest possession of all New England.

THE STATE ASYLUMS for the care of the mentally diseased are holding an exhibit in Boston of the manual training work that is being done by the inmates of State institutions. It is now an established principle in the care of the mentally weak that wholesome occupation of the hands is a great remedial agent. The very act of working and accomplishing something seems to work wonders with the minds of the patients. A new era in the treatment of nervous diseases is opening and it would appear that manual training work will be a valuable agent for treatment.

THE RUSSIAN RETREAT from that city with an unpronounceable name is another set back to the optimists who have been prophesying a short contest. Despite the fact that Germany has surrendered the sympathies of the American people by her atrocities in Belgium one cannot but wonder at the marvellous manner in which she has been able to keep the enemy at bay. The field of contest in the west has not yet been pressed into her own territory. The defeat of the Russians was due largely to the lack of ammunition and heavy guns. Bravery counts but little in this contest of science.

About the only satisfactory substitute for wisdom is silence.

CAPE ANN. Although the weather conditions for the past several days have been unsettled, with fogs and showers and a very cool atmosphere for this season of the year, many cottages in various sections of Cape Ann were opened permanently for the season. Last week-end was disappointing to a great extent, especially at West Gloucester and Land's End, Rockport, where a number of house parties were held. The cold easterly wind accompanied by a drizzle of rain, prevented any special pleasure out-of-doors, but the environment within was cheerful and log fires were appreciated.

At the Salad Bowl Tea House, 90 Middle street, Gloucester, this week, among those entertaining at luncheon were Mr. and Mrs. George Barnard of Ipswich; Mr. and Mrs. Willard Emory of Topsfield; Mrs. Arthur Wellington of Wellesley Farms; Mrs. Winthrop Sargent of Haverford, Ct.; and Bass Rocks; Mrs. Winthrop Sargent, Jr., and Mrs. Fitzwilliam Sargent, Bass Rocks; Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Parsons and Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Warner of Bass Rocks.

EASTERN POINT cottagers already settled in their luxurious summer homes in this exclusive section are welcoming several of their neighbors, who arrived this week. It will be a short time now, before the colony will be greatly enlarged and social activities will be in full swing.

The Misses Durand of New York city are occupying the Randall-MacIver cottage at Eastern Point. The house is situated near the boat landing road and near the studio cottage of Cecelia Beaux the noted portrait artist. Dr. MacIver of New York, who comes to Eastern Point annually and takes much pride in having his summer home surroundings attractive, is the prominent English archaeologist, having been employed by his government to excavate sections among the ancient civilizations of Egypt. Dr. MacIver is now a leader of His Majesty's troops from India, with the Allies in the European conflict.

The Frederick G. Halls are occupying their stone mansion on Eastern Point harbor front. The Hall mansion of French design was fully completed last season at a cost of over $150,000. The furnishings are unique and very costly. Mr. Hall is a portrait painter of Boston. Mrs. Hall is an Ames—one of an old Boston family.

The James Murray Kays of Brookline have arrived at their Eastern Point residence, "The Moorings." Mr. Kay has been for years, a member of the publishing firm of Houghton, Mifflin & Company of Boston.

The coming of the Arthur G. Leonards of Chicago, to their Eastern Point cottage, near the Clay estate, has been delayed owing to the illness of Mrs. Leonard.

The Alonzo W. Pollards of Commonwealth avenue, Boston, have arrived at their Eastern Point estate, "Windward," near "The Ramparts," for the season. The family has a fine steam yacht, a number of machines, saddle horses and boats, and are much devoted to East Gloucester. Mr. Pollard is a member of the Gloucester Yacht club and enters a speedy knockabout in the races.

The family of the late Brigadier General George C. Reid of Washington, D. C., has arrived at the Reid summer home near the Eastern Point Golf links.

Owing to improvements at Merrill Hall, the managers, Buell and Crosby have postponed the opening of the house from the first of this month to June 15.

The Mailman House entertained over fifty guests last week-end. Many permanent guests are registered.

Mrs. Jeffries Wyman of Wellesley Hills is at her cottage on the Clarence Wonson estate, near the "Gate Lodge," Eastern Point road, for the season. The Wyman usually stay very late in the autumn.

Mrs. Douglass Robinson of New York, a sister of ex-President Roosevelt, was a week-end guest at East Gloucester, stopping at Hotel Harbor View. Mrs. Robinson was accompanied by Mrs. J. R. Parsons and children, maids and chauffeur. The party motored through the White Mountains and stopped here on their way home. The party left for Mrs. Robinson's summer estate near Utica, N. Y., and on their way stopped at Nahant, where they were guests of Mrs. Henry Cabot Lodge, wife of the United States senator.

BASS ROCKS. The Bass Rocks Golf links have received many improvements, along the newer course especially, and in another fortnight there will be a great many players using the links. The people already domiciled at this colony have enjoyed immensely the grand surf display along the bold, rocky coast. Owing to the continued east winds of several days and possible storms at sea, the waves have been unusually high.

Mrs. Henry C. Carter of New York has opened her cottage on Beach road, near Hotel Thorwald, for the season. With Mrs. Carter are her two daughter, Misses Helen and Eunice Carter and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Timms, also of New York city.

The Malcolm Farmers of Brookline are occupying their beautiful new summer home just completed on Page street, Bass Rocks.

The Charles W. Scotts of Overbrook, Pa., are expected at Bass Rocks in a few days. "Tragabigzanda," the Scott residence is a very picturesque affair of field stone and wood. The house stands on a hill overlooking the entire colony and the expanse of sea. The gardens of various "rambler roses" are always admired.

Mrs. F. H. Braumback of Kansas City, Mo., is occupying her studio cottage on Lookout Hill, near Bass Rocks.

The Thomas family of Philadelphia, has arrived at the Sargent cottage on Atlantic road, for the summer.

ANNISQUAM cottagers are arriving fast and the past week finds a large number of people domiciled in their attractive summer homes on the heights and along the picturesque Annisquam River.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Hight of Brookline are occupying their cottage at Annisquam, overlooking the village and Ipswich Bay. Mrs. Hight is much interested in professional and amateur theatricals and takes part extensively as promoter and hostess. Mrs. Hight has been active in connection with productions presented at the Toy Theatre, Boston.

Mrs. Luther S. Bent, Miss Annie Felton, Miss Stacy and Felton Bent of Overbrook, Pa., arrived at the Bent summer home, Annisquam, last week-end for the season. The late Major Bent will be greatly missed from the North Shore colony this season, having passed away a few months ago.

Mrs. A. M. Blair of Washington, D. C., will not be at Annisquam this season as she sailed recently from New York, for Littlebourne, England, where she has a summer home. Mrs. Blair is prominent socially in Washington, where she has taken a very active part in musical circles. While in Annisquam she took much interest in the musical welfare of the colony and organized a class for voice culture. Before summering at Annisquam, Mrs. Blair was a popular guest at the Hawthorne Inn, East Gloucester.

Mrs. Horace J. Hayden of New York city, is summering at the Cox cottage, Adams Hill.

The Philip Richardsons of Brookline are occupying their cottage at Annisquam, for the season.

Mrs. Caroline B. Richards of St. Louis, Mo., is one of the latest arrivals in the Annisquam colony, occupying her cottage on the slightly Norwood Heights.

Mrs. Garratt and Miss L. Erwin of Boston, the former the wife of Lieut. M. M. Garratt, are registered at Hotel Overlook, Annisquam, and plan to spend the summer there. Lieutenant Garrett is located on the Mexican border with his regiment.

The Grand View hotel will open for the season on June 16.

ROCKPORT and Pigeon Cove. Many of Rockports representative summer people came during the week to Land's End. The report that plans have been virtually completed for a series of strategical manoeuvres by the Atlantic fleet in the vicinity of Newport beginning July 10, causes the Rockport residents to believe that there may be a possibility of a visit from some of the battle-ships, destroyers and submarines to Sandy Bay Harbor of Refuge. It is hoped that the visit of the fleet may become a reality, as the social life in the summer colonies all along the North Shore as well as Cape Ann, becomes enlivened.

Charles B. Strecker, United States Assistant Treasurer, arrives this week with his family, from Washington to spend the season at the Strecker summer home, Land's End.

Mrs. J. Norman Jackson of Philadelphia, is occupying the Brock cottage on Paradise Cliffs.

Professor F. C. Adams of Natick, has arrived with his family at the Colby cottage, Loblolly Heights.

Straitsmouth Inn entertained over 100 guests over the holiday.

The small cottage of William J. Hobbs, vice president of the Boston & Maine railroad, is being occupied by the Charles W. Burnhams of Brookline, at Land's End, again this season.

The Granite Shore hotel will open on June 15, under the usual management of Miss Helen G. Turner of Cambridge.

The F. A. Brewers of Brookline are occupying their Pigeon Cove cottage.

The William Nash family of Brookline are at Pigeon Cove for the season, occupying their cottage on Halibut Point.

The third division of the North Atlantic fleet of the U. S. Navy is scheduled to make headquarters at Rockport from July 20th to the 30th, in the manoeuvres planned for this summer.

If a man could read his own biography it would probably surprise him more than any one else.

The trouble with most of the advice is that it has generally been offered at the wrong time.

THE PRESIDENT'S LATEST APPEARANCES

If it were possible to analyze the "reason why" it would likely develop that Woodrow Wilson gained the presidency because of his easy, graceful manner, and suave speech. He appears to the American people after the manner of the song:

"There is something in your manner,
There is something in your smile,
There is something seems to tell me
You are just my style."

He is wholly unlike his predecessors, for where Taft argued and reasoned, Wilson simply beckons to "follow me;" where Roosevelt drove with a big stick, Wilson coaxes with a lump of sugar. His Philadelphia speech to the newly-naturalized citizens was honey-combed with platitudes, and the critics found little in it except that ours is a country "too proud to fight." His visit to New York, and the speeches he made, left a pleasant taste, but they were purposely colorless, though richly patriotic. In his appearance before the South Americans, who are in Washington, he emphasized the need of better means of communication, and gave the impression that he would push his shipping bill again at the coming session of Congress. There was nothing startling in anything he said. His manner, his smile, and his style are captivating. He sows plenty of seed when he talks. But the President, as a rule, leaves the weeding and the spraying of the vines to be done by his subordinates; and if he appears to regulate the crops it is likely to be at threshing time.—J. E. Jones.

UPHOLDING THE PRESIDENT

Everyone in the world knows that President Wilson personally wrote that note to the German government. And yet the dissenting German-American editors and the political enemies of the Administration have had only kind words for the President, and have accepted his reasons for his statements. Evidently, though, somebody had to catch it, so the complaints were heaped on the Secretary of State. With one accord everyone with a "kick" aimed their shots at Mr. Bryan. There is no indication that the Secretary has minded very much. For sixteen years he was the "goat" of the Democratic party, and when he came into official life he continued in the same capacity for the Administration.—J. E. Jones.

WIND AND SEA.

The sea is a jovial comrade,
He laughs wherever he goes;
His merriment shines in the dimpling lines
That wrinkle his hale repose;
He lays himself down at the foot of the Sun,
And shakes all over with glee
And the broad-backed billows fall faint on the shore,
In the mirth of the mighty sea!

But the wind is sad and restless,
And cursed with an inward pain;
You may hark at will, by valley or hill,
But you hear him still complain.
He wails on the barren mountains
And shrieks on the wintry sea;
He sobs in the cedar and moans in the pine,
And shudders all over the aspen tree.

Welcome are both their voices,
And I know not which is best,—
The laughter that slips from Ocean's lips,
Or the comfortless wind's unrest.
There's a pang in all rejoicing
A joy in the heart of pain,
And the wind that saddens, the sea that gladdens,
Are singing the self same strain.

NORUMBEGA PARK

No other amusement resort in New England has the charm and natural beauty that this famous park at Auburndale on the Charles River has to show. An exceptionally fine trolley ride is taken to reach Norumbega and one is more than repaid by the splendid walks and landscape gardening effects found here.

In the big covered open-air theatre, this week Matt Ott's latest Musical Comedy, "On the March" is presented every afternoon and evening. The Grape Arbor Cafe, overlooking the Charles is the ideal summer dining place, the cuisine and service being the best that money can buy. Orchestra concerts are given here every afternoon and evening. The baby inmates in the Zoological Gardens are doing finely and are a constant source of curiosity to the hosts of visitors.

Unthinking heads which have not learned to be alone, wrote Sir Thomas Browne, are poison to themselves if they be not with others; whereas, on the contrary, those whose thoughts are always in a hurry are sometimes fain to retire into company to be out of the crowd of themselves.

YACHTING, GOLF, TENNIS AND OTHER SPORTS Along the NORTH SHORE

WITH the Burgess Co. & Curtis concern interesting scions of wealthy families to come to Marblehead and try out the new Burgess-Dunne hydroplane, aeronautics is developing into more and more of a sport every day. Following close on the heels of Vincent Astor's determination to fly comes the purchase by Harry Payne Whitney of New York, of one of the Burgess machines. Mr. Whitney, who is an ardent sportsman in all branches and who is just as efficient as a polo player, yachtsman, hunter and all around athlete as he intends to make himself an aeronaut, plans to do considerable flying on the North Shore this summer. Flying is not a new diversion for Mr. Whitney, however, as he has been interested in aviation as a sport for some time. For 10 years he has been a member of the Aero club of America and was interested in aeronautics when the Wright brothers were making secret experiments. That was where he really obtained his inspiration to fly and when he saw the new Burgess machine recently, which is practically proof against disaster, he decided to invest in one for himself. His hydroplane will be the regulation Burgess-Dunne machine, fitted with a 100 h.p. engine.

Golf and tennis will hold for the first time on June 17 at the new Kernwood Golf club at Salem. At that time the clubhouse will receive its informal opening and 500 guests are expected. A wonderful transformation has been brought about on the 153 acres which comprise the old Col. Peabody estate. Situated as it is on the Danvers river and literally cut in two by this stream, the situation is considered ideal. One of the finest nine-hole golf courses in the state will be opened up within a few weeks and already a temporary six-hole course is enjoyed. When completed an 18-hole course that will hardly be duplicated anywhere in this section will be had.

The win of Leon B. Paton of the Danvers Homestead club over the Champion Ouimet at Brookline last Saturday brings another wonderful golf artist into the sporting limelight. Paton has been wielding the clubs for 16 years and promises to outdistance any of his recent competitors before many seasons elapse.

Despite the fact that the sonder races scheduled for this year at Kiel, Germany, have been called off on account of the war and the international races for the Lipton cups have been cancelled for the same reason, there will be plenty of yachting sport for North Shore folk. The fleet of the New York Yacht club is due to arrive at Marblehead harbor during the week of August 8. For the first time in history the fleet will make the run from New London, Conn., to Marblehead through the Cape Cod canal. After a stop of a few days on the North Shore the annual cruise to the coast of Maine will be taken.

Patrick Doyle of the Myopia Hunt club and Thomas Kerrigan of the Dedham club leave today for Baltusrol, N. J., to take part in the national "open" golf tournament which starts next Monday. They are two of the best known professional golfers in the state and later in the season will be seen in three exhibition matches for a purse. The first match is to be held at Myopia on July 15; the second is scheduled for August 15 at Dedham; the final match will be held on the course of the Brookline Country club.

REBECCA OF SUNNYBROOK FARM

For the fifth week of the Star Stock season at the Majestic Theatre, beginning next Monday, June 14th, the management of the Lonergan Players has secured Miss Edith Taliaferro to appear in the delightful play, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," in which she achieved such notable success when she played the part in Boston for the first time in 1910 at the Tremont Theatre. Since then Miss Taliaferro has appeared in divers characters, but none afforded her the opportunity to display all her winsomeness, naivete and charm better than "Rebecca."

The Kid—"Mr. Knagg gimme this parcel an' said 'Take this to my good wife.'"

Mrs. Knagg—"The bigamist! I always suspected that he had another."

THE schedule of yacht races for the North Shore championship, starting tomorrow with the Boston Yacht club race at Marblehead, and closing with the Corinthian Y. C. race on Labor Day, Sept. 6, is as follows:

DATE.	CLUB.
Saturday, June 12	Boston
" " 19	Corinthian
" " 26	Eastern
" July 3	Corinthian
Monday, " 5	Corinthian
Saturday, " 17	Corinthian
" " 24	Manchester
" " 31	Corinthian
Tuesday, Aug. 10	Eastern
Wednesday, " 11	Boston
Thursday, " 12	Corinthian
Friday, " 13	Corinthian
Saturday, " 14	Corinthian
Saturday, " 28	Eastern
" Sept. 4	Corinthian
Monday, " 6	Corinthian

These races count for championship in the following classes: Class P, Class R, Sonder, Boston Yacht club 1st Special Rating, Bar Harbor 31-foot, E. Y. C. 17's, M. Y. C. 17's and C. Y. C. 15's.

The prizes in the E. Y. C., M. Y. C. and C. Y. C. classes are $7, $5 and $3 for first, second and third, respectively, but in all other classes the amounts are $10, $7 and $5. Ten starts necessary to qualify for championship. The Manchester Yacht club class will be omitted in the races of June 12th and June 19th.

The golfing season opened at the Essex County club last Saturday with a Handicap Medal Play competition, with prizes for best gross and best net scores. The summary follows:

	Gross	Hdcp.	Net
Murray W. Dewart	88	8	80
Philip Stockton	101	20	81
Geo. R. White	102	18	84
Randolph F. Tucker	91	6	85

Other players: J. H. Lancashire, F. D. Frazier, A. S. Porter, Jr., Amory Eliot, W. H. Dewart, E. C. Fitz, S. M. Merrill.

Next week's golf schedule at the Essex County club calls for a Handicap Bogey for men tomorrow (June 12), with first and second prizes, and a Handicap Medal Play competition Saturday, June 19, with prizes for best gross and best net scores. The mixed foursomes do not start until July 8. The ladies' tournaments start next week also, when there will be a ladies' foursome handicap medal play competition, Thursday, at 9.30 a. m., with prizes for best net scores.

EDITORIAL

THERE ARE TWO SIDES to the graduation dress problem. There is no doubt but what the graduation expenses that are forced upon parents are excessive and there is something to be said for retrenchment. It might be wise to limit the cost of dress materials or have the sweet graduates make their own beautiful gowns and spare the mothers a burden. There are those who are unwise in their expenditures and who forget that simplicity is the better quality of beauty. To deny the young girl graduate her gown would not be in the line of progress. Somehow and in some way the thrifty mother will be able to provide a suitable graduation gown just once for the girl in the home. It would be a pity to deny the young girl that joy. The problem is to keep down the expense and to prevent thoughtless mothers from overdressing their girls. It is impossible to avoid this. It can only be done by changing human nature and everyone knows what a task that would be. Newspapers, school authorities and women's clubs will make their protests against excessive graduation dresses and loving mothers will continue to scrimp and earn and cut and sew "for the girl." After all may it not do the mother's heart good to do it and may it not be wise to stimulate that pride, just a little.

IF THERE ARE ANY APOLOGIES or good coming in the recent spell of cold and dry and then wet weather motorists, farmers, gardeners and summer recreationists have not been able to find it. There have been two heavy frosts recently that have damaged crops. At Montserrat Jack Frost was particularly malicious, but in all the low spots from Beverly Cove to Rockport are noted the effects of the untoward weather. The tops of the corn have been turned yellow, egg plants blighted to the roots and tomato and potato tops have been nipped. Many are fortunate, however, in being able to find no havoc in their garden plots. The weather is unseasonable and unwelcome, but not altogether unusual.

THE RESIDENTS of Beverly Farms are beginning to learn the names of the streets of that town. The City of Beverly has just put up new street signs. A sign giving directions to motorists is very much needed at the junctions of Hale and West streets and of Hale and Hart streets. This is an opportunity for public service which the Improvement Society will doubtless seize.

THERE OUGHT TO BE uniform plans for sign boards for motorists all over the State. This will be possible on State Highways and in the near future will doubtless be brought about.

THE MANUFACTURERS have brought out a new motor with twelve cylinders, but most amateurs find four spark plugs annoying enough.

THE NORTH SHORE of Massachusetts is still the queen of American shore resorts.

AMERICA IS A GOOD PLACE for Americans in war times.

THE POLITICAL ISSUE THIS FALL will without the question of a doubt be Woman's Suffrage. The women will probably lose their case this year but they will eventually win. The surprising thing to the male voters who now have the franchise is that so few women have any real interest in the proposed changes. There are, of course, a large number of loyal women who are fighting hard for their cause and there is an equally interesting able group of women who are fighting the proposed amendment with all their minds and ability. The rank and file of the women are not interested, apparently. The issue may fail and probably will fail in Massachusetts this year although it must eventually win, and the proponents may lay the blame, if it be called blame, upon the members of their own sex who are not interested and who apparently cannot be made to be interested in the cause of suffrage. In fact this is the strongest and the only real argument that can be brought against suffrage. When the women are really determined to have the ballot nothing will prevent success.

THE LEGISLATURE has prorogued and the railroads have been granted the remedial legislation which they requested. It is a thousand pities that the public has been blind to the consequences of the malicious railroad legislation in the past. Fortunately the public has awakened to the responsibilities which the public owes to transportation companies.

THE SEASON HAS ADVANCED rapidly as far as the opening of the summer homes go. There have been more come early than for many a year. The war in Europe has been a great misfortune to the districts of the Old World dependent upon the itinerant visitor, but this year it is already working to the advantage of every North Shore industry.

THERE ARE THOSE WHO have been inclined to censure the President for his mildness in meeting Germany's apparent slights, but the President has a level head. He may be trusted to carry the issue to the end and obtain satisfaction. The President needs poise and he has it and he is not to be stampeded by the jingo spirit of either party.

BEVERLY IS TRYING to organize a new Company E. They have called upon Congressman Gardner to assist them in their initial meeting. The Congressman will be in his element. A single military company is a long way from military preparedness for the country, but every little counts.

IT LOOKS NOW as though Beverly Farms would not be able to raise funds enough to support a home baseball team. The friendly contests that have been held each year with Manchester will be missed by the residents of both places if they are not played this year.

THIS SORT OF WEATHER has pleased neither the ice-man nor the coal-man.

THE UNITED STATES is in honor bound to maintain national honor and integrity, but the hot-headed precipitation of a "misunderstanding" over the Lusitania neither makes for peace nor is it in keeping with common sense. No one would minimize the horror and the moral turpitude that tolerates a massacre such as the sinking of the Lusitania. It is evident, however, that a war exists and the sinking of the Lusitania was an incident in that war and Germany will insist upon fighting her enemies with such weapons as she can command. Every subterfuge that diplomacy can arraign will be resorted to to gain time and to postpone the final reckoning. With dignity and haste this government protested against the Lusitania massacre. Germany has formally acknowledged the deed and now the incident becomes a subject of diplomatic discussion. To expect Germany to meekly surrender her submarine warfare is out of the question. She will defend her position as long as she possibly can. Apologies will doubtless be made and reparation offered for the losses on the Lusitania, but to think Germany "will promise not to do it again" is puerile. The only sea weapon that German can now use effectively is the submarine and to place herself hors de combat, voluntarily, at a protest from this government, will not appeal to the guiding spirits of this war. The powers that will plan a Belgium raid and plunder are not likely to surrender their war under the sea "upon request" from our government. Germany will not recede. The outlook for a speedy settlement of the negotiations is not good and no one can now foresee what the final adjustment will be. The deciding factor or factors, however, unfortunately will not be the merits of the case, but what Germany proposes the United States to do. Germany holds the cards. It is possible for her to throw them in such a way as to arouse the spirit of the whole nation. If Germany wishes to conciliate this nation her method of procedure will be that of making small concessions and then sparring for more time. At present it does not appear what Germany can gain by an affront to the United States. As a neutral power the United States is where Germany should wish this government placed. If Germany wishes to play for war she can do it. But it will take more than the Lusitania incident to precipitate an armed conflict. The incident has only opened and what the end will be no one can venture a guess shrewd or otherwise.

THAT MUCH ABUSED FILM has now been passed by the board of censors, but the agitators have continued their fight. There has not been a company that has come to Boston in years, who has had such a clever advertising agent and which has had so much free advertising.

THE ANCIENT AND HONORABLE Artillery company owned Boston Monday and its guests were roundly applauded. The company holds an unique place in the social circles of the Athens of America.

THE CITY OF BOSTON has made another great political gain in the election of James J. Storrow to the Common Council. That Charter has been of some good after all.

THE MAN WHO CAN DEVISE a tire that will be resilient and puncture-proof has several fortunes awaiting him.

THE WAR MUST BE DRAGGING; no new nation has entered the lists during the week.

GERMANY HAS BEEN RATHER SLOW in seizing the guantlet that Italy threw down.

THE SAFETY FIRST CAMPAIGN which has been begun anew by the great corporations can never be prosecuted with too much enthusiasm. Motorists, the drivers and owners of vehicles and pedestrians all need to read again and again the simple rules that have been compiled. It is surprising to read of accidents and their simple causes. A few hours' instruction in safety-first principles might well be given every school year to the children at their books.

THERE IS AN OPPORTUNITY awaiting some benevolently inclined individual to do Beverly a good turn. For years an effort was made to organize a Y. M. C. A. and to secure funds; now the organization has an excellent plant, but is encumbered in its work by a reasonable debt. Some public spirited citizen could do that city a good turn by lifting the debt.

IT IS A PITY that America does not find some way to conserve its horses. The buying agents of the nations of Europe have all been making heavy shipments. In the interests of the nation's future supply apart from the humanitarian side of the question the exportation should cease.

SECRETARY LAWTON made a telling statement at Beverly Farms when he quoted Lloyd George in his denunciation of the use of liquor by the workmen of England. England has many enemies, but the worst one is the intemperate use of liquor by the workmen in the ammunition factories.

THE NORTH SHORE is taking the lead again in the conservation of the standing growths of timbers. Shade tree planting by Improvement Societies and the conservation of forest growths are in the line of progress.

THE PRICES OF TICKETS at the railroad station have changed during the year. A surprise awaits the visitors from afar who have not kept in touch with the rate changes in Massachusetts.

THE AUTOMOBILE BUSINESS has not been severely harmed by the war. At least one great concern shows no signs of failing considering the size of its dividends and increased capital.

THE LADS AND LASSIES of the school age are now counting the days to vacation, fearing and dreading meantime the inevitable examinations.

WHATEVER THE GERMAN replies have been to the American notes, the Lusitania atrocity has not been repeated, and that is something.

ONE DOES NOT NEED to consult a calendar to recall that the anniversary of the Salem fire is at hand.

BELGIUM STILL NEEDS Aid! So long has the cry gone out that it has become too familiar.

JUNE HAS COME ABOUT again and the fair brides and hopeful graduates own the days.

MANCHESTER SECTION

Friday, June 11, 1915.

Rev. Elbridge C. Whiting of, South Sudbury will supply the pulpit at the Congregational church next Sunday.

A dance is announced for next Friday night in the Manchester Town hall under the auspices of the North Shore club. Long's orchestra. A good time is assured.

Archer Gibson of New York, organist for H. C. Frick, has leased the attractive bungalow, "High Rock," off Summer st., owned by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Silva.

Wm. Wall, coachman for so many seasons with the late Mrs. C. P. Hemenway, has a position this year with the W. A. Tuckers. Wm. Kendrick is also arriving today for the summer.

A mile race will be one of the events of the Fourth of July sports in Central square. The start will be in the square near Police station, through Union st., Norwood ave., Vine and School streets, ending at the Fire station.

Today at his home on Bennett st., Nathaniel Morgan is being reminded of its being his 75th birthday by receiving many congratulations and best wishes from his many friends. Mr. Morgan is a G. A. R. veteran but is active for one of his years; he has a nice garden at his estate on Bennett st. of which he is justly proud.

Moth Supt. Sheahan announces that he will have the trees along the town highways sprayed early mornings (beginning 5 o'clock) starting next Monday morning; he also wants owners of private property to get in touch with him if they want any work done.

The following case from Manchester was entered in the superior court at the June return day: Julius F. Rabardy vs. Town of Manchester in a petition for assessment of damages for land taken on Bridge and Central streets for sewer purposes.

At the graduating exercises Tuesday of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, President Richard Cockburn Maclaurin conferred on Frank Samuel Sinnicks of Manchester, the degree, B.S. (Bachelor of Science). The title of his graduation thesis was: "Concentration Tests on Zinc Ore from Quebec."

MANCHESTER WINS AGAIN

The Manchester baseball club won a well played game on the Brook street diamond Saturday by the score of 2 to 1, from the strong Lyman N. A. of Beverly. Features of the game were the good work of Manchester's battery, Grover and Perkins, the former holding the heavy hitters of the Garden city aggregation to one lone tally. O'Leary at third base for Manchester, came through with several corking hits, including a home run. His fielding and throwing were gilded. Gray and O'Connell played well for Manchester. It was a close and interesting game all the way. The two teams were well matched. Brennan pitched a great game for the Lyman's and Martell handled his team well.

The O'Brien, Russell & Co. nine from Boston will play at Manchester this week.

During the next few days on opportunity will be given to those interested in the Woman's club movement to support a woman instructor at the beach, to give their contributions to the collectors, as they call at the houses. The collectors are as follows: Misses Hester Rust, Alice Hoare, Madeline Gray and Ella Erickson.

In this connection the people will learn with interest that the park board at their meeting this week, after a careful investigation, upon being asked for a matron at the ladies bath-house at Singing Beach, appointed the caretaker's wife, Mrs. B. L. Crombie, to the position through the school vacation.

One of the feature events of the Fourth of July sports will be the hose coupling contest. For this purpose the old hand reel is now being put in order at Standley's blacksmith shop. Teams of four men each start at the Engine house and run to the hydrant near the Police station, laying three lengths of hose, coupling to hydrant, attaching nozzle and getting water. The team making the best time wins the trophy,—a large bronze shield.

MANCHESTER BROTHERHOOD

The Manchester Brotherhood held its semi-monthly meeting in the vestry of the Baptist church last Monday evening. It was announced that the annual outing would take place at Tuck's Point, Manchester, on Saturday, July 17.

The speaker of the evening was Rev. B. R. Bulkeley, formerly of the Unitarian church, Beverly, his subject being "The Measure of a Man." His talk was full of inspiring remarks.

The usual collation was served. The next and last meeting of the Brotherhood will take place on the third Monday of the month, June 21. The speaker will be announced at a later date. It was voted to donate $50 to the church for the courtesy of the use of the vestry, also to help defray the expense of lighting and heating; $5 also was given to the janitor for his services.

B. F. KEITH'S

Miss Eleanor Gordon, perhaps the most popular stock actress who ever appeared in Boston, will headline the bill at B. F. Keith's Theatre next week, sharing honors with Fiske O'Hara, the great Irish comedian. Miss Gordon's annual summer engagements at B. F. Keith's are eagerly looked forward to by hundreds of Boston theatregoers, who have not had an opportunity to see their favorite in over a year. Miss Gordon will play a new comedy sketch originally written for Rose Coghlan, and she will have the support of a large and excellent company of favorite players. Fiske O'Hara enjoys a wide popularity as a legitimate star. He ranks with Andrew Mack and Chauncey Olcott in the hearts of American playgoers. The big comedy attraction of the week will be the

SAMUEL N. LENDALL

Samuel N. Lendall, a civil war veteran and for many years a resident of Beverly, died suddenly at his home 6 Pond street, Beverly, Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Lendall had been out in the yard during the afternoon and had just returned and was sitting in his chair when he complained of trouble with his heart and died before medical aid could be summoned. Heart trouble and hardening of the arteries combined to cause death. Mr. Lendall was born in Manchester and served in the Civil War. He was a member of Co. G of the 39th regiment, saw hard fighting during his service and lost an arm in his service for his country. He had been retired from active work for some time. He leaves a widow.

"SHOWS REASON WORKING AT ITS BEST."

In a review of the present legislature, on Beacon Hill, the Springfield Republican speaks of a former Manchester man, Allison G. Catheron of Beverly as "a member of whom it is only fair to say that the lamp of his intellect burns with as pure a white light as has ever been seen in the Legislature. All sorts of minds are to be observed every year, every one of them more or less affected in its intellectual glow by the quality of the fuel which feeds the flame. Catheron's is so exceptionally pure that it deserves this mention, for he shows reason working at its best. This is supported by absolute sincerity of purpose and purity of public spirit. Illustrations have been given repeatedly in his debates upon social welfare, temperance, educational and kindred problems which require both constructive and progressive statesmanship. If every district could send such a member Massachusetts would be still further to the front than it is today and there would be no suspicion of graft or self-seeking at any point."

MOUNT VERNON, THE HOME OF WASHINGTON

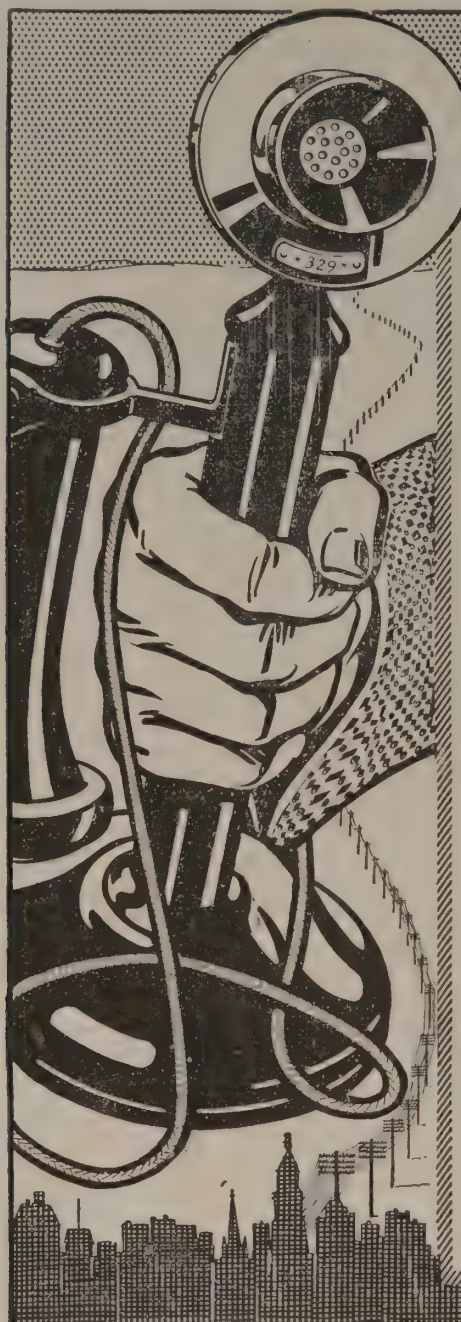

(By J. E. Jones, with 33 illustrations.
U. S. Press Association, Washington,
D. C. $1 net.)

THE beauties of Mount Vernon, and a short account of its interesting history are written about in an exceptionally delightful way in the above-named book of about fifty pages. The author shows himself to be thoroughly acquainted with the subject, and in an easy manner takes one from Washington to Mount Vernon, there to depict in detail the well-marked points of the greatest object of interest. Although the book is written from a literary standpoint, as is evidenced by a concise and graceful style, it would well act as a guide for the pilgrim visiting Mount Vernon for the first time, and especially so for the visitor who has a deep regard for the traditions which clothe the nation's greatest shrine.

Each visitor will be better and wiser for the reading of this volume, and in laying it aside will surely be impressed with great feelings of reverence for the founder of this republic. The volume is not only valuable for its educational matter, and as a thoroughly good guide, but also as an example of fine book-making. The execution is perfect; the printers' art never better shown, and the illustrations are such as to command the admiration of all. It contains exceptionally well executed half tones of the Mount Vernon Home, the Potomac, the grounds, as also of George and Martha Washington. In the description of the parts of the house, the out-buildings, and the various utensils, the manner of living at Mount Vernon 100 years ago is plainly painted, and the difficulties clearly set forth by comparison with the unbounded resources of our own time.

The story of Washington never can be told too often. His spirit should ever permeate the people of the land. The great work he did, stands as an example for all time, and his devotion to his country, his self-sacrificing, his long enduring toil, and above all his exalted patriotism, will ever make him the exemplar of the nation. He is truthfully portrayed by the author of this little book. It is a book all should read—From the Washington Herald, Apr. 17, 1915. (Any bookseller will get this for you, or it will be sent postpaid by the publishers, upon receipt of one dollar.) adv.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE NEWS

Flag Day, which is Monday, June 14th, will be observed appropriately by the Mass. Suffrage Ass'n.

At the "English Village Festival" at the Robert Gould Shaw place in Wellesley, which also comes on the 14th, Hon. Samuel Elder has consented to speak on "The Flag." This distinguished lawyer, speaker and Peace advocate is a recent convert to the cause of Equal Suffrage. All the arrangements for the Festival, the folk-dancing, etc., are complete, and 'busses will run from the Wellesley station to "The Pines," (the Shaw place). Tickets may be obtained in Manchester from Miss L. R. Stanwood, at Herrick's in Boston, or at the gates of "The Pines."

It looks as if the Lieut. Governor, Grafton Cushing, was on the way to be another convert to Suffrage, for in a speech to School girls in Dorchester the other day he said: "By the time you become of age women will be voting," and he added that perhaps one of them would even be Lieut. Governor! This indicates that the battle is indeed going our way, for Mr. Cushing has seemed to be deeply intrenched in the old prejudice against women voting. Probably his political experience has opened his eyes.

The Women's Benefit Ass'n of the Maccabees, in their recent convention in New York, passed a resolution recommending Woman Suffrage. The delegates represented 1870 women from every state in the Union. This is said to be the strongest benefit organization in the United States and its motto is "Children First." Any body of women who sincerely think of children first will endorse Woman Suffrage.

The Essex County Christian Endeavor Union met recently in Gloucester for its annual convention. Among the resolutions passed, the one that received the most applause was this: "That we welcome the opportunity in November of conferring upon the women of our state equal privileges in citizenship."

On June 5th, at the Mass. Suffrage headquarters in Boston, the Danish flag was seen flying with the stars and stripes and the Suffrage banner,—for on that day the King of Denmark signed the act of parliament which made "brave little Denmark" the newest Equal Suffrage country. The Scandinavian peoples have always been liberty-loving and democratic.

The Antis have sent for Senator Bailey of Texas to speak for them at Springfield. Mr. Bailey is known as "Standard Oil Bailey," and many will remember the exposure which showed him to be in the employment of the Standard Oil Co. (as their representative at Washington) while pretending to represent "the people" in Congress. He is always ready to speak against women. Can it be possible that the men of Massachusetts will be impressed by a man of this type, as against such men as Samuel McCall, Samuel Elder, Chas. Sumner Bird, Gov. Walsh and ex-Gov. Long?

SUFFRAGE LETTER

(To the Editor of the Breeze in reply to Mrs. Putnam's communication.)

I am very sorry to be drawn into a controversy, but apparently Mrs. Putnam will not let me off, and controversy is said to be healthy!

I have many "documents in evidence" to show that the vicious interests have both openly and secretly fought Woman Suffrage in every campaign state. Especially I have some exhibits which show the leading journals of the Liquor industries in Wisconsin and Montana appealing to the voters to stop votes for women—which they did stop in Wisconsin, (where the breweries are so powerful). Any of this evidence I shall be glad to show to any persons who are sincerely interested in learning the truth. I have more documents to show the good work accomplished by the women voters in our Western states (and in other countries, even in the few days that they have had the franchise.) I do not think the BREEZE could let me have sufficient space to give the whole array of facts, and I do not believe in giving a few isolated figures; that is the method of Anti-Suffragists and it is often very misleading. We must have the whole story. The figures and half-truths of the Antis often remind us that a famous Englishman said—"There are three kinds of lies,—plain lies, damned lies and statistics." The Antis love "statistics."

I do not ask anyone to accept my statements in these matters. As to vice and liquor conditions in Chicago and Illinois, I have the highest authority of all, Miss Jane Addams. And I can also refer to Prof. Charles C. Hyde, Professor of International Law at the North Western University (Chicago), who told me that the woman's vote was the chief hope of alleviating the drink evil which is the great curse of Illinois. I am not myself an authority on the temperance question, which needs special study. But common sense tells us that women will not vote to increase an evil from which they have suffered so deeply. And I believe that this great problem, like all our problems, will be gradually worked out by men and women together. (I can further refer to Dr. Dorothea Moore of California, now living in Cambridge, as to conditions in her state "before and after." As to Colorado, why do these good ladies not ask Mrs. Wm. Sturgis, a voter from Colorado, instead of repeating their very indirect evidence? They would also do well to look up George Creel's article in the Century Magazine for March, 1914.)

If it is true that the liquor interests in this state are not opposing the Suffrage amendments, that means that they have no power in Massachusetts. It also means that we shall win!

I appeal to the common sense and fair play of your readers, and ask whether it would be possible for the equal suffrage movement to have reached its present position of strength and importance, spreading slowly but surely from state to state, if it were such a complete failure as the opponents would have us believe? And to beg that everyone will insist on having the whole truth before being frightened by this or that detail.

—LOUIE R. STANWOOD.

Of course marriage is a failure if the liabilities exceed the assets.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE NOTES

On Friday, June 11th, at 3 p. m., Mrs. Jessie Hatch Symonds of Salem will give a very interesting musicale at the Anti-Suffrage headquarters, 685 Boylston street, Boston. Mrs. Tichborne of New York and Mrs. Holyoke of Medford will read short papers on Anti-Suffrage, after which tea will be served by the Winchester Branch of the Anti-Suffrage association, and a sale of cake, candies and jam will take place. Anyone interested in the music is invited to attend.

MAGNOLIA.

The first whist party of the season was held at the Women's club last evening. The prize winners will be announced next week. Considerable interest is being shown in the whist tournament which will be held during the weeks of July and August, with prizes awarded to the players holding the two highest scores. The club has every indication of a busy season in common with the rest of the North Shore. The rooms are renting well, mostly to season guests, and a number of plans are under consideration for the entertainment of the members. There will be a few evenings when the club will be open to the public for programs of different natures, when the proceeds will be used for the club. Another whist party will be held next Thursday evening, June 17.

CHANE-MARTIN

The first marriage ceremony in the new St. Joseph chapel, took place last Tuesday morning at nine o'clock, when John J. Chane, of Brookline and Magnolia, and Miss Katherine Martin of Boston were married with a Nuptial mass by Rev. William J. Dwyer of Gloucester. The bride was attended by her cousin Miss Rose Dooley of Cambridge and the groom's best man was his brother, Leo. L. Chane. A reception was held at the home of Mrs. John Chane, the near relatives of the couple being present. Mr. and Mrs. Chane left for New York, and will return the 15th of the month and will make their home for the summer at 16 Magnolia ave.

EAGER FOR INFORMATION

Soper (sadly)—"Something I said to my wife some days ago so offended her she hasn't spoken to me since."

"Old chap," returned Henpick, with painful eagerness, "would you mind telling me what it was you said?"

MAGNOLIA

A dance will be held next Wednesday evening, June 16, at the Men's club on Magnolia avenue, beginning the summer series of Wednesday and Saturday night parties. Dancing with music by Carey's orchestra will begin at 8.30 and last until 11.30, and admission will be 25 cents for members, 50 cents for other gentlemen, and 15 cents for ladies. Ice-cream will be on sale. The restaurant, for which much has been planned this year, will open in time for breakfast next Thursday morning, June 17, on which day Frederick J. Libbey will arrive from Exeter for a week before coming down for the season in July. Mrs. Gardner of Worcester has been secured as cook this year and Mrs. Gillis of Cambridge has been engaged again as pastry cook. Board will be $10.00 a week or à la carte. The club membership has a splendid start being almost double that of a year ago. Interest centers in the new game, baseball pool, which is creating so much enthusiasm in surrounding cities. Prizes will be offered in this game. The new arrangement of the payment of $5.00 into the Club, either in a lump sum or at 10 cents a bowling string, for free bowling and pool the remainder of the season is being well received. The tennis court is being put in readiness for use and will probably be in good condition by next week.

Miss Alma Edwards of Boston, who has had a flourishing piano class here for a number of years is giving a recital for her pupils tomorrow, Saturday, June 12, at the Hotel Somerset, Boston. Among the pupils who will play are Laura Abbott, Ella Hoysradt, Nancy Thornberg, and Abbott Howe. It is hoped that the recital may be repeated later in season at Magnolia.

Funeral services were held for Mrs. Emma A. Porter, wife of Ashley Porter, Tuesday afternoon at 2.30, at her late home on Englewood road, Rev. Frederick J. Libbey, formerly of this village, now of Exeter, N. H., officiating. Mrs. Porter passed away Saturday, June 5, after a long illness at the age of 25 years 1 month and 19 days, and is survived by her husband and four children, Dorothy, Marjorie, Leonard, and Doris, besides her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry West, a sister, Miss Gertrude West, and a brother, Albert West. Burial was at the Magnolia cemetery. That the deceased is sincerely mourned by her many friend, who extend their sympathy to the bereaved family, was evidenced by

The Village church is looking very prosperous and inviting after its thorough cleaning and renovations. All services hereafter will be held there instead of at the little chapel on Magnolia avenue as has been the case while the church has been dismantled.

Rev. Walter S. Eaton, Ph.D., will occupy the pulpit at the Village church Sunday, and the subject of his morning service will be "Agencies of Redemption." In the evening, Rev. Dr. Eaton will talk on "The Hands of Jesus."

BEVERLY FARMS

Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Farrett of Berlin, N. H., have been among the visitors at Beverly Farms the past week.

There have been a number of guests registered at the Tunipoo Inn the past week, and bookings made for the coming warm weather assures the success and popularity of this new hotel.

There will be no changes in the staff of the instructors for the girls at Beverly's various playgrounds. They will be the same as last year,—Miss Gladys St. Clair, who will probably again be in charge at Beverly Farms; Miss Muriel Publicover, a popular Farms young lady, who is likely to have the same playground as last year at Ward 1; Misses Mary Lefavour and Esther Lynch.

Thursday, July 15th, is the date for the open-air bazaar in aid of St. John's Episcopal church. It will be held on the rectory grounds where booths will be arranged for amusement purposes and for the sale of articles and refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Watson, 2d, are in New York City for a week's vacation trip.

West Beach and the pavilion is again beginning to be the popular spot. On pleasant afternoons especially can now be seen quite a large party who find there recreation and pleasure.

Good ball games are being played about every Saturday afternoon at the Beverly Farms play grounds. A team composed of Farms players of high school age have played several out of town teams and have won easily nearly all of the games.

A proposition has been made and has been considered favorably by the aldermen to establish a central heating plant for the Beverly Farms Fire Station, the G. A. R. hall and the new public library. The plan, it is understood, would mean that the building be located on Vine st.

The public is cordially invited to attend the observance exercises of Flag Day, Monday evening, June 14th, at the Beverly Farms school assembly hall. The program is a patriotic one in which the local G. A. R. post, the W. R. C. and the S. of V. are interested. "Living pictures of the Civil War," is the name of the tableaux which will be shown. There will be good music and singing and the entertainment of a variety to please all.

"NAKED TRUTH"

The rumor has come to us that "Hypocrites," a four-reel film play, the exhibition of which was forbidden in Boston by Mayor Curley and the censors, will be presented at the Scenic Temple in Paragon Park, Nantasket, beginning with Bunker Hill Day, June 17th. This is the play in which the appearance of a nude woman, in the role of "Naked Truth," was objected to by the censors and the clergy when a private exhibition was given in Tremont Temple, Boston, a few weeks ago.

MR. ROUNDER A DIPLOMAT

Mr. Rounder lay in the hospital with a broken leg and a bruised head. But they weren't worrying him most.

There in the morning paper was the whole story of one too many joy rides, chorus girls and all, staring from page 1.

His wife—he knew her too well.

Even while he pictured the scene in the divorce court, she came in, stiff and cold and threatening, the telltale paper clutched in a trembling hand.

"Well?" she demanded accusingly.

Then came his inspiration.

"Lucretia!" he whispered, reaching toward her, in spite of the pain his movements gave him. "I—I thought the automobile was a jitney bus, and before I discovered the difference, it whizzed away with me, and—"

She interrupted him with a wild cry.

"Oh, Jonathan! I knew you couldn't have done anything so absurd!"

Manlike, he forgave her.—Judge.

May Have Run Together.—The hair restorer man seemed puzzled, declares a writer in the Pittsburg Press. "I don't know whether to accept this testimonial or not," he mused.

"What's the matter with it?" demanded the advertising manager.

"Well," explained the "boss," "the man writes, 'I used to have three bald spots on the top of my head, but since using one bottle of your hair-restorer I have only one.'"

George—"You don't seem to have enjoyed yourself at the summer resorts this year. What was the matter?"

Jack—"Hadn't time to form any new acquaintances."

"No time?"

"No; I was kept busy kissing the babies of the girls I used to be engaged to."

DOUBTFUL ASSURANCES

"Do you think they approved of my Easter sermon?" asked one of our well-known ministers.

"Yes, I think so," replied his wife; "they were all nodding."

BEVERLY FARMS

Many Beverly Farms people are looking forward with pleasure to next Thursday, June 17th, when the Beverly Firemen Relief Asso. will have their long looked for field day in Beverly. In the morning there will be a parade, an exhibition in the afternoon and a dance at Beverly City hall in the evening.

Joshua Younger is reported to be seriously ill at his home on Hale st. Mr. Younger is a G. A. R. veteran and is 85 years old.

There will be a public dance in Neighbors hall next Thursday evening, June 17th.

Work is nearly completed in the construction of a new road surface by the Mass. Highway commission from the Manchester line to the Beverly Farms depot. The improvement, while somewhat of an inconvenience to the travelling public the past few weeks, is such a betterment that every one now must be pleased that the work has been done.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Leonard of Williamstown have been visitors at Beverly Farms the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. Howe of Halifax, N. S., arrived at Beverly Farms on Wednesday. They plan to spend the summer here.

Miss Elizabeth Harding will entertain this evening the Girls' club of the St. John's Episcopal church.

The city of Beverly is to build a new retaining wall along Haskell st. in front of the new residence of Robert Means. Daniel Coughlin has been awarded the contract.

Mrs. Fred W. Trowt was operated upon for appendicitis last Monday at the Beverly Hospital. She is reported to be recovering rapidly.

Assessor Wm. R. Brooks arrived home Wednesday evening after spending the earlier part of the week at Orino, Me. He has been attending the graduation exercises at the University of Maine where his nephew, Harry Williams, is a member of the graduation class.

The class of 1915, Beverly High school, will attend the services at the Beverly Farms Baptist church on Sunday before graduation. The baccalaureate sermon will be delivered by Rev. Clarence S. Pond.

Harry Banks of Mendham, N. J., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ward at their home on Valley st. Mr. Banks plans to spend the summer here.

A supplementary budget of $3600 for the widening of Hart st. has been referred to the finance committee of the Board of Aldermen.

WILL SEE THAT MOTOR BOAT "MUFFLING" LAW IS ENFORCED

The Steamer "Lotus," purchased by the Commonwealth for the use of the District Police, was inspected by the United States Government Inspectors on the 2d of June, and will immediately be put into commission. She will cover Massachusetts waters, and will be charged with the duty of seeing that the law with regard to muffling motor boats in a reasonable manner is enforced.

Captain Hird, Harbor Master of Boston, has sent the following notice to every yacht club whose name he could obtain, and has asked the Motor Boat Muffling Association to give it further publicity:

"Dear Sir:

Kindly inform your members that the requirements of law relative to mufflers on motor boats will be rigidly enforced during the present season.

For their benefit, I will state, that we have shown to the satisfaction of the Courts that the largest 2-cycle engine can be made silent at a distance of six hundred feet, and that any motor boat that can be heard for more than one thousand feet on a calm day will be considered as making an unreasonable noise.

Very truly yours,

FRANCIS J. HIRD, Captain."

The Motor Boat Muffling Association will continue to assist the District Police and the local officers in the enforcement of the muffling law. Complaints may be sent to Stoughton Bell, Counsel, 60 State st., Boston, or Deputy Chief George C. Neal, State House, Boston.

HIS PERIODICAL.

"Do you take any periodicals?" asked the new clergyman on his first round of parish visits.

"Well, I don't," replied the woman, "but my husband takes 'em frequent. I do wish you'd try to get him to sign the pledge!"—London Mail.

WENHAM

Children's day will be celebrated at the Congregational church with a service at 10.30 especially adapted to the interest of the children, when the best seats in the house will be reserved for the younger people. The minister, Rev. F. M. Cutler will preach a brief illustrated sermon. Sunday school at noon. The closing Jr. C. E. meeting of the season will take place at 5. A combination C. E. and church service will be held at 7, when the minister will preach the third sermon in the series, "Exploring the Bible—Joah's Lesson in Human Brotherhood."

The new Pilgrim Hymnals have been delivered, and will be in use Sunday morning.

Wenham's tea room is open for the season and has already met with encouraging patronage. Miss Helen Burnham of "Overloch" is deeply interested in the success of this enterprise and its prosperity hitherto has been largely due to her enthusiastic efforts. She is supported by a thoroughly capable committee of ladies.

As the red-blue contest in the Jr. C. E. approaches its culmination the tally begins to indicate a red victory. Last Sunday the reds had 207 points to the blues' 174. The losers are to entertain the winners at a social.

Rev. William Etheredge, to whom the church recently sent a missionary barrel, writes acknowledging receipt of the same, and expressing warmest appreciation and thanks.

Wenham boy scouts, having won the championship amongst the neighboring towns, are now getting ready for their camping tour, soon to be held on Plum Island.

On Wednesday the final supper and entertainment of the season were conducted by the Ladies' society. Their work this year has elicited a hearty response from the town.

THE BOSTON THEATRE

Albert Chevalier, the celebrated English comedian and character star, will appear at the Boston Theatre the week of June 14th in E. S. Willard's greatest success, "The Middleman." This is a wonderful film production of the love story of two English pottery makers and the never ceasing struggle between rich and poor in the manufacturing towns of England. It is in several parts, and abounds in startling features and thrilling scenes.

Being found out is the only thing that makes some people feel guilty.

STOP CATARRH! OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils
Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh, just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

Ah! how good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, no more hawking, snuffling, blowing; no more headache, dryness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.

CHILDREN WHO ARE SICKLY

OLD-TIME COLD CURE— DRINK HOT TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking up a cold.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB RHEUMATISM FROM STIFF, ACHING JOINTS

Rub Soreness from joints and muscles with a small trial bottle of old St. Jacobs Oil

Stop "dosing" Rheumatism.

It's pain only; not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" right on the "tender spot," and by the time you say Jack Robinson—out comes the rheumatic pain. "St. Jacob's Oil" is a harmless rheumatism cure which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache, neuralgia.

Limber up! Get a 25 cent bottle of old-time, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store, and in a moment you'll be free from pains, aches and stiffness. Don't suffer! Rub rheumatism away.

Table Silver for Summer Homes

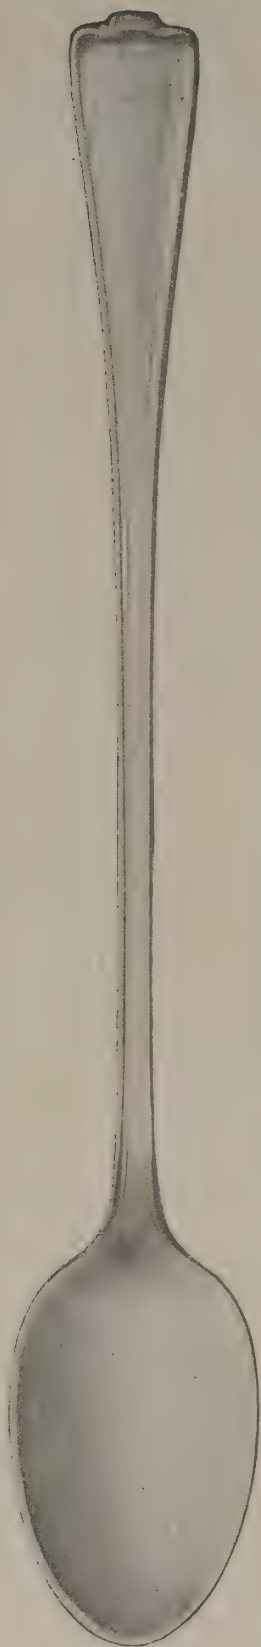

In fitting up a summer home, whether it be a modest cottage or a large house, it is essential that the table appointments be neat and inviting, especially if one is to entertain very much.

Naturally you do not wish to subject your sterling silver to the hard usage of summer housekeeping.

We suggest a pattern of substantial silver plate for your summer home. Many of the plated patterns are so well made now that they have all the appearance of a sterling pattern and the reinforcement on the backs of the forks and spoons in the places where the greatest wear comes, insures long service under hard usage.

Naturally the plated patterns are much less expensive than sterling patterns. It is really surprising what one may buy in plated ware for $10, $15 or $20. If you will send us a list of your needs we shall be glad to send an estimate on the entire lot. We think you will appreciate this suggestion if you look into the matter.

The spoon shown at the left is an Iced Tea Spoon of the Cromwell pattern of the celebrated 1847 Rogers Bros. plate. The price is but $5.00 a dozen. Half-dozen sold at dozen rate. Other patterns as low as $2.00 per dozen. Illustration is actual size.

The North Shore in Colonial Days

By FREDERICK MORSE CUTLER

SO interesting and instructive were the recent articles bearing this caption, by Helene Sherman, that another "antiquarian" feels moved to record a few additional facts by way of supplement.

Beverly's name, given by Major Sedgwick in honor of the town in his ancestral Yorkshire, contains also a natural history reference. It has been commonly noted that the old world offers little evidence that its valleys were formerly inhabited by "castor," the beaver. Beverly, however, is a marked exception. The name—the Yorkshire Beverly—means simply, "place of beavers." One is reminded of the popular advertisement—when Beverly children cry for their home town, they are etymologically, "crying for castoria."

Very careful and conscientious were the early Puritans to obtain valid titles to their lands from the Indians as well as from the king. The founders of Salem received a deed from the sons of Nanepashemet, while the fathers of Wenham, Hamilton and Ipswich derived their rights from Moschanomett. An interpretation of these names introduces us into regions of interest.

The names are far from musical to our ears. Indian names, however, always have poetical significance and these are no exception. Moschanomett (Trumbull spells it Mashquanon) is by interpretation "The Hawk." Is that not better than the conventional "John," given him subsequently when he was baptized? Nanepashemet is simply "The Moon." Perhaps this heavenly name suggests why he differed from other Indians in building his house on stilts, as he is reported to have done. "The Moon" died in 1619, and was succeeded by his widow, the famous Nipmuck "squaw sachem." Naumkeag, "the fishing place," certainly gained by taking the Biblical name of Salem or "peace." Agawam, "the fish-curing place," likewise lost nothing by changing its name to Ipswich, after the Ipswich or Gippeswic (on the river Gipping) in Co. Suffolk, England. There happened to be two other Agawams in Massachusetts, one at Springfield and the other in Wareham; so the change of name produced clearness and simplicity as well as marked an historical connection. The name of Spirit Lake is common in our Western states; but one of the very earliest bodies of water bear this title is own own Chebacco. Spirit Lake, it is, by interpretation.

Originally all the North Shore was comprised in the territory of the Pennacooks. "The Hawk" was a Pennacook chieftain. But Salem had been abandoned by the Pennacooks at the time when Endicott and Conant arrived, and was held by the Nipmucks, whose central village was situated at Medford. "The Moon" was a Nipmuck. The new tribal boundary seems to have run through Beverly.

Wenham first came into prominence in 1638, when Hugh Peters held an outdoor preaching service beside the lake, where the monument now stands. His text, John III:25, contains both the name Salem and that of Enon and is believed to have been the origin of the latter designation for the town. Rev. John Fiske, of Wenham, Co. Suffolk, England, moved to Enon in 1641, and became first pastor of the church in 1644, continuing until 1656. As the name, Wenham, began to be used soon after his settlement, it is fair to infer that it was given in compliment to his old-world home. Wenham is an Anglo Saxon word meaning "the home (ham) on the fen or moorland." There are only two Wenhams in the entire world; and both seem to be characterized by swamp. Four photographs of English Wenham now hang on the walls of the church in the daughter town. Postmaster Porter owns an ancient weather-vane from the third meeting house erected in 1688. The church now occupies the fifth building of its long history, a fine and beautiful Colonial structure. In 1801 Hon. Timothy Pickering, formerly a Cabinet officer under Pres. Washington and Pres. Adams, became owner of a fine estate on Larch Row, upon which he settled in 1806. The present owner, Mr. Charles L. Allen, is glad to point out the many traces of his distinguished predecessor, among them a circle of thirteen bass-wood or English linden trees planted by Pickering in commemoration of the American union. Pickering's friend, Hamilton, set out a similar group of trees on his Grange in New York city. Unfortunately the Hamilton grove has fallen before the growing city; but Wenham's memorial still thrives.

Myopia Hunt Club at Hamilton

Hamilton received its name as the result of efforts put forth by its pastor, Rev. Manasseh Cutler, in 1793. Dr. Cutler was a remarkable man, serving a single church from 1771 to 1823. Incidentally, the people of Essex county were as proud of their Congressman between 1801 and 1805 as they are today; and then, as now, he came from Hamilton. Then he was a clergyman, none other than Dr. Cutler. Manasseh Cutler was a warm admirer of Alexander Hamilton, and consequently induced his fellow-townsmen to give the great statesman's name to the newly incorporated community. It is, perhaps, in order to say that the family name of Hamilton is a slight corruption of Hambleton, a manor in co. Buckingham, England; and signifies "the town of Hamlet."

It is well to conclude a tour of the North Shore at the "Myopia." There is no Colonial significance to this name. It merely commemorates the fact that most of the charter members of the famous hunt club wore eye-glasses, and were open to suspicion of myopia or near-sightedness. Certainly the glasses must have been good ones; as they enabled the nearsighted huntsmen to pick out one of the most charming sites in all Essex County for their reservation.

American Relief Clearing House

Miss Winthrop Writes of Excellent and Far-reaching Work in France

Manchester, June 14th,
To the Editor of the Breeze,
Dear Sir:

Should any of your readers be engaged in making hospital supplies for France and are in doubt as to where or how to send them, they may be interested to know of the excellent and far-reaching work which the American Relief Clearing House has been doing since the beginning of the war. This organization has its headquarters in Paris, and is run by American business men who voluntarily give their time to the work. Its committee investigates the needs of the hospitals which apply to them for help, unpacks and distributes the goods sent to them, and is in touch with various relief organizations for Belgian refugees and needy French women. All cases addressed to the American Relief Clearing House are entered free of customs duty, transported free of charge to the Clearing House, and reshipped from there to their destinations also free of charge. The cases will also be delivered by the Clearing House, to any recognized Relief Organization, or to a special hospital designated by the addressee, or the contents may be handed over to the Clearing House at the discretion of the Committee. Free entry and transportation privileges do not apply to goods addressed to private individuals, and consequently in the event of cases arriving so addressed the Clearing House should be furnished with a list of contents and given authority to open and inspect the cases.

At present the special needs of the Clearing House are:

Money
Outing flannel shirts
Pajamas
Socks, large sizes
Undervests and drawers
Colored handkerchiefs (not red-ones)
Cotton sheets and pillow-cases
Bandages
Gauze
Unbleached cotton batting
Yarn
Outing flannel in the piece
Linen thread No. 20 and 30

The last three articles are used in the workrooms for needy Belgian and French women, who make lace for sale, and socks and shirts for the soldiers.

Money is especially needed because applications come in from small hospitals all over France for all kinds of supplies such as clinical thermometers, instruments, basins, feeding cups, drinking mugs, etc., and though the French government does its best to meet the hospital needs, so many new hospitals are constantly being installed and the want is so widespread, that it is impossible to equip them even tolerably without the aid of the Clearing House and other Relief Organizations.

I shall be very glad to give the full address for boxes designated to the Clearing House to any one who may wish to have it, or to take charge of any articles myself and will attend personally to packing and shipping them. If any clubs or groups are working for hospitals and would be interesting in hearing details of the running of a large French military hospital, I should be very glad to meet them informally to tell them something about the one in the North of France where I have lately spent several months.

Very truly,
—CLARA B. WINTHROP.

Two Kansas City families arrived on the North Shore this week, making the last leg of the journey, from Buffalo to Manchester, by motor, with short stop-over at the Curtis in Lenox. They are Captain and Mrs. Chas. W. Littlefield, who are new-comers to Manchester this season, and Mrs. John G. Groves and the latter's brother Ralph Osborne. Captain and Mrs. Littlefield have been regular visitors to Magnolia until this season, when they hired the cottage owned by Mrs. F. T. Bradbury and occupied for several years by Mrs. William F. Draper of Washington. The Groves have a cottage on Blossom lane, near Singing Beach. Mr. Groves and Miss Sallie O. Daggett, their daughter, will come on to Manchester later.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dexter have closed their Boston residence and come to Beverly Farms for the season.

This week and next will mark the close of many of the preparatory schools and the young students will hasten away in great glee to join their parents, many of whom have already settled on their country and sea-side estates. In Hamilton Mrs. Wolcott H. Johnson's son John will return from St. George's school in Newport and will join the rest of the family on a trip to the Exposition. The Jonathan Brown boys will also be free from their studies and can enjoy the wonderful playgrounds on "Red Top Farm." Over in Ipswich the James Howe Proctor young folk will return to their estate on Fellows road and perhaps prepare for another series of out-door lessons by an instructor the same as last summer. At Pride's Crossing, Richard, the son of Oliver Ames will return from his final year at St. Mark's at Southboro. Others who will return at Pride's from St. Marks are John Caswell, Jr.; David Sears and Mason Sears, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Philip S. Sears, and John W. Blodgett, Jr., son of the J. W. Blodgetts of Grand Rapids, Mich., who are occupying the Saltonstall cottage. Among the Manchester boys many have been attending St. Mark's also. The sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison K. Caner of Philadelphia, William J. and Gerald W., are included. Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Grew's son, Sturgis; Mr. and Mrs. S. V. R. Crosby's son Henry, and the young sons of Mrs. T. Jefferson Coolidge, Jr., of Coolidge's Point, have also been among the students at St. Mark's.

Green Gables, at Magnolia, had its formal opening for the season, under new management, last Tuesday, and despite the bad weather this week has enjoyed good patronage. Paul Jones Chute, the distinguished dancer so favorably known for his masterly interpretation of the new steps last season, along the shore, is at the Gables for the summer, and Miss Melba Proctor will be his dancing partner. Dancing will be in vogue every afternoon and evening, and Tuesday afternoon will be devoted to the children. Many children's parties along the shore and from the hotels are already being planned for the summer, as Green Gables offers a delightfully quiet retreat for parties of this kind. Alexandré J. Dueth is the manager of Green Gables this season.

Miss Marie Louise Wanamaker of Philadelphia, fiancée of Gurnee Munn, has been on the North Shore this week for a visit with Mr. Munn's people at Manchester. The wedding of Mr. Munn and Miss Wanamaker will take place in Philadelphia a week from Monday—the 28th.

Mr. and Mrs. Norton Wigglesworth and family of Milton, have arrived at Manchester for the summer.

Among the recent arrivals at Manchester—and new-comers here—are Mr. and Mrs. John Woodford Farlow of Bay State Road, Boston, who have the estate of the late A. L. Devens off Forest st.

F. Blackwood Fay and family are among the week's arrivals at Magnolia. They have the cottage on the Gloucester-Manchester road, occupied by the late Lucius Tuttle for so many years.

Valued additions to the North Shore contingent this summer will be Mr. and Mrs. William P. Shepard of the Bellevue-Stratford, Philadelphia. Mr. and Mrs. Shepard arrived in Wenham early in the week, where they are occupying Miss Dorothy Jordan's country house.

The John Hays Hammonds have closed their city residence at 903 Park ave., New York, and returned to "Lookout Hill," their estate at Freshwater Cove, Gloucester. They will leave shortly for the exposition in California.

Mrs. Walter Denégre has offered the coach house on her estate, Villa Crest, Manchester, for the meetings during the summer of the North Shore branch of the French wounded emergency fund, of which Mrs. Frank Bemis is chairman. Already 40 branches have been organized throughout New England for work during the summer. The need of supplies in the small hospitals in France is overwhelming. The New England branch of this fund, which is doing a great work, has its general summer quarters at 351 Boylston street, Boston, in rooms generously given by the Arlington Street Church. Mrs. Jasper Whiting is chairman of that committee; Miss Rosamond Hill Smith, secretary; Miss Mary Vaughan, assistant treasurer, and Mrs. John Wells Farley, chairman of the committee on hospital supplies. Others on the board are Mrs. W. A. L. Bazeley, Mrs. Edward H. Bradford, Mrs. Robert S. Bradley, I. Tucker Burr, Mrs. Walter Channing, Mrs. Ralph Adams Cram, William Endicott, Mrs. William C. Endicott, Jr., John Wells Farley, Mrs. Henry H. Fay, Mrs. Robert Grant, Mrs. George H. Lyman, George von L. Meyer, Mrs. Joseph Sargent, Mrs. Barthold Schlesinger, Mrs. William T. Sedgwick, Mrs. Thomas Sherwin and Mrs. Francis R. Spalding. Contributions of money, large and small, will be gratefully received by Kidder, Peabody & Co., treasurers, Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney E. Hutchinson of Philadelphia arrived this week at Beverly Farms. They have a fine place lying directly on the famous West Beach and their house is not far from the bathing pavilion. Just across the street from the house and in view of all the passers-by they have one of the finest vegetable gardens in the vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell S. Codman, who have been at their summer home in Manchester for several weeks, expect their older son, Charles R. Codman home from France early in July. They received a cable from him this week saying he was sailing shortly. Mr. Codman is one of the group of Harvard boys who have been in the thickest of the war horrors in Northern France the past winter as a member of the American Ambulance corps, of which A. Piatt Andrew of Gloucester is director.

At "Selwood," the beautiful place purchased this spring at Beverly Farms by former Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, many improvements on the grounds are being done. The terraced garden and the pretty little pond will soon be things of beauty as the summer advances. Mrs. Beveridge and the children arrived early in May and Mr. Beveridge the first of June. Mrs. Beveridge, who is an accomplished German student, is an enthusiastic member of the German Literary society of Indianapolis. She was Miss Catherine Eddy of Chicago and sister to Spencer Eddy, the diplomatist.

MAGNOLIA

PPRIDE'S CROSSING'S many magnificent estates might be said to be holding a rhododendron show this week. At "Rockmarge" the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Moore the clusters are unusually large and fine and make a striking appearance. Judge and Mrs. Moore came on from New York last week.

"Eagle Rock," the home of Henry C. Frick of New York, shows a fine hedge of rhododendrons extending clear across the front of the place and separating the house, which stands on an elevation, from a wide sweep of lawn running down to the street. Across the street from the house is the immense barn surrounded by the beautiful flower garden and rookeries, which is a scheme of architectural beauty.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Cochrane of Hale street, Pride's Crossing, are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cushing of New York and Newport. Mrs. Cushing was Ethel Cochrane.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Kent (nee Alice Cotting) of Boston arrived at their Pride's Crossing cottage last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Curtis have arrived at the Frances Bartlett house at Pride's Crossing.

The success of the Flower Mission of Manchester has been so satisfactory that it is proposed to continue the work the present season. Organized in the summer of 1894, its work has been carried on in co-operation with the "Mutual Helpers' Flower Work of Boston." Through the courtesy of the Unitarian Parish the basement of its church has been placed at the disposal of the Mission for the weekly work. Contributions of flowers will be gratefully received in the basement at the rear of the Unitarian church, Masconomo street, on Thursdays between the hours of 9 and 10 a. m., beginning June 24 and ending Sept. 2.

Rev. Paul Revere Forthingham will preach Sunday morning, June 20, at eleven o'clock, at the Unitarian church, Masconomo st., Manchester-by-the-Sea.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Moore (Fanny Hanna), who have a beautiful home "Hollow Hill Farm," at Convent, N. J., are expected at Pride's Crossing shortly, where they are to spend the summer at the Ahl cottage, near Rockmarge, the home of Judge and Mrs. William H. Moore.

The Harcourt Amory family came to their summer home at Pride's Crossing last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Putnam and two sons, Roger Lowell and Augustus Lowell Putnam of Manchester, as well as other relatives have gone on to Philadelphia for the marriage tomorrow, June 19, of the oldest son, George Putnam, to Miss Katharine Harte, daughter of Dr. Richard H. Harte. The ceremony will be performed at "Derry Bush," Abington, a section of Philadelphia, at 5 o'clock by Rev. Charles E. St. John, pastor of the First Unitarian Church of Philadelphia. Miss Harte will be attended by Miss Helen Harte as maid of honor, and Mr. Putnam will have his brother, Roger L. Putnam, as best man. The ceremony will be followed by a reception at "Derry Bush," the bride's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Russell are not spending this season on the North Shore. They are spending June with Mr. Russell's mother in North Andover, but July and August they will be at Quisset, near Falmouth, on the South Shore.

The active interest of his daughter, Miss Rosamond Bradley, in the social service department of the Boston Dispensary, and of what is being accomplished in the dispensary has lead Robert S. Bradley of Pride's Crossing to present the institution with an X-ray apparatus of the latest design, with full equipment for use in the clinics there.

Ambassador Gerard gave a farewell dinner Thursday night of last week to E. L. Dresel of Boston and Pride's Crossing, who has voluntarily looked after the embassy's special funds since the beginning of the war. Mr. Dresel is returning to America. His sister, Miss Louisa Loring Dresel is attending the exposition in California, but will return to Pride's Crossing within a few weeks. Mr. Dresel went to Berlin in March as a volunteer member of the staff of Ambassador Gerard and took up the work at the embassy that was given up by Boylston A. Beal when he was obliged to return to America last fall to give attention to his own business affairs.

Prominent among the brides of the North Shore season will be Mrs. Roger F. Hooper (Justine Barber), who with Mr. Hooper, will be at the Clark cottage on Blossom lane, Manchester. The wedding was last autumn at the home of Mrs. Thomas H. Barber at Southampton, L. I., and the young people had a house on Marlboro street, Boston, for the winter. They will not come to Manchester until July, when Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gannett, who are spending the early summer at the Clark cottage, will have moved across the way into their own attractive new villa.

This Store is the Logical Shopping Centre for North Shore Residents and Visitors

¶Wherever you may be living during the Summer it will be possible for you to shop here easily and satisfactorily with the benefit of having the largest assortments in New England from which to choose. Every mail or telephone order for goods is given the immediate attention of one of our experienced house shoppers, who selects the merchandise carefully and forwards it promptly. Our telephone number is Oxford 3200.

¶The efficiency and promptness of our Order Department have proven of especial interest to the many from other parts of the country who annually spend a portion of the summer in New England and who recognize the buying advantages which have made this house the largest and most popular store in all New England.

We deliver free of charge in Massachusetts anything we sell.

BBROWNLAND cottages at Old Neck, Manchester, opened Tuesday. Among the day's arrivals were Miss Florence Rhett and Miss Caroline Mason of New York. Wednesday's arrivals were Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Nichols and the latter's mother, Mrs. Patterson of Boston. Mr. and Mrs. Langdon C. Stewardson of New York have also taken rooms. Mr. Stewardson was formerly president of Hobart college, but since retiring has spent much time abroad. Late arrivals in the week from Boston are Mrs. R. F. Greeley, Miss Marion Greeley and Miss Fanny Young.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Cotting arrived Tuesday at their West Manchester cottage on Harbor street.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Fabyan and family were of the arrivals this week in West Manchester.

"Eaglehead," the beautiful home of Mrs. James McMillan overlooking Singing Beach, Manchester, is now showing some of the rarest and largest clusters of rhododendrons that can be found anywhere along the North Shore. Some particularly brilliant and unusual colors may be noted in the park and along the driveway.

Miss Dorothy Jordan's pretty little black and white fox terrier, which answers to the name of either Rascal or Rattles, is becoming an assertive watcher of "The Rocks" at West Manchester, although he is not quite a year old and is very tenderly cared for by his mistress. Miss Jordan is now with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eben D. Jordan, having given over her farm cottage at Wenham to her uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Shephard of Philadelphia.

Miss Rosamond Eliot, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amory Eliot of Manchester is to be the maid of honor at the wedding of Miss Constance Wharton and Henry St. John Smith, which is to take place on the last day of the month at "The Elms," in Groton, the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Warton of Boston. The ceremony at noon will be performed by the Rev. Sherrard Billings of the Groton school. The bridesmaids will be Miss Eleanor Fabyan of West Manchester, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Fabyan's daughter, and Miss Margaret Stoddard, the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Stoddard. The three attendants and the prospective bride are sister debutantes of two years ago last winter.

MONTSERRAT has a most inviting little tea room which has been regenerated out of an old frame house by its owner and manager, Mrs. E. A. Manning of Salem. Mrs. Manning was one of the losers in the Salem fire, but with a few of her old-time colonial creations which she was fortunate enough to save, she has decorated the little place in a most charming manner. The walls are done in gray and white and all of the interior decorations emphasize the name of the place, "The Puritan Tea Room." It has been a favorite place for bridge parties and luncheons all winter with the year around colony and now the summer colony is beginning to find it a most attractive place to have tea, especially on the large screened veranda. It is near the Montserrat station.

Mrs. Sarah J. McGill of New York has been spending several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Henry W. Peabody at "Overlook," Montserrat. This Wednesday, Miss M. S. McGill arrived from New York and she and her mother have moved into their cottage close to Mrs. Peabody's where they will spend the season as usual. From the high point on which the Peabody home stands the finest view in Montserrat is obtained. The steep rocky path which leads up to the front of the house passes a quaint sun-dial bearing the inspiring message "I count the bright hours only." The grounds also have a pretty Italian garden which is beginning to be a-bloom with summer flowers.

Jersey Cream Caramels

PURE JERSEY CREAM, best of sugar, freshly cracked nuts, pure butter, and the best of flavors are combined in our bright, sanitary kitchen, by a process all our own, to make a caramel the equal of which cannot be found anywhere. A pure, delicious confection that "tastes like more."

Rev. and Mrs. John H. Mason (Caroline Atwater) of Rochester, N. Y., are spending their second season in their new bungalow on Montserrat Heights. "Wald-fried" is an ideal home for Mrs. Mason and here in the quiet retreat of the woods she has a cosy little den in one end of the cottage where she is writing her fascinating books on travel. Her latest book is the "Spell of Southern Shores" which has been added to the others of the same series on Italy and France. The Masons have usually spent their winters in Europe, but the past winter was spent in Boston. Miss Atwater of Rochester, N. Y., a sister to Mrs. Mason, is now spending several weeks with them and in July their daughters, Mrs. Henry W. Taylor of Albany, N. Y., and Mrs. Willis B. Rice of Washington, will come on for the remainder of the season. Mrs. Mason is a most charming and gracious hostess and many callers find their way to her hospitable home during the summer months.

The E. Livingston Davis family are expected this week at the Wheelwright cottage on the Paine estate, Pride's Crossing.

Parramatta Inn at Montserrat is now open for the season. Its official opening took the form of a reception on the holiday yesterday—when the fine old house and grounds were thrown open to the public in the afternoon and evening. Parramatta was the former summer home of ex-President Taft and it has been closed since the President vacated it. It is a fine old house of about 25 room surrounded by 70 acres of woodland and flowers with the ocean in full view. The furniture is the same as that used by the Tafts and the chambers occupied by the president and his wife and by Miss Helen Taft are practically the same as when they occupied them. An immense garden chair on the veranda is supposed to have been made especially for the President. The place has a large garage, tennis grounds and everything that will make the tourist's visit there a pleasant one whether he comes to stay a week or just to have tea. It is under the management of Mrs. Maybelle Brown.

North Shore society is interested in a wedding which takes place tomorrow near Chicago, at Highland Park. The participants are Miss Ruth Gregory, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gregory of Prairie avenue and Arthur Sweetser of Boston. The ceremony takes place at 4 o'clock at "Ledgemere" the country estate of the Gregorys.

Senator and Mrs. Henry F. Lippitt of Rhode Island (nee Mrs. Thos. K. Laughlin of Pittsburg), are settled at the Simpkins cottage, Beverly Farms, for the summer.

THE OCEANSIDE HOTEL at Magnolia opened yesterday for the season. The hotel has the largest advance booking in its career and with some good warm weather it is safe to conjecture that the crowd will fill the big hotel and its cottages ere the month is out. Geo. E. Carter of Brookline; Mrs. Lee McMillan of New Orleans; Mrs. John M. Gilkeson and Miss Etta Cohegan of Pasadena, Cal., were among those to register for the entire season. Among other early arrivals were Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Wickes of New York, who are to remain through July. The rain yesterday probably prevented many from coming to Magnolia. Owing to the early hour of going to press we are unable to chronicle the complete register, but a full list will be given from week to week commencing next issue.

Mrs. J. L. Chalifoux of Lowell will occupy the Underwood cottage on the rocks at Magnolia. Her son Harry Chalifoux and daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Stevens, also of Lowell, will be with her. Last season they occupied the Furman cottage in Manchester Cove.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stevens of Springfield will spend the summer in Magnolia.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell M. Chapin of Astor street, Chicago, will arrive June 20th and occupy "Edgewood," the Monks cottage in Manchester Cove.

Mrs. Hugh J. McGowan of Indianapolis, who has spent the past month or more in New York, has arrived at the Overledge cottage, University lane, Manchester. Her daughters, the Misses Marjory and Isabel McGowan, will be with her this summer and also another daughter, Mrs. Spencer E. Wishart and child. It will be remembered that Mr. Wishart met with a sad accident last summer, which resulted in his death.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker W. Whittemore of Newton, who have a beautiful summer place at Cole's Island, in the Coffin's Beach section of West Gloucester, have bought the house at 37 Chestnut st., Boston, for a winter home. Mrs. Whittemore was Grace Sinclair, a sister of Mrs. John C. Spring, who has bought the house of the late Wm. H. Jackson of 40 Chestnut st. The Springs also live in Newton, and have a summer home near that of the Whittemores at West Gloucester. Mr. Whittemore and Mr. Spring are business associates also—one being treasurer and the other vice-president of the Laconia Car Co., whose Boston office is at 141 Milk st. Mr. Whittemore is one of the best amateur golfers in the state, and is a frequent winner of the tournaments at the Essex County club of which he is a member. Another of the Sinclair daughters—Martha S.—married Sherburne M. Merrill, also of Newton, and they have a cottage at West Gloucester, too.

Yearly subscription to North Shore Breeze, $2.00.

BEVERLY COVE, which marks the beginning of that remarkably beautiful stretch of coast between Salem and Cape Ann, can be seen extremely well from its pretty little lighthouse at Hospital Point. Many fine estates are in view with their velvety lawns and gardens sloping down to the water's edge. Some of the most noticeable ones are the A. A. Lawrence estate, which lies next to the lighthouse; the home of Mrs. Robert D. Evens; that of A. Shuman, and the homes of Col. W. D. Sohler, Mrs. N. W. Rice, Alexander Steinert, Bryce J. Allen, Dr. H. F. Sears and the A. Koshland and A. C. Ratschesky places. In another direction can be seen "Bee Rock," the fine estate of Guy Norman, the W. A. Slater home and many others. The lawns on all the estates in the Cove are particularly brilliant this week with their clusters and hedges of rhododendrons which are in full bloom and give a wonderful dash of color to the early summer landscape. The home of the Henry B. Sawyers of Brookline, has an unusually brilliant bed showing many strong colors, but all blending into a fine color scheme.

Mrs. Robert D. Evans at Dawson Hall has an Italian garden on her estate which is conceded generally to be the finest on the North Shore. It was built about five years ago and contains a wealth of white marble seats, vases, statues and rare flowers and plants. The charm of the garden is best expressed by the legend or inscription over the entrance which reads: "Whosoever enters here let him beware, For he shall nevermore escape nor be free of my spell."

The Amory Lawrence estate on Hospital Point is being made ready this week for the arrival of the John Ryans of New York, who spent last season at Pride's Crossing.

New-comers to Beverly Cove this year are the G. H. Swifts of Boston, who have taken a cottage on Ober st.

The Swifts were at Smith's Point, Manchester, last year and at Magnolia the season before that.

WENHAM'S tea room is beginning to reap the benefit of its new departure in selling cakes and other delicacies. Several novelties have been added to the exchange. Something that will appeal to cottagers is the collection of recipes from prominent women in Boston, compiled by Mrs. C. H. Harrington of the Faulkner hospital at Jamaica Plain. A frequent visitor at the tea house these days is "Bobby" the beautiful white and gray English shepherd dog belonging to Miss Helen Burnham, who is devoting much of her spare time to the interests of the tea house. Bobby is large and shaggy and greets the visitors in a most gentle manner. The little tea house, which is supported by the summer colony as a philanthropic venture, is expecting that many new-comers to the North Shore will be attracted by its green and black sign proclaiming "At the Sign of the Tea-kettle and Tabby Cat."

Several families are now at their estates bordering on Wenham lake. Mrs. John A. Burnham and daughter arrived at their beautiful home, "Overlook" on Lord's Hill early in May. The place makes a fine appearance from the opposite side of the lake.

Mrs. John C. Phillips also came early in May to enjoy the spring at Moraine Farm, where her house stands close to the shores of Wenham lake. Her daughter, Mrs. Andrew J. Peters and three little children have just come on from Washington. Congressman Peters is still busy at the capital. The Peterses will remain at the farm until July 1, when they go to Dark Harbor, Maine, for the mid-summer.

Miss Virginia P. Tufts is now at Wenham. She spent part of the winter in Springfield and in Florida.

Hon. William Phillips, who is third assistant secretary of state, has arrived at his new home "Highover" on the shores of Wenham lake near his mother, Mrs. John Phillips.

The Richard P. Waters of "Lakeside," who have a permanent home near Wenham lake sojourned a while in Brookline this winter, but are now at their country place.

The E. M. Carpenters of Fairfield street, Salem, have come to their cottage near Wenham lake. They are building a new house in Salem where they lost their fine home in the fire of last summer.

Lilacs are lingering late in Wenham this season. The pretty white house at "Cotshabbie," the home of Mrs. Charles Thorndyke Parker, has many of the purple blossoms hanging against it which makes a very dainty picture.

Mrs. C. D. Sias was of those entertaining at Wenham over the last week-end. Mrs. Sias as well as many of the ladies in Wenham and Hamilton is busy in her garden now in making many plans and improvements for the summer.

At "Brookby Farm" the pretty homelike place of the E. B. Coles a large tennis court is being added, which will prove a wonderful attraction for the young folk this summer.

Yearly subscription to North Shore Breeze, $2.00.

where they stopped at Newport a few days. The Mandell family is very prominent in the life at Myopia.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Whitman (Florence Hood) are now at their year around home on Brown's Hill, Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Seavey are now at their Hamilton home, "Foxcroft." Last season the Seaveys spent elsewhere.

The Frederick J. Alleys are settled at their Hamilton estate on Willowdale road, for the summer.

Mrs. Wolcott Howe Johnson of "Fairfield Farm," Hamilton, spent the week-end at Newport visiting her son John, who is a student in St. George's school.

IPSWICH is fortunate to possess two such popular tea houses as Y^e Burnham House, located just outside of the town, and Y^e Roger's House Manse, which is in the heart of the village. At the latter place you may take tea on the lawn and be in the shade of one of the finest pine forests in the country. At Y^e Burnham House guests recall with pleasure the quaint old time surroundings.

Ipswich headquarters for suffrage is in the home of Mrs. Joseph Ross, which is next door to Y^e Roger's House Manse. Last year many ladies of the summer colony joined the ladies of the village in their work for the cause. It is hoped that this year the interest will be still greater. Last season those of the summer colony most actively interested were Mrs. J. D. Barney of Argilla road and Miss Frances E. Brooks of Boston and "Sunningdale Farm."

The Charles Bohlens of Philadelphia and Aiken, So. Carolina, have again returned to Ipswich, although last season they thought of spending the summer elsewhere. The Bohlens were very prominent in the social life of Aiken the past winter.

Mrs. John Heard, Sr., of South Main st., has been entertaining Miss Christine Farley of Cambridge. Mrs. Heard remained all winter in her fine old Ipswich house. This is one of the prettiest and most noticeable places in the village and is shaded by many large elms. It has many of the attractive features of the typical old-time New England great house.

Mr. and Mrs. George L. DeBlois (Mary B. Brooks) have again taken a house in Ipswich for the season. Mrs. De Blois is a sister to Miss Frances Brooks.

Prof. Arthur W. Dow and family will again be in Ipswich. A few years ago Prof. Dow, who is of Columbia University, had art classes in Ipswich. These were well attended, pupils coming from far and near to take advantage of the work under such ideal conditions. One of the houses which he had fitted up as a studio was the historic old Emerson house. The house this year will be occupied by the Frank A. Bournes of Scituate. Mrs. Bourne was Miss Gertrude Beals.

At "Appleton Farms," which is almost a little village by itself the arrivals are Mrs. Daniel F. Appleton, who come on early from New York and Randolph M. Appleton of the Somerset club in Boston, who has been joined recently by his daughters, Miss Julia and Miss Sibyl. The Francis R. Appletons have not yet arrived.

Ogden Codman of Lincoln has taken the Dawes place at the Whittier Corner, near Ipswich village. This is a fine old place with lawns surrounded by rods and rods of white fencing which makes it very showy. It was formerly the old Peabody place. Mrs. Dawes will take a cottage elsewhere.

The Bayard Tuckermans of "Sunswick" have been entertaining their daughter and husband, the William M. Elkins of Philadelphia and Dark Harbor, Me., who come on to visit their young son at St. Paul's school.

Many of the prominent people in Ipswich are interested in the Girls' Friendly Society. Mrs. Jerry Campbell opened her large lawn for a special fete which was well attended last Saturday by friends of the society.

NAHANT is welcoming her summer folk for the season and the conservative Nahant club is starting in on its round of summer social activities. Cottages are letting quite well on the upper shore and the hotels there, the Edgehill, Tudor and Rockledge, report encouraging bookings, especially for the early season.

Nahant's distinguished statesman, Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge, was given a splendid reception on Monday of this week when he addressed a large gathering on the Lynn Common during the Flag Day observance.

The Edgehill will welcome this season Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Sigourney, who had the Archibald cottage last season. Miss Edith Bangs, Mrs. Harrison Gray Otis and her children will also be found at this hotel for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Lindall Winthrop are at Nahant because of the war preventing them from going to their abode on the Isle of Wight, off the coast of England. Mr. and Mrs. Grafton Minot and son are still in Switzerland, but plan to be with the Winthrops later in the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Dalton of Milton will not be seen at Nahant this season. Their cottage has been leased to Dr. and Mrs. George H. Binney of Charles River square, Boston. Mrs. Binney's parents, Dr. and Mrs. William Appleton, will be at the Thorndike place, as during last season.

Charles Philip Beebe is at Nahant this season for the first time. He has leased the Wilson White house on Nahant road.

The Samuel G. Kings, who were abroad last year, will be at Nahant this season, at the cottage of Mrs. Thomas Dwight on Cliff street.

SWAMPSCOTT hotels will open with this week-end and then the colony there will be practically intact for the season, with the exception of a few families which have not been seen yet. They are keeping their town houses open because of waiting for schools to close and commencement exercises. Both the New Ocean and the Lincoln house will be open to summer guests next week and the Oakland house is already nearing a full month of business since opening its doors. With the Tedesco club doing a good business since May 30, everything is now ready for the fullest enjoyment for those who have migrated from all parts of the country to Swampscott.

There was a special dinner and dance at the Tedesco Country club, Swampscott, last night. The club-house was crowded with guests all the evening and nearly everyone remained for the dancing from 8 to 11 o'clock. Sharpe's orchestra of Boston was in attendance and played both during dinner and the dance following. The first regular concert and dance is scheduled for Wednesday evening, June 23, when a program will be given by the Salem Cadet band. The club now has a regular auto service between the various stations along the upper shore and the club-house. This takes the place of the horse-drawn vehicle which has formerly been used at the Tedesco. A number of summer residents of the Swampscott and Clifton shores have been proposed for associate membership in the club. Among them are Mrs. C. L. Sandmeyer of Lincoln, Ill.; Harry E. Adams of Haverhill; Charles H. Dickey of Baltimore, Md.; George W. Brown of Boston; Munroe Smith of New York; and John N. Stevens of Boston.

MARBLEHEAD,—a restful spot where summer tourists love to dwell during the warm months and where they are still coming to spend the next two or three months. The hotels are now all open,—and with surprisingly large numbers of guests for the start of the season. Things are moderately lively at the yacht clubs along the Neck shore and the cottage life is bristling with activity.

Hotel Rock-Mere on the mainland has started the ball rolling well with several early season guests. The holiday yesterday brought large numbers down for a stays ranging from the remainder of this week to season guests. In a way it marked the real opening of the season and from now on there will be no cause to complain that the season is not "on" in the vicinity of the Rock-Mere. Among the guests who arrived on the 17th were: Mrs. C. E. Richardson of Brookline; John H. Kent of New York; Mrs. Philip Hitchborn, Master Philip Hitchborn, Jr., and maid of Washington, D. C.; Miss Susan Upham of Boston; George P. Norris and son of Philadelphia; and Harold H. Elms of Everett, the latter for a short stay only. Mrs. Raymond O. Brackett of Marblehead entertained a party of 14 at a dinner-dance at the Rock-Mere last Saturday night. Several features for the early season social activities at this hotel are being arranged by the management.

The Oceanside hotel on the Neck is jumping into its usual summer stride in good style. A party from Philadelphia to stop there over the last week-end was composed of Mr. and Mrs. John Sutherland and daughter, Miss Abby A. Sutherland and Mrs. J. E. Maddox. The older folks went on to Newburyport, where they will spend the summer. The young people are planning a long motor trip to the expositions in a fortnight or so. Everett Libby of Vinal Haven, Me., is at the Oceanside for an indefinite stay. The Oceanside, for some unknown reason, has always been the objective of honeymoon couples and this week two more made that hotel their honeymoon center. They were Mr. and Mrs. Edwin B. Smith of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Rayford A. Mann of Boston. Miss Helen King of the Dana Hall, Wellesley, faculty, and Miss Esther Tilden, a senior there and a Chicago girl, are at the Oceanside for a short visit. Adrian Hayward of Framingham has been entertaining his brother, Rev. Lawrence Hayward of Newburyport, there for the last few days. June guests at the Oceanside include Misses Anna D. and Mary H. Wilder of Boston and Miss Una G. Clark, also of the Hub. Miss Alice Hoyt of Springfield is coming to the Oceanside for July.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Owens of Brookline have had several guests at their cottage near the Oceanside the past week. They included Lieut. Roger Paine of the U. S. gunboat Patterson; Dr. Haiger, of the U. S. S. Dixie; Miss Evelyn Williams, daughter of Lieut. Comm. Yainsey S. Williams of the Boston navy yard; and Harold Wheeler of Cambridge.

The commercial commissioners from China who have been touring New England on an investigation trip in the interests of their country included Marblehead in their visit to the North Shore last Saturday. As guests

CAPE ANN. The present week formally ushers in the big season of 1915, for all the hotels on Cape Ann opened their doors for the arrival of guests, with one or two exceptions. All the houses have a number of guests and people are coming steadily. A large number of the cottage residents have become settled this week, in their pleasant havens along shore and in woodland.

Gloucester yachtsmen are active in getting their boats in readiness for racing and pleasure. The first regatta of the Gloucester Yacht club at Rocky Neck will be held this Saturday afternoon week. On the holiday, many of the boats got out of the ship yards and boat sheds, appearing "slick" in their new coats of paint. The Rocky Neck marine railways are a busy and interesting feature of the yachting life at present. Four large schooner yachts have received their spring overhauling on the Rocky Neck ways this season and at least two more will come here in a short time to go the ways. Yachtsmen in this vicinity will be pleased to learn that next fall the Rocky Neck basin will be used by large schooner yachts for winter quarters. This will make a very desirable berth for the boats, as they will be well protected and free from ice and near the railways when the time comes for repairs. The schooner yacht Constance of Boston, owned by Professor Gardner of Groton College, brother of Congressman A. P. Gardner, is having a new 65 horsepower engine installed. Her center board has been removed and the sailing rig cut six feet. A new foremast has also been stepped. The "Constance" goes into commission this week. Three other big yachts which have received repairs are Norman H. White's yacht "Robin," the "Hesper" owned by the Wheelwrights of Boston, and "Karin," which is 98 feet long and is owned by Max Karin of Newport. The schooner yacht "Virginia," 105 feet long owned by Samuel A. Hopkins arrives this week for an overhauling. The beautiful large schooner yacht "Constellation," of Boston will come to the Rocky Neck ways about the first of July for her annual repairs.

The citizens of Gloucester are making preparations for a Fourth of July gala celebration and Gloucester Day, about the middle of August will be another grand event for the mid-summer, the Gloucester Day committee being busy in making plans. It is expected that many summer residents will be interested in this affair and will participate.

The surfside hotel will be much missed this season by automobilists and tourists, the house having burned down flat during the last mid-winter. The space made vacant in the locality affords a fine view of the outer harbor for visitors or tourists making their way out of the city at the entrance of Western avenue.

An interesting new tea house in Gloucester proper has been opened by two New York ladies, at 90 Middle street. The Salad Bowl Tea House has been located in the old McKenzie house, one of the landmarks of the city, erected in 1765 and afterwards remodeled. The quaint entrance doorway is beautiful, and the interior being wholly old English in furnishings and decorations, has that fascinating atmosphere of the English country Inns of by-gone days. The furniture is entirely antique and every piece is guaranteed genuine. Here, luncheon or afternoon tea is being served. A specialty is being made of salads and a real French cook prepares a menu extraordinary. The managers have traveled extensively in England, studying the old English Inns and the exquisite taste which they have shown in the arrangement of furniture, pewter, draperies, the old Hart prints, etc., besides the cabinets containing the interesting "smocked" blouses, linens and the exhibit of garden and piazza furnishings is very pronounced. A dainty room on the second floor is being placed at the disposal of luncheon or tea patrons who would desire to play cards. Visitors are always welcome to the "Salad Bowl" for an inspection of the old interior is really an attraction of historical worth in the old city of Gloucester.

BASS ROCKS has been the scene of busy activities of late, for within several days the cottagers have been coming fast and hotel guests are arriving in considerable numbers. The large Hotel Moorland on Atlantic road opened on Saturday and a feature which marked the opening of the hostelry, was the annual outing of the Boston University Law School association, which gathered under the Moorland's hospitable roof, some 100 members being present, among them being prominent judges and attorneys. James B. Connolly, the author of "Out of Gloucester," "The Seiners" and other marine stories, was an invited guest of the association and spoke at the banquet. Others present were Major William Tutherly, '92; Arthur L. Spring, '83, of Boston and Bass Rocks, president of the association; Judge James M. Morton, Jr., of the United States District Court; Judge Oscar A. Mardon of Stoughton; Judge Howard A. Wilson of Maynard, Corporation Counsel George A. Flynn, City Solicitor Ernest H. Vaughn of Worcester; ex-Mayor George H. Fall of Malden. At the banquet an orchestra composed of students of the Boston University Law school rendered music. The association enjoyed a trip by trolley around Cape Ann before coming to Bass Rocks and a season of sports at Good Harbor Beach followed the banquet, the return home being made shortly after 4 o'clock.

The family of Col. Reed of Memphis, Tenn., is at the Reed cottage, Nautilus road, Bass Rocks, for the season.

The family of the late Gelston Whittemore of Back Bay, Boston, is occupying a cottage on Decatur road, Bass Rocks. Mr. Whittemore, a well-known insurance man of Boston died during the past spring and he will be missed from the Bass Rocks colony.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wortz Dundas of New York city have arrived at their magnificent Bass Rocks estate. The Dundas mansion of old English architecture is built entirely of granite and with its high walls and pillars around the courts and gardens represents nearly a half million dollars. The estate is one of the most unique along the North Shore and is picturesque in every detail. At the front, facing the sea there is an expanse of terraced velvety green lawn edged by a growth of beautiful flowers and shrubs, with a stone garden tea house at one end. At the rear of the house there is an outer and inner court, two mammoth tall stone posts being at the outer gate entrance. The varieties of poplar and willow trees, shrubs and flowers in the courts are most attractive. A feature also, at the Dundas estate is the large new tennis court just completed. This is situated at the edge of the golf links, and is entirely by itself. The court has a cement surface and is surrounded by 22 Roman pillars of cement, each pillar being 12 feet high. A stone wall surrounds the garden and court and the whole affair appears very attractive, the white pillars showing through the green trees with striking effect.

The Siamese Legation is expected to arrive from Washington at the Roland Sherman house, Nautilus road, Bass Rocks, this week-end.

E. Addison Hart and sister, Miss Mary Theresa Hart, of Cincinnati and Dayton, O., have arrived at "The Anchorage" cottage, Beach road, for the season.

The James Smithwicks of Memphis, Tenn., are occupying their picturesque cottage of beach pebbles and wood, on Nautilus road, near Good Harbor Beach, for the season.

C. C. Long, wife and son, of Washington, D. C., have arrived at the Harding residence on Page street, Bass Rocks, for the season. The family has its car and chauffeur.

The family of Arthur M. Cox of New York, has arrived at the Cox summer home on Bass Rocks road as been the custom for a great many years.

The Hotel Moorland which opened on Saturday, received ten prominent guests, which permanently registered. On Sunday thirty-five tourists were served at din-

EASTERN POINT. All hotels in this section of East Gloucester are open with permanent guests registered and the season has a brisk start. The Hawthorne Inn, the largest resort here, opened officially on Thursday, June 17, under the usual management of George O. Stacy, proprietor. Among the first-comers to the resort are ex-Governor John L. Dix and family of New York, who occupy apartments in the Baldwin cottage; the Harts of Lexington, Ky., and the Hutchings of Washington, who have taken apartments in Cherryfield cottage; the Eban family of Schenectady, N. Y., which occupies the Orchard cottage and the Arthur Merriams, who occupy suites in the Grove cottage.

There will be much social activity at the Hawthorne Inn for the coming week. On the holiday, the First Worshipful Masters' association of Massachusetts, numbering about fifty guests took dinner. This Saturday, the Kearsarge Veterans, numbering 75 persons will banquet at the Inn, after a trolley trip around Cape Ann. The City Council and friends will have the honor of entertaining the veterans. On Monday, the Harvard class of 1909, consisting of some 200 members, will come to the Inn for two days. On Wednesday evening, following, the Gloucester Teachers' association with 150 members, will hold its annual dinner.

Merrill Hall, one of the earliest hotels at Eastern Point, which has been extensively remodeled during the past winter, opened its doors to guests on the 12th, practically a new house. The new, wide veranda with its numerous flower boxes at the front entrance, appears very inviting. The large foyer and reception room are attractive, the former being in gray and blue tone and the latter in old rose shade. The foyer has dark mission furniture and the reception room contains willow furniture upholstered in old rose. The dining room has been enlarged eight feet and the furnishings are in a warm tone of brown. The new chambers and other sleeping rooms are very attractively furnished and there are several new bath rooms. The house is wholly lighted by electricity. Buell and Crosby are the proprietors and managers.

General Anson C. Mills and family of Washington are at their big estate "Bayberry Ledge" at Eastern Point, for the season.

The Waterman A. Tafts of Arlington are occupying their picturesque estate at Eastern Point near the Mills estate. Mr. Taft is president of the American Export Lumber Company.

E. Leet Wilson of Pittsburg, Pa., will occupy "Bemo Cottage" of the Little estate, this season, situated near the Niles Pond and commanding a splendid view of Brace's Cove and the ocean.

The W. Jay Littles have given lease of their attractive estate "On the Hill," Eastern Point, near the Mills and Taft estates, to the Jacobus family of Hartford, Conn. The family with its seven servants will arrive in July for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry White of Baltimore, will occupy the Garland bungalow, of the Little estate, at Eastern Point, near "The Ramparts."

Mr. and Mrs. William Steele Grey of New York city have arrived at their attractive bungalow "El Nido," Eastern Point. Mr. Grey is an attorney of New York. Yearly subscription to North Shore Breeze, $2.00.

ANNISQUAM. All the hotels in this section are now open with many guests registered. Several cottagers came during the week to remain through the season.

Philip Coyle and family of Brookline, are the occupants of "Square Rock" cottage for the season.

Felton Bent and family of Overbrook, Pa., arrived last week-end for their season's sojourn at Annisquam.

Miss Hale, artist, has opened her stone house and studio, for the season at Folly Cove.

ROCKPORT and Pigeon Cove. Mrs. Emil Gruening of New York, has arrived at her large colonial summer residence on Preston's Field, Land's End.

E. S. Townsend and family of Brookline have arrived at their cottage at Land's End, Rockport.

Mrs. John Wilbur of Philadelphia, is a guest at the Headland House, for the month.

A pageant will be held at the annual hospital fete, next month, at the Haskins Hospital grounds. Miss Virginia Tanner of Boston is to have charge of the pageant. The affair is to be held under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary to the L. M. Haskins hospital and the summer residents are patronizing the fete annually.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davison of New York city and their daughter, Mrs. Frothingham are occupying the Chapin cottage at Pigeon Cove for the season.

The Ocean View hotel at Pigeon Cove has opened for the season with some early guests registered.

Frothingham cottage is being occupied by the Gleasons and Aikins of Indian Orchard, this season at Pigeon Cove.

Thomas Todd of Boston has arrived at his summer home at Pigeon Cove. Mr. Todd, who has driven about the village for so many years, on his annual summer visits, is now driving an automobile.

There is a much better market for good mules than there is for bad men.

YACHTING, GOLF, TENNIS AND OTHER SPORTS Along the NORTH SHORE

THE renovated estate at Kernwood in North Salem on the Danvers river, now the home of the new Kernwood Country club, abounds in buildings of old English architecture. The mansion itself, which is typical of miniature castles of across the water, has not been disturbed as to its exterior finish or in the interior, except to add several rooms to bring it thoroughly up-to-date. The quaintly carved settings in the large dining room are all left intact, while a large glass-enclosed addition has been finished to give a total capacity in the dining rooms of about 250. The large chapel in the mansion house has been converted into a reception hall. It is a beautiful room, with wonderfully stained glass windows reaching from floor to ceiling and richly carved mahogany trimmings finished in English chapel effect. The house rests upon a high knoll, peering through countless trees down upon the river and along the immense golf course. As far as nature is concerned, the new club is better endowed with beauty than any club along the entire coast.

A field of twenty players competed last Saturday in the members' handicap bogey competition at the Essex County club. F. I. Amory, Jr., was the winner. Other players were C. M. Amory, 1 down; E. M. Gerould, 2 down; L. S. Bigelow, 2 down; A. E. Little, 4 down; R. Boardman, 4 down; J. Reece, 4 down; G. F. Willett, 4 down; A. S. Porter, Jr., 8 down; D. L. Pickman, Jr., 9 down.

The golfing feature at the Essex County club tomorrow—June 19—will be a handicap medal play for men, with prizes for best gross and best net scores; and next Saturday, June 26, there will be another bogey competition for men, with first and second prizes.

The Corinthian Yacht club races off Marblehead tomorrow will count for percentage in the Sir Thomas J. Lipton Class P championship cup. The Corinthian is at present the holder of the cup won from last season and its skippers are extending themselves to retain the trophy for another year.

The cup defense yacht Resolute, which has been in the shipyards at Bristol, R. I., all winter, has been put overboard and is being prepared for the races with the sloop Vanitie late this month. Oh, no, this coast is not to be without racing this year. There will be plenty of it, although the international contests will be noticeable by their absence.

John A. Reynolds, a professional tennis player from the B. A. A., has been engaged to teach tennis at the Tedesco Country club, Swampscott. He will be there until Oct. 1.

At the Salem Golf club links last week a large crowd of onlookers saw Miss Vera Ramsay win a match from Miss Margaret Curtis, former state and national champion. The tournament was an invitation medal play of the Massachusetts Women's Golf association. Miss Ramsay is an English girl and has come to America to stay until the war is over. Although but 19 years old Miss Ramsay has practically been brought up on a golf course. The course used by the Leatherhead Golf club in Surrey, England, was laid out by Miss Ramsay's father for his family's use and it is only recently that the links have been leased for club use. Francis Ouimet says that if Miss Ramsay competes for the national championship in September, American women will have their hands full disposing of this young visitor from across the water. Miss Ramsay the other day playing from scratch, led a field of 17. She completed the 18 holes in 88, winning over Miss Curtis by two strokes.

The new Kernwood Country club on the Danvers river at Salem received its informal opening yesterday. There were more than 500 members and guests who attended the opening of the grounds, many trying out the new golf course and the tennis courts. Dinner was served for the first time in the new enlarged dining room and an orchestra furnished music during the afternoon and evening. Everyone expressed complete satisfaction with the manner in which the old Col. Peabody estate has been transformed into a country club.

THE golf course at the Nahant club has been re-surfaced and generally fixed up for play this summer. Although not the best course on the shore, it serves its purpose quite well and is a daily source of exercise and lively play by many of the Nahant colony. The tennis courts on the club grounds are also kept busy these days. The location of the Nahant club golf course is not what would be considered ideal, from the fact that it is isolated by more than a quarter-mile from the club grounds. When the club was first formed, a golf course was not a part of the grounds and when it was added it was at a considerable distance away. This fact does not seem to detract from its popularity, however.

Otto Glockler, formerly of the Boston Athletic association, Boston, has been engaged as lawn tennis instructor at the Essex County club, Manchester, for the season, and is now prepared to give lessons. Bookings may be made at the office or by telephone.

The season team match in golf between the Reds and the Blues at the Tedesco Country club, Swampscott, started yesterday with the four ball medal play. A 3-4 handicap was given each player, the best ball counting. Tomorrow the 18 holes medal play match will be pulled off.

The first race in the schedule of the Eastern Yacht club of Marblehead Neck is on Saturday, June 26, when many of the fleet will compete in the invitation ocean race for the Vanderbilt cup. The course lies from New London, Conn., to Marblehead. On the same day there is an open race on the Marblehead outside course for yachts not over 46 feet rating. The annual regatta for all classes in competition for the Puritan cup comes on Tuesday, June 29. This year's regatta committee of the Eastern consists of Henry A. Morss, chairman; Henry A. Frothingham, sec'y.; Frederick M. Hoyt, Caleb Loring and A. Loring Swasey.

EDITORIAL

TO ASSUME THAT SERIOUS COMPLICATIONS may not arise from the Lusitania incident is folly, but to turn pessimist and preach war or to intimate by act, word or deed that war is the inevitable result of the present negotiations is also folly and essentially unpatriotic. The situation that exists between America and Germany has been acute and Germany's original unsatisfactory reply and America's wait for a reply to the second communication do not help matters in America; but true patriotism and the best expression of friendliness must come from patience. This government has a serious contest on its hands and it is asserting a mighty principle that may determine the history of the whole world. The problem of the freedom of the seas cannot be solved by the exchange of two letters between Germany and the United States. The imperial government has made, however, despite the generally unsatisfactory character of the response, some intimations that promise well. Germany claims, however true the contention may be, that it is fighting for freedom and particularly for the freedom of the seas. It is incredible that it would be so foolish as to fail to seize the opportunity that the Lusitania incident presents to assert anew that principle and quickly agree to the principle proclaimed by the United States. Germany may not be a conquered country, but it has not won the victory yet and the Lusitania incident must be adjusted with the United States with the possibility ahead either of victory or of defeat. If Germany be defeated the concessions that it may make in the Lusitania incident will be nothing compared with incomparable advantages it will have gained in affirming the principles for which the United States is contending. In making the terms of peace Germany can fall back upon the principles thus asserted and can depend upon the moral support of all neutral nations in its contentions. At the present hour it would seem that the best interests of both nations, Germany and United States, were to be gained by peace. The United States is not eager for a fight and Germany is not in a position to seek an armed contest with the young republic whose military preparedness it has despised. Nothing can be gained either by Germany or the United States by a resort to arms. All things considered the situation is progressing and it is not as acute as it might be, despite Bryan.

THE LAYING AT REST of two Grand Army men within a week, one at Beverly Farms and one in Manchester, reminds us again that the ranks of the soldiers in blue are thinning rapidly.

THE SEASON IS BECOMING all that was hoped for in early spring. The signs did not fail. The resident population on the Shore already equals that of any recent years.

RETRENCHMENT DOES NOT spell economy. True progress, municipal or personal, is made by wise and timely expenditures.

"EVERY DAY IS FLAG DAY."—President Wilson.

THE BRYAN INCIDENT, and it is only an incident, has been given too much attention by the American press and the American people. Bryan has been a national figure ever since his famous speech ending with the flourish concerning "the cross of gold." And from that day to this he has been a mischief-maker in the councils of the party. His admission to the Cabinet was a political concession that Wilson graciously made, but it was a political blunder. By temperament and qualifications Bryan is constituted to lead and not to follow. His forte is not co-operation, but forging ahead alone. The affairs of the State department have been unmercifully criticised by Bryan's personal and political enemies, though most of the criticisms have been biased and unjust. Bryan has given his task his attention and he has returned his portfolio with credit. He has done his work well, but,—there was friction. Crediting Bryan with ability and loyalty to his office is one thing, but to concede that he was the best possible choice for the high office is another matter. Bryan was not fitted to co-operate with Wilson and the remaining members of the cabinet and the break was inevitable, and Bryan, keen student of affairs that he is, quickly seized an opportune moment to retire and with as much honor as he could. The note which he issued to the American people is a literary gem and its precepts and principles are high and above reproach and criticism. If the second note of the American people to the Imperial German Government had been harsh and in the nature of an ultimatum Bryan's note would have instantly caused the American people to rally around the flagpole of peace. But the second note of the Government to Germany does not in any way sustain Bryan in his contentions. It is difficult to see why Bryan, who signed the first note, could not with all his peace principles have signed the second note. Bryan had an opportunity to present his portfolio and he did and the question now is what is he going to do. Mr. Bryan is acting sincerely and with a purpose. No one doubts his sincerity, but who can see his purpose?

THE NORTH SHORE motor opportunities will be much improved when a broad thoroughfare is provided through Cambridge, Somerville, Salem and Gloucester on the through route from Boston. There are admirable roads from Boston to the North Shore towns except through these places. Salem is making provisions for the future and before many years Cambridge, Somerville and Gloucester will construct roads. There ought to be a broad and convenient road direct from Boston to all of the towns on the Shore.

IT WOULD BE INTERESTING to know who is paying for the big three-sheet posters that have been printed and are being posted about Boston demanding Congress to empower the President to stop the exportation of munitions of war.

WHEN A MAN HAS THE TIME he hasn't the money to do as he will and when he has the money he hasn't the time.

THERE HAVE BEEN TWO HOILDAYS this week which have been observed on the North Shore. Flag Day, while not a legal holiday, is rapidly coming into a place of its own in the life of the nation. All of the organized patriotic orders observed the day with some form of ceremony. All of the G. A. R. Posts received instruction to observe the day, and every town on the Shore was gay with bunting and flags. Lynn, however, led in the festivities; every feature of its municipal celebration was a success. Later in the week Bunker Hill Day brought to mind the consecrated memories of the Revolution. The Battle of Bunker Hill was virtually a defeat, but in observing the day Amercia does well. Compared with the great struggle across the sea the contest on that day was incomparably small. But it was the cause and its final success that makes Bunker Hill a victory worthy of commemoration. It is well that the children of every generation should learn of the struggles of other days and be imbued with the principles that stirred the passions of the founders of our nation. Patriotism has been running high during the week and it should be encouraged.

BRYAN'S RESIGNATION will not harm the negotiations with the Imperial German Government. Bryan has been strongly condemned by the press for his leaving at a time when his resignation would embarrass the government. A careful consideration of the facts does not warrant any such fear. Germany now knows that the Cabinet presents the notes without opposition within the council. The press of Amercia denounced the Lusitania murder and it has now denounced Bryan for leaving the Cabinet. The effect of both denunciations upon the German Government will be to indicate to them that the American people are united in the demands being made. Bryan's resignation does not complicate the situation; it only makes it all the more clear to Germany that the American Government is united in its protest.

GUSTAV STAHL has embarrassed his own government and has brought down contempt upon his own head for his perjury. To have asserted under oath that the Lusitania was armed with no knowledge that his statement was true and with knowledge that his alleged statement was false was contemptible. The punishment that will undoubtedly be meted out to him will not undo the mischief that his alleged lying tongue has created.

THE FRENCH AND ENGLISH naval forces seem to be having as difficult a task in obtaining control of the Dardanelles as Germany is having in attempting to break the British blockade. Both Great Britain and Germany have been sobered by the experiences of the last ten months. War is serious business.

THOSE MIDSHIPMEN at Annapolis are not very clever in their operations. But what a revelation of moral turpitude the incident presents. The culprits will deserve the punishment to be meted out to them.

THE LOCAL BOY SCOUTS marched on Boston last Saturday and assisted in the capture of Harvard Stadium. There were no casualties, but much pleasure in the conquest.

THE GRAND ARMY MEN are to have a reunion at Beverly Farms in July and it promises to be a success.

THE FIRE LADDIES of Beverly made an excellent appearance in their Annual Field Day yesterday.

War Notes.

IV.

How wage we war as by God's will,
Who saith, from Sinai's height, Thou shalt not kill?

God permits evil! What is the excuse?
The evil He allows subserves for use.

National treaties have no grip
Till they be sealed with a battle-ship

What mischief war has wrought!
'Tis in ourselves that safety must be sought.
In vain our sword is bared
If we are ill-prepared.

"Too proud to fight"!
Our President was right.
In language lucid, grave,
He might have said, Too brave.

—Joseph A. Torrey.

SENATOR LODGE was well within the strict interpretations of neutrality when he said in his address at Lynn, Monday, "we cannot afford, as a nation, to allow the humblest citizen among us to suffer in any way by wrong or by injustice. Wherever any American citizen goes lawfully and legally there the flag goes with him, and there it must ever go, for if the flag does not protect the citizen, the citizens in time to come will not protect the flag. We must protect the flag and in so doing protect each other." These are noble thoughts and express the convictions of the American people. The protection of American citizens is no small task for the Government in these days of bloodshed. One does not need to be a jingo to subscribe to these words of Senator Lodge.

THE FRANK CASE is destined to hold the attention of the public. At this distance and with the facts as they must come it is impossible to form a just opinion of the case. The merits of the case cannot be discussed when the facts are not in hand; but there is a phase in which everyone is interested and that is the demand for justice. If Frank is innocent he should be acquitted and if possible his name should be cleared. Every man is entitled to a fair and honorable trial by a just and impartial jury, for upon it the justice of society alone may be built.

IF WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN were thoroughly imbued with the spirit of peaceful persuasion it would have been policy for him to have remained with the cabinet and used his influence to the greatest advantage. William Jennings Bryan, secretary, might be able to execute ideals that William Jennings Bryan, citizen and lecturer, could only preach. His position gave him the opportunity to use the very influences that he emulates. Why should he sacrifice the position that afforded the opportunity?

THE ITALIANS have been leaving the North Shore towns for the war in large numbers although the contractors have not found any difficulty in meeting the demands at hand for laborers. The war makes itself felt the world over.

MANCHESTER SECTION

Friday, June 18, 1915.

Henry O. Allen of New York was in town this week for a brief stay.

Sub-master Monroe has resigned his position at the Story High school to take effect at the close of the present term.

John Cook of Ipswich, who is employed at Bell's restaurant, has taken the tenement in the Swett house on Friend street and is moving in today.

The Odd Fellows are to hold a Memorial Service Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Odd Fellows hall. All visiting brothers and members of the Rebekahs are invited to be present.

Miss Dorothy Blaisdell has concluded her studies at Wheaton College for the year and has been on a camping party with college friends at Newport, R. I. She will return home in a few days.

Mrs. Bernard L. Boyle expects to start within the next week, with children, to join Mr. Boyle in Montreal. The latter has been assigned to government customs duty in the Canadian city, but whether for brief or long stay is not definite. They will rent their cottage here (furnished) for the summer.

Much interest is being taken in the early morning parade as a feature of the Fourth of July celebration this year. Among the entries so far are: Conomo tribe I. O. R. M., Manchester club, Manchester Launch club, Liberty Rebekah lodge, Harmony Guild, W. R. C., Arbella club, S. of V., Boy Scouts, Lewando's laundry, Jack Semons as cowboy, Newsboy quartet, Bullock Bros., C. L. Crafts and Alex. H. Sjørund.

Satisfactory progress is being made on the construction of the highway in the easterly section of the town. The road is now open to travel from the head of Union street, through Washington and Summer streets to Brook st., and also from the Stockton ave., on Summer st., to the entrance to Coolidge's Point, where the work was started. It now looks as though the contractor would complete his work by the first of July or shortly after. It is understood the section between Brook st. and Lincoln st., along by Boyle's stable will not be rebuilt this year.

ARBELLA CLUB

The Arbella club will meet in the chapel on Wednesday, June 23rd, at 4 o'clock to make arrangements for their part of the Fourth of July parade. Every member is requested to be present.

Graduation exercises will be held in the Town hall next Thursday, June 24, at 7.45 p. m. The graduation reception will be on Friday evening, June 25.

Bunker Hill day yesterday was not generally observed as a holiday. The stores were open, schools were in session, the bank was open and the workmen generally were employed at their various trades. The postoffice observed holiday hours and closed at 10 o'clock.

The date for the Hood trip, to the milk station at West Lynn, is next Monday and Tuesday, June 21 and 22. Those who have received invitations and may not be able to accept, please notify Mrs. John Baker before Saturday evening.

Vicenti Wrobel and Joseph Costanchok were found guilty, and Marx Hejna not guilty, of assault upon Stanley Kowkowski by Judge Sears at district court in Salem Monday afternoon. The men adjudged guilty were each sentenced to three months in the house of correction. Each appealed and was held in bonds of $500. The assault occurred Sunday night at a Polish wedding at Manchester. The police found Kowkowski on the floor behind a door with a plenteous supply of blood around him, caused by a severe wound on the right forehead. There were eight barrels of beer at the house,—not kegs, but barrels. The wedding festivity started Saturday night, on Forest street, and came to a climax with the fight which resulted in Kowkowski being nearly killed. A clarinet was the instrument used in the assault, which accounts for the fact Kowkowski wasn't killed. Dr. Blaisdell patched up his head in the police station. When Chief Sullivan and officers Sheehan, Bullock and Cook appeared on the scene the festivities were proclaimed at an end.

The Town hall is beginning to look good in its new dress of white.

Miss Gladys Semons is home from Jackson college for the summer. She is to assist in the office at Sheldon's Market during her vacation.

A delegation of local Boy Scouts went to Cambridge last Saturday for the rally and field day of the Boy Scouts at Harvard Stadium.

Mr. Hull and wife, the former once a principal of the Geo. A. Priest school, now an attorney at Bridgeport, Ct., were in town Sunday.

Mrs. Emma S. Mylin of Washington expects to arrive at Manchester for the summer a week from next Monday. On account of her daughter's health, Mrs. Hamrick and infant son, Martin, will be with her for the summer, at Mrs. J. W. Campbell's, School st.

Editor Isaac M. Marshall of the Cricket, and Mrs. Marshall are leaving next Tuesday with the United States Press association to attend the Exposition in California. They will be gone a month. The Mass. Press association at a meeting last Monday elected Mr. Marshall as delegate to the International Press Congress in San Francisco next month.

The prizes for the parade which is to be the opening feature of the Fourth of July celebration in Manchester this year, are: Floral, 1st., $15; 2d., $10; 3d., $5. Civic, 1st., $8; 2d., $5; 3d., $2. Horrible, 1st., $15; 2d., $10; 3d., $5.

An engineer from the War Department is in town today looking into the matter of removing Bow Bell Ledge, the dangerous rock which blocks the entrance to Manchester harbor, opposite the Manchester Yacht club. Last year former Selectmen George R. Dean went to Washington to try to induce the powers that be to include in the budget a small slice for the purpose of removing this rock. Congressman Gardner lent his assistance, with the result the War Department had its engineers from the office in Boston investigate the matter. The engineer here today will report either favorably or against the expenditure.

NORUMBEGA PARK

An excellent holiday vaudeville program is meeting with much favor this week at Norumbega's famous open-air theatre at Auburndale.

The healthiest, happiest hours are those spent out of doors and nowhere can be found a more suitable wholesome place than at this beautiful park at Auburndale-on-the-Charles. At the Grape Arbor cafe, overlooking the river sports, excellent service and cuisine are found. Orchestra concerts are given here every afternoon and evening. Canoeing is more popular than ever. A great favorite with the patrons, is the Zoological Garden with its great collection of wild animals. Of especial interest are the baby inmates who keep the crowd in roars with their antics. A host of other attractions are ready to amuse.

How you succeed is according to how you work. How you work is according to how you think. How you think is according to how you eat. Not always, but often enough to make it a rule.

MANCHESTER

The first of the series of six band concerts by the Salem Cadet band will be held next Saturday evening, June 26.

The baseball attraction this week will be the Maples of Salem, a strong aggregation of players, probably one of the best teams from out of town to play on the local diamond. The Maples are having a field of their own in Salem and when it is completed they will play at home practically all the time. A great game may be expected tomorrow.

The playground ball team played their closing game last Saturday, defeating the Essex Grammar school team 5 to 1. The local boys have won the greater part of the games played this year, in many instances from teams composed of much older boys. Some of the lads show marked ability and agility at the game and in the game last Saturday, which was witnessed by a fair sized gallery, they played like veterans. Instructor McCarthy has had charge of the team and trained them.

COLLECTING FOR STATE ASSOC.

In referring last week to the fraudulent collectors working among the Manchester summer residents soliciting funds for the baseball association we also spoke of alleged solicitations in behalf of the Manchester Fireman Relief association. Chief of the Fire Department Clarence W. Morgan has since apprised us of the fact that authorized agents of the Mass. State Fireman's Relief association are soliciting funds along the shore in the interests of that body.

WHISPERINGS of THE BREEZES

An indication of the great number of automobiles in use this summer and also of the number of people coming to the North Shore from all sections of the country, may be obtained from the record kept by an observant citizen last Sunday. This observer, though losing all count of the number of cars passing a given point, says that every state in the Union was represented with the exception of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico. There were also automobiles from Quebec and Nova Scotia. The development of the great Lincoln Highway across the country is a big factor in the furtherance of motor travel from a distance. Two Kansas City families arrived at Manchester this week, making that part of the journey from Buffalo to the North Shore by motor. This gives one an opportunity of seeing the beautiful scenery of New England, especially through the western part of Massachusetts in a way that cannot be obtained in travelling by train.

X-X-X

It seems almost unnecessary to speak of this—but an "eye-witness" calls our attention to the injuries being done to the flowers and hedges at the Rosedale cemetery by children in that vicinity running and jumping around. A cemetery is a peculiar place to play, to say the least, and young people ought to know enough to protect rather than destroy things in a place of this sort.

SUMMARY OF THE M. H. S. BASEBALL SEASON

The Manchester High school baseball team has completed its most successful baseball season. They have played nine games, out of which they have won five, lost three, and forfeited one.

Crafts' cool head, and excellent pitching are especially commendable, and the back stop was of little service while Baker was behind the plate.

The scores were as follows:

Manchester 8	Ipswich 6
Marblehead 7	Manchester 3
Marblehead 9	Manchester 2
Ipswich 7	Manchester 9
Essex 2	Manchester 17
Swampscott 4	Manchester 4 (forfeit)

HELPLESS BEFORE GROVER

MANCHESTER TEAM DEFEATS BOSTON NINE II TO I

The Manchester baseball team played its third game of this season last Saturday and was again victorious, the visitors being unable to touch Harold Grover, Manchester's invincible left-handed pitcher. The opponents were the O'Brien, Russell & Co. team of Boston. The score of 11 to 1, was quite the reverse of that of two years ago when the Boston boys beat Manchester 11 to 1.

The local team played snappy ball throughout, giving Grover excellent support. Perkins caught in great style and his trusty wing was responsible for several cut offs at the bases. He throws swiftly and true to the mark. At the bat Perkins was good for the only home-run of the game in the second inning, when he landed one in the brook.

Grover struck out ten men and allowed only three hits. Devine on the other hand, struck out only two men, in the first three innings, and passed man after man to first. Breivogel relieved him in the fourth, and held the Manchester boys down to two runs after that. Doten, of the visitors, catcher, played a good game for the visitors and handled his team well.

The Manchester team as at present constituted is a pretty strong combination. The shortstop position is the only weak spot on the team, and we understand there is to be a change in that position. The other two new men on the team, Perkins behind the bat, and O'Connell at second, can't be bettered. Frankie O'Leary at third and Shonto Collins on first are playing great ball. The outfield, composed of Bond and Jackie Gray and McCarthy, is a combination hard to beat.

It was announced last week that the Lyman A. C. of Beverly was to play a return game here this Saturday, but the Maples of Salem are to be here instead, and the Lyman's will play next week. The Maples are among the strongest teams in this vicinity and Manchester is lucky to get them at this time.

MANCHESTER

Saturday, July 24, has been set as the date of the annual picnic of the local firemen.

The band concert and fireworks on the evening of July 4th will be at Masconomo Park this year.

Gordon B. Northrup, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Northrup, Bridge st., was one of those to graduate from Wentworth Institute, Boston, last week.

Funeral services for Samuel N. Lendall were held last Saturday afternoon from the Crowell Memorial chapel in Rosedale cemetery at Manchester. Rev. Clarence Strong Pond, pastor of the Second Baptist church of Beverly Farms officiated. There were many handsome floral tributes.

The school committee has appointed Oscar F. Raymond as principal of the George A. Priest school. Mr. Raymond is a graduate of the Bridgewater Normal school and for the last year he has taught at West Newbury. His home is on Cape Cod. For the last four or five years there has been no principal of the Priest school, the duties being performed by the supt. of schools, John C. Mackin. The change is now brought about through the vote of the town last March.

FLAG DAY IN MANCHESTER

Flag Day was observed Monday and though not a recognized holiday, general recognition of the day was made in Manchester by a liberal display of Old Glory.

Public exercises were held in the Town hall in the evening, under the direction of Mrs. Julia Reed, patriotic instructor of Allen Relief Corps. The hall was moderately well filled and the program presented was greatly enjoyed.

The exercises opened with the Arbella club girls marching to music, each waving an American flag. Alfred S. Jewett, patriotic instructor of Allen Post 67, G. A. R., spoke briefly, referring to the appropriateness of these exercises and the lessons they were supposed to teach. Vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. J. Warren Lee, Mrs. F. G. Cheever and Miss Dorothy Bohaker, and Miss Bohaker and Miss Ethel Andrews sang a duet.

The Boy Scouts gave a drill under the direction of Playground Instructor McCarthy. The address of the evening was by Rev. A. G. Warner. The exercises closed with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" as the color bearers of the various organizations waved Old Glory.

MOUNT VERNON, THE HOME OF WASHINGTON

(By J. E. Jones, with 33 illustrations.
U. S. Press Association, Washington,
D. C. $1 net.)

THE beauties of Mount Vernon, and a short account of its interesting history are written about in an exceptionally delightful way in the above-named book of about fifty pages. The author shows himself to be thoroughly acquainted with the subject, and in an easy manner takes one from Washington to Mount Vernon, there to depict in detail the well-marked points of the greatest object of interest. Although the book is written from a literary standpoint, as is evidenced by a concise and graceful style, it would well act as a guide for the pilgrim visiting Mount Vernon for the first time, and especially so for the visitor who has a deep regard for the traditions which clothe the nation's greatest shrine.

Each visitor will be better and wiser for the reading of this volume, and in laying it aside will surely be impressed with great feelings of reverence for the founder of this republic. The volume is not only valuable for its educational matter, and as a thoroughly good guide, but also as an example of fine book-making. The execution is perfect; the printers' art never better shown, and the illustrations are such as to command the admiration of all. It contains exceptionally well executed half tones of the Mount Vernon Home, the Potomac, the grounds, as also of George and Martha Washington. In the description of the parts of the house, the out-buildings, and the various utensils, the manner of living at Mount Vernon 100 years ago is plainly painted, and the difficulties clearly set forth by comparison with the unbounded resources of our own time.

The story of Washington never can be told too often. His spirit should ever permeate the people of the land. The great work he did, stands as an example for all time, and his devotion to his country, his self-sacrificing, his long enduring toil, and above all his exalted patriotism, will ever make him the exemplar of the nation. He is truthfully portrayed by the author of this little book. It is a book all should read—From the Washington Herald, Apr. 17, 1915. (Any bookseller will get this for you, or it will be sent postpaid by the publishers, upon receipt of one dollar.)

Every One Within His Reach

"Travel?" retorted a clever business man. "Not I. I can sit right here and do business by telephone at less expense than the cost of hotels and car fares, and at the same time keep track of affairs in my office.

"My telephone is a part of my office force. With it I can reach every actual or prospective customer in this territory. Every toll call I make is productive in actual orders or in good-will.

"If the person I want is not at hand to answer my toll call, I don't have to wait—I simply leave word to have him call me at my expense.

"If I don't get him at all, I am not charged for the call, so that my toll calls are not an expense but an investment."

EQUAL SUFFRAGE NEWS

"Suffrage weather," which means bright sunshine, favored the English Village Festival at the Robert Gould Shaw place in Wellesley on Monday afternoon. In spite of the heat, throngs of people in summer costumes came from Boston and other places, among them being many well known on the North Shore, also many of the leading Suffragists, Wellesley College girls, etc. The children had an especially happy time, with ponies, Punch and Judy, ice-cream cones and other joys. The whole of this beautiful estate was thrown open to the ticket-holders; the rhododendrons were in full bloom, the wide lawn was an ideal place for the folk-dances and classic dances, and the final touch of beauty was a great American flag hung against a background of dark foliage,—for this was "Flag Day." Mr. Samuel Elder, President of the American Peace Society, made the address on "The Flag," and began it with a tribute to women and Woman Suffrage. He said in part that it was fitting this Suffrage festival should be held on Flag Day, for it was a woman's mind that first conceived the stars and stripes and a woman's hand that made the first flag; that our flag is now a symbol of peace rather than of war and that in the new patriotism women have their place beside the men. Mr. Elder roused almost as much enthusiasm as did Punch and Judy! By the way, someone remarked that Mr. Punch was an Anti-Suffragist, because he so evidently believed in physical force! The great social and financial success of this occasion were chiefly due to Mrs. Shaw herself and to the Ways and Means Comm. of Mass., of which Mrs. B. F. Pitman is chairman. Many remarked that some similar affair ought to be given on the North Shore during the summer, where several suitable places could be found.

Another financial success of a very different sort was the Sacrifice Day sale held last week in Boston. A very interesting collection was received, exhibited and sold at Leonard's, including some beautiful pieces of old jewelry and other family treasures which represented real sacrifice on the part of many Suffragists. Over $1500 was made at the sale.

The National American Suffrage Ass'n has just held a special convention in Chicago, at which two of the prominent speeches were made by the Mass. State President, Miss Alice Stone Blackwell, and the National Vice-President, Mrs. Stanley McCormick, remembered here as Katherine Dexter. Mrs. McCormick has sent me a report of the convention, including the platform adopted, which emphasises "strict non-partisanship" and "disapproval of the so-called militant methods." Thus both the National Suffrage Ass'n and the Mass. Ass'n have repudiated these "militant methods," which are not really militant at all, but are agitations unsuited to the present situation in this country. (Such as "heckling" black-listing, etc. These methods have been used by a little group of the "Congressional Union.")

In reply to enquiries, I will say that the Campaign Canvassers will not visit Manchester until later in the summer, but meanwhile there will be many Suffrage meetings and activities in this region.

Watch for the Suffrage Bluebird!
L. R. S.

Editor North Shore Breeze,

Dear Sir:

Of all the outrageous nonsense published by the Anti-Suffragists, there is none more offensive than that which I read in the BREEZE over the signature of "Mrs. William Lowell Putnam"—with such a liberty-sounding name it is all the more shocking that she should still advocate the political enslavement of one half of the population of the United States! Her statements are inaccurate, distorted and patently intended to be misleading.

To quote from her letter in the BREEZE of June 4th. "With regard to vice, Denver is notoriously the most immoral city in the Union, and yet women have voted in Colorado for over twenty years!" Will Mrs. Putnam tell the readers of the BREEZE on what information and by what authority she makes that statement? Perhaps on the authority of Judge Ben Lindsey of Denver, a man discredited by the really intelligent and honest people of Colorado.—A man whose nature is of such small calibre, that every time he becomes "peevish" because things are not coming his way—politically speaking—he rushes east to Massachusetts or New York, to tell your good people just what an awful place Colorado is—what vicious, best-of-the-jungle citizens rule the city of Denver and the other cities of the state—and how he alone, with a few henchmen of his own breed, represent all that there is of decency, honesty and efficiency in the entire state of Colorado.

These spectacular tirades of Judge Lindsey have become so nauseating to the respectable, patriotic citizens of the State, that by unwritten, but popular consent, Judge Lindsey and all his works, form a subject that is practically "taboo."

To quote further from Mrs. Putnam's letter. "The investigator for the Florence Crittenden Homes (which are homes where women with illegitimate children are cared for) found more very young girls in Denver than anywhere else." Granted that this statement be true—although I would want much stronger evidence than she offers in her letter, of figures, dates extenuating circumstances, and other statistics—has Mrs. Putnam taken the trouble, in the cause of honesty and justice, to find out what percentage of "these very young girls bearing illegitimate children in the Denver Florence Crittenden Home" were natives of Colorado, or what percentage of these young girls could even be called citizens of Colorado by right of domicile? If Mrs. Putnam were unbiased enough to investigate before she made her leap in the dark, she would discover facts which would give her too-partisan mind several decided jolts.

Denver is the largest city and the centre of a territory which has a radius of at least five hundred miles. From all the States within that radius comes to Denver the unfortunate woman, the unthinking woman, the ignorant woman, the loving woman, the betrayed woman, she comes to Denver, in her mind to a metropolis, to "hide her shame" as the world calls it, and—because she knows she can get good surgical care, and humane, Christian, loving treatment from those with whom she seeks shelter.

If Mrs. Putnam cares to go further into this subject I could give her many illuminating instances of young girls who came to Denver to "hide their shame," who are not of that class of "ignorant country girls," within a radius of five hundred miles of Denver. I know what I am saying because I have investigated!

There have been many cases in the local hospitals of Denver, of girls "gone wrong," from proud and well-known families in the East, including Massachusetts, who have come to Denver to bear their illegitimate babies; because Denver is so "far-away," and one "can get it all over with," and "nobody back East will be any the wiser"—

And—then what?

Denver is held up to scorn by women like Mrs. Putnam. Its citizens, both men and women, because surely all are equally responsible, although there are many more men voters in the State than women voters, are maligned and vilified on account of conditions which are 80% forced upon us.

I will not waste time and brain force in replying to the rest of Mrs. Putnam's intelligent (?) comments on Colorado's child labor laws, "which permit girls over ten years of age to ply any street trade!" That is an abortion of the truth which is revolting to any decent-minded citizen of Colorado.

Will the NORTH SHORE BREEZE kindly publish this letter in its next issue (in toto)?

AND VOTER IN COLORADO.

MAGNOLIA

The school year came to a close Tuesday at the Gloucester High school, although the class banquet and the graduation exercises will not be held until next week. There are a number of Magnolia pupils in the graduating class this year including Miss Helen Rose Nelson, Miss Jennie M. Brown, Miss Beatrice G. Story, Ralph J. Story, and Harold S. Richardson.

Rev. Dr. Walter S. Eaton, pastor of the Village church, will preach at the morning service, Sunday, on "Helps to Goodness," and he will have for the subject of his evening sermon, "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" Services begin at the summer chapel Sunday, June 27, and the first will be a union service conducted by the pastor of the Village church.

Mr. and Mrs. John V. Carr were in Gloucester over Sunday to attend the wedding of Miss Gertrude Landry and Mrs. Carr's brother, Silas Dion, Jr., of Lanesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Joyce have taken the cottage, formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. James Sullivan, on Magnolia avenue for the season.

Miss Helen Golder of Boston with a party of friends spent the weekend at the home of Mrs. W. B. Smith, Raymond street.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlow H. Halliday (nee Josephine G. Brown) returned Tuesday from their wedding trip to New York and Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sullivan of Magnolia avenue have rented their cottage for the summer and are to spend the next few months at Coolidge Point, where Mr. Sullivan is employed.

Everyone is interested in the second performance of "Breezy Point" which the Foster club is to give Monday evening, June 21, at 8.15, at the Women's club-house, partly as the result of many requests for a repetition of the comedy which was so successfully presented to a crowded house on the evening of June 1, and partly as a very practical way of helping the Women's club, which is in need of money this season. Tickets are selling for 25 cents. Miss Beatrice Long of Manchester is to give a solo dance in the third act in place of Miss Agnes Murphy, who took the part in the first performance. Miss Long is a pupil of Miss Lila Viles Wyman and has been studying for the ballet during the last winter. She is a finished, graceful dancer and one always sure

The Rt. Rev. Samuel G. Babcock, D. D., Bishop-Coadjutor of the Diocese of Massachusetts will visit St. John's church, Beverly Farms, next Sunday morning, June 20, to administer the Rite of Confirmation. The service will be at ten o'clock and the Bishop will be the preacher. There will be the usual service at 7.30 in the evening.

Bathing has commenced again at West Beach although only the brave have had the courage to try the water so far. Those who have been in report that the water is fine, but it has been so good that the air has set their teeth chattering most lively. Sitting on the beach and pavilion piazzas have, however, been the attraction to quite a large number in the afternoons during the past week.

The death of Comrade Joshua Younger, who has been a most active and valued member of Preston Post, 188, G. A. R., reduces the membership of the post now to thirteen.

On Sunday last, Joseph Donovan arrived home after an absence of a year and a half and he plans to spend the summer at Beverly Farms. He secured a good position in Washington, D. C., which about six months ago he gave up to enter the Maryland Agricultural college at Baltimore. Mr. Donovan is a crack baseball player. He was the star on the Beverly High and later played a great game of ball for the fast Beverly Farms team. When in Washington he played on one of the city teams and since being in college has been playing regularly on the college nine. There is no doubt if he so desires he will easily find plenty of opportunities to play ball in the vicinity as he already has a number of good offers.

The hospitality, the excellent meals and the splendid accommodations of the Tunipoo Inn, Beverly Farms' new hotel has been enjoyed the past week by quite a number of new arrivals. The prospects for a successful season for this Inn seems to be assured, as it should be, for everything there is designed for the comfort of its guests.

Central square has been torn up this week, the work being done by the City Street Dept. under the directions of Commissioner James Blackmer and Foreman George F. Wood. Excavations and the carting away of old material, making space for a filling of crushed stone to be finished with a tar surface to conform with that part constructed by the Highway Commissioners, are the improvements under way.

WELL-KNOWN BEVERLY FARMS VETERAN PASSES AWAY

Joshua Younger of 695 Hale st., one of Beverly Farms best-known and oldest residents, died at his home on Tuesday morning at the age of 84 years, 8 mos., after an illness which dates back to last November. Some two months ago he became aware that he could not live and made preparations for the end like a philosopher and viewed it as a coming event in the most matter of fact and common-sense way.

Mr. Younger was born in Gloucester, but moved to Beverly Farms when a young man and for years owned and conducted a farm at North Place which he sold to the late Thornton K. Lothrop, who later sold to Chas. H. Tweed. Mr. Younger then purchased a piece of land in the Beverly Farms village center where he built a cottage and has since lived. In 1849 he, like many others, caught the "gold fever" and went to California where he spent several years and his stories of his stay there were most interesting.

His was the real old New England character, sturdy, honest, plain spoken and ready to fight for a principle, a patriotic citizen and a true friend. When the civil war broke out he was one of the first to enlist. He served with Co. G of the 17th Mass. regiment during the war, acting as sergeant. At the time of his death he was a senior vice-commander of Preston Post, 188, G. A. R., and when in good health rarely ever missed a meeting or performing a duty.

Besides a wife, Lydia J. Younger, he leaves one son, Russell Younger of Revere and a brother who lives in

Among the applications for wedding licences filed at the Beverly City hall this week is that of two young people well known at Beverly Farms, Dwight G. Standley of 486 Essex st. and Alice Osborne Woodbury of 583 Essex st. Miss Woodbury is the daughter of Arthur A. Woodbury, proprietor of the Eli R. Hodgkins Co., painters, at Beverly Farms and Miss Woodbury has been the book-keeper there for her father. Mr. Standley is a plumber and has been employed considerably by Wilbur J. Pierce Co., the Oak st. plumbing concern. Mr. Standley has just built a cottage on Hull st. near Essex st where they are to make their future home.

Mrs. Fogarty and daughters, the Misses Helen and Florence Fogarty of Dorchester, have leased for the summer the Wiseman cottage on Haskell st.

BEVERLY FARMS

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Carpenter of Montreal, Canada, have been among the visitors at Beverly Farms the past week.

Miss Eleanor Connolly arrived home Tuesday for the summer vacation. Miss Connolly is a student at the St. Mary's Seminary at Hooksett, N. H.

The Beverly Farms band furnished music last Sunday for the Firemen's Memorial Sunday at Marblehead.

A handsome large green-house is being built on the Robert S. Bradley estate, formerly the J. B. Dow property on Hale st. The foundation which is of granite, is already built. The new structure is being erected just in the rear of the present buildings, which are very likely to be removed as soon as the new buildings are ready.

A new Beverly Farms ball team has been formed by Francis O'Neil of Beverly, who will be its manager. The team will be captained by Harry Hillery, who has played for the Farms team the past three years. The new team includes several Beverly Farms players and the rest are from Beverly proper. Last Saturday afternoon they played the Imperials of Danvers at the playgrounds, winning by a score of 10 to 6.

Many Beverly Farms people are looking forward with much interest to the coming entertainment, "The Cafe Chantant," given by the St. Mary's Dramatic club in Neighbor's hall on Thursday evening, July 8th. The cast includes thirty people, many of whom are artists. The play is a humorous one, and anyone who enjoys a good time, good singing and good music should not miss it. A novel feature will be the Ladies' orchestra. Following the entertainment there will be dancing.

Mrs. Daniel W. Preston and family last Monday moved from the Shepherd cottage to apartments in the George F. Wood house on Hart st.

Connolly Bros. have nearly completed many improvements on the various wood and country roads, which work is usually done each year under the direction of Col. Wm. D. Sohler of the Highway Commission. Grapevine road has received particular attention, a portion of it being rebuilt and the whole length repaired and improved. Other roads which have received attention this spring are, Rubbly road, Hamilton road via four corners to Myopia, Essex st., Dodge Row, Greenwood ave., Common lane and Thissell st.

One of the coming dances in Neighbors hall that is sure to draw a big crowd is that announced for Tuesday evening, June 29, under the auspices of the Beverly Farms Band. The boys are endeavoring to replete their treasury to meet the continual expense incident to an organization of this sort. The band is now one of the recognized institutions of the community and deserves the unrelinquished support of everybody.

Flag Day was observed at Beverly Farms under the auspices of the G. A. R., the W. R. C. and the S. of V. with an interesting program at the Beverly Farms schoolhouse hall Monday evening attended by an audience which crowded the hall to its capacity to do honor to the Stars and Stripes on its birthday anniversary. The evening's program was in charge of Mrs. Alice Brooks for the Preston W. R. C. and George S. Williams of the Andrew Standley camp, S. of V. There was a recitation by Miss May Quite a number of Beverly Farms people took in the St. John's field day at Danvers yesterday. Members of St. Margaret's Court of Foresters were particularly interested and in conjunction with the Beverly Court conducted a booth on the grounds throughout the day for the benefit of the college addition fund.

Among the recent real estate transfers is that of Abbie F. Marshall to the city of Beverly, land on Hale st., Beverly Farms, 100x104.4 feet, also Katharine P. Loring et al. to the city of Beverly, land on Elliott ave. (Vine st.) 150x154.15. The above parcels of land becomes the city property in accordance with carrying out the accepted proposition in the building of the new public library at Beverly Farms—The city buying the Marshall land and Miss Loring making the city a present of her property. Besides utilizing the land for the library building there is to be a handsome park in connection with the building.

EDMUND BREESE IN "THE SPENDTHRIFT"

The management of the Lonergan Players at the Majestic Theatre has been most fortunate in securing for the coming week of the Star Stock Season as the visiting star, Mr. Edmund Breese, who, it will be remembered, scored such an immense hit at this theatre last summer when he played a two weeks' engagement, appearing in "The Loin and the Mouse" and "The Master Mind."

In "The Spendthrift," the drama in which Mr. Breese will be seen next week, New England theatregoers will find a play written from present day life—that is, a true story. This drama drives home the horror of present day extravagance; the woman from which the play derives its name is a handsome girlish creature with a gift for spending money, making friends, and at the same time constantly fearing what they will think of her.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS AT KEITH'S

Douglas Fairbanks, the famous star of "A Gentleman From Mississippi," "The Cub," and "A Gentleman of Leisure," and one of the most popular of the younger American actors on the legitimate stage, will be the headliner at B. F. Keith's Theatre the week of June 21st. Mr. Fairbanks will appear in a bright one-act comedy from the pen of John Stokes, called "A Regular Business Man." Other features will include the Nine White Hussars, the famous singing band; Richards and Kyle; Balzar Sisters; Farber Girls; Pipifax and Panlo; Prince Lai Mon Kim, the Chinese tenor; and the Cycling Brunnettes.

The week of June 28th, Elizabeth Brice and Charles J. King of the Winter Garden shows will be the headliners at B. F. Keith's Theatre.

BOSTON THEATRE

Mexico and Mexicans will play an important rôle in the headline feature at the Boston Theatre next week, in the great multiple reel production of "Fighting Bob," which heads the list of attractions announced for New England's greatest motion picture palace the week of June 21st. Another big feature will be the first two-reel release of "Work," the new Charlie Chaplin comedy production, which will be shown for the first time at the Boston

HEAD STUFFED FROM CATARRH OR A COLD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Opens Air Passages Right Up.

Instant relief—no waiting. Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh disappears.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus driving a cold from the system.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB BACKACHE AND LUMBAGO RIGHT OUT

Rub Pain and Stiffness away with a small bottle of old honest
St. Jacobs Oil

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a 25 cent bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right into the pain or ache, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the ache and pain right out of your back and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica and lame back misery so promptly!

Telephone By-Paths

Most of the places which can be reached by a toll call are towns and villages where the salesman seldom goes because train service is infrequent. Telephone Service is constant.

Every merchant or jobber has within his grasp, in a radius even so small as fifty miles, an amount of business worth going after by telephone, but as yet unknown to him. That business could be his instead of going to distant mail order houses. He need not travel, for the telephone trade or visit can be made at any time.

Traveling salesmen at various junction points along main traveled routes can reach by telephone many small places which otherwise might not be included in their itinerary because of the time and expense involved in a call in person.

The Telephone line is direct, and there are practically no unreachable localities.

There will be no charge on a particular party toll call if you are not connected with the person whose name you have given to the toll operator.

The Guardians of the Shore

By HELENE SHERMAN

THERE are along our Shore, adding to the beauty of the sea-view as well as to the safety of the ships, many stately light-houses keeping guard during the long night watches. In the history of any sea-faring people there must be much sorrow and tragedy, and the North Shore has not been exempt from this rule. There is hardly a light or a beacon or a buoy or a fog bell that is not sending its warning signals forth over scenes of wreck and woe, enacted in the long-ago days when boats were crude, and brave men wrung their scanty living from the sea.

Leaving the Marblehead light, which has not been of as much importance as the others, we see the lights of Baker's Island sending their steadfast rays over the difficult passageway where so many brave seamen have been lost. It was in February of the year, 1793, that a petition was sent to Senator Cabot and to Representative Goodhue, signed by members of the Salem Marine Society begging that a much-needed light be set up at Baker's Island for the following reasons: "That said Salem lies at the Bottom of a small Bay, with the Harbours of Marblehead and Beverly on each side, between which Harbours and the Ocean, there are a number of small islands or rocks, and a large island, called Baker's Island; that without and at each end of said Island, are many sunken breakers or shoals; that the only channel for large vessels is at the northern end of that Island;.....that a Light House on Baker's Island has been long desired, and the want of it has often proved fatal to many Citizens of the United States, and has occasioned the loss of large property;..... that the said Society..... did about two years past, for the purpose of rendering the navigation along these shores more safe and easy, and at their own expense, erect a beacon at the North end of the Baker's Island,..... and that the said beacon is so constructed that, by a small additional expense, suitable lights might be added thereto." The petition was signed by such men as Gen. John Fisk, Joseph Hiller, and William Gray, Jr., but as no action was taken on it, the Society appointed Gen. Fisk, Col. Benjamin Pickman, and Mr. Gray a committee to confer with the neighboring towns about the matter. This was in the fall of 1793, and nothing seems to have been done until 1796, when on January 28, a petition, which embraced the placing of a light upon Cape Cod as well as upon Baker's Island was forwarded to the Hon. Mr. Goodhue, then Senator from this state.

The petition read in part as follows: "We would remark that the revenue arising from the towns of Salem, Marblehead and Beverly, together with the difficulty of the entrance into our harbor, authorise us to except that attention from our Government which we request..... We would further observe that Newburyport have a Lighthouse granted to them, and we suppose the revenue arising from that Port is not more than one quarter of that from Salem.

"We have written to the towns of Marblehead, Beverly and Manchester, who fully approve of our doings, will send on similar petitions."

The Memeorial of the Marine Society said on this same subject: "Vessels coming from Sea are directed in their course by a small light on Thatcher's Island; after passing this, they have as much as five leagues to run, in which they are obliged to pass between Baker's Island and the Misery, where the distance between them is not more than three quarters of a mile, and if they happen to miss the opening between these Islands, they run upon the Breakers and are inevitably lost." Congress promptly granted the request and the lights were erected April 1796.

In 1816 it was thought advisable to substitute a single light for the double lights, and the change was made with most disastrous results. There is record of at least one terrible wreck occasioned by the taking away of the double lights. Captain William Osgood in command of the ship, "Union," was returning from a two years' trip to Penang, and ran the vessel on the shoals between Baker's Island and the Miseries in a blinding snow storm, mistaking the single Baker's light for the Boston light, as no word of the change had reached him. There was almost total loss of cargo and crew. This and other like disasters led to the restoration of the double lights in 1820 and today "Mr. and Mrs. Baker," as these two important lights are commonly called, guide the ships over the treacherous way, and when the keeper cannot see the Miseries, or Mystery Isle in modern parlance, he sounds the too familiar fog signal known as the "Bakers' Cow." The view of the Shore from the Light-house is well worth a trip to Baker's Island, and the place is easier of access than many of the lights because of the boats, which make regular trips from the island to Salem Willows.

Near Gloucester and the rest of Cape Ann, there are a number of lights of varying importance and interest. Besides the light of Ten Pound Island, which is one of the oldest along the Shore, having been established in 1821, there are the Thatcher's Island Lights, situated upon a spot of melancholy tradition. It was upon Thatcher's Island that Anthony Thatcher and his wife were cast, the sole survivors of the wreck that carried Parson Avery to his death. The story has been told by many writers but never better than by John Greenleaf Whittier in his "The Swan Song." These lights are sometimes called the Twin Lights, and even more often, the Cape Lights, and they are situated about two miles off the mainland of Cape Ann. There are two lights about one-third of a mile apart, and bearing south by west, and north by east from each other, and northeast from Boston Light nine and a half leagues away.

Wigwam Point Light, which is situated at the entrance of Annisquam—or Squam—Harbor, is of especial importance to those, who get into Ipswich Bay in an easterly gale. Squam Harbor is a safe refuge for those who know the bar, on which there is 16 or 17 feet at high water, and Squam Light is a splendid guide. The lantern, a fixed light, is about forty feet above the sea level, and, although it is not one of the large lights, it may be seen before getting up with the bar unless the weather is very thick.

The Ipswich Lights, or as they should be termed, the Plum Island Lights, are of the oldest on the Shore and have always been considered among the most important. They are situated on Plum Island at the mouth of the Merrimac River, before which there is a dangerous, shifting sand-bar, and one of the lights is occasionally moved in order to keep both lights in one, for the leading mark over the bar. They are about a third of a mile apart, with the lanterns nearly forty feet above the sea level, and with the lights fixed. The Marine Society of Newburyport made the first effort to secure the lights, which were so sadly needed in this dangerous place, when in the fall of 1783, it erected two beacons on the Island "to serve as marks for coming in over the bar as well as to hoist lights on in the night," which was justly considered "essentially necessary for the preservation and safety of the navigation of the river Merrimack." It was not until some years later, in 1808, in fact, that anything further was done. On July 28 of that year the society appointed a committee to confer with a committee of merchants "respecting the rebuilding of the light-house on Plum Island on an enlarged plan," as the beacons were felt to be decidedly inefficient and inadequate. The resulting appeal to Washington secured the building of the light-houses, which have proved such a boon to navigators.

There can be no more delightful experience, especially to new-comers to the Shore, than to visit these lighthouses, where the keepers are more than hospitable, and have a fund of romantic tales, with which they are glad to regale the casual visitor. One of the best to visit is that at Eastern Point, at the entrance to Gloucester harbor, as it may be reached by land, and has, moreover, one of the finest views of any spot along the North Shore. The lighthouse is on the very tip of the Point, and is a really lovely walk from the car line at Rock Neck, affording a glimpse of lovely gardens and the contrast between peaceful Niles Pond, and the pounding surges out beyond. "Automobiles Not Allowed" on the government estate. The first light was built on Eastern Point in 1832, and the present structure was built about thirty-five years ago to take the place of the old one. The lantern is about thirty-seven feet above the sea level, and the red light revolves with a ten second flash.

In walking around the Point to reach the lighthouse, you choose the route, which will give you the best view of the far-famed Mother Ann amid the rocks. About a mile off shore there is a whistling buoy, which any of the Gloucester folk will tell you is "Mother Ann's Cow."

You enter the covered passageway leading from the house to the light and you are impressed with the ship-like order and simplicity. The gray and white walls, the shining oil-cans and measures, are absolutely clean, and a little, brass cannon attracts your attention. The keeper tells you a thrilling tale of its history. It was taken from a yacht, which was caught and sunk more than twenty years ago while smuggling Chinamen into the country.

You ascend the spiral staircase and the more fearsome ladder, and listen with as much apparent intelligence as possible to the explanation of the intricate machinery, which runs the light, and you exclaim over the shining lantern with its rows of red chimneys ready for the night, and then you climb through a small window to the narrow, encircling platform outside, for a sight of the extent of water and land, which will repay you for the long walk, the time you have taken from business or pleasure, for Eastern Point commands a wonderful view of ocean and the islands and the Shore.

If the day is very, very clear, you may be able to see in the far distance the faint outline of Cape Cod, but if it is only a little more than ordinarily clear you can see the Custom House tower at Boston, about in line with Half Way Rock. The beautiful coloring of the sea, the islands and the mainland, including Marblehead Neck, Magnolia Point, Dolliver's Neck, and Freshwater Cove into "the fine and sweet harbor" of Gloucester, "where twenty ships may easily ride therein," delight your soul. As you stand there to watch the beauties Nature has spread before you with such a lavish hand, you see a sloop scudding toward the North, closely followed by a flock of hovering gulls. Out of Gloucester a fishing vessel with a seine boat on board is heading for George's Banks, and, watching it, you forget that the good old days of sailing craft are almost over, and that across the Harbor you may see the wireless station where the young genius, John Hays Hammond, Jr., controls his marvellous little boat. You leave regretfully, fully resolved to come again, and when you have safely reached the bottom of the stairs, the light-keeper will take you to the spotless engine room, and show you how the fog bell is rung when Dolliver's Neck cannot be seen through the fog. As you walk back to Gloucester you turn for a farewell look at the simple, pleasant dwelling, and the warning light, which is so important to the fishermen, who have made Gloucester's prosperity, and you get the last glimpse of Mother Ann, and one of your pleasantest experiences is ended.

Tolstoi's Vision of Europe in Flames

IN the fall of 1910, Leo Tolstoi was requested by the Czar, through Countess Nastasia Tolstoy, to compose a message intended for himself, the King of England, and the Kaiser of Germany, the two last mentioned having suggested it. They wanted something from the old man that had never been published and was not intended by him for publication. To the Countess he responded by dictating the following words:

This is a revelation of events of a universal character which must shortly come to pass. Their spiritual outlines are now before my eyes. I see floating upon the surface of the sea of human fate the huge silhouette of a nude woman. She is—with her beauty, her poise, her smile, her jewels—a super-Venus. Nations rush madly after her, each of them eager to attract her especially. But she, like an eternal courtesan, flirts with all. In her hair-ornament of diamonds and rubies is engraved her name—"Commercialism." As alluring and bewitching as she seems, much destruction and agony follow in her wake. Her breath, racking of sordid transactions, her voice of metallic character like gold, and her look of greed are so much poison to the nations who fall victims to her charms.

And behold! she had three gigantic arms with three torches of universal corruption in her hand. The first torch represents the flame of war that the beautiful courtesan carries from city to city and country to country. Patriotism answers with flashes of honest flame, but the end is the roar of guns and musketry.

The second torch bears the flame of bigotry and hypocrisy. It lights the lamps only in temples and on the altars of sacred institutions. It carries the seed of falsity and fanaticism. It kindles the minds that are still in cradles and follows them to their graves.

The great conflagration will start about 1912, set by the torch of the first arm in the countries of southeastern Europe. It will develop into a destructive calamity in 1913. In that year I see all Europe in flames and bleeding. I hear the lamentations of huge battlefields. But about the year 1915 a strange figure from the north—a new Napoleon—enters the stage of the bloody drama. He is a man of little militaristic training, a writer or a journalist, but in his grip most of Europe will remain until 1925. The end of the great calamity will mark a new political era for the old world. There will be left no empires and kingdoms, but the world will form a federation of the United States of Nations. There will remain only four great giants—the Anglo-Saxons, the Latins, the Slavs and the Mongolians.

After the year 1925 I see a change in religious sentiments. The second torch of the courtesan has brought about the fall of the church. The ethical idea has almost vanished. Humanity is without the moral feeling. But then a great reformer arises. He will clear the world of the relics of monotheism and lay the cornerstone of the temple of pantheism. God, soul, spirit, and immortality will be molten in a new furnace, and I see the peaceful beginning of an ethical era. The man determined to this mission is a Mongolian-Slav. He is already walking the earth—a man of active affairs. He himself does not now realize the mission assigned to him by a superior power.

And behold the flame of the third torch, which has already begun to destroy our family relations, our standards of art and morals. The relation between woman and man is accepted as a prosaic partnership of the sexes. Art has become realistic degeneracy. Political and religious disturbances have shaken the spiritual foundations of all nations. Only small spots here and there have remained untouched by those three destructive flames. The anti-national wars in Europe, the class war of America, and the race wars in Asia have strangled progress of half a century. But then, in the middle of this century, I see a hero of literature and art rising from the ranks of the Latins and purging the world of the tedious stuff of the obvious. It is the light of symbolism that shall outshine the light of the torch of commercialism. In place of the polygamy and monogamy of today there will come a poetogamy—a relation of the sexes based fundamentally upon poetic conceptions of life.

And I see the nations growing wiser, and realizing that the alluring woman of their destinies is, after all, nothing but an illusion. There will be a time when the world will have no use for armies, hypocritical religions, and degenerate art. Life is evolution, and evolution is development from the simple to the more complicated forms of the mind and the body. I see the passing show of the world-drama in its present form, how it fades like the glow of evening upon the mountains. One motion of the hand of commercialism and a new history begins.

According to the Kaiser it is one of the most impressive literary prophecies of the age.

ALL ROADS ON THE NORTH SHORE will lead to the beautiful Bradley estate at Pride's Crossing on Monday. The efforts to raise funds for the French Wounded Emergency Fund should be enthusiastically supported by the entire shore.

IT IS OSTENTATIOUSLY announced that Germany has not decorated the men who participated in topedding the Lusitania, but has any one heard that they have been reprimanded for their inhumane activities?

RAYMOND BROWN, RESIDENT-MANAGER

THE first dance of the season at the Essex County club, Manchester, will be held on Friday evening of next week—July 2, at which members, junior members and subscribers may be present, together with their guests. A table d'hôte dinner will be served at 8 o'clock that evening, and the superintendent already reports a number of tables engaged. Many will have an opportunity of seeing the new club-house that evening for the first time.

Two noted theologians will preach at Manchester Sunday—the Very Reverend George Hodges, D. D., dean of the Episcopal Theological school, Cambridge, at the Episcopal church, Masconomo st., at 10.30, and Dr. Samuel A. Eliot, president of the American Unitarian association at the Unitarian church, on the same street at 11 o'clock.

Mrs. Francis Lee Higginson, Jr., is to open her house at Pride's Crossing on Friday, July 23, for a recital for the benefit of the Polish sufferers. On that occasion Miss Frances Nevin and Mr. John Herman Loud, the well known organist, are to give "Lohengrin."

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Henry Higginson are to come to their small cottage at West Manchester within a few days, and Mr. Higginson and son Henry, who is now with his grandmother, Mrs. Henry L. Higginson, plan to go very soon on a fishing trip through northern Maine and New Brunswick to be gone several weeks.

George B. Poole of Chestnut Hill has leased "Alhambra," the cottage on Mingo Beach hill, Pride's Crossing, occupied last year by the Randolph Tuckers. The lease was made through the Boardman agency.

Mrs. John Caswell of "Round Plain Farm," Beverly Farms, her daughter, Elizabeth, and son, John Caswell, Jr., will leave July 1, for Islesboro, Maine. Their Beverly Farms home will be occupied during July and August by the Albert G. Milbanks of New York and Seabright, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm G. Haughton (née Mrs. H. P. McKean) of 238 Beacon st., Boston, arrived at their home in Pride's Crossing this week. The house has been partially opened all spring for the young people and for occasional week-end visits of Mr. and Mrs. Haughton.

THE wedding of Gurnee Munn of Manchester and Washington, and Miss Marie Louise Wanamaker, to take place at St. Mark's church, Philadelphia, next Monday, at 12 o'clock, will take a number of people from the North Shore. Mr. Munn is to give his farewell bachelor dinner at the Racquet and Tennis club, New York, tomorrow (Saturday) night. The guests will include Charles A. Munn, who will be best man; Ector Munn, the third brother; Reginald Boardman and Charles M. Amory, brothers-in-law; and John Wanamaker, Jr., William Rhinelander Stewart, Jr., W. Lee Gwynne and Thomas Blumer, who will be ushers.

Miss Frances Moore of Pride's Crossing went to Jenkinstown, Pa., several days ago to be with Miss Wanamaker, one of whose attendants she is to be at her marriage to Gurnee Munn, Monday (the 28th). Mr. and Mrs. A. C. P. Wichfeld (Mrs. Clarence Moore), who were married the first day of May in Washington, are returning from California the first of July and after a brief stay in Washington will come on to "Swiftmoor" for the rest of the summer.

Mrs. Henry P. King (Alice O. Spaulding) closed her town house at 118 Beacon street, Boston, and came to "Sunset Rock" her Pride's Crossing home, Tuesday.

The Daniels' cottage at Beverly Farms has been leased for the season to a Mrs. Fitch of New York.

Mrs. Charles Warren (née Bliss) of Boston and Washington, is spending a few weeks at Magnolia, at the Bliss cottage. Later she goes to Bar Harbor, where Mr. Warren, who is assistant secretary of the navy, will join her as soon as he is able to leave his duties in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hays Hammond and John Hays Hammond, Jr., arrived Wednesday at their estate in Fresh Water Cove. Miss Mary Elizabeth Hammond, Mr. Hammond's sister, came early in the week with the children, who have returned from school, Miss Natalie from Miss Spence's school in New York and Richard from Morristown, N. J. The Hammonds had planned to leave this week for California, but have now cancelled their plans and will remain in their summer home until fall.

THE William Baldwin Miller place at Beverly Cove will in time be one of the finest places on the North Shore. Last year Mr. Miller purchased the Dresel place consisting of nine acres of woodland. Work was begun upon the house last fall and it will be practically completed by this fall. The large and commodious white house occupies the highest point on the place and by topping the thick growth of pines and other trees in front of the place a fine sea view was obtained, showing distinctly the Salem and Marblehead shores across the water. Much blasting through solid rock was necessary to lay the foundations of the house on the rocky ledge. The color scheme of the house is white—the interior being in white wood and the walls finished in white tapestry. The furnishings will carry out the idea of the antique. The Millers have spent four seasons on the North Shore at various places. One season they spent in Beverly Farms at "Selwood." Mr. Miller is secretary of the Diamond Rubber Co. of Akron, O., where they formerly made their home. They now reside in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Henderson of Brookline arrived this week at "Roxedge" cottage, Mystery Island.

The E. J. de Coppet family are now at Pride's Crossing, having taken a cottage on Common lane the past week.

J. Pierpont Morgan's patatial yacht "Corsair" dropped anchor in the harbor off Manchester and Beverly Farms last Saturday afternoon, remaining until Sunday noon. After returning to New York last week from Boston, with Mr. and Mrs. Morgan and some of the guests who had come on to Boston for the Morgan-Converse wedding, the yacht was turned over to Mr. and Mrs. Francis R. Appleton of New York to bring on their young son James, who has been suffering from some spinal trouble. The party landed at the pier in Manchester Sunday morning and motored to Ipswich where the Appletons have a beautiful summer home.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans R. Dick, Jr., and their two children of South Dartmouth, Conn, will leave early in July for Ipswich, where they will spend the summer with Mrs. Dick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Cowdin Bacon (Hope Norman), who were married in Beverly the early part of June, are spending their honeymoon in the northwest.

"Hetmere," the A. Shuman place in Beverly Cove is a strikingly handsome place surrounded by a stone wall almost hidden by vines and shrubs. The great trees are very noticeable on the lawns. Mrs. August Weil is now with her father, Mr. Shuman, for the season.

Miss Katherine Harte, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Richard H. Harte of 1503 Spruce street, Philadelphia, was married last Saturday to George Putnam of Boston and Manchester. The ceremony was performed on the lawn of Derry Bush, the estate of Dr. and Mrs. Harte, by the Rev. Charles E. St. John of the First Unitarian church. The maid of honor was Miss Helen Harte, and the bridesmaids were Miss A. Beatrice Geyelin, Miss Adelina L. F. Pepper, Miss M. Eulalie Willcox, Miss Eleanor Townsend, Miss A. Ernesta Drinker and Miss Gertrude H. Henry. Roger L. Putnam, a brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and the ushers were Harvey H. Bundy of Washington; Percy C. Madeira, Dr. Henri N. Platt, Spencer Ervin, Richard Harte, Caleb Loring, John A. Sweetser, Robert Hayder, Augustus L. Putnam of Boston and De Coursey Sales of New York.

Mrs. Edward Wigglesworth, after a short stay at her Manchester estate, is going to her mountain camp in Jackson, N. H., to spend July and August and part of September.

After closing "Edgewood," their place at Manchester Cove, Mrs. Richard J. Monks and Miss Monks spent several days at the Essex County club, Miss Monks going on Tuesday to Mattapoisett, where she is visiting Miss Mary Lowell. Miss Lowell, who is a cousin of Miss Georgina Lowell, is to be married on Saturday, the 26th of June. Miss Monks is to act as one of Miss Lowell's bridesmaids. The wedding will be in the chapel at Mattapoisett. A special car will take guests down from Boston.

Brookbank Inn, Fresh Water Cove, has the following guests registered for the season: R. W. McKay, New York; Mrs. Karl Hoffman and sister, Miss Laura Dearson, New York; Mrs. Isaac W. Jackson, Baltimore; Albert D. Trenor, New York. Mr. Trenor is one of the experts who assisted John Hays Hammond, Jr., in his laboratory last season. Mrs. Margaret Rehn and son, F. K. Rehn of New York, who have been guests at the Foster cottage in Fresh Water Cove and also at the Inn, left this week for their own cottage in Magnolia.

The David S. Greenoughs of Jamaica Plain will not be on the North Shore this summer. They are planning to remain in town and spend the summer in making short trips to various resorts. Their cottage "Black Bess" at Eastern Point, will be occupied by the Stephen W. Sleepers of Beacon street, Boston.

Hope & Co., of 665 Fifth ave., New York, formerly with Thurn, will be located at the Fuller cottage, Magnolia, this summer (opposite the Oceanside) with a large and choice collection of gowns, wraps and blouses. They plan to open next week—July 1.

THE Committee of the North Shore Branch of the French Wounded Emergency Fund wish to state any funds donated for this work to be carried on at Mrs. Denégre's coach house should be sent to either the chairman or treasurer of this committee instead of Kidder, Peabody & Co. as was erroneously stated in last week's BREEZE, as the money donated will be used in supplying materials for our work. The committee in charge is composed of Mrs. Frank Bemis, chairman; Miss Harriet C. Rantoul, treasurer, Beverly Farms; Mrs. Robert S. Bradley, Mrs. John S. Curtis, Mrs. Henry S. Grew, 2d., Mrs. George H. Lyman, Mrs. Lester Leland, Miss Margaret Thomas and Miss Alice Thorndike.

Mrs. Roger Cutler (Leslie Bradley) of Charles River Village, through her board work in connection with the Children's Island Sanitarium at Marblehead, has recently conducted an interesting poster contest for the summer's advertising. The pretty poster design which won out was the work of Mrs. Alice Bolam Preston of Beverly Farms. The posters will be placed in all tea rooms and hotels next Monday and will give full directions for reaching the sanitarium.

NORTH SHORE GRILL, at Magnolia, which has been open since the 17th of June, will have a more formal opening on Friday of next week when there will be an exhibition of original dances at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, by Baby Lillian Emerson, a wonderfully talented young miss, not yet in her teens. Baby Emerson has had a pronounced successful career, having been in great demand in New York, Boston and Philadelphia, where she has exhibited her wonderful dancing before the most prominent women of these cities. The management of the North Shore Grill will no doubt have a large crowd for the occasion. The enlarged and newly furnished dining room in the Grill will be used on this occasion and a special tea will be served from 4.30 to 6 o'clock. The patronesses are: Mesdames Wm. H. Moore, Quincy A. Shaw, Jr., Sydney Hutchinson, M. G. Haughton and Robt. deW Sampson.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. House, who recently returned from Europe have taken a house at Manchester for the summer. Through the Boardman agency they just lease the Stevens estate, off Summer street, overlooking the Essex County club. They will come to Manchester next week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilder Pollard, at Eastern Point, Gloucester, have been enjoying a short visit from their daughter, Mrs. Alvin F. Sortwell (Elise Pollard) of Manchester, during Mr. Sortwell's absence in Philadelphia, where he was one of the ushers at the Willetts-Clark wedding the past week. The Pollards have been much interested in Class Day festivities, their son, Frederick having finished the Harvard law school. Mr. Pollard attended the class of '83 dinner at the Vendome hotel Wednesday night. Mr. and Mrs. Pollard and their daughter, Miss Pauline, are planning to join the Harvard men who have chartered the "Finland" for a trip to California by way of the Panama canal. The Pollards will leave the party at San Francisco and go on to Japan. They plan to be home about November 1. Through the efforts of Mrs. Pollard and Mrs. William Sheafe of Boston, a branch of the French wounded emergency fund has been established in Gloucester. The Bass Rocks and Eastern Point colonies are responding and the work is carried on Tuesdays and Thursdays in the Girls' Club rooms.

It is understood that Edward Everett and his sister, Miss Louise Everett will not come to West Manchester this summer. Their mother, Mrs. E. B. Everett died during the winter.

Mrs. William Stuart Spaulding of "Sunset Rock," Pride's Crossing, has been making her mother, Mrs. Sydney Fairlee, a short visit in Kenilworth, Ill., near Chicago, before joining Mr. Spaulding at their camp at Cascapedia, Quebec.

Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw of Jamaica Plain came to her Pride's Crossing estate, "The Commons" last Thursday.

Miss Frances Moore and her young brothers have come on from Washington and are now settled at "Swift-moor," Pride's Crossing, with their grandmother, Mrs. E. C. Swift. Miss Moore has since gone to Philadelphia for the Munn-Wanamaker nuptials next week. Preston Moore returned this week from Concord, N. H., where he has been attending St. Paul's school. That he has been interested in mechanics the past winter is certain, for he has brought home a cunning little auto, gray and somewhat boatshaped, just large enough for two, which he has made himself. He may be seen almost constantly driving the little machine around Pride's.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Hodges and family, of Brookline, whom we reported some weeks ago as leasing a cottage at Marblehead, have taken the Mansfield cottage at West Manchester, and are already settled for the season. The lease was made through the Boardman agency.

The William Madison Woods of Boston and Andover opened their Pride's Crossing home last Saturday.

John Taylor Spaulding of Pride's Crossing has joined his brother, W. S. Spaulding, who is fishing in the New Brunswick region.

The Herbert D. Hostetters of Pittsburg, Pa., are settled at their estate in North Beverly for the season.

Mrs. Herman L. Kampmann, who is a very prominent resident of San Antonio, Texas, has a fine home, "Loma Vista" on Grover street, North Beverly. Mrs. Kampmann is not coming north this summer and has her place for rent.

THE peony exhibit of the Cherry Hill Nurseries of West Newbury, which is being held today and tomorrow in Beverly, at the Almy, Bigelow & Washburn store, is being taken advantage of by many of the flower lovers along the North Shore. The exhibit opened Thursday with many attractive bouquets being placed in the windows of the store and each clerk wearing a handsome peony and ready to direct the many visitors to the basement where the sweet perfume from the flowers guides one directly to the exhibit proper. The flowers are arranged in large vases on long tables, many of the vases holding a single peony of great size and beauty. Others contain immense clusters of the flowers. Since the peony flowering season is all through the month of June, but at its best from about the 10th to the 25th, not all of the seventy or more varieties could be shown at this late date, which is the last of the June exhibits. But the visitor is so delighted with the great wealth of peonies that he never misses a few of the early bloomers which are absent. One of the especially interesting vases holds a cluster of the Mr. Manning, deep glowing crimson ones which have gained more first prizes than any other variety in its class. The delicate flesh coloring, the soft pinks, the creamy whites, the bright rose and the pure white with a dash of carmine are some of the colors noted which are particularly striking. The differently shaped peonies are worth noticing, some ranging from the cup-shaped form to the massive globular form. At the recent exhibit in Boston, in Horticultural Hall, the Cherry Hill Nurseries received many of the first and second prizes on their flowers. A visit to Beverly this week cannot help but make one want to go further and see the famous Cherry Hill Nurseries at West Newbury, for there one can see six acres of peonies, acres of iris, phlox and other perennials—four hundred acres in all given over to scientific horticulture.

GREEN GABLES, at Magnolia, was the scene of a delightful dinner party of eighteen covers last night, with Miss Sarah P. Evans of Swampscott as hostess. Among those registered at the Gables are Mrs. George F. Meacham, Boston; N. F. Porter and Miss Porter of Portersville, California; and Mrs. W. O. Trowbridge and Miss Miriam Trowbridge of Boston. Mrs. Trowbridge was the first cottage owner on the Point in the early days of Magnolia. Mrs. M. L. McMurray of Brookline, chaperoned a party of Smith College girls over the weekend, including Miss Portia Pratt of Brookline; Miss Mary Barber of Polo, Illinois; Miss Harriet Walker of Englewood, N. J.; Miss Margaret Beckley of Stamford, Conn., and Miss Margaret Grossenbacher of Toledo, Ohio. Mr. Paul Jones Chute is planning a delightful series of parties for the children when the season is at its height. Miss Melba Proctor of Eastern Point, Gloucester, is to dance with Mr. Chute at the Gables this summer.

Miss Annie Storrow Higginson, who died on Sunday, at the age of eighty-one years, had been an invalid for many years. She had lived throughout the year, for some time, at Magnolia, where she had a small cottage on the water-front. Previously she was long a summer resident of that resort. Miss Higginson was the daughter of the late Stephen Higginson and Agnes Gordon Higginson. She was a niece of the late Colonel Thomas Wentworth Higginson of Cambridge, whose death occurred in May, 1911. Miss Higginson was a cousin of Major Henry L. Higginson and of F. L. Higginson. She is survived by a sister, Mrs. George Fuller of Cambridge, whose husband was the famous artist, and there are three surviving brothers, Admiral Francis John Higginson, U. S. N., retired, who lives in Kingston, N. Y.; Lewis Higginson of Maine, who lives much of the time abroad, and Edward Higginson of Fall River, a lawyer.

IT IS NOT COMFORTABLE for a Governor to be obliged to establish a military cordon about his home for protection in these days. But the dangers that have confronted the Governor of Georgia make the heroism of his act stand out all the clearer. He could have avoided the personal inconveniences of the situation by letting the "law take its course."

Mrs. Henry W. Peabody of "Ledge wood," Montserrat, entertained at luncheon Thursday. Her guests were from New York and Boston and included Mrs. Stanley White, Miss North, Miss MacArthur and Miss Lawrence, who form a committee of the International Missionary society and met at Mrs. Peabody's to discuss plans for the publication of a magazine for women and also one for children in China. The meeting was preparatory to their work at Northfield in July. Mrs. Peabody is also entertaining as house guests Mrs. Samuel A. Lattimore and Miss Lattimore of Forest Hill Garden, N. Y., and Miss Edith Montgomery of Rochester, N. Y. Miss Montfomery was in the Peabody party that went around the world two years ago and attended the Hague Conference. Mrs. Peabody and her daughter, Miss Norma R. Waterbury, will leave for Northfield early in July to attend the week of missionary study beginning July 8. They are both intensely interested in missions, Mrs. Peabody being connected with the international society and also actively engaged in the Christian women's peace movement.

The G. L. White family of New York arrived this week at the Endicott cottage, on Hospital Point, Beverly Cove. Last season they spent in the Dudley L. Pickman cottage.

Alexander Steinert of "Stoneledge," Beverly Cove, left Monday to attend commencement exercises at Dartmouth college, where his son Robert is in his junior year. Another son, Russell, has returned this week from a preparatory school.

The Dudley L. Pickmans will open their summer home in Beverly Cove next week.

"The Birches," the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ratchesky at Beverly Cove has a handsome flower garden surrounding the house on the sides facing Ober and Woodbury streets. Old fashioned flowers are charmingly used in effective color schemes. The effective use of the old-time petunia is particularly noticeable. The place has a fine rose garden of which much is expected this summer. One of the most attractive features of the house is the spacious veranda overlooking the Cove and a wonderful stretch of velvety lawn bordered with flowers running down to the water's edge.

Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Koshland of "Longacres," Beverly Cove, have been at their summer home about a month. This is one of the most charming places at the Cove and the attractive stucco house is best seen from the water. The driveway leading from the Ober street entrance is an attractive one, shaded by fine maples and leading through the pretty garden. The young sons, Stephen and William, have recently returned from school.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brewer and children of Boston are spending several weeks at Tunipoo Inn, Beverly Farms. They will later join Mrs. Brewer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Carr at West Manchester.

The Arthur F. Lukes of West Newton arrived at Beverly Farms this week. Last season they spent in their own house "Pitch Pine Hall" which is now occupied by the Italian Ambassador. They are in "The Gables" on Valley street.

GREEN GABLES, MAGNOLIA

THE GREEN GABLES of Magnolia is now open under new management and policy. It will be our main endeavor to please, as our cuisine and service will delight all of the most exacting tastes. The pleasure of dining lies chiefly in the manner food is served, and for this the new management of the Green Gables is noted.

By those who enjoy dancing under superior conditions afforded here, the Green Gables will be found ideal, being within a few hundred feet of the water. Thés Dansants every afternoon with music furnished by the Green Gables Orchestra. Tuesday afternoons will be devoted to the children under the competent direction of the distinguished dancer, Paul Jones Chute, and Miss Melba Proctor.

Dinner parties can be arranged by notifying us a few hours in advance. Special suppers every Saturday night.

Rooms with bath can be engaged by the season or as long as desired.

OCEANSIDE HOTEL MAGNOLIA

THE Oceanside Hotel at Magnolia is gradually filling with guests. The fifty at the hotel the last week-end had increased to more than one-hundred last night, and by tomorrow night it is safe to assume more than one hundred and fifty. Everything is booked for July and August, and practically no further reservations can be made, unless there are cancellations. The first dance of the season will be on Saturday night of next week—July 2, and the next on Monday night, July 5.

The Oceanside is different from most resort hotels in that the greater number of its guests are families, who are here for the summer. There is very little of the transient business. Many of those who have arrived so far are old-time guests, here for the season.

Brigadier General and Mrs. Geo. L. Andrews of Washington and the latter's niece, Miss E. O. Battles are at Highland cottage, one of the Oceanside connections, for the summer.

Miss A. B. Greene and Miss Jane Harison of New York are at the Oceanside for the season, having the second floor of the Breakers cottage.

An old-time guest at the Oceanside to return for the season, is Mrs. Thomas P. Proctor of Boston. Mrs. Proctor comes early every year and remains until the hotel closes.

Prof. and Mrs. A. J. DuBois of New Haven are familiar faces at the Oceanside again this season. They are here for the entire season as usual, having an apartment in Overlook cottage.

Miss M. A. Patterson of Boston is an old-time guest at the Oceanside to arrive this week for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graves, child and baby, with three nurses and maid, of New York, are at the Oceanside for the summer. They came in their large yacht, which has since gone to New London for the races. They also have a string of motors. Mr. Graves is at the head of the big wall paper house in New York bearing his name.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Bryan, son Philip, and daughters, Janet and Doris of Brookline, were at the Oceanside for luncheon Sunday. They have engaged apartments in East Flume cottage and will be back next week for the season.

Another old-time guest to return to the Oceanside for the season is Miss Helen Louise Coates, with maid, of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Chester Guild of Boston has registered at the Oceanside for the season. Her son Chester will be an occasional visitor at Magnolia during the season.

Monday's arrivals at the Oceanside included Miss Frances S. Rogers and sister, Miss Elizabeth B. Rogers of Boston. They are here for the season.

Mrs. John E. Lancaster and maid, Miss Rosamond Lancaster, and Robert A. Lancaster of Worcester are among the week's arrivals at the Oceanside. Mrs. Lancaster and daughter were at Magnolia last September for a short stay, and were so much pleased that they engaged apartments for all of this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Schmidt of Newport have been at Magnolia a few days this week visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Schmidt, Summer st.

Mrs. Otis Kimball of 134 Beacon st., Boston, have leased the Stearns Villa at Magnolia and will take occupancy this week.

MANCHESTER Tea Rooms reopened Monday in new quarters on the corner of Central street and Pine street boulevard in the rear of the old Israel Foster house, one of the historic landmarks in Manchester. The tea room has been designed and built by Roberts & Hoare of Manchester and is considered one of the most beautiful in this section of the country. The house throughout is very artistically arranged and planned for serving tea inside in the parlors or outside in the screened main section of the tea rooms. One of the chief attractions of the place is the large windows which slide into pockets and may be wholly opened or closed according to weather. Tea will also be served on the lawn and in a little summer house which is reached by an artistic bridgeway. Everything has been done to make this one of the ideal places on the North Shore, and Mrs. Leach's teas and lunches which are so well known will be served as usual this summer. She will also have home-made cake, ice-cream, jellies and fruit for sale. A full line of the Sign of the Kettle candies will also be found here. On Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Hertz entertained a party of friends at the tea house. Mr. Hertz was the conductor of the opera Ziegfried recently given at the Harvard Stadium. Tea served in the quaint little parlor furnished with old antiques will be a pleasant place enjoyed by those who wish a quiet corner for tea.

North Shore society has been much interested in the National Woman's Suffrage conference recently held in Chicago. Prominent among the Boston women who attended was Mrs. Wirt Dexter, who came with her daughter, Mrs. Stanley McCormick. Mrs. Dexter formerly lived in Chicago, on Prairie avenue, and has been much entertained during her visit.

CAMBRIDGE

IPSWICH summer residents are now nearly all established at their cottages and estates for the summer. Among them are: Miss Caroline Bates of Boston, at "Red Ledge" on Labor-in-Vain road; Mrs. H. A. Brigham of Boston, "Wendel Farm;" Mr. and Mrs. John V. Dittmore of Brookline; Samuel S. Gray of Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Vincent Kidder, "Appleton Farms," Waldingfield road; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Mason at "Candlewood Farm;" Mr. and Mrs. Augustus N. Rantoul of Boston are at "Thatchbanks;" Prof. Swain of Harvard college is opening his place for the summer. The children are already down at the cottage.

"Doctor's Row" on Argilla road is beginning to open up for the usual exodus of city physicians. Dr. and Mrs. W. Townsend were among the first arrivals from Boston. Dr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Goodale of Beacon street are now in their summer cottage. Dr. Robert B. Osgood will not be in the colony on Argilla road this year. He left Boston a few weeks ago to work in the Red Cross service abroad until early fall.

Mrs. John E. Rousmaniere (Mary Ayer) has rented the Ipswich home this season to J. B. Warner of Boston. Mr. Warner's two sons will also be in Ipswich, one having the Ayer house and one the Wendell home.

Recent guests at Y^e Burnham House tea room were the Houston Thomas family of Hamilton and the J. H. Lancashires of Manchester.

Y^e Roger's House Manse has recently entertained Gov. Walsh's secretarial staff and the state house reporters when they had a day's outing in Ipswich. Among other guests who have spent a few days at the Manse was George Harlow, harbor and river commissioner of Boston.

A Woman's Exchange has been organized in Ipswich as an experiment this season. Mrs. W. E. Tucker of So. Main street has given a room in the rear of her house for the purpose and her cousin, Miss Harriet Sawyer, is in charge. The women of the village bring their goods to the "Laurel Shop" which is being well patronized by the summer colony, who find it an excellent place in which to get delicate home cooked articles. Dainty Ipswich handiwork is also for sale.

Harlow N. Higinbotham, who spends his summer at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. T. Crane, Jr., at "Castle Hill," has not yet come on for the season. This Wednesday he presented the diplomas at the graduation exercises of the Kindergarten Collegiate Institute of Chicago of which he is president. He has always been interested in the free kindergartens of the city.

Dr. Streeter, who is on the staff of the Mass. General Hospital, has taken a place in Hamilton near Topsfield.

Passers-by on Bride st., West Manchester, this week have been interested to see five cute little swans swimming about in the pond near the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Fitch, Jr., who are their owners. The parent swans are beautiful birds and have graced the inner harbor for several years, roaming about to their hearts' content. About six weeks ago the mother swan stole her nest at the highest point of a heap of waste paper and refuse on a dump on the shores of the pond, making a cosy nest and depositing therein six eggs. She then commenced the work of incubation and has patiently set through the long weeks with her mate ever by her side or within close calling distance, and woe betide any stray dog or other marauder that happened near. On Wednesday her patience was rewarded when five downy little swans burst from their shells, and soon after she had coaxed the entire brood upon her back, when she proudly marched down to the water and when well out in the pond threw them all into the water, giving them their first lesson in swimming.

HAMILTON has a particularly attractive region known as Brown's Hill and the Four Corners. On Brown's Hill is the large brown house belonging to the late Geo. H. Hood and another pretty home occupied by the R. L. Whitmans. The Hood house is vacant. At the foot of the hill is a very attractive white house with a red roof and artistically arranged porches. This is "Foxcroft," the home of the Walter H. Seaveys of Boston. On the slope of the hill is "Lone Tree Farm" where the charming red house of the Reginald C. Robbins can be seen surrounded by pines and other trees. The H. C. Perkins of Washington are now at this place. At the Four Corners which are nearby are the beautiful homes of the George S. Mandells and Charles F. Ayers of Boston. All of these estates lie close to the grounds of the Myopia Hunt club.

The little daughters, Theodora and Anne Beekman, of the Charles F. Ayers of Hamilton make a pretty picture these fine mornings when they are out for their customary pony ride accompanied by their groom. With their natty little suits and flying curls they look particularly charming when they are enjoying a good swift canter.

The John S. Lawrence family of Topsfield, Gravelly Brook Farm, are planning an extended stay in New Hampshire during the mid-summer.

Bradley W. Palmer of Topsfield is on a short business trip abroad, in England mostly, in the interests of the United Fruit Co. of which he is vice-president.

The Charles W. Taintors of Boston are now at their cottage in Topsfield for the summer.

The George Burroughs of Boston have opened their attractive place "Green Meadows" in Hamilton on the Topsfield road.

The Isaac R. Thomas family of Boston are now at "Windacre" the S. Dacre Bush place on the Miles River road, Hamilton. This is an ideal country home and just now is showing a fine display of rhododendrons. The S. Dacre Bush family, who are spending the summer at their new home in Marlboro, N. H., were on a motor trip to Boston and Hamilton this week.

The George C. Vaughns of Salem have returned to their country home on Gardner street, Hamilton.

WENHAM'S tea room is charmingly a-bloom this week with the many boxes of blooming plants that have been placed on the window ledges and all around the screened veranda. Dainty tables placed on the lawn and shaded by huge umbrellas are beginning to be attractive these warm days.

Miss Adeline M. Haskell of Boston is now at her home on Dodge's Row, near Wenham Neck.

The Hendricks H. Whitmans of Boston, who are spending the season near the Wenham Neck region on Bulrush Farm, have as their guest Mr. Whitman's mother, Mrs. William W. Whitman of Brookline.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Little of Boston are settled at their summer home, "Cranleigh," at Wenham Neck.

At "Craigstone" the fine estate of T. C. Hollander at Wenham Neck, the hillside on which the house stands has one side laid out in pansy beds of immense proportions and extending down along the driveway. These are about the only flowers on the place just now and make an unusually interesting appearance.

MARBLEHEAD and the Neck needs only continued good weather to make the early season there a success. Practically all of the cottages at Peach's Point on the mainland and those at the Neck, with the exception of some of the larger estates, have been let and in most cases will be occupied until early in October. The social season at the yacht clubs will start very soon and the hotels are gradually filling up. The Samoset House on the Neck was the last hotel to open last week.

The summer home of Frank B. McQuesten on Foster street will be altered somewhat within the next fortnight to allow of a substantial addition to be built to the present structure. "Questenmere," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McQuesten at the tip end of the Neck, is looking exceptionally well. The extensive gardens are all in bloom with early summer flowers and the large vegetable gardens across the road show crops of hardy looking vegetables which are well on the way.

The Belair estate on the Neck has been leased by Cyrus O. Baker of East Orange, N. J., and with his family he will spend the season there.

S. D. Stevens of North Andover was a recent arrival at his bungalow on the Bridge farm "on the outside" of the Neck.

The Brown Owl tea room serves lunch and afternoon tea every day except Sunday. Tel. Marblehead 12. adv.

Invitations are out for the wedding on Monday of next week of Miss Inez Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Paterson of Newbury street, Boston, and W. Harry Wood of Dorchester, who will be married at the summer home of the Pattersons on Marblehead Neck. Following a month's wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Wood will come to the Neck for the summer. A new home for them is being built on Kilsythe road, Brookline, which will be ready in the early autumn.

Dr. and Mrs. George E. Percy and their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Van Antwerp, of Salem have always spent their summers in Maine, but this year they are at the Neck on Nahant street in the Tyner cottage. The doctor will continue his practice in Salem, going back and forth to the Neck as often as he can. In the autumn Mr. and Mrs. Van Antwerp intend to move to Putnamville, where they will live in the old Peabody house, which is being suitably remodeled to meet their needs.

The Frederic Parkers are at the Finnerty cottage on Summer street, Nahant, this year. Last year it was occupied by the Albert Thorndikes.

"Around the World with Jack and Janet" is the title of a little book on the study of missions by Miss Norma R. Waterbury, daughter of Mrs. Henry W. Peabody of Montserrat. It is a fascinating little story of two children—twins, who go around the world and stop at the principle missionary stations, get really acquainted with the natives and visit the surrounding points of interest. It is arranged as a study book for children's classes, but reads as any story book and cannot help but broaden the little readers along the lines of geography and history as well as introducing them in a most delightful way to the missions of the world. The views shown were taken by Miss Waterbury on her trip around the world. At the Northfield missionary conference which begins July 8, lectures on the story and its use as a class book will be given by Miss Prescott. The book has just been issued by the missionary press.

New Ocean House, Swampscott

NEW OCEAN HOUSE, Swampscott. Never before in its history has the New Ocean House at Swampscott presented a more attractive appearance. The whole estate on Puritan road, with its handsome lawns on each side of the roadway and the shrubs and flowering plants give evidence of the utmost care, the whole forming a striking appearance. As usual there have been great improvements inside the house, the most prominent of which is the moving of the Dutch Room, Lounge, Barber Shop, Billiard Hall, etc., to the lower floor, which are reached by a wide stairway from the main floor. In their place has been arranged a charming suite of ladies' rooms including a large rest room, lounge and manicure parlor. Convenient, handsomely furnished and well lighted, these rooms are bound to be a popular innovation with the ladies. Everything both inside and out is up to the usual standard of the Company, and when that is said nothing more can be added.

The first to register this year was Mrs. George Baldwin of Chicago, who has been coming here for a number of years. Mrs. Baldwin, as usual, will be an acquisition to the season contingent, for her charming manner have made her many friends who will all be glad to welcome her again.

The first event of the season will be the formal ball on Saturday evening, July 3, and it promises to be a brilliant affair, opening as it does the social season on this bend of the shore.

Among early comers is Mr. George Quincy of the Somerset. Mr. Quincy, although eighty-two years old, is really one of the youngest old men imaginable, and his coming every season is an event among his many friends who all hope he will be spared many years yet.

Mrs. L. Sandmeyer and her charming daughters, Hortense and Gretchen, of Lincoln, Ill., are registered again for the season.

Parramatta Inn at Montserrat, which opened last Thursday, has the following guests registered for the season: Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Throup, Master William and maid, Chestnut Hill; Mr. and Mrs. William T. Lowe, Brookline; Mrs. Eloise Worden Blair, Brookline; Mrs. John Wales and sister, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Murdock, chauffeur and maid, Hotel Vendome, Boston. Parramatta Inn is one of the fine old North Shore homes and was formerly the summer home of ex-Pres. Taft. Afternoon tea is served and music is furnished by an orchestra both afternoon and evening. The Inn is under the management of Mrs. May Belle Brown, niece of the late John A. Powers of Malden.

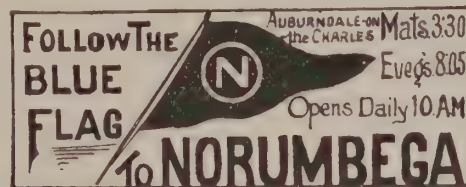

The Sign of the Crane tea room in Manchester has a most unique sign this year in the shape of the largest sized Kewpie made, which stands on the porch invitingly holding a tea-kettle. Antiques from Y^e Burnham house will be on sale as usual. The industrial shop is a strong feature with this tea room. Here will be found the famous fudge cake and the home-made food stuffs made by the women of Manchester. Much handiwork from Manchester is also shown. An outside feature of the place is the unique summer house built on the rocks which is one of the favored retreats for tea parties. Recent guests were Miss Doris Norwood of Gloucester, who gave a tea; Mrs. J. M. Herman of Boston, who gave a tea Saturday; Miss Rose Tolmey, who gave a tea for six last Sunday. Mrs. A. A. Valentine of Boston and Miss L. M. Symonds of Salem were also among those entertaining. Teas by the open five place have been more popular this week than in the summer house.

Miss Jane H. Valentine of Boston has leased the Dennis cottage on Harbor st., West Manchester, the lease being made through the Boardman agency.

SWAMPSCOTT might be termed "back on the job;" for it is, as far as its summer colony is concerned. The big New Ocean House opened its doors to the summer throng on Monday and the Lincoln House followed suite. The fact that all of the hotels are now open makes the Swampscott unit complete. The schools are closed and the few families who have been staying in the city for that reason will be on the shore before the coming week-end. The Tedesco Country club is proving just as lively a social center for Swampscott summerites as for years past and many parties found there daily and especially over the week-ends attest to its popularity.

The New Oakland House is looking its prettiest these days. The grounds about the hotel are a little beyond the average of summer hotels in general and this in itself is evidently a magnet for the summer folk who come to this hostelry. The Oakland House sun parlor, of large dimensions, is to be let this year to bridge and dancing parties, says the management; undoubtedly this house will grace many pleasant social events as a result. The Oakland House is making a strong bid for the motor trade this season and situated on Puritan road, on the main boulevard along the upper shore, is admirably situated for this. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wood, children and maid of Boston are among those at the Oakland for a brief stay.

The first Thé Dansant of the summer at the Tedesco Country club comes next Saturday afternoon, from 3 until 6 o'clock. This appears to be as much of a feature this year as it was last season and an orchestra that is not averse to playing light, catchy music will be in attendance. The first mid-week band concert of the season was held Wednesday evening of this week and there were about 500 members and friends at the club-house. Jean Missud and his Salem Cadet musicians played during the evening. On Monday the '05 Harvard class came over to the Tedesco during the afternoon for golf, tennis and impromptu baseball. There were half a hundred "collegians who were" on the grounds during the afternoon. They made their headquarters at the New Ocean House during the day, having a jolly time there with banqueting, games and general merrymaking.

The Blue Bird tea room is open for business this week and is ready for a busy season with Swampscott's summer folk. Yesterday there was a party of 20 from the Inter-Nos club of Brookline down at luncheon at the Blue Bird.

Practically all of the merchants doing business with the summer people now have a motor service for their customers. Pedrick & Clark, the Humphrey street fish concern, is the latest to make the change to motor vehicles.

CLIFTON still continues to augment its summer colony with new arrivals daily coming to that pleasurable resort.

Jacob Ackerman of Brookline, who two years ago occupied the Rose cottage at the corner of Clifton and Atlantic avenues, is at the Traiser cottage this year. This house has been occupied for several seasons by George Dempsey of Lowell.

A familiar face the last few days on the Clifton shore was Prof. Hugo Munsterberg of Harvard University, who is back on the North Shore for another season. The professor is quartered at the Rose cottage this year.

Harry W. Fenn of Malden has opened his cottage on Ocean Spray avenue for the season. He came down late last week.

Dr. Frederick E. Jones of Brookline is down for the summer at "Red Blinds" cottage on Surf street, Clifton.

George A. Dill of Boston has opened "Dillcroft" at Clifton for the summer months. He has been on the shore for the past ten days.

George Beekman and family of Chicago are the only summer residents from the western city at Clifton. They are at the Langmaid cottage.

NAHANT is seeing some new faces this year, along with the regular visitors who come to that bend of the shore each year with faithful regularity. The hotels are all opened and doing a good early season business.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Curtis, Jr., are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a daughter at their summer home at Nahant last week. Mrs. Curtis was Miss Edith G. Roelker, daughter of the late William G. Roelker and her marriage to Mr. Curtis was one of the events of the season last July. They were married at the Roelker family estate at East Greenwich, R. I., a few weeks after the marriage of her sister, Eleanor Roelker to Harrison Tweed.

Prof. and Mrs. Munroe Smith of New York will be down at Nahant for the greater part of the season with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence C. Goodhue, who were married recently and who have taken the Johnson cottage on Nahant road. Mr. Goodhue is a son of Mrs. Francis A. Goodhue, who is again at the Sampson estate, where Mr. and Mrs. F. Abbot Goodhue (Nora Thayer) will be for part of the summer.

The Charles D. Turnbolls of Boston are at the Hood cottage this year; it was the summer place of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stackpole last year. The Stackpoles will remain in Cambridge this year, it is expected.

CAPE ANN. The present week brings along a large number of cottagers and hotel guests to the shores of Cape Ann. The closing of school has enabled many families to begin their sojourns for the summer and all who love this section seem to be delighted whether there be rain, fog or sunshine. There have been many week-end parties at cottages where college students were and some still are guests before their departure after commencement, to homes in all sections of the country. The most notable college reunion this season was that of the present week, Monday and Tuesday, when the Harvard Class of 1909, 200 strong had its sexennial gathering and greatly enjoyed festivities at Hawthorne Inn, East Gloucester. A notable event, also was the reunion of the Kearsarge Survivors at East Gloucester last Saturday, when distinguished guests visited the city and paid tribute to the heroes of that historical sea battle of the Kearsarge and Alabama, off Cherbourg, France, June 19, 1864, during the civil war. Hawthorne Inn was the scene of the banquet.

The Gloucester Yacht club has announced its racing fixtures for the 1915 season. The first race was held last Saturday afternoon, and the races will continue on Wednesdays and Saturdays throughout the summer. There will be special races on Mondays, July 4 and Sept. 6.

BASS ROCKS. This colony is showing much life as about half of the cottage residents have arrived for the season and both big hotels are now open with permanent guests registered. The Hotel Thorwald on Atlantic road opened today and guests will arrive speedily from now on. The cool weather does not daunt the bather in taking his daily plunge into the brine and Good Harbor beach, one of the finest stretches of clean sand on the Atlantic seacoast, has once more assumed its summer appearance with its many bathers and people sitting about, under bright-colored parasols.

The Siamese Legation which spent last season at the big Way cottage on Bass Rocks heights, in among the most important arrivals the present week, at this colony. The royal suite occupies the cottage of Roland B. Sherman, Esq., son of the late Judge Sherman, situated on Nautilus road. The English secretary to the legation, Edward H. Loftus and family are occupying the Taft cottage on Atlantic road, a short distance from the Sherman house.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scott, Jr., of Overbrook, Pa., arrived several days ago at their fine estate, "Tragabig-zanda," at Bass Rocks.

Fitzwilliam Sargent and Egbert Felton, of Philadelphia, came over the road in Mr. Sargent's car for class

Mr. Felton stopped over at Beverly, the guest of relatives and Mr. Sargent proceeded to Bass Rocks, where he joined his wife here and was the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Sargent at their estate. Mr. and Mrs. Fitzwilliam Sargent left by auto this week for their home in Ardmore. They will return to Bass Rocks later for a stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Foss of Jamaica Plain have arrived at their cottage on Decatur road. Mr. Foss is the well known Boston jeweler.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Cooper of Mt. Vernon, Ohio, have opened their cottage on Atlantic road, Bass Rocks. The Coopers were at their cottage very late last autumn owing to quarantine, their daughter being very ill with scarlet fever.

A splendid innovation at Hotel Thorwald, Bass Rocks, this season is the installing of a wireless station. This station will be in touch with stations as far south as Key West, Fla., and as far north as Halifax, N. S. Guests of this exclusive hotel will have the privilege of receiving the government weather reports, the late war news, standard time from Arlington at noon, movements of vessels along the Atlantic coast, the latest sporting news and perhaps the latest stock market quotations.

Bass Rocks society will welcome the coming of Mrs. Arthur M. Parker of Detroit, Mich. Mrs. Parker is expected soon at her charming estate, "Felsensprung," situated near the Dundas estate. Mrs. Parker has been in poor health and friends hope that her stay at the seashore will result in a complete recovery.

EASTERN POINT. This colony of East Gloucester has indeed been filled with life the past week. In addition to the daily advancing host of summer hotel guests, the visiting people attending reunions have found great pleasure here. Last Saturday, the Kearsarge veterans, were the guests of Dr. John Dixwell of Boston, an honorary members of the Kearsarge Survivors' association. The Municipal Council of Gloucester, His Honor Mayor Barrett of Gloucester; Mayor Fogg of Newburyport and other prominent citizens of Gloucester and Boston were present at the reunion and paid tribute to the gallantry of these surviving heroes of the Kearsarge-Alabama battle, by speech-making at Hawthorne Inn where the reunion was held.

On Monday and Tuesday, the Harvard College Class of 1909, numbering 200 men, took possession of Eastern Point, where the sexennial reunion was held at Hawthorne Inn. The class came down from Boston in Steamer Frances and upon their arrival had lunch at the Inn, a big baseball game following on the Eastern Point golf field. The class dinner was held in the Inn dining room at 7 p. m. on Monday. It was a grand occasion and an entertainment followed in the big casino, consisting of motion pictures by the Pathescope Company and vaudeville sketches by members of the class. The boys brought along their orchestra.

Mrs. S. A. Raymond, son, Jack Raymand, and daughter, Mrs. Williamson and family have arrived from Cleveland, O., to the Rouse mansion "The Ramparts," Eastern Point. Guests at "The Ramparts," this week were Mrs. Knowlton and daughter, Miss Knowlton of Watertown, N. Y., who motored to Eastern Point in their car.

The Oakes family of Boston is occupying the large Shurman house near Hotel Harbor View, this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lunt of New York are at Hawthorne Inn, after a great many seasons spent at this resort. Mr. Lunt sails a yacht in the races of the Gloucester Yacht club. He is a great yachting enthusiast and is a member of the club.

The Hawthorne Inn, which opened for the season last week, has a great many guests and by next week the contingent at this house will be large. Familiar names on the hotel register again this season are: C. H. Hitchings, Miss Hitchings, Mrs. E. F. Hitchings, Miss Edith Lester, Lucie Hall, all of Washington; Mrs. C. A. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Barnes, Florence N. Barnes, Auburn, N. Y.; Mrs. O. P. Hughes, Miss Olive W. Hughes, New York City.

At Merrill Hall, are Mrs. Antoinie Goschke, Miss Katherine Goschke and their two nieces Blanche and Katherine Fink of St. Louis. Mrs. Goschke is a noted pianist and is of Russian descent. The party will remain at Merrill Hall for the entire season.

O. H. Atkins, a Boston artist, is at Merrill Hall. A number of guests are expected this week-end for the season.

LANESVILLE. Charles Grafly, the noted sculptor of Philadelphia has arrived at his pleasant studio cottage at Folly Cove, Lanesville. Mr. Grafly has returned from a business trip to the exposition in San Francisco. Sculptor Grafly has as his guests his brother, James Grafly of Philadelphia; Madame Gusti Schmidt from Bryn Mawr, Pa. Miss Dorothy Grafly, daughter of the Sculptor has just finished her first year at Wellesley College and is at her parents' home at Folly Cove.

A merry party of ten Wellesley College students is enjoying the environments of Annisquam, stopping at By-Water Inn, the guests of Miss Dorothy McCabe of Rock Island, Ill., a Wellesley graduate.

ROCKPORT. The summer outlook for Rockport, Land's End and Pigeon Cove, appears most encouraging. The majority of the cottages have been secured by a wealthy class of people and the bookings at all the hotels, Straitsmouth Inn, Turk's Head Inn at Land's End and the Hotel Edward at Pigeon Cove are promising for a brisk season. Citizens of this section of Cape Ann are very much pleased over the announcement by the navy department at Washington, that the third division, in the summer drills of the battleship squadron of the Atlantic fleet, will come to Rockport harbor. The announcement is in accord with previous information from Congressman Gardner, that the department would include Rockport in the itinerary of the summer cruise. Five of the latest big battleships of the navy will be in Sandy Bay Harbor of Refuge, from July 18 to July 31. These ships and their captains are as follows: Virginia, Capt. Volney O. Chase, flagship of the division commander; Georgia, Capt. Robert E. Coontz; Nebraska, Capt. George W. Logan; New Jersey, Capt. Joseph L. Jayne; Rhode Island, Capt. Clarence S. Williams. The division is in command of Capt. DeWitt Coffman. Approximately 4000 men will be on the ships. Forms of entertainment will be planned by Rockport citizens and the officers of the fleet will most probably collaborate. The social life at the hotels will be enlivened, many of the officers on the ships having members of their families and friends on the North Shore and undoubtedly many attractive affairs will be arranged in honor of the various officers. The war game at sea occurs from September 10 to September 30 and at dates previous to that time, there will be many fleet drills and manoeuvres.

Bishop Rhinelander of the Episcopal Diocese of Rhode Island will be at Land's End this season and he will occupy the cottage of C. B. Martin, which he had two seasons ago.

Francis Smith of San Antonio, Texas, has arrived this week at his summer home, Loblolly Cove, Land's End.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Currier of Danvers are at their Atlantic road cottage for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Prescott Moody are at their cottage, Land's End, for the season.

Mrs. F. R. Lybrand of the Patent Office, Washington, D. C., is stopping at Pigeon Cove. Mrs. Lybrand is one of the most efficient women in the employ of the U. S. Government. She was instrumental in bringing the Sandy Bay Breakwater bill before the members of the House.

The late Clarence W. Seamans' summer home at Pigeon Cove is closed for the present. The family is expected to return after a visit and change, following the death of Mr. Seamans a short time ago.

ANNISQUAM. With the opening of the Annisquam Yacht club-house, the season at this resort is beginning to enliven. Racing, boating, afternoon teas and tennis will afford much pleasure again this season. The splendid large tennis courts are now being used a great deal of the time.

William E. Duane and family of Brookline are to occupy the H. D. Williams cottage for the season. Mr. and Mrs. Williams expect to visit California.

Henry E. Worcester and family arrived last week-end at Annisquam and are occupying their summer residence on Norwood Heights.

Stedman Bent of Overbrook, Pa., is a late arrival at the attractive Bent summer home at Annisquam.

Mr. and Mrs. Butler Ames of Lowell spent last week-end at their summer home in Bay View.

Charles H. Morse, Jr., and family of Chicago, Ill., will spend the season at the Adams homestead, Annisquam. The Morses arrived the first of the week.

THE Gloucester Yacht club has announced its racing fixtures for 1915. The first race was held last Saturday afternoon and the races will be continued on Wednesdays and Saturdays throughout the season. On Monday, July 5, and Monday, September 6, Labor Day, there will be races. Boats will include the first and second class; 18-foot and Gloucester 15-foot classes. Class One includes the "Onda III," John Greenough owner; "Nereid," Charles H. Lunt; "Edjaco II," S. Edward Raymond. Class Two includes the "Jingo," Lawrence E. Andrews; "Sumaki," William K. Harcourt; "Elizabeth," A. Scott Parker; "Lila M," Charles S. Webster. The 18-foot class includes the "Arrow," S. Edward Raymond; "Posey," Archie Fenton; "Aurora," Roy W. Pigeon; "Jane," Trueman E. Fassett; "La Chica," David S. Greenough; "Moslem," Dr. W. A. Rowe; "Privateer II," F. Wilder Pollard; "Scaler," Everett A. Flye; "Tid II," Arthur G. Leonard; "Winsome," Myron C. Wick; "Mouse," W. G. Brown, Jr. In the 15-foot class are the boats "Nutmeg Twice," A. S. Parker; "Slapinsal," John Clay. The course is in the outer harbor, the starting line being off Hawthorne Inn. The fixture circulars will be sent to those interested by addressing the secretary, W. S. Webber, Gloucester. The regatta committee comprises: Vice-Commodore J. S. Raymond of Eastern Point; J. L. Brand of the Rocky Neck summer colony; J. G. Mehlman, A. L. Millett, B. H. Colby, W. S. Webber, Dr. J. H. Bussey, Dr. W. A. Rowe and W. G. Brown, Jr., all of Gloucester. The judges are: Dr. J. H. Bussey, chairman; A. L. Millett, Simpson Lyle, W. S. Webber, of Gloucester; J. L. Brand and Charles H. Lunt of the summer colony.

Five well-known schooners and two sloops have already been entered for the 200-mile ocean race of the Eastern Yacht club from New London to Marblehead around Cape Cod, which starts tomorrow. The Constellation, Vagrant, Irolita, Shyessa IV and the Timandra are the schooners, while the sloops are the Shimna and Avenger. Other entries are expected from the fleet that will assemble in the lower Thames this week for the Harvard-Yale race. Capt. H. S. Vanderbilt of the Vagrant has offered a gold cup for large schooners and prizes will be given to the smaller schooners and the sloops.

An open race of the Eastern Yacht club, Marblehead, is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon at Marblehead if the weather is fair.

Next Wednesday, the 30th, the ladies will go over the 18 holes in a medal play match at the Tedesco.

A medal play match, with handicap, is on the card at the Tedesco Country club golf course at Swampscott this Saturday.

Over twenty players competed last Saturday in the members' handicap medal play golf tournament, at the Essex County club, Manchester. Francis I. Amory was the winner of the best net score medal with 78, and Randolph Tucker turned in the best gross score—84. The summary:

	Gross	Hdcp.	Net
F. I. Amory,	88	10	78
R. F. Tucker,	84	5	79
R. P. Snelling,	100	17	83
A. F. Southerland,	94	10	84
C. A. Morey,	88	2	86
J. H. Lancashire,	101	15	86
S. Borden, Jr.,	103	16	87
E. M. Gerould,	113	20	93
Samuel Carr,	113	14	99

No cards: M. Erdman, Geo. R. White, S. M. Merrill, E. Brooks, Adelbert Ames, F. D. Frazier, Wm. Luther, E. K. Arnold, Philip Stockton, R. S. Lovering.

The next golfing event at the Essex County club will be a handicap bogey for men on Saturday, June 26, with first and second prizes. On Saturday, July 3, there will be a handicap medal play for men, with prizes for first and second net scores. The feature on the holiday, Monday, July 5, will be "Independence Day Sweepstakes."

But few cards were turned in by the golfers at the Tedesco Country club, Swampscott, after Saturday's matches. In the competition for the best selected nine out of 18 holes with handicap, John H. Fahey's card of 30 was the best.

The first half of the schedule of the Greater Salem Golf league is completed and the Salem Golf club is in the lead with three wins and no defeats. The Homestead Country club of Danvers is runner-up with two wins and a single defeat. The United Shoe is third with one win and two losses and Wenham has yet to win a match.

Otto Glockler, of the B. A. A., who is teaching tennis at the Essex County club this year, was instructor at the Eastern Yacht club at Marblehead Neck last season.

On Tuesday next will come the annual open regatta of the Eastern Y. C.

George Lee's 31-rater "Italia" won in Class P at the Hull races a week ago. The "Itallia" is of the Corinthian Y. C. fleet.

ONE of the events of the early season at the New Ocean House always, is the annual dinner of the Luncheon Club of Boston. This club is composed of representative hotel supply houses, etc., and its roll of members contains the names of some of the best known Boston business men. The event this year took place on Wednesday night and was in the form of a complimentary dinner to Mr. Edward Randall Grabow. Over one hundred and fifty guests sat down and there was a specially fine cabaret performance during the dinner. Among those at the head of the table with Mr. Grabow was the Hon. William F. Murray, postmaster of Boston; Supt. Michael H. Crowley of the Boston Police Department; Mr. Charles L. Holt, president of the Club; Mr. P. K. Reynolds, assistant to President Preston of the United Fruit Company; H. A. Trott, auditor of the New York Division, United Fruit; Geo. W. Conway, Supt. New England Telephone & Telegraph Company; Wm. Leftrich auditor New Orleans Division, United Fruit Company, and J. Linfield Damon, Jr., of the Thorndike, Boston.

President Holt first called upon Secretary Hall of the Club to introduce the guest of the evening which he did in a happy way. Mr. Hall said he had known Mr. Grabow many years, and although he was still a young man he had made some mark in the world already, among his activities being President of the E. R. Grabow Company, owners and managers of the New Ocean House, Swampscott, managers of the Hotels Empire and Tuileries on Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, managers of the Hotel Titchfield, Port Antonio, Jamaica, and the Myrtle Bank Hotel at Kingston, Jamaica; added to this Mr. Grabow is also General Manager of the Passenger Department of the United Fruit Company, having complete charge of everything pertaining to the passenger service on the twenty-three ships, known as the "Great White Fleet." Socially Mr. Grabow is also well known, being a member of the Tedesco Country Club, Algonquin Club, the Jamaica Club of Kingston, Jamaica, the Whitehall Club of New York. He is also a 32nd degree Mason. In concluding Mr. Hall on behalf of the members of the Luncheon Club, presented Mr. Grabow with a souvenir book of the event, handsomely bound in Morocco leather, containing a list of members of the Luncheon Club, photographs of the past and present officers and the signatures of the guests present.

Mr. Grabow on rising to respond received an ovation which lasted several minutes. He spoke very happily of his association with the members of the Luncheon Club, covering a number of years, and the many friendships he had made through the club. Briefly touching on the "Great White Fleet" he made quite a hit with the members of the club when he said that all the immense possibilities of New York, he had a number of times been called upon to bring over members of the Luncheon club to help him in emergencies that even New York could not handle, and was very glad to say they had never failed him.

Postmaster Murray was called upon and spoke at some length. Paying a very handsome tribute to the guest of the evening he said that it is only the United States of America that produces such men as Mr. Grabow, a man who by his own efforts and sheer force of will and energy had pushed himself to the front, and although still a young man was able to carry so easily such great responsibilities.

Among others noticed at the tables were Henry C. Attwill, Attorney General of Massachusetts; Charles H. Mowry, resident manager of the Myrtle Bank Hotel, Kingston, Jamaica; Clarence B. Humphrey, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, Swampscott; Chief Ulysses M. Corson, Swampscott Police Department; Selectman James F. Caton, Swampscott; Managing Editor Fred H. Druehl, Lynn Telegram; Wm. H. McKenney, Boston; E. L. Morandi, Boston, and Arthur E. Dorr, Boston.

The first of the series of children's parties, which are always a feature of the season at the New Ocean House, will take place Wednesday afternoon, July 7th. These delightful parties will again be in charge of Mrs. E. R. Grabow who has made them real events for the little folks in past seasons.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Randall, of Boston, have returned for another season at the New Ocean House.

EDITORIAL

GOVERNOR SLATON OF GEORGIA does not need the pity of the public for he has proven that he has backbone and courage to make such sentimental fellings for him unnecessary. He does deserve the moral support of the whole country; the stand that he has taken is in the interests of elementary justice. At this distance and without all the facts at first hand it is impossible for anyone to make an accurate judgment of the guilt or innocence of Frank. The crime was a heinous one and merits the full penalties of the law, but there has been and there is still a reasonable doubt concerning the guilt of Frank. In commuting the sentence to life imprisonment the Governor has made it possible for the injustice to Frank to be remedied in the future if the future reveals any new light. It is evident that the Governor has endeavored to do right and the thinking people of the country must commend him for his action.

THE VALUE OF CANALS in peace and war has been proven beyond the peradventure of a doubt. The Cape Cod canal constructed by private capital is now an accomplished fact and its scientific success is assured. Such a valuable highway ought not, however, to be the property of any private organization. The highways of the sea belong to the people. The Cape Cod Canal ought eventually to pass into the hands of the state. It is not in keeping with a progressive state policy to permit such a valuable water course to remain private property. The private company has already rendered the public a valuable service in constructing the canal and Augustus Belmont has earned the praise of the people of Massachusetts for his engineering feat.

CENTRAL SQUARE in Beverly Farms has already begun to show the effects of the improvements that have been planned, but the future will bring about still greater changes. The construction of the new library building will be begun and the new park laid out; Vine street is to be planted with trees.

MASSACHUSETTS IS TO HAVE its first trolley motor. The trolley motor is a combination of electric car and jitney 'bus. Plans are being made to operate a company on Cape Cod and on July 15 the first trolley motor car will be placed in operation between Sandwich and Sagamore.

THE SENIOR CLASS of the Beverly High School is to march on Beverly Farms one hundred strong next Sunday evening to attend the baccalaureate service at the local church.

BEVERLY HAS MADE an appropriation for a public dispensary. Progress in every direction is being made these days.

THE MONDAY PAPERS must still feature the Sunday automobile accidents, alas!

BRYAN IS STILL a long way from the White House.

THE FLAX INDUSTRY has received a severe blow during the last nine months and there are grave doubts as to the ability of the industry to recover. The war not only has called the expert men who have been engaged in its manufacture to the field, but the progress of the war has ruined the flax fields by their inundation with salt water. With the fields destroyed, the labor skill in the field fighting, and the manufacture stopped the future is not promising for the linen industry. Efforts are being made to introduce flax-growing in America and to establish manufacturing centers welcoming the refugees from the old world. But it will be years before America can make progress in this direction, and by that time the old world may be able to rehabilitate its old industries. War is all that it has been called.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT has its cares these sad days. The Mexican situation still perplexes and alarms. The Lusitania negotiations have only begun. Now comes the task of calling Great Britain to account for the use of the American flag under circumstances that are not pleasing to the American people. It is evident that if the American people desire peace they will have to make a long fight for it.

THE LIBRARY COMMISSION appointed to build the Public Library at Beverly Farms has prepared its plans and has presented them to the public. The Commission has done its work well and the prospects for a creditable library are good. The new parkway from Central square to the new library is the gift of the Misses Loring. The people of Beverly Farms appreciate this gift.

A BANKRUPT MERCHANT determines to serve his prison term, and then devote his life to repaying his creditors. The time for a business man to think of his creditors is before and not after the catastrophe. Carefulness in the management of a business early in its development will prevent many embarrassing situations later.

WITH TWO EMBASSIES on the North Shore the district comes in very close touch with the war problem. The English embassy and the Italian embassy are both here. What a small place the world is after all!

THE WAR SPIRIT came out in the Phi Beta Kappa poem at Harvard and in the Class Day oration. Whither shall we flee from its dominance? Even the preachers are trying to solve the great problem.

THE SENTIMENT for Woman's Suffrage in gaining ground in Massachusetts. As a matter of truth, never before in the history of Massachusetts has there been such an intelligent discussion of the question. There is no tenable reason that can be advanced against the justice of Woman's Suffrage; the issue cannot be fought on that plane. The question of its expediency now holds the attention of the forum. The women are making a hard fight, but the gains during the next three months must be greater than those during the last three months if they expect to have their ambitions become law in Massachusetts.

THREE RESPECTABLE PERIODICALS have been caught "napping" recently. The publishers have been careless enough to issue covers bearing an American flag, figured and lettered in such a way as to be a violation of the law concerning the use of the flag. Such transactions are due to carelessness and not to irreverence. The flag law is a good one and the very periodicals that have transgressed will heartily support the spirit of the law. The American flag must be reverently guarded even if occasionally it does cause well intentioned periodicals annoyance.

THE SUPREME COURT of the United States issued important findings on Monday. The grandfather laws of the south cannot now escape. The reopening of the Harvester Company case was a surprise, but the American people have confidence in its supreme justices and the quiet deliberateness with which is prosecuted its great work is an eloquent testimony of the progress that has been made in government in America.

THERE IS TO BE an interesting contest on this year for the republican nomination for Lieutenant Governor. For a while it seemed that Mr. Guy A. Ham of Boston, was the only aspirant in the field. Now a man from the western part of the state will contest the nomination.

MR. SHAW'S CHALLENGE to the old line parties to place a plank in their platforms for prohibition remains unaccepted, so that he will have nothing before him but to run. The issue of prohibition does not down, but it is evident that the sentiment for it grows rapidly.

SUNDAY, JULY FOURTH is to be a great day for the Grand Army veterans of the North Shore as they will commemorate the fifty years of peace since the great contest.

THE NATIONAL and international news hoax is a part of the sensational interests of the war game. There will be more such perversions of the truth.

War Notes.

v.

Courage is better than swagger;
Better a sword than a dagger.

We fight our battles but in vain
If future good answer not present pain.

War is vengeance at the most,
Reprisal or revenge for something lost—
Rights, freedom, property—at any cost.

War in its last analysis
Is simply this:
A movement meant
To force a settlement.

Christianity, now and then,
Must use force with evil men,
As Christ, with whip of cords,
Drove hucksters from the Temple wards.

"God punish England,"
Germany doth pray.
"God pardon both,"
Prayeth America.
"Vengeance is mine," saith God,
"I will repay."

Not by the law of love alone
Can earth be governed when with sin o'ergrown.
The wrath of God, wreaked or restrained
Rightly and duly,
Must be invoked to govern the unruly.
With earth in such condition,
Blood must be shed for sin's remission,
Till sense return and order be regained.

—Joseph A. Torrey.

ENJOYED IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphians are fond of confections when they please the eye and taste, and there is a brand that for many good reasons has been recently nominated and elected as the most palatable and presentable line of sweet things that ever invaded the fashionable shopping section of Chestnut Street.

For the past forty odd years the manufacturers of these famous specialties have been sticklers on doing everything just the right way and this policy, or practice, was enforced when they decided to acquiesce to the insistent demands for a distributing depot in Philadelphia; the location must be the best and most available to discriminating patronage of the highest class, and the store formerly occupied by the Ditson Music Company at 1228 Chestnut Street was finally leased as best suited to the purpose.

The Company has expended some $25,000 or $30,000 in renovating and beautifying the store and since the first of last March, it has become known as one of the most notable marts of magnificence, and an appropriate place for "The Candy of Excellence."

With kindred thoughts of trade expansion, deriding fear of competition, this New England firm, with present stores in Canada, Boston, New York and Chicago, may soon extend to San Francisco, Buenos Ayres and Valparaiso, if we may be allowed to say so.—F. M. C.

MANCHESTER SECTION

Friday, June 25, 1915.

The mail-carriers ball is scheduled for Friday evening, July 9th.

On the evening of July 1st, District Deputy grand master Lent and suite will visit Magnolia Lodge, No. 149, I. O. O. F.

One of the young sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Bell had the misfortune to fall and break an arm last Friday while playing at Singing Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Wilcox (Alice Mason) are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, Barbara, Friday morning of last week at the Beverly Hospital.

At a meeting of the directors of the Elder Brethren Wednesday, it was voted to hold the picnic on July 27. If the day should not be pleasant, the picnic will be on the 28th.

Mr. J. A. Torrey, on last Saturday, attended the exercises of the 75th anniversary of the State Normal school at Bridgewater. He was graduated from that institution in 1859, and was principal of the High school in Manchester for two years following.

When you think of painting think of Tappan, 17 Bridge st., Manchester. adv.

Manchester was the mecca for some 300 Masons yesterday, members of the Commanderies at Dover, N. H., and at Dorchester. The party came here by boat from Boston, landing at Fenton Boat Co. wharf, and marching, with two bands, through the village to the Masconomo House, Beach st. Dinner was served about 2 o'clock and the afternoon was given over to enjoying the beautiful surroundings. The return was made about 5 o'clock. The uniforms of the two commanderies differed somewhat, but both presented a most attractive appearance. The silver braid of the Dover Commandery was especially brilliant and striking.

GRADUATION EXERCISES

LARGE CLASS RECEIVED DIPLOMAS FROM MANCHESTER HIGH SCHOOL

The graduation exercises of the Class of 1915 of the Story High school, Manchester, were held in the Town hall last evening and were largely attended. The class numbered fourteen—one of the largest since the four-year course was adopted twenty years ago.

The members of the class are: William Angus, Harry Damon Baker, Esther Stanislaus Carroll, Gordon Burnham Crafts, Ethel Belle Edgecomb, George William Fleming, Thesbe Galanie, Margaret Lyons McNeary, Helen Elizabeth Merson, Frances Irene Norie, Esther Louise Northrup, Antoinette Vidal, William Henry Walsh and Annie Theresa White.

The class motto was "Esse Quam Videri." The program of the evening was as follows:

Chorus, "The Soldiers Life"
School

Invocation,
Rev. Albert G. Warner
Salutatory, "Permanent Universal Peace"
William Angus

Chorus, "Love's Old Sweet Song"
School

Essay, "Alaska"
Thesbe Galanie

Chorus, Sextet from "Lucia di Lammermoor"
School

Address,
Prof. Otis E. Randall, Dean of Brown University

Chorus, "The Evening Wind"
School

Valedictory, "Esse quam Videri"
Esther S. Carroll

Presentation of Diplomas,
Mr. John C. Mackin, Supt. of Schools.
Chorus, "The Heavens Are Telling"
School

Benediction,
Rev. Albert G. Warner

The Salutatorian, William Angus, handled his subject in a masterful manner and brought out in a telling realism that war is contrary to Christianity. Miss Thesbe Galanie showed in a most interesting way in her essay the vast resources of Alaska. Miss Esther Carroll made a very impressive and earnest valedictorian.

The music was furnished by the school and was especially good, "Love's Old Sweet Song" and "The Evening Wind" proving especially popular.

The address of the evening was made by Prof. Otis E. Randall, dean of Brown University, on "Some Neglected Obligations Connected with School Work." He discussed various phases of educational work dealing in particular with the criticisms of methods, attitude of pupil and teacher towards work, showing that the chief object of the school is to cultivate the qualities that will lead to greater efficiency in any line of life work. He showed clearly that all scholastic honors are vain unless one can face life squarely and honestly. In his discussion of teachers he said they must be in close touch with affairs of the world, show the application of their theories and put as much snap into their work as the modern business man has learned to do.

The girls of the 1915 class are to be congratulated upon their pretty and simply made girlish looking dresses.

The graduation reception and dance is to be held this evening in the Town hall.

The fire department had an early morning call Tuesday the alarm being sounded from the corner of Central and Bridge streets shortly after 3 o'clock, for a fire at the home of Benj. G. Foster and family. It is supposed the fire started from a chimney in the back of the house. No damage was done other than injuring the wood-work about the fireplace to the extent of $40 to $50.

MANCHESTER BASEBALL

MAPLES OF SALEM FALL BEFORE GROVER'S PITCHING AND MANCHESTER'S BRILLIANT PLAYING

Manchester's baseball team kept up its great work last week and came across with another victory, the fourth this season. This time the strong Maples of Salem, considered one of the fastest ball teams in the county, fell before Grover's mighty arm and the sharp, snappy fielding of the rest of the team. At the bat, too, the Manchester boys are delivering some great execution.

The game last Saturday was the prettiest one of the season to watch. The Maples had some mighty brilliant players. Their second baseman was a good all-around player. The centerfielder made some great catches, one—a one-hander—that shut off two or three runs.

Perkins for Manchester, runs his team well. He is a general behind the plate and is true and accurate in throwing to the bases.

Jackie Gray nipped several hard ones out of the air in center field, and shut off several runs. In one inning it looked bad for Manchester when the Maples had two men on bases and a hard one was knocked out toward center. Jackie was there and shut out the runs.

He was the first man up for Manchester in that inning and after his brilliant catch just a minute before someone yelled "Put it in the brook Jackie." And sure enough, the first pill was caught square on the nose and Jackie landed on second before the ball was brought back to the field. Jackie is hitting the ball in good shape this year.

The Maples got their only run in the last inning, by bunching a couple of safe hits. Grover closed up tight as a drum and struck out the next two men up, the last man popping a slow ball to short stop.

The Lyman N. A. of Beverly is booked for the attraction tomorrow afternoon at the Brook st., playgrounds. This is the team that played here two weeks ago, and that proved such easy prey for the Manchester boys. They are to have a new battery tomorrow.

The Athletics of Lynn are scheduled for July 3, the Semics of Dorchester for July 5th, the Boston Y. M. C. A. for July 10, Queen Quality of Jamaica Plain for July 17, the Riversides of Cambridge for July 24. A series—best two out of three—between Manchester and the crack Beverly team, will be started Aug. 14.

Baseball fans should remember that the Manchester team is supported by public subscription; that it costs considerable to bring a team from out of town every week; that there is more or less expense for the home team every week,—so that when you are asked to buy a ticket at the game, you should be as generous as possible.

The Manchester Baseball association begs to acknowledge the receipt of the following subscriptions toward the fund for supporting the team:

MANCHESTER BROTHERHOOD

The Manchester Brotherhood held its last meeting of the season in the vestry of the Baptist church last Monday evening. The speaker of the evening was Rev. F. S. Boody of Wakefield. His subject, which was "Grinners and Growlers," proved both interesting and inspiring. The meeting was opened by Mr. Torrey's recitation of a poem which he composed, which was much enjoyed and received with a generous applause.

"Out-and-out grinners are scarce," was Rev. Mr. Boody's opening remarks. "The man who smiles when things go dead wrong is the man worth-while. A smile on the face of a happy person is contagious. To radiate sunshine should be the thought of everyone. To cultivate a smile and happy personality should be one great object in life. An object that is beneficial to others and a great help to ourselves.

"Looking at things in a bright light gladdens one's heart and happiness appears on one's face. The harder a man works the more he needs the saving grace of humor. Men of energy and renown see the funny side of life when everything goes wrong.

"On the other hand we have the professional growler. He is a man who would throw a wet blanket on all good schemes; a man who grumbles about his work when he should feel happy in being fortunate enough to have work to perform. He also has a temptation of complaining when his work is hard. When a man growls he growls for himself alone. It is far easier to smile than grumble and in doing so others receive it beneficially. When everything goes dead wrong meet the world with a smile. 'He himself is great who conquers fate.'"

The annual picnic of the Brotherhood will be held Saturday, July 17, at Tuck's Point. Speakers of the year are to be invited as guests of the Brotherhood. It is hoped that the general good times of the previous outings will be encouragement enough to make this one a grand success. The general attendance throughout the year has been excellent, although many of the meetings have fallen on stormy nights. The next meeting of the Brotherhood, which will open the fall season, will be held on the third Monday evening in September.

The band concert tomorrow (Saturday) evening, by the Salem Cadet Band, will attract a large gathering as usual. It will be the first of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Allen were in Bridgewater last Saturday to attend the exercises of the 75 anniversary of the State Normal school, of which the latter is a graduate.

Mrs. Olive N. Morgan, 73 Pleasant st., celebrated her 77th birthday, Tuesday. After an auto ride in the afternoon she received a few callers. She was remembered by her friends with useful presents.

Miss Agnes Sjolund, formerly of Manchester, now a trained nurse in the family of E. H. Towne of Winnetka, Ill., will come east with the family this summer and will be at Marion on the South Shore.

Mrs. Thomas A. Baker of 106 Summer st., celebrated her birthday on June 17th by inviting a party of friends from Manchester and Gloucester. The occasion proved a most joyous one for those present. Mrs. Baker received many appropriate remembrances of the day.

The eighty ladies and gentlemen of Manchester and vicinity, who availed themselves of the invitation of H. P. Hood & Sons to visit their milk plant at East Lynn, had a most enjoyable trip, being shown just how the milk is handled from the time it leaves the car until it is bottled and packed ready for delivery. They wish to express their thanks not only to the Hood company for their kind hospitality, but also to Mrs. Dean, through whom this most interesting and instructive outing was arranged.

MANCHESTER CHURCHES

Emmanuel church, Sunday, June 27,—morning prayer and sermon at half past ten. The Very Reverend George Hodges, D. D., Dean of the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, will take the service.

Dr. Samuel A. Eliot, president of the American Unitarian association will preach at the First Unitarian church, Masconomo st., Manchester, Sunday at 11 o'clock.

Rev. A. G. Warner will preach Sunday morning at the Baptist church on "A Ground Truth for Christian Living." His evening sermon will be on "Governor Slaton and the Frank Decision."

The Woman's Missionary society of the Congregational church will meet July 1st, at 3 o'clock with Mrs. Alice Haskell. Topic: "Joy."

Walter R. Bell, the Central square shoe-man, is announcing a change in method of conducting his business. Beginning, July 1, his store will be conducted on a strictly cash basis and no goods will be charged to anyone. Mr. Bell says he is forced to do this in order to continue doing business at a profit, and he trusts that his customers, to whom he has always taken pleasure in giving credit, will look at this change in a broad sense as a purely business proposition. To off-set this a 5% discount will be allowed on all purchases, so that after all, the customers will be the gainers by the change.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE NOTES

The next Essex County Suffrage Conference will be held at Juniper Point Inn, Salem Willows, on Saturday, June 26 (this week), from 10.30 a. m. to 5 p. m. with luncheon at one o'clock for 50 cents. This will be an important conference, and all Essex Co. Suffragists are urged to attend. It is hoped that a conference later in the summer may be held at Manchester.

In reply to enquiries, I should like to say that I do not know the "Colorado Woman Voter," who spoke out in the Breeze last week, but I do know that she is a genuine voter and is telling us the truth,—though somewhat heatedly. A measure of indignation is excusable in any Colorado woman, in view of the way she and her sisters—and all women—are being misrepresented by the Antis; but I wish the lady had signed her name and given us a fuller explanation of the Colorado situation. She probably cannot realize the surprising amount of ignorance going about in this state, even among otherwise well-informed people, in regard to the Western states (especially the Suffrage states!) For instance, I wish she had stated clearly that, although the laws of Colorado may seem to permit child-labor and young girls on the street, as a matter of fact these things do not go on. If the Colorado Correspondent will give a few more facts, (which some of us know already) without attacking anyone, it will be of great service to the Cause in Massachusetts. I should be very glad to get in touch with the Colorado Voter, through the BREEZE.

It was no surprise to Suffragists when Governor Walsh flatly stated that he intended to vote "Yes" on the Woman Suffrage Amendment this fall as it has been generally conceded that the Governor's leanings have always been toward giving the ballot to women. —L. R. S.

TOPSFIELD TAX RATE $6

Topsfield is the first town in Essex County to announce its tax rate for this year and one of the first in the State. The rate will be $6. Last year it was $8.

The State and county taxes amount to about $12,000, while the town raised for its own purposes $22,000. The valuation of the town is about $2,250,000, an increase of about $200,000 over last year. This rate is the lowest that the town has ever had, the highest rate for the last twenty-one years having been $14, in 1897. For nine years the rate was $10, and the last three years it has been $9, $7 and $8, respectively.

COULDN'T SEE ANY FACE

An old friend, whose name I won't mention, told me this one: "I was born and brought up on a farm, and I had the habit of going around with my mouth wide open, especially if there was anything unusual going on. One day an uncle whom I had not seen for years paid us a visit.

"'Hullo, uncle!' said I, looking up at him with my mouth opened like a barn door.

"He looked at me for a moment without answering, and then said:

"'Close your mouth, sonny, so I can see who you are.'"

Magnolia people are interested in a new project which is being launched by Mrs. A. C. Thornton for the young girls, ten to thirteen years of age, of the village. Mrs. Thornton is opening a clubhouse which is to be called "The New Bungalow" on her estate off Magnolia avenue for the use of these children in charge of Mrs. H. C. Foster, who served so splendidly in a like capacity at the Women's club for so many years. On the opening afternoon (tomorrow) a recital will be given by the piano pupils of Miss Elma Edwards with songs and recitations by other little girls. The mothers have been invited to be present. "The New Bungalow" will be open two mornings, Tuesday and Thursday, and one afternoon of each week, and the girls will be taught sewing, darning, knitting, embroidery, cooking and folk dancing under competent instructors. Mrs. Thornton has been a member of Magnolia summer colony for many years, during all of which she has been deeply concerned in everything that worked for the good of the village. This latest venture promises to be well worth the effort which has been put into the effecting of the plan and in Mrs. Foster Mrs. Thornton has chosen the one women best suited to make a decided success of "The New Bungalow."

Mr. and Mrs. Thorne Anderson of Chicago are spending the summer at the Moulton cottage on Raymond st. Mr. Anderson is chauffeur for H. W. Farnham.

The usual whist party was held at the Women's club last evening. Miss Mollie G. Hart and Miss Mary O'Brien were the winners of last week's prizes. The first Gentlemen's Night of the season is to be held at the club next Wednesday evening, June 30, to which admission is free for members and their gentlemen friends. Membership tickets must be presented at the door. A victor concert will be held Sunday evening from 9 until 10 o'clock. The rooms are filling rapidly, mostly with season people including Miss Anna Halseth, masseuse, of Boston, Miss Laura A. O'Donnell, in charge of the gowns with the Werner-Pazolt company,

MISS RUTH HARDY BECOMES BRIDE OF JAMAICA PLAIN MAN

There was a pretty June wedding Wednesday afternoon at 3.30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hardy, Hale st., Beverly Farms, when their daughter, Ruth Larcom Hardy became the bride of August H. Haffenreffer of Jamaica Plain. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the family and a few close friends, and took place in the parlor which was prettily decorated with potted palms, lilies and marguerites. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Clarence S. Pond and the wedding march was played by Mrs. Annie Holmes Harlow.

The bride was dressed in white satin, trimmed with duchess lace and pearl trimmings and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid was Miss Martha Haffenreffer, a sister of the groom, who was dressed in white chiffon over silk and carried pink roses. The best man was Theodore Haffenreffer, a brother of the groom. The couple walked to the ceremony down an aisle made of white ribbons with fern decorations held by the Misses Gaertner, nieces of the groom, and Rudolph F. and Karl Haffenreffer, nephews.

The groom's gift to the bride was a diamond necklace set in platinum, and a pendant. The bride's gift to the bridesmaid was a brooch. The gift to the best man was cuff links. The gifts were many and beautiful, embracing silver, cut glass, linen, bric-a-brac and checks from the grooms relatives to the bride, totaling a handsome amount.

Following the ceremony the guests were bidden to the dining room which was handsomely decorated with pink roses and peonies. A spread was served by Smith Bros., the caterers. The hall leading to the entrance, which the couple passed to their waiting automobile amid a shower of confetti, was decorated with laurel.

After the wedding trip to the Berkshires, Mr. and Mrs. Haffenreffer will live at 99 Orchard st., Jamaica Plain, and will be at home after September 1st.

A large safe weighing more than six tons was put into the new bank building in Central square, Wednesday. The bank will be opened soon as a branch of the Beverly Trust Co. The work of installing the safe was, indeed, not an easy one and took nearly the whole day before it was finally landed at its proper place.

Central square has been torn up the past week, made necessary for the lasting improvements which when finished will well pay for the inconvenience the travelling public may have suffered. The square will soon present a fine smooth surface, which will not only look well, but will be lasting and stand the immense amount of travel to better advantage than the square as it was formerly.

Miss Rosamond Bradley will give a talk upon Dr. Grenfel's work in Labrador to the parishioners and friends of St. John's church, Beverly Farms, in Marshall's hall, this Friday evening, June 25, at 8 o'clock. Miss Bradley has spent some time in Labrador in personal work among the natives, and her talk embodies the recital of her experiences. Miss Hewins, who is the superintendent of the church Home for Orphans and Destitute children in Boston, will also tell of the work of this society in caring for these helpless little ones and in finding them homes. No admission will be charged.

The Sunday evening service at St. John's church, Beverly Farms, will be discontinued after next Sunday evening. Beginning with the second Sunday in July there will be a celebration of the Holy Communion every Sunday morning at 8 o'clock.

A union service will be held at the Union chapel here Sunday morning at 10.45 and will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Walter S. Eaton, pastor of the Village church. There will therefore be no morning service at the Village church. The evening service will be held as usual with the exception of a change in time. The evening services at the Village church will begin at 8.15 throughout the summer. Rev. Dr. Eaton's subject Sunday evening will be "The Story of a Run-away Slave."

Mrs. Abbie Story has returned from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Foster of Winchester. Mrs. Story is leaving next week, Wednesday, for a motor trip across the continent with Mr. and Mrs. Foster. She will go to Skagway, Alaska, for a visit of indefinite duration with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Story.

P. Borbey Quaglin, maitre d'hotel at the Knickerbocker in New York the past winter, is back to Magnolia this summer and is in charge of the dining room at the North Shore grill.

Peter Gaudreau and Postmaster Watson are passing out cards showing the schedule of trains on the Gloucester branch this summer; the new arrangement went into effect last Monday.

The Ladies' Sewing circle of the Beverly Farms Baptist church will hold their annual fair in aid of the fuel fund of the church on Thursday, July 8, from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. There will be an entertainment at 8 p. m., Mrs. Irad Hardy, reader, and music by the Lothrop Swedish orchestra. The auxiliary society of the church has rendered valuable service in the work of the church. Mrs. Elmer Standley is president of the society.

The minister will preach next Sunday morning at the Baptist church, at 10.45. Miss Florence Chapman will lead the Young People's meeting. At 7.30 the senior class of the Beverly High school will attend the church for their baccalaureate service. The sermon will be preached by the minister. On Saturday evening, July 3, the Circolo Italiana, a class of Italian young men who have organized to study English will present a program under the direction of the Italian teacher, Loreto Tessicini. The public is invited. Mid-week service of the church on Wednesday; the flying squadron of the Christian Endeavor Union will have charge. Rev. J. A. Johnson will conduct the Scandinavian preaching service, Friday, July 9.

The 4th of July celebration committee has started on its annual work towards giving Beverly Farms its usual celebration. The program will probably be similar to other years and will include a parade in the morning, baseball game, sports, horse events, illumination, fireworks and band concerts in afternoon and evening. The committee is composed of representative business men and citizens who work very hard to make the celebration a success. The securing of funds to carry out the program is indeed a task as it has to come by popular subscription and this alone keeps the committee exceedingly busy. A liberal donation to the celebration is solicited by the committee and will be very much appreciated.

BEVERLY FARMS

At the Tunipoo Inn, Beverly Farms' new and only summer hotel, there has been a number of arrivals during the past week. The attractiveness and hospitality of the Inn together with the real enjoyment one has living at Beverly Farms in the summer months, insures the new Inn a most prosperous season. Tea is served here every afternoon and numerous automobile parties have been served. Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Brewer and children of Boston, have been established here the past two weeks and are registered to stay at least another week. Among others who have been registered at the Inn are: Mr. Chev Brambilla, counselor of the Italian Embassy; Gino Buli and Geisser Celesia et Veghisco, attachés of the Italian Embassy; Joseph A. Wilson, Boston; John Kavanaugh, New York; John G. Reynolds, Boston; Miss Anna F. Hewkes, Boston; Joseph Diah, Boston; Miss Mary E. Fader, Cambridge.

Miss Annie Silverberg was graduated from the Girls High school, Newton st., Boston, yesterday. A number of her friends from Beverly Farms attended the exercises.

The annual fair of the Ladies Sewing Circle in aid of the fuel fund will take place, July 8th, at the Beverly farms Baptist church. The fair will be open from ten in the morning to ten in the evening. Fancy and useful articles, and also refreshments will be on sale. In the evening an entertainment will be given in which Mrs. Irad Hardy, reader, and the Lothrop orchestra will participate.

Last Saturday evening, Miss Helen Campbell was given a surprise party at her home on Vine st., by a large number of her young friends in honor of her 13th birthday. During the evening she was presented with a gold neckchain, pendant and charm. The time was most happily spent in a social way, including the serving of refreshments.

John Walker, formerly supt. of the H. C. Pierce estates at Pride's Crossing, has secured a similar position at Duluth, Minn., and has already commenced upon his new duties. His wife, who has remained at Beverly Farms will join him there soon.

The Garo Studio, in the Murphy block on West st., has opened for the season. Mrs. Fairbanks, who was in charge last season, is here again this year.

John J. Bresnahan has a Ford touring car and will use it for jitney service around Beverly Farms.

THOUGHT is the MAINSPRING of LIFE

IF you want something good or don't feel that you are getting just what you would like for your table—We have it—Think of us. We began business in a small way 8 years ago, have enlarged our store three times,—and now we have the largest floor space and most complete food stock on the North Shore. There's a reason. Think it over! Foresight and Thought lead to Health and Happiness.

A petition, circulated for a short time on Monday by Benjamin F. Hawkins and bearing sixty names, was presented to the aldermen at Monday evening's meeting asking that the flag pole which was recently removed from Central square be put back there in the same location. There seems to be a strong sentiment that as this flag pole was given to the city by popular subscription and is the only flag pole in this section which is really a public one the place should not lose it. As the public library commission has not any inclination to use the flag pole on the library lot the petition should bring forth a favorable reply.

On Sunday, July 4th, there will be special patriotic exercises at the Beverly Farms Baptist church to commemorate the 50th anniversary of peace between the North and the South. The speaker for the occasion will be Hon. Guy A. Ham of Boston.

The next dance in Neighbors Hall will be Tuesday evening, June 29th, and is being conducted in aid of the Beverly Farms Band.

Cornelius D. Shea has established a jitney service at Beverly Farms and at present is operating two automobiles. He has opened an office on Oak st., formerly the Dow Coal office and has had a telephone put in—195-W.

Funeral services for Joshua Younger were held last Friday afternoon from the Beverly Farms Baptist church. Rev. Clarence S. Pond, pastor of the church officiated. A quartet composed of Mrs. Chas. F. Symonds, Miss Maude Burns, Henry Lefavour and S. A. Gentlee sang "Abide With Me," "Gathering Home" and "Nearer my God to Thee." Besides a large gathering of relatives and friends present, the services were attended by Preston Post, 188, G. A. R. and visiting comrades from the Beverly and Manchester posts, the Preston W. R. Corps and a delegation from Andrew Standley camp, S. of V. Following the church service, the G. A. R. ritual service was read and there was a committal service at the grave. Interment was in the Beverly Farms cemetery.

John Cannon of Jersey City Heights, N. J., and a former resident Tunipoo Inn, Beverly Farms' new summer hotel has secured the services of Miss Hannah Breen as cook. For 15 years Miss Breen was cook in charge at the Holland House, 50 Commonwealth ave., Boston, and her cooking is most palatable. If only to try her biscuits, cookies and cakes a visit to the Inn for this purpose alone well repays many who are attracted there, because of the tempting dishes they formerly enjoyed from the hands of Miss Breen in Boston.

WENHAM

At the Congregational church the sacrament of the Communion will be celebrated Sunday morning, with an appropriate sermon by the minister, Rev. F. M. Cutler. Sunday school at noon. At 7 there will be a combination C. E. and preaching service, the minister delivering a short address on the book of Ruth. Following this will be a brief business meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E.

July is to be the month of the minister's vacation, when according to custom, church and Sunday school services will be omitted. Church will resume Sunday, August 1.

Wenham to Plum Island seems to be the rule this month. S. S. Class No. 2 held a enjoyable day's outing at the island Wednesday. The boy scouts will go there for a bivouac camp next Monday.

Canobie Lake, N. H., is to be the scene of the S. S. picnic this year.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Elizabeth Brice and Charles J. King, the bright shining stars of "Watch Your Step," the greatest success of the season at the New Amsterdam Theatre, New York City, will make their vaudeville debut at B. F. Keith's Theatre this week in a bit of musical comedy done in a vaudeville way. Miss Brice was formerly one of the stars of Ziegfeld's "Follies," while Mr. King, the brother of Mollie King of Winter Garden fame, is one of the cleverest light comedians on the stage today. The big comedy feature of the bill the week of June 28th will be offered by Billy McDermott, the sole survivor of Coxey's army and one of the funniest tramp comedians in the world. McDermott's impersonations of Sousa and Creatore, the scourge of Italy, as McDermott terms him, are two of the brightest characterizations ever offered in vaudeville.

THE BOSTON THEATRE

Max Figman, one of the most popular comedians on the stage, will make his picture debut at the Boston Theatre, New England's roomy, airy, refreshing picture palace, the week of June 28th, in "My Best Girl." This is a picturization of the musical comedy in which Clifton Crawford starred a

OLD-TIME COLD CURE— DRINK HOT TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking up a cold.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB RHEUMATISM FROM STIFF, ACHING JOINTS

Rub Soreness from joints and muscles
with a small trial bottle of
old St. Jacobs Oil

Stop "dosing" Rheumatism.

It's pain only; not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" right on the "tender spot," and by the time you say Jack Robinson—out comes the rheumatic pain. "St. Jacob's Oil" is a harmless rheumatism cure which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache, neuralgia.

Limber up! Get a 25 cent bottle of old-time, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store, and in a moment you'll be free from pains, aches and stiffness. Don't suffer! Rub rheumatism away.

RETAIL STORE OF DANIEL LOW & CO., SALEM, MASS.

THE purpose of this advertisement is to welcome you to Salem, and particularly to invite you to visit our Retail Store, which our friends are good enough to speak of as "the most interesting Store on the North Shore."

Our Retail Store is located in Town House Square, in the very heart of Salem, where once stood the Town Pump made famous by Hawthorne. Nearby are many of the points of historic interest, the locations of which are shown on our new Visitors' Map.

Whether your stay on the North Shore is for a day, a week or for all Summer, we know you can spend part of your time pleasantly and profitably in our Store. You will find it a place that will delight your heart, with its spirit of hospitality and its wide variety of interesting and unusual wares—at the most unexpectedly moderate prices!

We want you to consider this a personal invitation to visit our Store as often as you have the desire, and to make it your headquarters when shopping or sight-seeing in Salem. "Come in and look around in a leisurely fashion; our clerks are expected to serve you, but not to disturb you in the least if you wish merely to look around or to meet a friend or wait for a car. Our Store is a Salem institution, dedicated to your service.

When the "North Shore Summer family" begins to gather for the season, one of the first trips of many of the residents is to "Daniel Low's." From the beginning of the Summer season until September our Store has almost a social aspect. It is headquarters for visitors and shoppers. Friends meet here, automobiles call for their owners (automobiles are allowed to stand at our Washington street door), tourists stop to see "Daniel Low's" on their way through Salem. It is our pleasure to entertain people from all parts of the World and to help make their stay in Salem enjoyable.

The Colonial Room is always a centre of interest. It is beautiful in its appointments, the handsome pieces of mahogany furniture furnishing a rich setting for the various displays of silver, cut glass and china. The wall paper is a reproduction of the paper in a famous old Roxbury mansion. The five zones are represented, with their typical vegetations, in wonderful colorings.

Our old gold and silver counter (where genuine gold and silver antiques can often be picked up for a song); the original canvas of "The Gift," the picture reproduced on the cover of our catalog; and the Colonial Cut Glass Room, are all of interest to the visitors.

Our Store is within easy motoring distance of all of the North Shore resorts; all trolley lines pass our doors and the Boston & Maine Railroad Station is but two minutes' walk. We hope that whenever you visit us you will feel the homelike spirit for which our Store is noted, and we think you will congratulate yourself upon having access to a shop where you can find so many unique and out-of-the-ordinary articles for gifts and for personal use, at prices so helpfully moderate.

Send for a copy of our New Map of Salem for motorists and tourists, showing places of historic interest. It is free.
